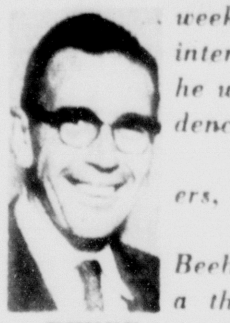
Batista: That Fidel's a Barbaric Dictator

EXCLUSIVE



BEEBE

A stream of newspaper wire service reporters has been flowing into Ciudad Trujillo for three weeks, seeking the first full length interview with Fulgencio Batista since he was forced from the Cuban presidency by Fidel Castro's rebels.

He talked briefly to two reporters, refused admittance to all others.

CIUDAD TRUJILLO, Dominican Republic — Fulgencio Batista, Cuba's fallen dictatpr, broke his silence here Saturday to call current activities in Cuba the work of a "barbaric and sadistic" upstart—Fidel Castro.

Angered and bitter after reading news accounts of trials and executions masterminded by Castro, Batista leveled a blast at the new Cuban man of the hour.

"Castro said he wanted to be nothing in the new Cuban government. His only title is delegate of the president to the armed forces. What does this mean?

'He is not chief of the army, the navy and air force. He is neither prime minister nor president.

"Yet he dictates all policies, says who should be executed—but has no official position.

"Is this democracy? Or is it dictatorship and tyranny?"

Despite his bitterness over activities of the Castro regime, Batista wants the world to know he has no intention of organizing an invasion force to combat Castro.

"I gave up the presidency to avoid further killing of my people. I have no desire to build a force that could only mean more bloodshed and unhappiness to my country," he said from his Hotel Jaragua apartment where he has taken temporary asylum.

Batista said that if some of his followers have moved into Castro's old stronghold in the Sierra Maestra mountains, it is without his knowledge.

He didn't exactly use that word in describing the rebel rouser who so rudely unseated him as his term was running out.

But he did pull out a collection of such unflattering words as "tyrant, sadist, murderer and liar" in condemning the tactics of Cuba's bearded hero of the hour.

He implied he could have used the word "ingrate."

"I saved Fidel Castro from death back in 1953 when he killed six soldiers during a July 26 uprising in Santiago. Now he is ordering the execution of the leaders of my government."

Batista said that Castro must be held responsible for "weakening of Cuba's economy through destruction of bridges and highways, the burning of sugar cane fields and mills and with driving tourists from the island."

How about the atrocities that are being charged against him—with published pictures to prove it?

Batista bristled. "I have seen some of these pictures and I think they are the work of Castro, and not my men. If they did take place, it was without my sanction.

"I gave the order to suppress the rebel activity. Both sides have played rough these last two years."

Obviously smarting under condemnation of the American press, Batista was quick to pull out what he termed a "typical example of Castro terrorism."

He said that high-ranking aides had reported to him how Castro's men took a father of four children near Bayamo

'Like a Young Girl'

Cuban People Laugh Again

Where does Castro go from here? 1H

Herald Staff Writer James Buchanan, who lived with the rebels during Cuba's rugged mountain campaign, returned to Havana to cover their victory celebration and war crimes trials. He found a new and different city. This is his portrait of Havana today.

By JAMES BUCHANAN
Herald Staff Writer

HAVANA — Cuba's face has been lifted.

BUCHANAN

She looks and acts like a young girl today, and not the haggard, fearful thing of less than a month ago.

Change is apparent everywhere in the island and in every walk of life. There's happiness, and gaiety and most of all — hope.

"I walk looking up," a shopkeeper says. "The sun is on my face, not here," and he pats the back of his neck.

The rejuvenation lies in the revolution.

How long will it last?

The young rebel government says, "Forever."

The seasoned businessman shrugs his shoulders and answers, "Who knows?"

But like the others, the businessmen of Cuba have hope.

Ask an insurance company executive whether he believes the Urrutia administration's pledge of "clean and honest government" and he'll say:

"We'll have to see if they keep their promises any more than the others. Human nature, you understand? Maybe Cuban human nature.

"For awhile, maybe three, maybe five years, I believe things will be good. Then will come the test of goodness and honesty when the officials are solidly in."

On every street corner, in every cantina, at every coffee counter, Cubans are telling each other what they think the government should do.

For years they have been afraid to say more than "Good Morning" to even a fellow Cuban. And to voice a complaint against the government, the army or the national police could result in imprisonment.

Today,, it takes more than a word to bring about "instant

Castro To Push 2 Trials

Death Deserved, 14A

HAVANA — (AP) — Havana's revolutionary tribunal, with thousands of Cubans looking on, is going ahead with plans to resume action in the city's big Sports Stadium Monday despite worldwide criticism of the carnival-like proceedings.

The tribunal will then call to trial Capt. Pedro Morejon on charges of assassination, homicide and robbery.

A five-man appeal court was expected to rule soon on the death sentence of Maj. Jesus Sosa Blanco, the first man to be tried in the arena.

One Havana newspaper said Sosa Blanco's execution by firing squad was expected momentarily.

After Morejon, Lt. Col. Ricardo Luis Grao is to face the court, but his trial is expected to be the last in public in Havana. About 1,000 other prisoners accused of war crimes by the revolutionary regime are expected to go before tribunals in La Cabana fortress or elsewhere.

Reports persisted that Fidel Castro, the revolutionary army chieftain who is now in Caracas to celebrate the anniversary of the overthrow of the Venezuelan dictatorship of Marcos Perez Jimenez, had suggested that radio and television broadcasts of the trials be banned henceforth.

However, the commandant at La Cabana, where the accused are held, said he had not received any such instruction.

Sol Will Peek Through Today

Sun-and-fun-spoiling overcast that was due to drift off Saturday should break up late today, the Weather Bureau forecast.

Forecaster Phil Ackerman said skies will start to clear when northeast winds that roughed up fishing waters for the weekend shift to the east and southeast—probably late this afternoon or tonight.

By Monday, Ackerman said, chances are good that Miami will have its sunshine back.

Mid-70 temperatures were predicted for today, with readings in the high 60s tonight.

Flooded Sections Guarded

2 States Still Being Battered

COLUMBUS, Ohio — (UPI) — Mid-winter floods still battered several Ohio and Pennsylvania towns Saturday night, and officials took drastic action to protect homes and property from water destruction and looters.

A "cordon of guards" sealed off a flood-ravaged area of downtown Fremont, Ohio, where the ice-filled Sandusky River rolled over its banks and reached a crest of 17 feet.

At Meadville, Pa., dynamite was delivered by helicopter to authorities who hoped to relieve pressure on the water-soaked community by blasting an ice jam on French Creek.

Some streams and rivers were receding. But at Chillicothe, Ohio, a third of the city was inundated and still closed by the floodwaters of the Scioto River. A danger of street cave-ins posted a new threat as water drained out of the area.

At Lafayette, Ind., a bridge over the Wabash River was threatened by ice jams, and authorities prepared to evacuate patients from a sanitarium if the river continued to rise.

Still other towns faced additional dangers from the rampaging streams in Ohio and Pennsylvania, where flood waters forced at least 25,000 persons from their homes and caused damage well above 100-million dollars.

Red Cross headquarters in Washington said preliminary reports indicated at least 3,500 homes were destroyed or damaged by floods from Indiana to New York.

At least 115 deaths were attributed to floods, traffic, exhaustion, exposure and tornadoes.

In Pennsylvania the Shenango River was receding, easing the pressure on both Sharon and New Castle. But an ice blanket covered the business district of Sharon, where damage might total four million dollars.

Herald Gain in Ads Is Gain for You, Too

While some of the national leaders were recording losses exceeding four million lines, The Herald gained 574,903 lines of advertising.

Such progress means a better paper for readers.

In addition to giving you a wider shopping choice, more advertising makes possible more news space to keep you abreast of what's going on in this busy world.

The continued growth in advertising and circulation of The Herald reflects the exciting expansion all along Florida's famed Gold Coast. More than 70,000 families are moving into this area each year.

Calls Again for Berlin Talks

Americans Are Ripe For Peace—Mikoyan

U.S. Raps 'Pressures' On Berlin

WASHINGTON — (AP) — The U. S. called on Russia Saturday to end "artificial pressures" over Berlin's future and join the West in serious talks on the problems of Germany and European security.

The State Department proposed the new East-West talks in commenting on Soviet Deputy Premier Anastas I. Mikoyan's criticisms of American policy toward Germany, voiced at a Kremlin news conference Saturday.

Mikoyan accused American leaders of standing on unacceptable proposals while Russia makes one peaceful offer after another without success.

Mikoyan said Americans are upset over what they believe is a Soviet ultimatum on negotiations over Berlin. Denying any deadline is involved, he said the time could be exteded "a few days or a few months" if the West agreed to talks before the May 27 date set by Moscow.

In a swift reply, the State Department said:

"The U. S. recognizes the urgent need for a serious approach to these problems and we are glad to see that Mr. Mikoyan feels that artificial pressures regarding the timing of negotiations are not helpful."

Mikoyan was told during his visit here, the department statement added, that Berlin "cannot be treated in isolation." The American attitude toward new talks, it said, is this:

"We do believe that negotiations for a solution of the problems of Germany and European security, of which the Berlin question is a part, would be useful."

Officials noted Mikoyan's words were softer Saturday than when he hurled a parting blast at the State Department and American government leaders before leaving.

Fairy Tale About to Come True

Bourke Previews a Preview, 6F

"Sleeping Beauty," Walt Disney's biggest, richest film, will open here Feb. 10 in a Lend-a-Hand premiere that will be a fairy tale come true for 600 underprivileged kids.

Proceeds of the Hollywood-style opening of the six-million-dollar full-length cartoon feature will go toward sending 600 Dade boys and girls to The Herald's Lend-a-Hand summer camp.

Twenty years in the planning, six years in the making, "Sleeping Beauty" will have an exclusive, unlimited engagement at Miami Beach's Sheridan Theater.

James Harrison Breaks Into Tears After Reunion

'Murdered' Man Steps Off Plane Into Family's Arms

By MIKE MORGAN
and BOB HARDIN
Herald Staff Writers

A "murdered" man stepped off a plane Saturday night into the arms of his happy, tearful wife and two sons — as two policemen waited to question him.

"It's Christmas, my birthday, Thanksgiving and one of my boys' birthdays all rolled into one," said Harrison, central figure in a bizarre mystery that started Oct. 7 with his disappearance and stretched from Florida to Arizona.

After a California convict last week confessed killing him three months ago, his wife gave him up for dead.

Harrison, who says he has been a victim of amnesia, hugged his wife and two small sons and said, "It seems like yesterday" since he was knocked in the head in Jacksonville.

1—He was abducted in Titusville by a hitch-hiker.

2—He suffered amnesia in Jacksonville when hit on the head.

3—A convict read of the case and confessed.

"I couldn't believe he was alive," Jeanne said happily.

Her two boys, Jamie, eight, and Mike, seven, were equally happy.

"My daddy had "magnesia," Mike said.

The two policemen, lieutenants from Brevard and Duval counties, whisked Harrison to a room at the airport to question him.

One officer, Lt. H. L. Sands of Jacksonville, said, "Too much blood was found in his car for somebody not to have been killed."

The bizarre case began Oct. 7 in Cocoa Beach, where Harrison was setting up a window manufacturing company.

"I stopped my car for a traffic light, and a man got in and made me drive to Jacksonville," he said.

The man slugged him in a

No. 2 Red Reports At Home

MOSCOW —(UPI)— Soviet Deputy Premier Anastas I. Mikoyan, reporting that he found the American people ripe for a cold war settlement, Saturday called again for East-West talks to head off a Berlin impasse May 30.

The Armenian-born Russian trade chief repeated previous Soviet statements that the Kremlin might suspend its May 30 deadline for turning over its occupation powers in Berlin to the East Germans provided the U.S., Britian and France agreed to negotiate the Berlin question before that time.

"The main thing is not the deadline but to have talks," he said.

He discussed his 17-day, coast-to-coast American tour at a news conference in which he touched on a wide range of topics. He said he found anti-Russian "prejudice" in the U.S. but also an increasing American conviction — not shared by Washington — that the time had come to end the cold war.

The mustached Mikoyan said he was impressed by the "cordial" reception accorded him by President Eisenhower and other officials as well as by such capitalists as Henry Ford and ordinary American citizens.

He said any top American leaders who wanted to visit Russia would receive an equally warm welcome. But he did not say whether any planned to come.

His "general impression" of Americans, he said, was this:

"There is a growing conviction that despite the evidence of the cold war and the existence of many prejudices in the U.S.A. against the U.S.S.R. and its attitude, the atmosphere generally is now favorable for steps toward peace."

He pointed out that in his meetings with American "capitalists" the businessmen had shown great interest in prospects of closer economic ties with Russia.

They "frankly stated that we must normalize our relations," said the Communist leader who dined on Wall Street.

He reported that his meeting with American labor leaders, unlike those with businessmen, was "sharp to the end."

He and Walter Reuther tangled verbally over Berlin and Hungary, he said.

"Reuther thought he crushed me, but I gave him back plenty," Mikoyan said through his interpreter, Oleg Troyanovsky.

"But the talks ended in a friendly manner and he (Reuther) said that the talks were considered useful."

Russia Blocks Agreement On A-Tests, U.S. Charges

Inspection Veto Called Obstacle

WASHINGTON —(AP)— The U.S. accused Russia Saturday of blocking an East-West agreement to end nuclear weapons tests by demanding a veto over any inspection system.

At the same time, the State Department vigorously denied Russia's claim that the U.S. is seeking an excuse to torpedo negotiations now under way in Geneva for a test ban.

"This is not so," the State Department said. "The fact that the Soviet Union has chosen this moment, when the negotiations are under way at Geneva on central issues of effective controls, to make such unfounded charges, raises questions as to their (Soviet) intentions."

American negotiators, the department said, will persevere in their efforts to write a satisfactory agreement for halting all further nuclear weapons explosions.

"Success in the negotiations in Geneva is squarely up to the Soviet Union," the department added. "If the Soviet Union is willing to agree to a control organization and can operate effectively it will be possible to achieve agreement on the cessation of nuclear testing."

The department said these three major issues remain in the way of East-West agreements:

1. — Will the Soviet Union be able to veto and obstruct every action of the control commission as it now demands, or will it be possible for the control organization to act without this obstacle?

The U.S. believes that any control system which could be frustrated in its day-to-day operations by the veto power in the hands of a single party would be worse than useless.

2 — Will the control post be manned by an international staff? Or as the Soviets demand, will it be manned by nationals of the government on whose territory the control posts are located, with only one or two outside "observers?"

The Soviet position would amount to self-inspection and as such cannot be the basis for an agreement in which all parties can have confidence, the department said.

3—Will international inspection groups be organized and ready to move quickly to the site of an event which could be suspected of being an explosion? Or will sending of such a group be subject to weeks of debate and a veto?

Robbed of $300

The owner of a Coconut Grove restaurant told police he was robbed of more than $300 at gunpoint Saturday night. Robert N. Ousley, owner of La Casita Tea Room, 3540 Main Highway, said a Negro armed with a blue automatic took the money from him in a parking lot adjoining the restaurant, and fled on foot.

Restless Batista Rankled by Exile; Tempers Flare Easily in Hotel Haven

By GEORGE BEEBE
Herald Managing Editor

Deposed Dictator Fulgencio Batista Lives Here
. . . finds haven in the plush Hotel Jaragua at Ciudad Trujillo

CIUDAD TRUJILLO, Dominican Republic — Fulgencio Batista in exile is restless and embittered. He has not taken defeat easily.

He is a rich man financially, but his satisfaction has come from political power rather than monetary gains.

Now he gropes for a new and active life that will consume the burning energy that made him Cuba's Strong Man for more than 20 years.

On the surface, Batista is his same charming and confident self. I've interviewed the former Cuban leader five times in the 10 years I have known him.

He is unchanged in appearance and manners. A dynamic personality still rides his hard-set frame.

For reasons of health, Batista and the more than 50 Cuban leaders who fled with him New Year's eve, rarely leave the Hotel Jaragua's third floor — which has become exile headquarters.

It is obvious they are getting on each other's nerves. The weather is hot. Tempers flare easily. Their bungling of the recent crisis still bothers them.

Batista is not the type of man who can accept confinement, so he keeps a schedule much the same as in Havana's Presidential Palace — from noon until 3 or 4 a.m.

Two secretaries bustle about arranging conferences. His Cuban companions beat a steady path to his door.

Batista long has been a canasta enthusiast. A card table, with a cover specially designed for the game, holds a prominent spot in the living room.

This provides one of his few diversions. He has taken several rides about Cuidad Trujillo and occasionally walks in the far reaches of the hotel grounds — away from eyes of the other guests.

The Hotel Jaragua has taken a back seat to the new El Embajador, but it still ranks as one of the finer resort hotels in the Caribbean.

It is a rambling, four-story affair with its choicest rooms looking over a swimming pool, a spacious lawn and across a malecon drive to the pounding surf of the Atlantic against a rocky seawall.

Day or night, there is no evidence on the grounds or in the lobby, dining room or gambling casino, that the hotel is now headquarters for the man Fidel Castro has placed as No. 1 on his obit parade.

The arrival of the Batista party on New Year's Eve came as a complete surprise to the city. There were 47 on the plane. Other political refugees have arrived here since.

Dominicans generally would like to see them go, as they would Juan Peron of Argentina, also. They don't like the unfavorable publicity which the asylum of two dictators brings.

Not unhappy are the operators of the Jaragua and the Paz (Peron's headquarters). The tourist business has not been good and the exiles are making up for it.

Although the Cubans are restless, none have applied for visas to go elsewhere. They arrived heavily laden with Cuban pesos, which don't give them much long-range security.

I asked Batista what his hurried departure caused him to leave behind that he cherished most.

He squinted his black eyes a moment in thought and replied: "My country and my people, of course. My friends, my home and my library."

His library is heavy with books about Abraham Lincoln, the man Batista most admires in history.

One incident Batista related may have a bearing on his plans for the future.

His son had come from school and asked: "Father, are you an old man? Some of the boys said you were."

Batista laughed heartily at the remark, but through the broad smile I could detect a note of awareness that perhaps time is running out on the only life he ever has known — dominance of his people and the fight to attain that dominance. He is 59.

When asked by police why he did it, the man said he had to. A neighbor had refused to cut the poles and was hanged. He didn't want the same fate," Batista explained.

The heavy-set, dark-browed ex-president said he has waited until the Castro government took shape before commenting on Cuba's future. He thinks it looks extremely dark.

"For instance, Castro said his main mission in life was to free Cuba of the Batista regime. But now he has placed himself in a unique superstructure over President Manuel Urrutia.

"I was called a dictator by many, yet within the government I maintained the three constitutional divisions — executive, legislative and judicial. They all functioned independently. Evidently Fidel Castro doesn't like this form of government."

Batista, who reads every newspaper he can get his hands on, is obviously shaken by stories of the war crime trials of some of his trusted aides who failed to get the signal New Year's Eve that the leading men were leaving the act.

"When I was president, the courts were composed of judges named for the most part by previous presidents, and we respected their decisions," said the onetime dictator.

"Now Castro destroys the powers provided by the constitution and has appointed men not qualified for judgeships to conduct trials throughout the island and pronounce death sentences."

He had read that the Havana "Sports City" Coliseum — which he helped construct — was being used for several major war crime trials.

"This takes us back to the days of the Roman circus," said Batista defiantly, "when men were fed to the beasts with approval of the crowd.

"How can a judge give a fair trial with 30,000 people screaming to hang the defendants? This is indeed a primitive approach Castro has introduced."

Batista seemed fully aware that should he ever be forced to return to Cuba, something larger than the sports arena would be needed for his trial.

NEXT: Batista's last hours in Cuba and his plans for the future.

Roadblocks Nab Few This Time

Miami police, with the official sanction of the Miami Commission, staged their third batch of roadblocks Saturday night.

Police were checking licenses and driver registrations at two locations, SW 24th Ave. and Dixie Highway, and LeJeune Rd. at NW 14th St.

But few people had been picked up by officers at the blocks for license violations, drunkenness or faulty automobiles, police headquarters reported at midnight.

convictions." No man fears he'll be pointed out as an informer or "chivato" merely through the spite of a neighbor.

The new freedoms are most evident in Old Havana, and especially on The Prado, which stretches its tree-lined magnificence from Central Park to the sea.

There, where this reporter once could count no more than six people hurrying along the marble walks at night, now there are hundreds promenading until all hours of the morning.

Arm-in-arm with their girls, young men walk and stop and talk and you hear laughter that only a month ago was like a foreign language here.

Is prosperity, or at least decent living, to come from the new government to a country that is financially flat on its back?

Most businessmen say "It must, we have no other direction to go!"

Big businessmen look for an influx of new capital brought on by a stabilized government. "At least," they say, "we aren't going to have talk of revolution and a change of government all the time"

Little businessmen look for the tourists and the money that will help them pay their long overdue bills as it seeps down through the economy.

And tourists, when they begin coming again, will find a different, happier atmosphere than they have seen in the country before.

A coffee vendor offers you a tiny paper cup of cafe solo in a small park near the Capitol and you ask him, "How are things for you these days?"

And he sets the thermos on a bench to pound his chest with both hands and say, "I am free!"

Cuba's face has been lifted. It shines bright with hope.

Odds High, But Pot Is Higher

By SUNNY FORTUNE

Nine people came close, but nobody won last week's Sunny Fortune Puzzle, so there's a $400 pot awaiting some lucky reader.

SUNNY

He'll have to be darned lucky too, according to Puzzle Fan Norman Drysdale, who writes from Marathon:

"As I see it, the game has ceased to be one of skill and is now a lottery with the odds of picking by blind chance the correct combination more than a million to one."

The odds are high, but not that high, Mr. Drysdale. If you figure a 50-50 chance on each of 16 letters, the odds of any one entry winning work out to 65,536 to one.

With the number of entries running around 37,000 for each contest, you can see why a winner can't be expected every time. But that's what makes a puzzle puzzling and keeps the pots building up.

Other fans writing in last week agree that there was more skill involved in the old style puzzles. Phyllis Pinard of San Juan, Puerto Rico, puts it pretty well:

"Let's please go back to the old style," she writes. "It was so much more interesting to lose that way."

Old style, new style, let's turn to 12B and take a whack at this week's $400.

"I thought I was still in Jacksonville.

"I started walking down the street when I saw this man drive a car out from his house and I stopped him and asked him to take me to the police."

Harrison said the man's wife told him he was in Phoenix, the first time he knew where he was.

"I said 'Phoenix what?' and she said 'Phoenix, Ariz.,' and I said 'There must be some mistake — I thought I was in Jacksonville.'"

Harrison said the woman showed him cars outside the house bearing Arizona license plates.

Harrison said when he got to the police station and was told he had been missing for more than 100 days "I really went to pieces then. You can't imagine how I felt to be told I'd been roaming around that long.'"

Harrison said he had "no idea" what he could have been doing while he was missing.

Harrison, still dazed, called home. "We missed Christmas," he said vaguely.

First he thought Friday was Oct. 8.

The convict, Roy V. Olsen, serving a California murder sentence, said he had lied about killing Harrison.

Another man he implicated, James A. Leach, was still being held in Knoxville, Tenn., on an open charge.

"Olsen said he wanted a ride to Florida," a state prison official said. "He made no explanation of why he implicated Leach."

However, Sands and Lt. Ralph Clark said Olsen knows too much about the case to have merely picked it up by reading newspapers.

Olsen claims he had got some of his information from the questions put to him by Clark and Sands when they interviewed him in California.

The Harrisons own a Miami home at 1022 SW 34th St., but had recently moved to Titusville.

However, Mrs. Harrison and her boys had been living with her mother-in-law, Mrs. Norman J. Weaver, 283 NW 53rd St., since Harrison disappeared.

National Summary

Disturbances moving across the northern states coupled with a continuing flow of very cold air from Canada led to snowfall in Montana and from Minnesota into New York and Pennsylvania Saturday afternoon.

Temperatures ranged from zero to a bit below at mid-day along the northern border of the Plains states and were in the teens or lower through the lakes region into New England. Miles City, Mont. registered a three inch increase in snow cover during the morning, while four of the seven inches on the ground at Green Bay, Wis. collected during the forenoon.

Elsewhere east of the continental divide a substantial warming trend pushed temperatures to the 40's in SW South Dakota compared to readings in the teens in the northeast corner of the state and 40's reached from the mid Mississippi and Ohio Valleys into Virginia and Maryland by mid-day.

High pressure preserved a predominantly sunny pattern except for some cloudiness and occasional rain in south Florida and Texas, however considerable cloudiness will accompany a slow rise in temperatures across the Gulf States through the balance of the weekend.

Sawmills in Formosa and Iran, Billion-Gallon Pumps Idle in Japan

Equipment Bought With U.S. Taxes Lies Rotting Around World, Probers Say

WASHINGTON — (AP) — House investigators charged Saturday that foreign aid officials have wasted taxpayers' money on a big sawmill project in Formosa.

MORGAN

The probers also reported on a U. S.-financed sawmill stored unused on an Iranian mountainside, an anti-American British citizen who helped fight U. S. airport aid to a halt in Pakistan, and three gigantic pumps laid away in Japan for lack of a pumphouse.

The pumps, specially designed for a Pakistan irrigation project, may wind up as scrap, never used.

These items were turned up by a foreign affairs watchdog subcommittee headed by Rep. Thomas E. Morgan (D., Pa.). The subcommittee conducted closed hearings last month on delayed aid projects around the world.

Some of the testimony made public covered these points:

1 — The International Cooperation Administration, which handles foreign aid, has yet to contract for a sawmill planned for Formosa's Ta Shu Shan forest since April 1956. Meanwhile logs are lying uncut, contract-seeking U. S. firms are out thousands of dollars, and $579,000 has been shelled out for logging equipment plus $382,000 worth of U. S.-owned Chinese currency.

One cause of this foulup, ICA admitted, stemmed from failure of ICA's Washington office to send to Formosa a vital part of an order intended for ICA's Taipei office.

2—Under a mammoth project pushed by the U.N.'s Food and Agriculture Organization, ICA agreed in 1954 to supply pumps for irrigation in East Pakistan.

A Japanese firm won the pump award and built the billion-gallons-a-day machines for $850,000. But engineering data was inadequate for putting up a pumphouse. ICA is now debating whether to pull out of the project, which has cost it $1,716,000 so far.

3—Pakistan's former director general of civil aviation, Kenneth J. Bhore, an Anglo-Indian with a British passport, was in ICA's words apparently "determined to frustrate American aviation activities in Pakistan and to discredit American technicians."

After U. S. complaints, the Pakistan government replaced Bhore with a Pakistani, who also had run-ins with the Americans.

ICA finally suspended this 4½-million-dollar project last June. Meanwhile $1,707,000 worth of aviation radio gear has been delivered to Pakistan of which $400,000 worth was installed. Another $856,000 worth of equipment is being stored in this country.

4—More than two years ago ICA spent a half million dollars for a sawmill shipped to Iran. It turned out to be, according to ICA testimony, "absolutely and totally inadequate" for Iran's heavy teakwood logs.

French Court Gives Ingrid Custody of Her Children

PARIS — (AP) — A French court Saturday awarded to Ingrid Bergman custody of the three children born of her broken marriage to Italian Film Director Roberto Rossellini.

The court, in a provisional ruling, however, granted visiting rights to Rossellini and decreed the children attend an Italian school in Paris.

Ingrid Bergman
. . . wins a round

The final decision of the French court will not be handed down for at least a year. It will take precedence — at least in France — over any Italian court action.

Rossellini has an action pending in a Rome court for custody of the children on moral as well as religious grounds. In that court Miss Bergman also won the first round Saturday. The Rome judge ruled she had not been properly notified of Rossellini's court action and delayed any further action until Feb. 27.

French Judge Rene Drouillat ruled that the children — Robertino, eight, and the twin girls, Isotta and Ingrid, six — should remain with their mother on the farm outside Paris where she is living with her new Swedish husband, Lars Schmidt. They may spend weekends with their father at his Paris hotel.

In Rome the court also rejected a plea by State Prosecutor Martino Ferraiolo that the children be taken from Miss Bergman and put in a boarding school where both parents could visit them. Ferraiolo has filed an appeal of the Rome annulment of the Bergman - Rossellini proxy marriage in 1950.

When the actress and Rossellini legally separated more than a year ago, the Rome court gave her provisional custody of the children. Rossellini moved to gain custody of the children Sept. 17 just before Miss Bergman and Schmidt were married.

At a court hearing in Rome two days ago he said he could not consent to the education of the children in a Protestant environment and to their living in the home of Miss Bergman's new husband.

He said he wished the children to grow up in Italy, to have an Italian education, and to practice the Roman Catholic religion.

Mexico Breaking Off Diplomatic Relations With Guatemala

By The Associated Press

MEXICO CITY — Mexico is breaking off diplomatic relations with neighboring Guatemala but is leaving the door ajar for settlement of the fishing dispute which caused the break.

The Mexican move was announced by President Adolfo Lopez Mateos in an unusual nationwide broadcast.

The dispute stems from the strafing of Mexican fishing boats by Guatemalan planes Dec. 31. Mexico claims three fishermen were killed and 14 wounded. Guatemala seized three boats forced ashore. Two others returned to their Mexican bases on the Pacific Coast.

Mexico protested, demanding full satisfaction including reparations and official assurance no further attacks would be made.

Guatemala rejected a verbal protest, then brushed aside a formal written protest. It turned down a Mexican proposal Friday to submit the case to the International Court of Justice.

Draft Dodgers Have Troubles

NAPLES, Italy — Lino Garulli and Michele Lucente skipped out of Italy into France several years ago just as they were about to be drafted for 18 months compulsory military service. They came back and police told their story:

After failing to find work in France, they wound up in the Foreign Legion and served in Algeria. Then they fled the Legion, and put themselves in the custody of Italian consular official at Gibraltar. They face jail terms on charges of evading military service and leaving Italy illegally.

After that they still have to do 18 months military service.

Macmillan Plans Moscow Visit

LONDON — The London Daily Mail has reported an early visit to Moscow by British Prime Minister Harold Macmillan "can now be reckoned as a serious possibility." GI Interest Rate Hike Faces Test

WASHINGTON — (UPI) — President Eisenhower's proposal to raise the interest rate on GI housing loans will face a quick, and probable fatal, test this week in the House Veterans Affairs Committee.

TEAGUE

The committee has scheduled a hearing Wednesday on a bill which would continue the 4¾ per cent ceiling. It is expected to give the measure prompt approval after rejecting the President's request.

In his budget message Eisenhower asked authority to increase the interest to the 5-¼ per cent rate permitted lenders under the FHA housing program in order to spur private financing of new homes.

The measure before the committee not only keeps the 4-¾ per cent ceiling but gives the Veterans Administrator discretion to lower it. The legislation was sponsored by Chairman Olin E. Teague (D., Tex.) and others.

It is identical to one the committee approved last year but was included in an omnibus housing bill which the House killed by a close vote.

The new measure also is expected to be included in an over-all housing package which Democratic leaders are pushing.

Other features of the bill would:

Provide an extra 150 million dollars for direct VA loans to veterans in rural areas, towns, and small cities where private loans are not readily available. This is aimed at reducing the waiting list of about 45,000 applications for direct loans.

Require builders to keep veterans' down payments on homes in a special trust account. This was prompted by some cases where veterans lost their life savings when builders went bankrupt.

Permit all lenders who have been certified by the FHA to make VA loans.

Let the VA automatically suspend builders and lenders who have been suspended by the FHA from participating in its housing programs.

McDermott To Speak

Life and politics behind the Iron Curtain will be discussed Friday when The Herald's John B. McDermott addresses the Democratic Women's Club of Dade County.

McDermott has just returned from a trip through Russia and the satellite nations.

The luncheon — at the Miami Shores Country Club — also will feature election of delegates to the Constitution Revision Convention at Fort Myers next month.

'Cold Feet' Get Divorce

DETROIT —(AP)— Mrs. Deborah Baker told the judge that after the wedding ceremony in 1956 her husband, Lon, took her out to eat.

"Then he put me on a bus and told me to go home," she testified. "The last thing he said was that he just wasn't going through with it."

She was granted a divorce on grounds of desertion.

Senator Says Ike's Trying to Blackjack Congress With Veto

Lyndon Johnson

ALBUQUERQUE, N.M. —(AP) — Sen. Lyndon B. Johnson (D., Tex.) said Saturday night President Eisenhower and his backers are trying to "blackjack" the new Democratic-controlled Congress "by the threat of veto."

"I think it is about time that somebody blows the whistle on threats to veto bills that have not been drafted and to cancel steps that have not been taken," the Senate Democratic leader said.

The Senate leader said there is nothing left of Eisenhower's "great crusade" of six years ago except a desire for quiet, and "government by veto."

"Communism has declared economic war against our way of life," he said. "The U.S. — which led the world into the atomic age — now lags in the exploration of outer space."

Johnson said the Democratic sweep in last November's elections was a demand for action in government. And he said the Democrats in control of the Senate and House would do just that.

But hardly had the Democratic victories been chronicled, Johnson said, when reports began to seep out of Washington that "the President was determined to exercise his veto powers to the hilt to check a 'wild spending spree.'"

Deriding predictions of Eisenhower vetoes even before Congress had considered or passed a bill and "even before it is printed," Johnson said: "It becomes little more than an instrument to blackjack Congress."

Johnson did not spell out what veto predictions he referred to. Some Republican leaders, including Senate GOP Leader Everett Dirksen of Illinois, have talked of a possible veto if an airport aid bill is re-passed in the same form which Eisenhower rejected last year.

There also has been some Republican talk of a veto if Congress passes a considerably more expensive housing measure than Eisenhower wants.

Johnson ridiculed contentions that the new Democratic Congress may go on a wild spending spree. He said the Democratic Congress clipped more than five billion dollars from Eisenhower's last budget recommendations.

"To set the present administration up as the guardian of the balanced budget is in the same class as hiring a coyote for a watchdog over the sheep," he said.

"Democrats believe the budget can be balanced if we take advantage of our opportunities to increase the wealth of the nation.

"Republicans believe the budget can be balanced if we turn our back on opportunities and resign ourselves to the status of a second class nation — weak but thrifty."

Aussies Renew Fight for Babies

MELBOURNE, Australia — (AP) — Killing heat returned to Melbourne and the battle for the babies was on again.

As the mercury climbed past 100 again, hospitals issued urgent appeals for more air conditioning units in order to avoid the grisly infant death toll of last weekend.

Top temperatures of 107, 108 and 109 on three successive days from last Saturday killed at least 100 persons across Australia. Of these, more than 20 were Melbourne babies.

Doctors Should Be Ashamed of Smoking, Says Surgeon

PHOENIX, Ariz. —(UPI)— A leading Boston chest surgeon told fellow doctors they should be ashamed of themselves for smoking. Dr. Richard Overholt told delegates to a cancer seminar here that smoking is more a health menace than radioactive fallout, and he chastised his fellow physicians for their addiction to pipes, cigars and cigarets. Dr. Overholt, professor of surgery at Tufts College, said the tobacco habit can shorten the user's life by as much as nine years and can accelerate lung cancer. Doctors, said the Boston surgeon, "have an obligation to humanity to give up smoking." This is true, he said, for the example it would set for the layman and for the better health the doctors themselves would enjoy. The medical expert admitted he smoked for many years but gave it up in 1942 after realizing the dangers of the habit.

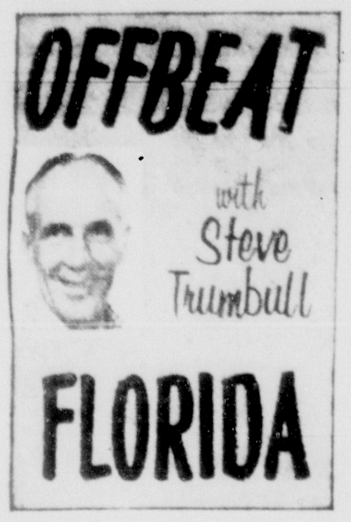
'Potamophilous' Trumbull Loves His Rivers



Steve's Off Again

As "Mr. Florida," Steve has a fanatical following of rural cronies with rich stores of stories. And Steve, who's a fishing gypsy at heart, is on intimate terms with picturesque rivers which he will travel.

This new trek — by both boat and car this time — will carry Steve from one Florida coast to the other, and then hit little-traveled roads for points now even unknown to him.

By STEVE TRUMBULL
Herald Staff Writer

Then, before I could recover from being smacked with a two dollar word like that, he also said I was potamophilous.

We were both cold sober at the time. No harsh words had been exchanged, and I've always said nice things about Ernie. So I didn't take offense. Instead I went to the dictionary—despite the insistence of some that I never cracked that book in my life.

"Potamophilous" was there, listed as a rare adjective. It means "river loving." "Philopotomous" didn't show. But a copy boy who had studied Greek (today's copy boys being far better educated than the reporters of my time) said it means about the same thing.

It's a noun, he said, meaning "river loving man."

The Lyons reputation for truth and versality is unsullied. I guess I am those things.

I'm positively batty about rivers — particularly Florida rivers. As some men spend their spare time collecting postage stamps, and other men spend all their time collecting blondes, I "collect" Florida rivers.

And I feel pretty sorry for those other admirers of this state whose view of our back country is limited to our billboard cluttered and juke joint infested highways.

Of course, some few of our rivers are becoming slightly loused with the things they call "developments." Others have become contaminated by industrial wastes. But many, some not too distant from our cities, still retain the charm and majesty the Creator gave them.

Drive any highway once and you have had it. A year later it's just the same, except maybe a few more billboards and motels.

But take a boat up and down these rivers and they change by the hour. The sunrise paints the live oaks, the cabbage palms and the cypress with one set of colors. They change subtly as the sun climbs higher.

There's one river near here, the North fork of the St. Lucie, where some of us potamophilous people (now he has me using that word) travel every time we get in the area. The view is as inspiring today as it was the first time we traveled it some 15 years ago.

Let other people paste stamps in books. I'll paste memories of rivers in mine.

Some of those memories can never be dimmed. There was the weird blanket of mist one morning before sun-up on the Oklawaha River, east of Ocala. It was so dense and low-lying that when two companions drifted past in a canoe it gave the appearance of two disembodied heads floating past, riding on the mist blanket.

There was the big eagle that sat beside its nest, entirely fearless, at the mouth of the Broad River, around on Florida's southeast coast. There was the day the magnificient 10-point buck deer almost splashed water in our boat on the Myakka River, in Sarasota County.

There is the memory of a not-too-comfortable night's camp on the upper reaches of the Suwannee, and the discovery next morning that by rounding just one more bend we would have come to a good restaurant and comfortable motel.

There is the memory of the big, red breasted bream we fried beside the Crooked River, over in West Florida. There was the night we rigged portable lights to go down the fast-running Ochlockonee River, in that same area, to find two lost companions.

There are other pages in the book — scores of them. The collecting will go on until the fool-killer steps in.

In our home in Miami the most prized single possession is an A. E. Backus painting that hangs over the fireplace. It's a picture of a river. When we get too old to collect more rivers we plan to sit in an easy chair and make mental fly casts at a particularly inviting spot on that picture.

The outside of the house could have done with a new paint job this year. We are also a little overdue for a new car.

Guess what's new in the car port instead? A new trailer, boat and outboard motor. We'll paint the house and get the new car next year — we keep telling the woman who puts up with our foolishness.

A philopotomous? Who? Me?

New Crisis for Fanfani

ROME — (UPI) — Another major threat to the shaky coalition government of Premier Amintore Fanfani arose Saturday night with the refusal of Labor Minister Ezio Vigorelli to withdraw his resignation.

FANFANI

Instead, Vigorelli prepared to carry his leftwing segment of the Social Democratic Party into the Socialist camp of Pietro Nenni, thereby provoking a serious split in the normally pro-Western Social Democrats who form a vital part of the government coalition.

Vigorelli told Social Democratic Party Leader Giuseppe Saragat of his decision to leave the cabinet and join with Nenni in a letter delivered by his chauffeur.

The labor minister had tendered his resignation earlier this week because of disagreements with Saragat, who cautioned against any hasty merger with the socialists.

Fanfani's government could thank the abstentions of splinter groups in the Chamber of Deputies for its survival so far but any major defection, such as the one Vigorelli is setting in motion, would be nearly certain to break the uneasy balance and bring the government tumbling down.

Countywide Chess Unit Organized

Take your chess seriously? The newly-formed Dade County Amateur Chess League has a place for you on one of its 12 teams which will open competition Jan. 28 for the South Florida championship.

Bob Eastwood of Homestead, vice-president of the U.S. Chess Federation, said Saturday that there are places open for at least 100 players among the 12 teams which are divided into two divisions.

The northern division includes teams from North Dade, Edison Center, Miami Beach, Lindsey Hopkins and the Miami Stingarees.

Bigelow Ups Prices On Selected Grades

NEW YORK CITY—Bigelow Rugs & Carpets will increase prices for certain selected grades of woven wool and wool-blend carpets approximately 2.8%, effective Jan. 1, 1959.

Lowell P. Weicker, president said that "profit margins for the carpet industry are not adequate. For the past two years we have been in a trend of declining prices for the sale of carpet despite increases in most costs of production, promotion and distribution. Bigelow's selected price revisions are a move to partially correct this situation."

PRICE CHANGES

MOHAWK CARPET MILLS will increase prices on a selected number of running-line grades of about 2½% effective Jan. 5, 1959. Contract grades also will be advanced about the same amount.

ALEXANDER SMITH will increase prices about 2½% effective Jan. 5 on a selected number of running grades. Contract grades will be advanced about the same amount.

In spite of rising costs . . . Alexander drastically reduces thousands of remnants . . . ends of rolls . . . discontinued patterns, etc., to clear out their warehouses! These fine carpets MUST BE SOLD regardless of cost, former selling price or profit! Come in and see the endless display of colors . . . fabrics . . . designs . . . in famous make carpeting and rugs! Buy now and save!

Vatican Releases Pope's New Prayer

VATICAN CITY — (AP) — A new prayer written by Pope John XXIII was published Saturday by the Vatican press service.

JOHN

The Pontiff will recite the prayer publicly for the first time today during his visit to Rome's basilica of St. Paul's outside the walls.

It appeals to Jesus Christ "to look upon the distressing condition your beloved church is undergoing in some parts of the Catholic world, and particularly in the great Chinese country.

"How many pressing and pernicious attempts are being made to split your holy church, separating the local clergy and faithful from the only center of truth, of authority and of safety, the See of Peter."

The prayer also appeals to Christ that "through your intervention shepherds and flocks remain obedient to the voice of the only universal shepherd, the Roman pontiff." It concludes by asking Christ "to grant peace to China and to the world."

11-Year-Old Erratic Driver

MEMPHIS, Tenn. —(UPI)— No wonder police said the automobile they stopped on a street here couldn't keep a straight path.

When officers finally caught up with the automobile that was weaving and bobbing along the road, they noticed that the driver was so small he could hardly see to steer.

The driver was an 11-year old boy. In the back seat was a 14-year-old youth. They had stolen the car and had 11 cents on them when picked up.

Batistans 'Deserved To Die'—Rep. Porter

WASHINGTON — (UPI) — Rep. Charles O. Porter (D., Ore.), just back from Cuba, says the more than 200 persons executed by the rebel government "deserved to die."

PORTER

Porter, a frequent critic of Latin American dictators, said the storm of protest in this country against killings was "half-cocked — even though well-intentioned."

"All evidence was that the trials were just and had been done properly," Porter said. He said that those executed were convicted of "torturing and murdering defenseless people."

Several lawmakers who have been critical of the rebel trials and executions declined Rebel Leader Fidel Castro's invitation to come to Cuba to see for themselves how Cuban justice operates.

Porter, who spent two days in Cuba, said his investigation uncovered no proof of any "drumhead courts martial or bloodbaths."

But the congressman said he recommended to Castro that the rebel leader stop the "spectacle" of trials in the Havana Sports Palace where thousands watched the proceedings. Castro followed this advice.

Batista's Will, Cash Are Found

HAVANA, Cuba —(AP)— Revolutionary authorities announced Saturday they had found the personally written will of former President Fulgencio Batista, along with $3,270,000 in cash and bonds, in two safe deposit boxes.

The ministry for recovery of stolen and misappropriated properties said the will, dated Jan. 17, 1957, provided that the estate be equally divided among eight sons and daughters, and stated that previous arrangements had been made for his wife. Another daughter, Martma, was born after the testament.

Rabbi Raps Zionist Teaching

CHICAGO—(AP)— The American Council for Judaism was told Saturday that Zionists are distorting the interpretation of Jewish history in an effort to picture the Arab world as always the enemy of Jews.

Rabbi Richard E. Singer of the Lakeside Congregation for Reformed Judaism, Highland Park, Ill., told delegates attending the council's religious education business session:

"Embarrassing for the moder Jewish nationlist is the record of Jewish experience with the Arab world, at least until modern times.

"From the beginning the Moslems and Jews were friends. Because of the exemption given by Mohammed to members of a religious group with a revealed religion, Jews were not faced with the alternative of death or conversion of Islam. Jews lived side-by-side with the conquerers of much of the then-known world."

In that period, he said, the Jewish members of the Moslem communities even shifted their language preference to Arabic "and a sizable minority of Jews developed a great appetite for this literature."

He contended that Jewish nationalists pick only on passages in Jewish history that show the Jew as a victim of persecution whereas many groups were victims of persecutions in those times.

He said he deplores the situation whereby in some Jewish all-day schools the childen are given the approach that they are members of a minority group who at some point must anticipate and be ready for anti-Semitism.

He suggested a project whereby "objective scholars and historians will reexamine Jewish history to arrive at a modern perspective that doesn't necessarily serve Jewish nationalism."

Jewish nationalism, he contended, is one of the major sources of irritation between the Arabs and Jews in the Middle East.

The council's members believe that nationality and religion are separate and distinct; that their nationality is American and their religion Judaism.

Practice Gets Two New Jobs

DAYTON, Ohio — (AP) — Deciding that Puerto Rican nurses needed to improve their English, officials at Brown Hospital here agreed to pay for courses at the University of Dayton.

First homework for two taking an English composition course was to write a business letter applying for a job. Both turned in excellent letters, so good that the girls sent them to another hospital and got new jobs.

Red Bosses Focus On Party Congress

MOSCOW —(AP)— Moscow is calmly preparing for the opening Tuesday of the 21st congress of the Soviet Communist Party which has Berlin as its biggest single political question.

Khrushchev

This also is the "Beat America" Congress. It will hear reports and debates on Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev's industrial, agricultural and work-learn programs to surpass the U.S. which have been approved by the Central Committee and the Supreme Soviet or Parliament.

Moscow shows little outward excitement or sign of the intense planning going on behind the walls of the Central Committee headquarters on Kuibyshev St., in the Kremlin and the government buildings strung through the city. Modest little red placards throughout the city proclaim a welcome to the congress.

The congress will afford an opportunity for high-level backstage consultations with party leaders throughout the world on Berlin and for a foreign policy statement by Khrushchev. There is much speculation on what Khrushchev will make of the opportunity, especially in the light of the report he will have received on Deputy Premier Anastas I. Mikoyan's visit to the U.S.

Reports published elsewhere have mentioned many party leaders from foreign countries who will be on hand.

Peiping radio announced that Red China's Premier Chou En-lai went to Moscow at the head of a five-man delegation. The report appeared to end speculation that Mao Tse-tung, who is quitting as president to devote himself to party affairs, would attend.

Virtually all other top Communist leaders in Asia are coming.

(A Yugoslav government spokesman indicated that President Tito's Communists are being snubbed. He said that as far as he knew Yugoslavia's party had not been invited to send a delegation or even an observer.)

Khrushchev already has claimed that Soviet agriculture has outproduced the U.S. in some fields, especially in milk, and will do even better. He contends his program of opening up virgin lands to farming is paying off.

The "Beat America" theme gives the nation a slogan to live up to. Such an achievement is sought to impress countries not yet committed to either the Eastern or Western blocs, and to give the Soviet a strengthened hand at International bargaining tables.

Khrushchev can point to such spectacular achievements as the Sputniks, the cosmic rocket, important nuclear progress, regular jet-plane schedules, and other scientific developments.

Physicians, Heal Thyselves!

OLYMPIA, Wash. — (UPI) — Physical examinations given doctors attending the last three annual meetings of the American Medical Association showed that nearly one-fifth of them are suffering from heart ailments or are at least borderline cases.

Interchange Bids Expected This Summer

Expressway Nears Another Step Ahead

By JOHN McDERMOTT
Herald Staff Writer

Miami's urgently needed expressway will take another long step in July or early August when bids will be let for a 21-million-dollar interchange near 36th. St. and NW 7th Ave.

SINGER

But the mid-town leg of the expressway system will be delayed at least five years unless some means of local financing is worked out with repayment to come later from the federal government.

These were the reports Saturday of William D. Singer, South Florida member of the State Road Board, who met here last week with a top federal board official.

Purchase of rights-of-way for the 90-acre cloverleaf interchange site have already started, he said.

The huge cloverleaf will break the traffic bottleneck on 36th St. at Biscayne Blvd. and also provide clear sailing for traffic using the causeway to Miami Beach.

That causeway will be opened late this year, Singer said.

Completion of the north leg of the Expressway — to the Golden Glades inter-change— will open a high speed, limited access highway to the Florida State turnpike. Estimates now are that the north leg will be completed by 1961.

As for the south leg, through the core, downtown business district of Miami; that hinges on the financing, Singer said.

Under the inter-state program, the federal government pays 90 per cent of the costs. The state pays only 10 per cent.

"Right now, there are not sufficient funds available from the federal government for this," Singer said.

He pointed out the interstate program is designed to be spread over a 13-year period.

However, since the downtown section is so urgently needed, he has proposed alternate ways of financing to speed its completion.

To wait for federal help would mean at least five years delay, he said.

"My thinking is to use local credit and get the money repaid by the federal government later when it becomes available," Singer said.

Local credit could be otained, he said, either by pledging the Port Authority's surplus revenue or by using the borrowing capacity of Dade County resulting from property tax revenue.

"These are merely preliminary thoughts," he said. "We have not gone into the borrowing possibilities in full yet."

Singer pointed out that Ohio had pledged the credit of the state to get advance money for its road system.

"It worked out very successfully," he said.

He said this mid-town leg of the super-road "will be no Chinese wall."

Rather, he said, it will be a well-planned artery which meets all federal specifications.

"You can be assured the State Road Board would not be so naive or so ridiculous as to build something like this which did not meet in every detail the specifications called for by the Federal Bureau of Roads," Singer said.

He said Bertram D. Tallamy, the federal highway administrator who met with Singer has given his personal, tentative approval to the idea of local financing with the federal government to reimburse later.

B25 Gets Honorable Discharge

By The Associated Press

LUBBOCK, Tex. — The Air Force has formally retired its B25 bomber, workhouse of World War II combat, from active service.

The ceremonies were a highlight of the graduation of the last class of student pilots to train in the B25 here at Reese Air Force Base. Future students will train in the T33 jet.

Gen. Thomas D. White, Air Force chief of staff, dedicated a B25 mounted on a concrete base "to the memory of the B25 and its usefulness to the Air Force in 19 years of service."

71, But She Lands Safely

RIVERSIDE, Calif. — A 71-year-old woman brought her disabled plane in for a successful belly landing at March Air Force Base.

Mrs. Zaddie Bunker, of Palm Springs, and a passenger, Mrs. J. L. Edwards of Yelm, Wash., were unhurt in the skidding landing of the light plane.

Mrs. Bunker, who got her pilot's license when she was 65, said the plane's landing gear failed to lock in place as she came in for a landing.

Gun Goes Off In Mid-Class

Greene, son of the Rev. Robert L. Greene, rector of St. Paul's Episcopal Church, said he paid another student $15 for the gun and took it to school to show off, police said.

The officers said the other student admitted stealing the gun from a sporting goods store.

Crooks Have Convincing Act

MOUNTAIN VIEW, CALIF. — The couple both worked. Neighbors didn't think it unusual that two men in a pickup truck should haul away most of the furniture. Moving men, obviously.

But John D. Stolsheck and his wife told police the men were burglars. They valued the loot at more than $1,200.

How to End Gasoline War

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. — Leon Elizondo, an independent gasoline dealer, decided he knew how to stop a gasoline war.

He cut his price, already down more than 10 cents a gallon from the normal level, from 17.9 cents a gallon for regular to 10.9.

Traffic stacked up for 20 blocks and several policemen were sent to the area to control it.

Elizondo estimated he sold 15,000 gallons of gasoline to between 1,200 and 1,500 customers in four hours.

It stopped the gas war, he said, claiming other dealers came to him and said they'd stop the war.

Asked if he lost money on the stunt, Elizondo replied:

He Zips Through UM in 22 Months--Has Dates, Too

Edmond Baysari Going Strong
. . . engineer-financier who can dance

By MIKE MORGAN
Herald Staff Writer

If this fellow had known how to speak English a couple of years ago he might have graduated from engineering college in a year and half instead of taking 22 months to do the job.

But handsome Edmond K. Baysari, of Lebanon and Venezuela, took a couple of months out to learn English when he came to the University of Miami in February, 1957.

This Feb. 3 he graduates with a degree in engineering science in just about half the time normally required.

He's the first student at the college to turn that particular academic trick. And he turned it in right fancy fashion since that diploma is of the prized cum laude variety.

Now Baysari is headed for North Carolina State where he's pointing for a Phd in nuclear engineering. Not exactly a crib course either.

Baysari isn't going to try for the intermediate master's degree: he is one of those rare students who have been given permission to jump that one and go for the Phd.

Oddly enough, Baysari certainly does not qualify as a grind or bookworm.

"I really don't study more than I have to — and I go out four times a week on dates. I think socializing is important too," he said.

He's competent at tennis, golf and sailing. He speaks French, Arabic, Spanish — and now English.

He came here without ability to speak a word in English and after two months study acquired enough facility with it to enter classes. But with two months of engineering school gone, the school didn't want to let him start that late in the semester.

He cajoled his way into the school and took eight credits; passed with high grades even at that late entrance date.

Next semester he took a full load and half of courses; third semester he took on almost a double load; the fourth and fifth semesters he did take double loads.

If he had really studied he might have graduated magna cum laude instead of plain old cum laude.

Oh yes, he plans to minor in finance. A nuclear engineer who is an expert at finances — and can dance! Man — this lad's got it made!

What Ever Became of . . .

JACK NORWORTH—the man who wrote "Take Me Out to the Ball Game"? Jack penned that tune in 1906, and "Shine On, Harvest Moon" in 1907, because there hadn't been a new moon or baseball song "for a long time." He finally saw his first ball game in 1940. Actor-producer-singer composer Norworth thought up 3,000 songs in all, was married for a while to Ziegfeld Follies star Nora Bayes.

Today at 78, Jack Norworth is still going strong after 60 years in show biz, lives with his wife, Amy at Laguna Beach, Calif. He recently turned out a song called "Las Vegas" that "went very well," has one titled "Laguna Beach" coming up. Jack continues to sing his old songs at personal appearances on the West Coast, last year was on the Ed Sullivan show.

Jerry Lee Coughs Up Alimony

By Herald Wire Services

JERRY LEE LEWIS, 22, has paid up his alimony to an ex-wife and thus purged himself of contempt of court.

The $1,850 was turned over in Memphis to lawyers for Jane Mitcham Lewis, 22, of Natchez, Miss. at the same time a court hearing was set on Lewis' petition for custody of their two children and for reduced alimony.

Lawyers for Lewis said he wants to chop his $650 monthly alimony payments because his income has fallen off considerably since he was booed out of England last spring.

Lewis was just hitting the rock 'n' roll big time when he was jolted by unfavorable publicity that flared in London when he arrived there on a personal appearance tour with his 13-year-old cousin bride.

Is Ike Mad At Montgomery?

FIELD MARSHAL VISCOUNT MONTGOMERY ruefully admitted that President Eisenhower is no longer corresponding with him since he criticized Eisenhower's conduct of the war in his memoirs.

"If I have lost the friendship of this great man it would be very distressing to me—very distressing," Montgomery said.

'Prophet' Travels In Regal Splendor

DR. JAMES F. (PROPHET) JONES, Detroit leader of a religious cult, arrived in Newark for a three-week revival.

He brought 30 pieces of luggage, wore a $5,000 diamond bracelet, and was accompanied by a chauffeur, two personal cooks, two beauticians, three valets, three secretaries, two organists, a dietician, four bodyguards, and three spiritual advisers.

"I am here to preach the good faith and bring mankind under the fatherhood of God and the brotherhood of man," the 51-year-old Negro churchman told a welcoming group of princes and princesses of his church.

Dr. Jones, who claims a divine power to heal the sick and ward off calamity, has been head of the Church of Universal Triumph in Detroit since 1938. Fervent admirers, thousands of whom claim he has healed their afflictions, have showered him with more than $200,000 worth of gifts.

In his wardrobe is a full-length $12,900 white mink coat given him in 1953 by two admirers in Chicago after he reportedly cured their mother of an ailment.

His Religion Is Mankind

ALFRED DEL GUADIO, a Brooklyn barber and a Roman Catholic, lives in a predominantly Jewish neighborhood. Once a month, for 15 years, he has visited an orphans' home where, as "Uncle Al," he gives the children free haircuts.

In 1951, Del Guadio was asked if he would help sell Israel bonds. Of course, he said. In a door-to-door campaign he sold nearly $5,000 worth, all those who bought received free haircuts.

Del Guadio, a short, soft-spoken man, sings tenor well enough to belong to the choir of St. Catherine's of Alexandria Roman Catholic Church.

50 Days In the Air!

LAS VEGAS, Nev. — (AP) — Two fliers, stiff and sore from seven weeks in a cramped cabin, droned on Saturday night to a new world record for an endurance flight.

Robert Timm, 32, Las Vegas, and John Cook, 33, Los Angeles, passed the old record of 50 days Friday. They kept right on toward their goal of 60 days. The fliers are helping promote a cancer fund drive.

"We may stay up now until the engine stops running," Timm crowed. "You can be sure we won't be down in less than another 10 days."

They went on with their four hours on, four hours off stints piloting a single-engine Cessna 172 in the Blythe, Ariz.-Las Vegas areas. They were jubilant, if tired.

"The first 50 days were not easy, but it wasn't as tough as we thought it would be," Timm said.

Disc Jockey Keeps Awake 100 Hours For Record, Heads for Next Hundred

NEW YORK — (UPI) — A disc jockey set a new 100-hour record for staying awake without medication Saturday and said he was determined to keep wide-eyed for another 100 hours with the help of his own determination and constant reminders from others to stay on his feet.

Peter Tripp, 32, passed the 100-hour mark at 3:14 p.m. That was two hours better than the record set in a military awakathon staged at Walter Reed Army hospital in Washington in 1957.

The doctors who examine Tripp every two hours reported that although Tripp appears to be awake his brainwaves often are those of a sleeping man.

Tripp, a disc jockey for radio station WMGM, is holding up better than the average of 25 soldiers who underwent the Walter Reed test, according to Dr. Louis J. West, who examines Tripp regularly.

"His main discomfort, aside from general muscular weariness, is in his feet," the doctor said. "He stands or walks a lot in order to stay awake.

"The main observable effect so far has been on his brain. A brainwave recording shows that even when his eyes are open and he is standing erect, the brainwaves are similar to those of a person lying down with his eyes closed."

Tripp, when asked what he thought about to stay awake, said he kept so busy he did not have much time to think. But when he does meditate, he said, it is about his next radio show or what he is going to do when his ordeal is over.

He is established in the information booth in Times Square, with nurses and doctors in constant attendance to help him through his 200 hours of sleeplessness, which is being attempted to publicize the polio March of Dimes campaign.

In a Cat Show?

Americans Expected to Circle Moon in 10 Years

T. Keith Glennan
... Mars and Venus next

WASHINGTON —(AP)— There is a good chance that Americans will circle the moon without landing in the next 10 years, the nation's civilian space chief said Saturday.

Dr. T. Keith Glennan said that in the same decade "an active program should be under way to attempt a similar (circumnavigational) flight to Mars or Venus."

And, he added, there is an outside chance that samples of the moon's surface may be brought back to earth by some undisclosed technique.

Outlining in an interview the expectations of the National Aeronautics and Space Administration he heads, Glennan said prospects for success are conditioned on the assumption there will be vigorous national support.

Good progress toward manned space laboratories orbiting the earth for long periods and being supplied by rockets.

Tremendous advances in rocket propulsion, with the probability of developing rockets having up to six million pounds thrust — much higher than present capabilities.

Development of a nuclear-powered engine for space rockets.

Eternal Flame No Cook Stove

PARIS — (AP) — Claude Figus, 25, was sentenced to three months in prison and fined 50,000 francs (101.28) for frying two eggs over the eternal flame atop the tomb of France's Unknown Soldier. The tomb is under the Arch of Triumph.

Figus told the court "I recognize my act was idiotic."

The incident — charged as violation of a tomb — occurred after a Christmas party.

Industrialist Waives Rights to Property

Mrs. Goldfine Gets Mortgage on Home

Mrs. Goldfine

CAMBRIDGE, Mass. —(AP)— Mrs. Charlotte Goldfine, wife of Industrialist Bernard Goldfine, was granted a $35,000 mortgage on the family home in Newton by the Brookline Federal Savings Bank, according to papers filed with the Middlesex County Registry of Deeds.

The Goldfines were not immediately available for elaboration.

The house has about 10 rooms. It is big and ivy-covered, and in a fashionable section of Chestnut Hill which has many pretentious homes.

Goldfine and his secretary, Miss Mildred Paperman, were convicted last month of criminal contempt of court for failure to produce complete records for the Internal Revenue Service as ordered by the Federal Court.

Goldfine was given three months and Miss Paperman, 10 days. Both have been admitted to bail pending their appeal to the U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals.

Goldfine also faces trial in Washington, March 16, on contempt of Congress charges for failure to answer some questions about his financial affairs before a congressional subcommittee.

On Jan. 9 Judge Charles E. Wyzanski Jr. named a five-man board of directors to liquidate two Goldfine realty enterprises, the East Boston Co. and the Boston Port Development Co.

One of those named is George B. Heddendorf of Fayette, Maine, who was plaintiff in a minority stockholder suit against Goldfine and his management of the two firms.

A $662,000 settlement was accepted and final judgment entered by Judge Wyzanski, Dec. 10.

N-N-Nobody Knows How C-C-Cold That Wind B-Blows!

By JAY CLARKE
Compiled from Herald Services

EVERYBODY knows it feels colder when there's a wind a-blowing. But just how much colder the wind makes us is startling.

Army experimenters have found that if the temperature is plus 35 degrees Fahrenheit and the wind is blowing at 20 miles an hour, the effect on exposed flesh is the same as that of minus 38 degrees with no wind.

A wind of just five miles an hour and a balmy 60 degrees yields a chilly 23 degrees on exposed flesh. With a 10-mile wind at 20 degrees, the effect is equivalent to minus 40 degrees.

What's It For, Huh, Prof?

SCIENTISTS at the University of Maryland are building an instrument to detect something nobody has ever seen or felt and which may not even exist.

Actually, the scientists are gambling on Einstein. They hope to detect gravity waves, whose existence is predicted by Einstein's general theory of relativity. The school trustees are probably hoping fervently that Einstein is right, too, seeing as how if he isn't, they're stuck with a Rube Goldberg-ish machine that detects nothing...

De-Ice Pole With H-Bombs?

EXPLOSION of just a dozen to several dozen hydrogen bombs per year could make the north polar icecap completely disappear in less than 10 years, Weather Bureau calculations indicate.

SCIENCE NEWS

The cost — some two to three million dollars per bomb — would be within easy reach of powerful governments. Top scientists believe it is only a question of time until such a program is advocated by an interested nation. Russia would benefit more than the U.S. by such a program, as it would free her arctic ports.

Whose Castle Did You Say Man's Home Was?

By JOY REESE SHAW
Herald Staff Writer

A man's home may be his castle.

But the kingdom's in danger if you try to improve it and don't know the rules.

Add a patio, or repair the back porch, and the old homestead can wind up on the block for public sale.

This can happen even if you've paid your bill and have the canceled check to prove it.

Under an innocent-looking Florida Statute, which most homeowners don't know is in existence and might not understand if they did—liens can be placed against a home by workmen, or suppliers when a contractor defaults.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Jaffe, 717 85th St., Miami Beach, found out the hard way.

They decided it would be nice to have a little patio where they could enjoy the cool of the evening.

They employed Contractor Joe Maddaline to pave the patio for $345. He submitted his bill and the Jaffes paid him in full. It was so noted on the check.

Came the 90th day thereafter and a notice of lien arrived from Oolite Concrete Company, claiming $119.95 for concrete.

The Jaffes were worried to death.

Like numerous other homeowners, they found themselves on the horns of a dilemma: Pay twice for the concrete—which they felt they could ill-afford to do? Or wind up in a legal lien battle?

Fortunately for the Jaffes, a diligent daughter traced Maddaline by calling a trio of local firms. He consented to pay.

It was a little different with Mr. and Mrs. Harold Saxe, 1830 SW 82nd Ave. They decided to add a Florida room—a $2,000 job through a contractor. They wound up with $275 in liens from a roofing company and a tile firm.

Their attorney advised them to pay even though they had already paid the $2,000.

One Miami woman complained she got a lien notice from the laborers who installed wall-to-wall carpeting. She had paid the carpet man, not the laborers.

A Miami doctor said he had to stop payment on a check to get a lien release from a heating contractor. He'd just made final payment when a patient told him about a personal lien experience.

"Fortunately my check was on an out-of-city bank and hadn't cleared," he said.

He's an intelligent man but he knew nothing about the "mechanics lien law."

"I doubt if many folks do," he said.

Some Dade officials doubt if contractors themselves have a thorough knowledge of it.

"The situation is complicated and confused," he declared.

Intent of the law, it seems obvious, is to protect the interest of laborers and materialmen.

No one argues they should be given proper safeguards.

"Certainly folks ought to pay for improvements to their property," said Jaffee. "But surely neither the law, nor those who proposed it, intended folks to pay twice—or to jeopardize their homes.

Can such a lien actually be foreclosed?

Yes. Moreover, the property cannot be sold while a lien is outstanding unless bond is posted.

The total amount of all liens, of course, may not exceed the contract price—minus the amount of money "properly paid" by the owner.

Properly paid? That's not as simple as it sounds. There are legal definitions of what composes proper payments.

Meanwhile, man's home may be sacred.

Making Improvements? Read This First

JAFFE

Judge Raymond Nathan, Small Claims Court, provides these tips:

1—Be sure you deal with a reputable contractor.

2—If the job costs less than $3,000, pay nothing until the final bill is submitted.

Then demand a signed statement from the contractor that all labor, materials and supplies have been paid for and all sub-contractors satisfied financially.

3—If the job costs more than $3,000, require a bond.

4—If you don't require a bond, hold back at least 20 per cent of the cost at all times.

(The fact that you have paid the contractor does not free you from responsibility—but "proper payment" (based on above facets of proper payment) is your protection if it gets into the legal hopper.

Forget About Milk Price Cut

Dairy Farmers In Dade Seeking Greener Pastures

By DOM BONAFEDE
Herald Staff Writer

Dade County dairy farmers are moving to greener pastures farther north in Florida, taking with them $1,100,000 in annual revenue and dropping Dade from second to sixth place among milk-producing counties.

This was revealed Saturday in a check of state and federal records. They show that in the past 18 months, five of the county's 14 dairy farms have moved away, and with them went some 2,500 cows.

At the same time, it appeared that Dade housewives can forget about any reduction in milk prices for sometime to come because of other developments in the area's dairy industry.

South Florida dairy farmers last month asked the Depart of Agriculture to continue producer controls in the area for the next 16 months under the present price setup.

(For the last year and a half, dairy farmers in Dade, Broward, Palm Beach, and Monroe counties have had their prices set by the federal government at their own request. Most of the rest of the state is under the control of the Florida Milk Commission.)

Reason for the exodus of dairy farms from Dade are strictly economical: farmers can make more money selling their land; higher taxes, and increased operation costs.

Shopping centers, sub-divisions and schools are popping up where herds of cows lolled about a short time ago.

"The encroachment of urban areas and the necessity to move where production costs are low are driving South Florida dairy farmers to the north central counties," commented Dr. H. Allen Luke, federal marketing specialist.

He reported that milk production in Dade has been cut by about 25 per cent in the last year, which is equal to 16 million pounds of milk.

Most of the farms are being relocated in Okeechobee, Highlands, Martin and Palm Beach counties, he added.

"The longer haul of milk to Miami, where 90 per cent of it is marketed, could affect consumer prices because of maintenance and transportation costs," Luke observed.

Gerstein Honored By C of C

State Attorney Richard Gerstein, boss of the largest prosecutor's office in the South, was awarded the 1958 Good Government Award Saturday night by the Miami Beach Chamber of Commerce.

At a banquet at the Barcelona Hotel, the lanky 35-year-old state attorney was cited as "the outstanding Dade County official during the past year."

Featured speaker was Sen. Frank Church, Idaho Democrat, who at 34 is the youngest member of the U.S. Senate.

Gerstein was elected to the state attorney's post in 1956 after compiling an impressive record as an assistant county solicitor. He was the first to head the office under the consolidation of the state attorney's and county solicitor's offices.

During his two years as Dade County's top prosecutor, he racked up convictions in more than 90 per cent of the cases tried.

He said that the present generation "must face the hardest challenges of history — the problems of war and want."

Former Sen. Harry Cain made the introductions and Judge Ray Pearson served as master of ceremonies.

THE EGG CAME AFTER THE CHICKEN in this instance and this beady-eyed pullet can prove it. She laid the monster egg — 9½ inches around lengthwise and 7½ inches around the middle. Larry Eckland, 130 NW 156th St., gives the pullet a close look at the big egg she produced Friday and a normal one she laid Saturday. "I thought she wouldn't live through the night," said Eckland admiringly, "and then she up and lays another egg." —Herald Staff Photo by John Walther

'Shot . . . Details . . .'— Frankie Is Dead

By ELVALEE SWIFT
Herald Staff Writer

"Shot by a guard on duty as he approached his base in a vehicle," said the telegram. "Details will follow in a letter."

It was a vague and distant message from Washington, bringing Mr. and Mrs. James A. Galganos word of their son's death in Korea.

FRANKIE

They huddled Saturday night in their bright new home at 80 NW 158th St., seeking comfort that was not there.

In a preliminary report from Seoul, the provost marshal said five rounds were fired into the cab of a truck where Galgano was riding. He said the guard on duty, Pfc. Kenneth M. Burke, Del Rio, Tex., is being helf for investigation.

Mrs. Galgano sat wordlessly upon a couch, unable to speak of her grief.

"Every letter he wrote he talked about the new home," said Frankie's father. "He had never seen it. But he sent us two lamps. One of them got broken."

Friends and relatives of the Galganos clustered in the house, a group bound by sorrow and silence.

"He was just a private," he said. "New in the Army, really. He hadn't even been in a year."

And They Cycled Happily—

By TOM VINCIGUERRA

A 75-motorcycle caravan roared through West Hollywood Saturday, and screeched to a halt on the lawn of the Church of the Holy Sacrament.

The wedding guests had arrived.

John "Woody" Lloyd, 23, Davie grove worker and avid motorcyclist, paced nervously on the church lawn. He exchanged friendly jibes with the new arrivals and their girl companions.

"She better not say anything when I'm late for dinner," Lloyd quipped.

"If you're smart, you'll never come home for dinner," joked Big Jim Palmer, astride his motor. The whole group roared with laughter.

Accompanied by her mother, Mrs. Edward Green, Sally was whisked through a side entrance of the church. The army of motorcycle riders, dressed in leather jackets, caps, and riding breeches, filed into the pews. The organist began the wedding march.

Sally, dressed in tight-fitting riding pants and white satin blouse, stepped slowly down the aisle arm in arm with her.

The newlyweds moved quickly out of the church. They got into a Cadillac pulling a trail of beer cans. Driver Jersey Charlie Faschik, gave the signal and the wedding party roared over to Zombie's Bar in Davie for the reception.

Johnny hopes to present his wife a wedding gift—a motorcycle. "She was my riding partner," he said with pride.

New Radar Is Readied At Airport

It'll Cut Landing Delays

By CHARLES TAYLOR
Herald Staff Writer

As planes piled up over weather-clogged Miami for the second straight day Saturday, Miami International Airport was readying new radar equipment that should make long landing delays a thing of the past.

International's two new sky-sweeping radar units — which cost $350,000 — will be ready for trial runs this week and will be in full operation within 60 days, officials said.

The ground-gripping overcast which kept flight-weary passengers disgruntled over hours-long landing delays Friday and Saturday — and held pilots to instrument flying — pointed up the need for radar "eyes."

During late afternoon rush hours as many as 40 planes at once were circling one above the other in a dozen "hold" areas around the city waiting their turns to land.

Some planes circled two and a half hours. Others, running low on fuel during the monotonous wait, were diverted to Tampa, West Palm Beach and Nassau to sit out the delay. Holdups in outgoing schedules were not as lengthy.

HANSEN

Miami's year-round fair weather is the reason officials put off getting radar for so long. But periodic overcasts are enough to make the units a necessity now that Miami airways are jammed to the point of one-a-minute aircraft movements.

Under the present no-radar system, the traffic jam starts as soon as the control tower starts handling plans on instruments in bad weather.

Stringent safety regulations for instance, require planes flying at the same altitudes to separate themselves by 10 minutes.

"At flight speed, that may mean as much as 50 miles," Hansen said. "With radar, we can put 10 planes in that 50 miles because we'll be able to see them on radar screens as well as if the weather was clear.

One of the radars will be located in the Air Route Traffic Control Center and will pick up planes as far out as 150 miles. The second unit, with a 30-mile range, will operate from the control tower.

Pilot Gets 'In-Bond' Sales

'Port Concession' Awarded Without Bids Questioned

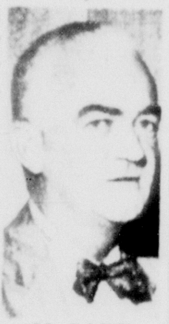
By LEO ADDE
Herald Staff Writer

A whisky and cigaret concession that was awarded without advertising or bids was tossed at airport officials for explanation Saturday.

The concession was given to a Pan American Airways pilot who made the only offer to handle "in-bond" (and tax free) sales to airline passengers headed out of the country.

Commissioner Robert Haverfield declared Saturday he will ask Port Director George McSherry to explain why he recommended the concession to pilot Alfred E. Merhige without at least looking for better offers.

McSherry and William C. McCabe, his aide who personally negotiated this and other concessions for the county's new air terminal, both acknowledged the Port Authority did not advertise or ask for other offers.



McCABE

"We didn't have time," McSherry said.

Merhige's offer was made last June 20. The deadline for concession bids was Sept. 2.

Pilot Merhige, who owns Florida Export Tobacco Company, Inc. first offered 74 per cent of gross sales. After negotiation, he finally signed a contract guaranteeing the Port Authority 11 per cent, or a minimum rental of $11,200 a year.

At the prevailing prices used by dealers in other international airports, Miami's concessionaire will make at least 80 cents gross profit on each carton of cigarets.

All the concession needs to operate, Commissioner Haverfield pointed out, is a counter and a clerk, There is no investment in stock.

The customer pays for his purchase. The order is passed to U.S. Customs clerks who take the whisky or cigarets from a bonded warehouse and load it on the outbound plane.

A spokesman for Eli Witt Cigar and Tobacco Co., which operates the only bonded cigaret warehouse in this area, said the in-bond dealer will pay 86 cents for a carton of "regulars."

The in-bond dealer at Idlewild International Airport in New York said he pays the same price, 86 cents, and sells a carton of regular cigarets for $1.62.

On percentage basis, Miami International made a more profitable concession deal than Idlewild. The New York concessionaire pays 7½ per cent.

"How can we tell we couldn't have done even better," Haverfield asked.

Merhige was steered to McSherry by County Commissioner Edwin L. Mason. Mason said Merhige, whom he did not know, came to him with a mutual friend to inquire about bidding for the concession.

Mason said he instructed him to write McSherry.

Port aide McCabe said the Port Authority was legally correct in making the in-bond deal without advertising for bids.

"The Port Authority Act requires us to do that only for exclusive franchises," he said, "and there will be other places selling cigarets and liquor at the airport."

The others, however, will be direct tax-paid sales to anyone.

Last October, at the first meeting of the enlarged 11-man Metro Commission, the board ordered McSherry to obtain sealed, competitive bids on all future concessions. McSherry has complied.

For Broadcasting Track Results

Human Radio Station Seized

By JOHN MORTON
and TOM LOWNES
Herald Staff Writers

Federal officers, who spent three days listening to weird code signals from Hialeah Race Track, found the source Saturday and charged a chunky, sad-eyed man with illegally operating a transmitter.

JOHNSON

The arrest by Federal Communications Commission agents climaxed a day of roundups which began when Metro Sheriff Tom Kelly's vice squad snared three bookie suspects in two raids.

Security Chief John L. Madala said Johnson was carrying a belt full of expensive transistor radio equipment under his shirt. An antenna was taped to his leg. The bulky package was concealed under his shirt, a jacket and topcoat.

They said he was flashing dot-dash signals to a confederate outside the track. Madala said Johnson would signal when the horses were at the gate, the start of the race, unofficial winner, official results on the first three horses and the payoffs.

Johnson was turned over to Hialeah police pending a hearing before U.S. Commissioner Roger E. Davis. Track officers said he would also be charged with illegally broadcasting the results of a race. State law requires a 30-minute delay before race results are sent out.

Earlier, Eddie Davidson, 61, of 136 NW 32nd Ave., and Hugh Slaton, 42, of 2350 Okeechobee Rd., were snared in a check on book making operations reported at the Stop and Shop Curb Market, 31 NW 36th St.

They picked up a third suspect, Casey Paul Allen, 49, of 252 NE 32nd St., at a parking lot near NW Second Ave. and 59th St.

Davidson was charged with bookmaking and conspiracy to violate the gambling laws and held under $3,000 bond.

Slaton was released under $3,500 bond, charged with bookmaking, conspiracy and possession of lottery tickets. Allen, released on $3,000 bond, was charged with bookmaking and possession of lottery equipment.

The raiders said they made the arrests after a four-day investigation. They said they would ask Southern Bell Telephone Co. to remove the pay phone from the market because it had been used in bookmaking operations.

Swashbuckling Actor Sets Sail for the South Seas

Actor Hayden Defies Court, Goes to Sea With Children

SAUSALITO, Calif. — (UPI) — Actor Sterling Hayden, a swashbuckler in real life as well as on the screen, has defied a court order and taken his four children to Tahiti aboard his schooner Wanderer, it was learned Saturday.

The 6-foot-5 inch former fisherman set sail Sunday for Santa Barbara, 310 miles down the California coast, but changed course for Tahiti, while en route.

In a "hail and farewell" letter to close friends and the crew's families, Hayden said he regretted "such action is required, but the reasons are so obvious as to require no comment."

In Los Angeles, Hayden's former wife, Betty Ann de Noon Hayden, broke down and was placed under sedatives.

"He's gone out of his mind," she said. "He'll kill them (the children) on that ship. Its over 60 years old. He just wants to use them in the films he wants to make."

Last week Los Angeles Superior Court Judge Emil Gumpert described the blond actor as a "loving and devoted father" in awarding him custody of the children, Christian 10, Thor nine, Gretchen eight, and Matthew six.

But Gumpert ruled that Hayden could not take them on the proposed long sea voyage. He said the ship was "ancient and the crew inexperienced."—The danger too great for the children.

Shirley Sweet
. . . aboard as cook

Hayden's letter read:

"Dockside Sausalito—schooner Wanderer, Jan. 17 — To whom it may concern:

"When and if you read this, we will be on our way with the oft postponed voyage in spite of a certain ruling of the court. I regret that such action is required but the reasons are so obvious as to require no comment.

"This is to assure you that there can be no legal problem for those other than myself. Mail should now be sent to schooner Wanderer c-o General Postoffice, Papeete, Tahiti, French Oceania . . .

"I assume you will receive this letter on or about Friday Jan. 23. It might be well to keep it in the family for the time being.

"Hail and Farewell"
(signed)
"Sterling Hayden"

Aboard the 98-foot boat with Hayden and his children were first mate Phillip Africa, 53, Africa's wife, Barbara, 39, their three children, plus six other men and four women.

One of the women was reported to be Shirley Sweet, 22, a San Jose State economics graduate. Her mother, Mrs. William Sweet, of Belmont, Calif., said that Shirley was aboard the schooner as cook.

Chester Smith, Mrs. Hayden's attorney, threatened to have the law down on not only Hayden, but the crew as well. He said they were all subject to criminal conspiracy and kidnaping charges.

'FDR Demos' Forming Club

An organization called "FDR Democrats for Young Adults" is being formed in Dade County, Jerry Rothbard said Saturday.

The group, which will be independent of the Dade County Democratic party, according to Rothbard, is for single persons between 21 and 35.

Those interested in joining should contact Rothbard at 2212 SW Third Ave.

Our UF Money Helping Flood Relief

By MIKE MORGAN
Herald Staff Writer

With the United Fund striving to reach its goal of $3,477,000, Fund Chairman Bill Lantaff Saturday pointed out the major role being played now by one Fund agency, the Red Cross, in the flood-stricken areas of the North.

"Right now, just when we are fighting to reach our goal, there is a striking instance of what some of your contributions are being spent for.

"If the time ever comes when we in Dade need major disaster relief, Red Cross will respond just as quickly to our needs."

Mel Livengood, director of the Dade chapter of the American Red Cross, said thousands of families in Ohio, forced from their homes by floodwaters, are being aided through 49 Red Cross shelters.

Trained disaster workers are being sent, and have been sent, to other areas where help is being brought to flood-stricken families.

Locally, the Red Cross was besieged with phone calls from persons living who have relatives in flood-torn communities.

Lantaff said: "Imagine the suffering averted by trained disaster workers who responded to the call. Trained workers in other agencies in the Fund are on hand to serve our community.

Monday the attorney's section of the Fund's Professional Division will make its final report at the Columbus Hotel at noon.

Some 448 gifts by attorneys to date show a total of $42,442 raised with an average of $94 per giver.

But 1,364 attorneys have failed to contribute anything, making the average gift for the profession $23.

In an effort to reach attorneys who have not contributed, as well as others, United Fund will stage a "phonothon" beginning Wednesday noon and continuing for two days.

Campaigners will man a battery of phones to call those who gave last year, but haven't contributed this year.

British Singer in Hospital

Rock 'n' Roll Star Drafted, Cracks Up

NETLEY, England —(UPI) —Terry Dene, an Elvis Presley-style star who was drafted into the army two days ago, was taken to a hospital Saturday suffering from "emotional strain."

It was the second crackup in 11 months for the hip-swinging, guitar-twanging Dene. Last Year, the 20-year-old rock 'n' roll star had a nervous breakdown and went on a window-smashing spree. At that time, spokesmen said success had been too much for him.

However, he was certified fit for induction into the armed services. Last Thursday, he was sworn in under his real name, Terence Williams. His salary shrank from about $1,000 a week to a private's pay, $4.21 a week.

Hospital authorities said they were holding Dene for "observation."

Last July, he was married to Edna Savage, a singer. He has denied reports of a rift between them.

Dene had been undergoing psychiatric treatment since his rampage last February.

Young Demo Leader Due

His visit is to discuss plans for the April convention at the Roney Plaza Hotel, Miami Beach, of the Young Democrats' National Executive Committee.

Lancione will meet Miami Democratic leaders at a reception this afternoon at the home of Joseph Murphy, 701 Alcazar Ave., Coral Gables. He also will be guest of honor at a dinner party tonight at the Roney Plaza.

Say They Need Outside Jobs to Meet Expenses

Some Teach School by Day, May Tend Bar by Night

By PHIL MEYER
Herald Staff Writer

School teachers who practice "moonlighting" are going to keep right on doing it—at least until their pay goes up—an informal survey showed Saturday.

What is moonlighting? Don't worry. It's no kin to moonshining.

It's a term teachers use to describe a practice that became so widespread there had to be a name for it. It means the holding of an outside job to make up the difference between pay and living expenses.

While the School Board does not discourage moonlighting, some officials are privately concerned that it may lessen a teacher's classroom efficiency.

Officially, the practice is ignored. No one is keeping tab on the moonlighters, and it is hard to tell just how many there are. Average pay in Dade schools is $5,100.

More than half of the male school teachers queried at random by The Herald said they are holding night-time jobs. The jobs were of all types: selling encyclopedias, tending bar, leading a dance band, running copy for a newspaper.

—Herald Staff Photo

Moonlighting Teacher Arthur Lacovara
. . . music profits help stretch budget

All were in agreement with a recent remark by a state legislator, Sen. J. Emory Cross of Gainesville, that the practice should be stopped. They also agreed on the way to stop it: raise their teaching pay.

An outright ban on outside jobs would have "a terrific impact on the standard of living of married male teachers," said Leo A. Price.

A sixth grade teacher at Bryan Elementary, Price said teachers should "either be given adequate salaries or allowed to use their free time as they want."

"I've been working as a salesman for a printing concern," he said. "But lately I've been too busy with school work and taking a university course in order to keep up my certification.

"I'm getting by, but there are a lot of people with bigger families who are in far worse condition. I know one fellow who must work 30 to 35 hours a week on the side."

The scarcity of acceptable part-time jobs was a complaint of some teachers. One moonlighter, Arthur D. Lacovara, fourth-grade teacher at Opa-locka Elementary, solved this problem by opening his own business. Now he runs a music shop in Opa-locka.

"Nobody's going to give you a decent job on a part-time basis," he said. "And this takes care of my summers, too. Some fellows have to take humiliating jobs in the summer."

"Theirs is an extra pay check in the family, or else they are single and have no responsibilities," said Jay W. Coulter, biology teacher at Southwest High. "Their needs are not as great, and the system is geared for them."

Coulter makes his extra cash selling encyclopedias, and until recently he held a third job in the mailing room of The Herald.

"You'd figure that a fellow with five years of experience and a master's degree wouldn't need to do this," he said.

"I guess it's love of teaching that keeps people in it."

Will Legislature End Up Supporting Parochial Schools?

By PHIL MEYER
Herald Education Writer

The Legislature, in its efforts to preserve segregation, may wind up supporting parochial schools, a Dade educator said Saturday.

Inside Your Schools

School Superintendent Joe Hall said this could be a result of a so-called parent-option plan proposed last week by several members of the Legislature.

The plan would allow parents to withdraw their children from integrated schools and collect the amount of money the public would have spent on them.

The parent would then be required to apply that money to tuition payments at a non-public school.

"The sum they would get would be a small one," Hall said, "and not enough to meet tuition payments at a private school. But some Catholic schools, with their dedicated staffs, can operate more cheaply. They might break even with the state tuition payments."

Even with other things being equal, the parochial schools would get the biggest share, Hall said, because there are so many of them. They account for about two-thirds of the 18,314 non-public school pupils in Dade County.

"It seems to me this would be violating the separation of church and state, which is a principle deeply ingrained in our heritage," said Hall.

No one has yet estimated what the tuition payments would amount to in dollars and cents, but it is easy to arrive at a maximum figure. In Dade County, they cannot possibly be more than $37 a month, which is the total in state, local, and federal funds spent for each child.

Private school tuition runs from $50 to more than $100 a month depending on the school and the grade level. This is well above the $37 figure which itself is swollen by the inclusion of programs for exceptional children in the average. These run above $100 a month per child.

Also, not all of the $37 comes to Dade County in the form of cash. Some of it represents the value of free textbooks supplied by the state or surplus food supplied by the federal government.

Dade may never have to arrive at the actual figure. State Sen. Joe Eaton of Miami has promised to fight for a local-option provision in the parent-option proposal.

School boundaries and Negro housing areas correspond closely enough that integration will never be the problem here that it could become in some parts of Florida. For that reason, the county might turn the plan down if given the chance.

There is also the question of constitutionality. As Sen. Eaton has pointed out, the proposed law would discriminate against parents whose children are not in integrated schools. They would not be eligible for the money.

Then there are the taxpayers who have no children in any of the schools. They too would be ineligible for refunds and might claim denial of equal protection of the law.

Oldsters Facing 'Horror Years'?

In just 40 years, the so-named "Golden Years" may be known as the horror years to senior citizens according to R. O. Beckman, director of the Senior Service Foundation.

Speaking to the Republican Club here, he pleaded for more employment and more activity for older people and said that if they are neglected "we will be paying fantastic taxes to support them."

Beckman said the United States will have twice and perhaps three times as many people over 65 in 1980 as now.

4-Day Fete Opens Airport Thursday

By JOHN McDERMOTT
Herald Staff Writer

Miami's great $26,000,000 International Airport terminal, a link binding the American continents, formally opens this week.

FRONDIZI

A four-day celebration signaling the dedication of the world's largest single air passenger terminal gets underway Thursday.

Highlights of Miami's most impressive "Aviation Week" include an air show and a state visit by Argentine President Arturo Frondizi.

President Frondizi's appearance here Saturday and Sunday will climax his 10-day stay in the U.S.

It marks the first visit to this country of an Argentine chief of state and is particularly significant because he is the first democratically elected president Argentina has had in 30 years.

It is expected to play a dominant role in making this "gateway" the busiest airport in the nation in the not-distant future. Already it is the second busiest.

Passenger traffic totaled 4,000,000 in 1958. Air cargo was more than 200 million pounds.

Airport authorities here predict these figures will be substantially surpassed by the time 1959 closes out.

President Frondizi is scheduled to make a major public address next Sunday at the terminal building beginning at 1:30 p.m. U.S. Rep. Dante B. Fascell also will speak.

The president's talk is expected to touch on his meetings in Washington with President Eisenhower, hemispheric problems, the need for improved relations between the Americas and the future of the Western continents which now are so interwoven in the Air Age.

Virtually all Latin American countries will have official representatives here for the dedication of the new Miami International.

Great Britain, France and the Netherlands also have signified they will have delegates.

Visiting ambassadors and other dignitaries will be guests Saturday at a state dinner honoring President Frondizi in the Calcutta room of the Diplomat Country Club in Hallandale.

The Argentine president will speak along with U.S. Sen. George Smathers of Miami, long accepted as the "spokesman" for Latin America in the Senate.

The air show is set for Friday, Saturday and Sunday at Masters Field, off NW 27th Ave. It is free and open to the public.

The show will feature the famed Air Force Thunderbirds jet plane drill team, exhibits, military bands, missile displays and spectacular aerial performances.

The Voice of America will interview many of the dignitaries during the four-day airport opening extravaganza. Their messages will be carried by the "Voice" radio to all parts of the world.

President Frondizi, immediately after the formal dedication Sunday, will board a plane for his flight home.

First Anniversary Affair

Teenage Tycoons Plan Exhibition of Products

Teenage tycoons, well-versed in the business matters of corporate finance and cost accounting, will strut their money-making talents this Friday and Saturday at the First Anniversary Trade Exposition to be held at the Dupont Plaza Center.

Young high school students representing 19 companies will emulate real business firms by displaying goods which they have manufactured under adult supervision.

The exposition will climax a week of activity saluting 220 Junior Achievement programs in the U.S. The program, sponsored by business and industry, aims at giving youngsters a realistic understanding of free enterprise.

Hours for the exposition are: 6-10 p.m. Friday, and 10 a.m. to 6 p.m., Saturday at the Architect's Bureau of the Dupont Plaza Center. Admission is free and products will be sold.

Since Adams

Ike Quits His Role As 'Coach'

By PETER LISAGOR
Of Our Washington Bureau

WASHINGTON — Since Sherman Adams' departure as chief shield-and-screen at the White House, President Eisenhower is reported taking a far more active hand in administration business.

LISAGOR

He has abandoned his earlier role as a kind of coach brought into play mainly at the crucial decision-making stage, according to those privy to his working habits.

For the almost six years he served as presidential assistant, Adams sifted and screened executive matters with such decisive dispatch that the president often was spared in the early stages of policy-making.

Under Adams' successor, Gen. Wilton B. Persons, the president gets into action earlier, even in many cases at the inception of the policy formulation, these informants say.

In this process, they add, Mr. Eisenhower's inherent conservatism has blossomed. Some of his executive associates, in the cabinet and out, are understood to have been surprised at the depths of this convervatism.

It has taken tangible form in the President's avowed campaign to fight against inflation, a battle he joined with his 77-billion-dollar budget for the next fiscal year.

Those on the President's team who regard themselves as progressives have been made unhappy by his rigidly conservative stance.

They are reported to include men like Labor Secretary James P. Mitchell, Interior Secretary Frederick A. Seaton, Secretary of Health, Education and Welfare Arthur Flemming and Vice President Richard M. Nixon.

These men sought to liberalize the budget in several areas, succeeded in very few. But they are going down the line for the budget as "good soldiers," these informants say.

Believes in God, So Loses Kids

BERLIN — (AP) — A divorce court in Communist East Germany has given a father custody of his two children because the mother is a Christian, Information Bureau West reported.

The bureau, an anti-Communist West Berlin organization, said a court in Stralsund ruled that the father — since he is a Communist — is more fitted to raise the children.

The bureau identified the father as a 47-year-old official of a state-run factory, but declined to give his name. The mother was said to be 36 years old, the children five and seven.

Changing Era

ATHENS —(AP)— Two relics of the 400-year Turkish domination of Greece will disappear in a few months. They are the pic, a linear measure, to be replaced by the meter, and the oke, a measure of weight, to be abolished in favor of the kilogram.

Ex-Deputy Denies His Testimony

BARTOW—His former testimony before a Grand Jury was repudiated here Saturday by James Busbee, former Polk County deputy sheriff, from the stand in the perjury trial of former State Sen. Harry King of Winter Haven.

Busbee denied he was a part of an alleged plan of King to "trap" Boone Tillett Jr. of Lake Wales, a former state representative. He had previously testified he and another deputy had "been assigned" to King.

King contends he paid Tillett $10,000 as "blackmail." The state charges the payment was for Tillett to withdraw as King's opponent in 1956 and Tillett was working with state officials.

Busbee admitted his testimony on the payoff "plan" before a Grand Jury probe had been given him by King. He has entered a plea of guilty to a charge of perjury.

FEC Plan Due

JACKSONVILLE — A hearing on the plan to reorganize the bankrupt Florida East Coast Railroad under the control of the duPont interests will be held here Monday before U.S. District Judge Bryan Simpson.

The judge will write an opinion on the plan, to be sent to the Interstate Commerce Commission. The ICC has approved the plan to reorganize the road, in bankruptcy since 1931. The duPont interests hold a majority of the FEC bonds.

Tax Look Urged

TALLAHASSEE — A study of the state tax structure to determine if revenues are increasing in proportion to population was urged Saturday by Thomas Bailey, state superintendent of schools.

He cited the current biennium, when slashes in expenditures were necessary because revenues failed to meet expectations Department budget requests for the next two years are 140 million dollars more than revenue estimates.

Bailey also urged higher real estate assessments to provide county financing of programs now carried on with state aid.

Broward Growth Leading Dade

By MIKE MORGAN
Herald Staff Writer

Broward county continues as one of the fastest growing areas in the state with another fine year predicted during 1959.

Dr. Reinhold Wolff, University of Miami economist, reports that proportionately Broward's growth still outpaces that of Dade.

A check of the building permit records for December 1958 shows that Broward County pushed ahead of Dade that month with 1,126 dwelling units authorized compared to 1,114 in Dade.

This certainly is an isolated instance, he cautioned, but it happened before and should not be ignored as a signpost to the trend of the drift toward Broward.

Of this total, Dr. Wolff estimates 18,000 will be built in Dade and 14,000 in Broward. Which is a sizable proportionate increase for Broward compared to respective populations.

The 32,000 units for the combined area impressively tops the forecasts of other major population centers in the state.

One of the more forceful signals of what is happening in Broward, emphasized the economist, is the gain recorded in residential electric customers.

Dade County residential electric customers increased 4.7 per cent in 1958 over 1957 with an annual average of 266,400 customers last year compared to 254,014 in 1957.

Said Wolff:

Ike's Aide To Address GOP

Bert L. Acker, club president, said the dinner will be held at the Miami Women's Club auditorium starting at 7 p.m.

No Politicians, But They'll Run County

Eleven men have been named to Metro's powerful Planning Advisory Board, which one commissioner says "will almost run the county."

They'll wield virtual veto power over all Dade's master planning for transportation, traffic and parks. They will bring a new element of control to zoning and land use.

Two members are veterans of the political front lines — former mayors of Miami and Miami Beach. The others' experience in government ranges down to the "none at all" of the 35-year-old youngest member. Fewer than half have served on advisory boards before.

Close observers of Metro law say broad powers are vested in this board if it chooses to exercise them. Much depends on the interpretation the board puts on its mandate to "advise" the Metro Commission and the planning director appointed by the County manager.

The advisory board could be, if it wants, the final arbiter of planning disputes between the Commission and administration.

How the board will shape up in action is guesswork at this point. The new appointees are reticent, saying they are not officially in office until the Commission approves the list of 11 on Tuesday.

Most of the 11 have never been involved in a common project before.

Two members helped draft the home rule charter, as members of the Metropolitan Charter Board. One was an energetic foe of Metro.

Professionally, the advisory board is weighted with men who design, plan, build and sell real estate. For three members, this is the primary occupation, and for two more a secondary interest.

The owner of a TV station and movie chain, and a weekly newspaper publisher represent the communications industry. The board includes two leaders in branches of the transportation industry, and a farmer.

Metro Commissioners, who named the planning advisors to serve one-to-three-year terms, said they made their nominations without regard to profession. Surveying the completed list, commissioners agreed to a man it was "represenative and non-political", and included a cross-section of what are popularly known as "civic leaders."

ANTHONY ABRAHAM — Owner of a Chevrolet agency here since 1953 . . . Head of a laymen's committee planning development for the Roman Catholic diocese of Miami . . . Born in Youngstown, Ohio, 57 years ago and educated at University of Detroit.

ABNEY COX — South Dade produce grower who lives in Coral Gables . . . Charter board member . . . While chairman of the 17-county Central and South Florida Flood Control District pushed Dade projects . . . Member of Dade Development Board . . . Born in Hilldale, Ill., in 1915 and graduated from University of Florida in 1936.

EMIL GOULD — Has headed the Florida Association of Home Builders and the Builders Association of South Florida . . . Early in the post-war housing boom, he was active in movement to make home ownership possible for low-income families.

BENNETT LIFTER — Philadelphia-born, 33-year-old Miami Beach attorney and home builder in Dade's north and southwest sections . . . University of Miami graduate . . . His family is whole or part owner of several Beach hotels some jointly with Hotelman Morris Lansburgh. They include the Deauville, Sans Souci, Versailles and Casa Blanca.

ADRIAN McCUNE — A pioneer real estate man here . . . Came South from Somerville, Ohio, in 1914, and at one time saw oceanfront property sold for 50 cents an acre . . . A founder of the Miami Board of Realtors and member of the American Institute of Real Estate Appraisers.

JAY MORTON — Publisher of the weekly Hialeah Home News which violently opposed Metro government . . . Peppery figure in Hialeah politics and longtime opponent of perennial Mayor Henry Milander . . . Born in Los Angeles in 1911, he was once a Hollywood script writer.

EDWIN T. REEDER — Architect who designed the modish Industrial National Bank building at 27 W. Flagler, and the new county jail and criminal courts building . . . former Florida chapter president of the American Institute of Architects.

JAMES A. RYDER — 44-year old owner of the nation's second largest trucking firm, with a gross annual business of nearly 50 million dollars . . . Started in 1932 with a second-hand Model A truck, and built up a fleet of 12,000 vehicles . . . A director of the Florida State Chamber of Commerce, and president of Goodwill Industries here.

J. MARK STANLEY — Native of Dacula, Ga., he is the 38-year-old president and owner of an insurance firm . . . Former deputy director of the Office of Price Stabilization for this district . . . Vice chairman of the Public Housing Authority for Miami.

WILLIAM WOLFARTH — Miami mayor 1949 to 1951 and later a city commissioner . . . Formerly president of a baking company, and now operates an insurance firm . . . An anti-gambling crusader while in political office . . . Once headed the Greater Miami Aviation Association.

Are Companies Actually Losing Money?

Long Fight on Insurance Rates Seen

BY JOHN L. BOYLES
Capitol Bureau Chief

Richard Ervin
. . . limits hearing

TALLAHASSEE — If insurance companies are losing money on auto casualty coverage why do they hang on to the business?

Their answer to that question will be one of the arguments presented in what appears to be shaping up as a long legal battle over rate increases, an industry spokesman said here.

A public hearing has been scheduled for 9:30 a.m. Wednesday Feb. 11 in the Florida House chamber here on a petition of the National Bureau of Casualty Underwriters for a rate boost. The bureau proposed increases ranging up to 33.3 per cent for Dade County — whose rates are among the nation's highest and 26.3 per cent statewide.

An opinion by Atty. Gen. Richard Ervin says the hearing must be limited to the question of whether the bureau's application is legally sufficient. State Insurance Commissioner J. Edwin Larson turned it down on grounds it failed to provide adequate information.

If the Commissioner sticks to his previous ruling the Bureau is expected to carry its fight for consideration of the petition to the Leon Circuit Court. In any case the forthcoming hearing will not provide a basis for final action or the proposed rate hike.

Under the proposed revision, insurance premiums on a car used for pleasure by a driver over 25 would go up by $21 to $31 statewide. Cars operated by persons under 25 would be uprated by $40 to $65.

The Commissioner said the information in the Bureau's application was based on less than half of the total auto liability coverage written by all companies operating in Florida. The experience of other companies should have been considered, too, Larson said.

Albert M. Thomasson, southeastern public relations director for the Association of Casualty and Surety Companies, said the trend in other states recently has been to go to court when rate increase applications are turned down.

If Larson again denies the request the Bureau can revise its rate application and refile or appeal to the Leon County Circuit Court.

Thomasson said companies represented by the National Bureau write about 35 per cent of the premium volume in Florida and that they lost $3½ million in this state in 1957. He anticipates the 1958 loss will be even higher.

Contending that Bureau companies have gone in the red ink nine of 12 years since World War II, Thomasson said they continue in the business because the industry is afraid of state encroachment on private business.

"If we don't provide through private industry," Thomasson said, the state would start providing it. We hope to keep auto insurance a private enterprise, that's why we are hanging on at a loss."

Thomasson said there is a fear that if the state begins providing auto insurance it will try to write all types of insurance, explaining that "in Florida most of the workmen's compensation is already written through self-insuror pools."

Confessed Robber to Go Free

By BOB HARDIN
Herald Staff Writer

A confessed robber will go free in Circuit Court Monday.

The reason: he's not guilty.

LEICHTMAN

The "robber," Richard Leichtman, 18, has spent 120 days in jail, and confessed twice to a Miami holdup Aug. 18.

"But he was in New Orleans jail on Aug. 18," Public Defender Robert Koeppel said Saturday.

Why did he confess?

"He was picked up in a stolen car, riding a young fellow and girl around," said Miami Detective E. B. Hamm.

"He told the arresting officer if the other two could go on home, he'd talk about a robbery."

Hamm said Leichtman knew details of the robbery he confessed to.

Three friends went to jail as a result.

"But our investigator discovered he was in New Orleans at the time," Koeppel said.

Of Leichtman's 120 days in jail, about a month was spent under psychiatric examination, Koeppel said. He was declared sane.

"The rest of the time was spent checking out the case," Hamm said.

"Now he thinks he ought to go to jail because he 'perjured' himself on his confession," Koeppel said.

Paid Ticket

Holt's All Clear With The Police

A second Miami circuit judge who ran into the trouble with the law over a traffic violation has paid his fine by mail, police reports showed Saturday.

Judge George E. Holt, arrested last month for running a red light, mailed a $15 check to the Miami Police Department to wind up the case.

Judge Vincent C. Giblin was frisked and jailed Friday after his wife was stopped on a speeding charge. Mrs. Giblin paid the $15, traffic ticket—plus a $6 towing charge—at the station. Judge Giblin was released after the smoke cleared from his disagreement with a policeman.

Holt was stopped by Motorcycle Sgt. Charles T. Renegar at W. Flagler St. and NW First Ave., where the police officer claimed he went through a stop light.

Renegar brought Judge Holt to the Miami police station after Holt refused to sign the traffic ticket, according to new police policy.

Holt later signed the ticket and was released.

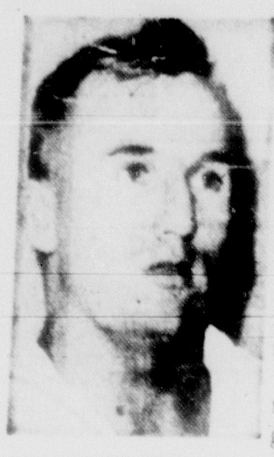
Tongay Is Playing 'Bad Boy' Again

By JOHN BOYLES
Herald Staff Writer

RAIFORD—The state's most famous guest, Russell Tongay, is up to his old "bad boy" tricks, officials said here Saturday.

Tongay is serving 10 years for forcing his daughter, Kathy, to make a 33-foot dive that fatally injured her.



TONGAY

And he's nowhere near a parole, peeved prison officials declare.

"Tongay recently sent out letters to several persons trying to put pressure on the commission," said Raymond Marsh, of the Florida Parole Commission.

"He mailed postcards criticizing most everyone, and using vulgar language."

Tongay also has refused to work, claiming illness.

"He'll have to show a big change in attitude and conduct to even be considered for a parole," Marsh said.

He has made two escapes, tried suicide twice, and inflicted innumerable wounds on himself, blaming them on guards and fellow prisoners.

He was sent to Chattahoochee as a mental case in 1956, but returned.

Trips at his insistence to hospitals outside Raiford have led doctors to say there is nothing physically wrong with him.

Bountiful Harvest Could Wreck Budget

By DAVID KRASLOW
Of Our Washington Bureau

WASHINGTON — The irony of the government's farm surplus program is that if the Lord provides a bountiful harvest, it costs us money.

SMATHERS

Sen. George Smathers had this in mind Saturday when he indicated that good weather could quickly throw President Eisenhower's "precariously balanced" budget for 1960 into the red.

"The balanced budget will require the worst sort of weather possible," Smathers said, "so that crops will fall far below normal and the government will thus be able to cut back its farm surplus payments."

Smathers said he "doubted" that the proposed budget could be kept out of the red. "We all want a balanced budget," he said. "Our fight against against inflation is the most important fight we have except for our struggle to maintain our military posture.

"But the administration does not seem to have considered the hundreds of things that can happen — many of them beyond the control of Congress —to throw the budget into deficit."

Smathers said it is "doubtful" whether Congress will go along with the president's proposals for increasing the gasoline tax and postage rates.

"We have always regarded the tax on gasoline as essentially a state tax," he said. "I don't know if we should move further into this field."

"We plan some building programs for our country which will cost more than the president has anticipated. We must not take the risk of choking off our economic growth."

". . . We will be fortunate if we can have a balanced budget. I hope it will not be far out of balance."

$4 Million This Year?

Turnpike Turns 2, And It's aProdigy

By DUANE JONES
Herald Staff Writer

FORT LAUDERDALE — Florida's turnpike is two years old today.

And indications are it'll grow up to be an unqualified business success.

Many East Coast towns that feared financial disaster when bypassed by the turnpike are now, with few exceptions, singing its praises.

The reactions of most is that the sooner the turnpike is extended to the Georgia line the better.

How's the turnpike doing toll-wise?

In 1957 it took in $3,519,000. In 1958 revenues jumped to $3,669,000.

"A tremendous success" is what T. M. Ervin, turnpike administrative assistant calls the toll road.

"We'd start on an extension immediately if we had the money. An unfavorable bond market is the only thing holding us back," he said.

* * *

Ervin and other officials believe the existing 40-year bond issue can be retired in 30.

Toll collections this year are expected to hit four million dollars.

Turnpike officials are in agreement that most East Coast towns bypassed by the toll road have been helped by the turnpike, but they also agree that in some cases motels, restaurants and gift shops have been hurt.

Support of the turnpike depends mainly on what area you live in.

Of 18 business and civic leaders polled between Fort Pierce and Fort Lauderdale a total of 12 said the turnpike had been beneficial. Five said it had hurt their towns.

* * *

Lynn F. Myers, acting mayor of Lake Worth said he would like to withhold judgment until "the proposed Lake Worth interchange is completed."

"So far, "he said, "it hasn't been a boon from the business standpoint."

Other comments:

Marvin H. Rowell of Stuart, chairman of the Martin County Commission: "The turnpike has devaluated real estate and has hurt all business on U.S. 1, from Fort Pierce to West Palm Beach."

William Weiss, president of Jensen Beach Chamber of Commerce: "The turnpike has helped our entire community, and it's going to be better once the road is extended."

Charles Leighton, a Martin County commissioner: "The turnpike has 'made' Palm City. Land values have risen, more subdivions have been built, and our population has doubled."

* * *

Alvin Moreland, manager of Fort Pierce Chamber of Commerce: "Motels, restaurants, and gas stations have been hurt. But there have been times this winter when motels were filled."

Horace S. Miller, mayor West Palm Beach: "The turnpike has been a wonderful thing for us. It should be extended to Georgia."

Claude Reese, mayor of Palm Beach: "It's most beneficial. I hope they extend it to North Florida line."

Adlai Remains Favorite of Democrats

By GEORGE GALLUP
Director, American Institute of Public Opinion

PRINCETON, N. J. — Adlai Stevenson maintains his position as the front-running Democrat among the rank-and-file of his own party.

GALLUP POLL

His party's standard-bearer in 1952 and 1956, Stevenson is currently the choice of 29 per cent of Democrats to head their ticket in 1960. His standing is unchanged from what it was in a Gallup Poll "primary test" last November.

The No. 2 man, Sen. John Kennedy of Massachusetts, has closed slightly on Stevenson since the previous test—from 23 per cent in November to 25 per cent who would like to see Kennedy get the 1960 nomination.

Sen. Kennedy maintains his lead over Stevenson among Independent voters although the situation there has tightened up somewhat since the November test.

Stevenson was at the top of the list of leading Democrats when—after a surprising show of strength against leading Republicans in "trial heat" races—his popularity among Democratic voters for the 1960 nomination was first tested by the Gallup Poll last June.

Previous to that survey, Sen. Estes Kefauver of Tennessee had been the front-runner among Democratic voters for the 1960 nomination.

Now Kefauver has slipped to third place—the choice of 10 per cent of rank-and-file Democrats.

Although still trailing the leaders by a wide margin, Sen. Hubert Humphrey of Minnesota has moved up slightly on the list since his widely-publicized talks with Russia's Nikita Khrushchev — from less than two per cent in November to four per cent today.

"Here is a list of men who have been mentioned as possible presidential candidates for the Democratic party in 1960. Which ONE would you like to see nominated as the Democratic candidates for President in 1960?"

The men on the list included Gov. Orval Faubus of Arkansas, Senator Humphrey, Sen. Lyndon Johnson of Texas, Sen. Kefauver, Sen. Kennedy, Gov. Robert Meyner of N.J., former Gov. Stevenson, Sen. Stuart Symington of Missouri, and Gov. G. Mennen Williams of Michigan.

CHOICE OF CANDIDATES
(Vote of Democrats)

	Today	Nov., '58
Stevenson	29%	29%
Kennedy	25	23
Kefauver	10	11
Johnson	7	6
Williams	5	5
Faubus	5	4
Symington	4	5
Humphrey	4	+
Meyner	2	+
None of these, no opinion	9	14

(+Less than two per cent of of the vote.)

CHOICE OF CANDIDATES
(Vote of Independents)

	Today	Nov., '58
Kennedy	28%	30%
Stevenson	22	20
Kefauver	12	10
Johnson	6	6
Humphrey	6	+
Symington	4	4
Williams	3	+
Faubus	3	4
Meyner	2	4

Nixon Holds Lead -- But Some Hedge

DES MOINES — (AP) — Vice President Richard Nixon apparently retains top-heavy support among Republican National Committee members for the party's 1960 presidential nomination. But his position may be shaky.

A cross-section check of committeemen who met here this week disclosed some heding on Nixon if Gov. Nelson Rockefeller of New York should become an active candidate for the nomination.

As the situation was summed up by several officials, Nixon remains the strong favorite for next year's standard bearer but there is an awareness that Rockefeller may look more like a winner than the vice president by the time the party convention meets.

Unlike most of his other colleagues, State Chairman Daniel E. McLean of Massachusetts was willing to take the plunge on Rockefeller without delay.

McLean, who told the committee at its closing session Friday that if the party comes up with "another Eisenhower he can win in 1960," said he believes Republicans need the most attractive candidate they can get.

"I think we have got to have a Rockefeller to win," he said.

'Blank' Czechs Keep Struggling

By JOHN B. McDERMOTT
Herald Staff Writer

The Czech woman murmured softly as she wrapped the parcel:

"A moment. Until the supervisor leaves. I cannot talk now."

McDERMOTT

She wrestled with the bulky carton, glanced at a tall, dark-haired, smartly dressed woman who was striding toward another department.

"She is the supervisor and a member of the party," said the saleswoman. "Now I can tell you."

We had been purchasing some colorful Czechoslovakian dolls and in the course of conversation had brought up the subject of conditions here today under the Communists.

Most Czechs refuse to talk about it. Either they accept their fate without rancor or they are too frightened to talk of it to strangers, even obvious foreigners.

On the surface it appears so much better than in most of the other satellite nations, superior even to that in Russia itself, that there seems no real comparison.

"For us, things are terrible," the saleswoman said.

"Today, our factory is gone. It was taken over by the government. We are being taxed so heavily on our home that I have had to go to work in this shop.

"My husband, a good and successful businessman, is driving a truck 10 to 12 hours a day. He can't get any other job because he is regarded as a capitalist.

"Things became so bad that we had to get a divorce — a divorce which may let us hold on to some of our belongings a little longer. Of course we are still living together, just as we have for 22 years. The divorce simply made it possible for all our property to be put in my name so they could not be liquidated to pay my husband's fines for his 'capitalist' sins."

"If my three children ever find out about the divorce, I don't know what they will think. They are too young to understand."

"This is the last of my jewels," she said. "I sold the rest, including my furs, to keep up the payments on our home."

Under the Communist system here, each person or family is permitted a limited amount of living space. In most cases, this amounts to one or two rooms and a shared kitchen in a crowded apartment house.

The woman said she and her husband had tried desperately to sell their big home but without success.

The Czech Communist government doesn't have to buy it. The government will be able to grab it shortly through "legal" means for settlement of back taxes.

The average Czech can't afford such a house. Even if he could, he wouldn't buy it and run the risk of focusing attention on his "high living."

Western observers here report that cases such as that of the Czech saleswoman are not too unusual.

By a slow but sure process of economic strangulation, the once free Czechs are being sucked into the Communist net as the government takes over virtually everything but the individual's love life. And even that is curtailed by the cramped living space permitted each couple.

No Law Against Widow Washing

BOSTON —(AP)— Legislative document clerks took one look at a printed bill which arrived at the Massachusetts State House and then sent it back for reprinting.

The text of the bill:

"No window cleaner shall wash any window that has an air conditioner protruding outside of the widow, unless the widow sill shall extend at least 12 inches beyond the outside edge of the air conditioner."

Architect Riles Oslo Lawmakers

OSLO —(AP)— Lawmakers are having trouble with the architect who was awarded a high Norwegian medal for rebuilding and redecorating the parliament building.

One parliamentarian was told by the architect to remove a cushion from the office couch because it didn't harmonize with the decor. Another was told to throw out his own photo.

The newspaper Dagbladet said the legislator threatened to throw out the architect instead.

Train Models Simulate, Too

PARK RIDGE, Ill. —(UPI)— New spray products simulate grass, sand or soil to line the routes of those first model trains found underneath the Christmas tree. Kerr Chemicals, Inc., says its sand-colored spray, for example, will transform a crumpled paper background into windswept beach or a discarded mirror into a plaicd lake.

Reds Allow Prince to Go

WARSAW, Poland — (AP) — The government has granted a passport to the country's highest-ranking nobleman, Prince Janusz Radziwill.

The prince, once one of the wealthiest men in Europe and prewar owner of about half the land in Poland, had twice been jailed by the Russians since 1945.

The government said that since the prince is 77 it acted on humanitarian grounds in allowing him to go to Spain to see his daughter, Countess Elizabeth Potovski, and to England where his son, Prince Edmond, lives. Prince Radziwill has been earning a living as a bookkeeper.

Vengeance Spirit Deplored

Guatemala Praise for Castro Is Muted by Mass Executions

By WILLIAM G. GAUDET
Special To The Herald

NEWS FROM AROUND LATIN AMERICA

GUATEMALA CITY — In Guatemala, a country whose people suffered the tortures and brutalities of a Communist dictatorship for more than eight years, the attitude toward the liberator of Cuba, Fidel Castro, has changed sharply, from hero to vengeance seeker.

GAUDET

During those years that Castro and his ragged band of volunteers fought against the superior forces of Fulgencio Batista the columnists of Guatemala hailed every success of Castro. When Batista fled and Castro took over virtually every paper in Guatemala was jubilant. They hailed it because they knew, as no other people in Latin America knew, what it is to live under a brutal dictatorship; they lived under and with one for eight years, not two years as was the case in Cuba. How many Guatemalans were tortured and killed, no one will ever know.

Then came the news of the first executions. There was only mute silence on the part of the writers and the people. It was different for them to understand the need or the justification for mass executions.

If ever a people, if ever a group of volunteers, had a right to carry on mass executions then that right was invested with the late Col. Carlos Castillo Armas who was successful in his fight against the Communist regime of Jacobo Arbenz.

Yet one of the very first statements of Castillo Armas when he addressed the masses was this:

"I and my army of liberation have come to bring peace, stability and tranquility to Guatemala. We have not taken over in a spirit of vengeance."

Even as he was making this declaration his army of liberation was uncovering the marked graves where many who had fought against the Communists were tortured, slaughtered and then thrown in a common grave. I myself saw the unearthing of 13 bodies of young Guatemalans, ranging in age from 16 to 19 years of age, who had been thrown in common graves behind the cemetery at Antiqua, the ancient capital of Guatemala.

I was there when the father of one of the young men walked slowly to the place where the bodies had been placed, identified his son and silently walked on. Unquestionably there was hatred and bitterness in his heart, but all he said was:

"My poor boy . . . my poor Guatemala."

It is not because the Guatemalans deny the right of Fidel Castro and his government to execute 10 or 500 or 1,000. They are aware of how they and many of their supporters felt when the Arbenz government fell, but the Castillo Armas leaders also knew that any sudden blood bath would simply prolong the time when Guatemala could return to normalcy. They were also aware that many Guatemalans who actually executed others were doing so not because of any desire, but simply because they were under orders.

Over and over again Castillo Armas, when some of the more hot-blooded of his soldiers wailed for quick vengeance, said "patience, patience."

Thus, it isn't that the Guatemalans question the executions, but they do quarrel with the rapidity and the manner in which they have been carried out.

Castillo Armas himself was killed, a victim of an assassin's bullet . . . but one thing remains true . . . he lives in the heart of his countrymen as the true liberator of Guatemala and a man of peace and love . . . not vengeance.

Indian Culture Hunted

By Science Service

LOS ANGELES — A team of eight archeologists from the University of California here is exploring an area in Mexico one mile square, believed to hold secrets of a little-known, long-extinct Indian culture.

First reports indicate several thousand people could have lived in this pyramid-studded ceremonial center on the banks of the Rio Grande de Santiago in western Mexico.

It is thought the dead culture could be related to the advanced civilization which flourished in central Mexico, reaching a peak under the Aztecs.

Laid in a semi-tropical region having rich agricultural soil, the site is spotted with large mounds, believed of religious ceremonial origin, and has the only cut-stone pyramids reported from western Mexico.

The team of archaeologists and 50 native "diggers" is headed by Dr. Clement Meighan. The work will continue through April, Dr. Meighan said.

Undersea History Sought

Link, noted for his marine studies, will work under sponsorship of the Smithsonian Institution in Washington. Members of the Jamaica branch of the Brother Sub-Aqua Club will cooperate with Link.

A new boat, especially equipped for underwater explorations, has been built and the Port Royal project will enable Link to test both the boat and its equipment before undertaking a larger project in the Mediterranean. Details of that job have not been announced.

Link has done much work in the Caribbean area, studying marine life and exploring historical ruins.

As a preliminary to the work here, the Institute of Jamaica has attempted to reconstruct from early records a map of Port Royal prior to the devastating earthquake.

It is known that the lieutenant governor's residence, the legislative council chamber, Pirate Henry Morgan's house, the church and many other important buildings lie under what is now the dockyard.

Bank Report Says

Mexico's Economic Outlook Bright

United Press International

MEXICO CITY — The National Bank of Foreign Commerce says economic prospects for Mexico in 1959 are bright.

The bank pointed out in its monthly bulletin that Mexico has weathered adverse international developments in the last two years, principally the 1957-58 U.S. recession, and that the Mexican economy has continued to expand.

Mexico to Seek More TB Beds

MEXICO CITY — Mexico has 70,000 tuberculars and bed space for only 3,000 of them, organizers of the VIII National Tuberculois and Silicosis Congress told President Lopez Mateos. They said expanding hospitalization facilities for tuberculars would be the main topic tackled at the congress at University City this week.

Salk Vaccine For Mexicans

MEXICO CITY—The Health Ministry says it will spend $240,000 developing Salk vaccine in 1959, to give protection to at least 200,000 children under five years old, most of them born in the former polio epidemic.

Migrant Pact Up for Renewal

MEXICO CITY — New talks for the signing of a new migrant worker pact between the U.S. and Mexico are scheduled to start in April.

The present pact under which 400,000 Mexican migrant workers cross the border every year to work in American farms has been in effect since August, 1951. It was extended to June, 1959, by an exchange of notes between the two governments in 1956. It was the first time the treaty was renewed for more than one year.

— A MAJOR BREAKTHROUGH
in the battle against nicotine & tars!

Aquafilter®
THE HYGROSCOPIC FILTER
DISPOSABLE

REDUCES NICOTINE UP TO 84%
....TARS APPROX. 96% IN ANY CIGARETTE WITH PLAIN OR
FILTER TIP DOES NOT AFFECT FLAVOR

DON'T GAMBLE WITH YOUR HEALTH

Let's face it! Less tar means less risk of lung cancer. Less Nicotine means less deadly strain on your heart and arteries. AQUAFILTER, a sensational new scientific achievement, reduces nicotine and tar below the lowest levels attained by other forms of cigarette filtration.

Now you can smoke any brand, plain or filter . . . all cigarettes are safer when smoked through this amazing new development. Use one a day, then throw it away.

Don't press your luck. AQUAFILTER is the answer . . . the only answer . . . for every tar and nicotine sensitive smoker. With AQUAFILTER you get a clean, cool smoke with the full flavor of your favorite brand. No odor to spoil the taste, no cartridges necessary. Just a featherweight plastic tip with built-in filtering unit. Because of its hygroscopic action, AQUAFILTER traps the tobacco irritants, but never the taste or aroma.

Through its exclusive pre-moistened condenser, AQUAFILTER chills the hot smoke and adds greatly to the pleasure as well as the safety of smoking . . . gives you a mild, "freshly laundered" smoke all day.

USES A TRIED AND TRUE PRINCIPLE
TO REDUCE HEALTH RISKS IN SMOKING

Water is the best cleansing agent for airborne impurities such as the by-products of tobacco smoke—a fact which has long been known to, and used by, smokers in the Middle East. In their famous oriental hookah or nargileh water pipe the water acts as a condenser that extracts nicotine and tars from the smoke. You cannot carry a hookah with you . . . but AQUAFILTER gives you a condensation unit having the same effect as a water pipe. No built-in "dry" filter can match the effectiveness of a water filter. Water is one of the most effective cooling agents known to man.

Free draft is not impeded. You draw effortlessly and enjoyably puff after puff after puff. AQUAFILTER is odorless and chemically inert . . . has no taste in itself . . . does not affect the aroma of the cigarette. ALL IT CHANGES—RADICALLY SO—IS THE NICOTINE AND TAR CONTENT OF THE SMOKE.

AQUAFILTER comes to you already moistened. Each pre-wet unit is enclosed in an airtight foil pod. It will stay fresh, moist and effective almost indefinitely.

AUTOMATICALLY ASSURES MODERATION

No matter what kind of smoke you prefer — plain tip regular length cigarette packed with strong tobacco, or long filter-tip brand with lowered nicotine and tar content—AQUAFILTER will greatly reduce, or further reduce, your intake of the harmful by-products. AQUAFILTER enables you to continue smoking the same number of cigarettes while in effect reducing your nicotine and tar consumption to more than HALF THE USUAL QUANTITY. It gives the PACK-A-DAY smoker the benefits of HALF-PACK-A-DAY MODERATION!

NO SUPER-HUMAN WILL POWER NEEDED

Mark Twain said: "there's nothing to giving up smoking. I've done it dozens of times." Why torture yourself with attempts at self-denial resulting in jittery nerves and unfulfilled cigarette cravings . . . with short-lived "no smoking" pledges that make you the laughing stock of your friends? There is no need to STOP SMOKING. Just CUT THE GREATER PART OF TARS AND NICOTINE the Aquafilter way!

STOP SWITCHING CIGARETTE BRANDS — STAY WITH THE KIND YOU LIKE BEST!

Millions of cigarette smokers are experimenting . . . have given up the cigarette they really prefer, to look for vague benefits in various other brands. If you are one of these undecided, "a-brand-a-week" smokers, here's good advice: GO BACK TO YOUR FAVORITE BRAND. Smoke it with AQUAFILTER and remove MORE of the dangerous tars and nicotine than any "built-in" or "dry" cigarette filter is ever capable of doing. AQUAFILTER BEATS DRY FILTERS EVERY TIME!

A WORD ABOUT TRUTH IN ADVERTISING

AQUAFILTER uses no "scare" copy . . . no exaggerations . . . no fanciful statements or half-truths. Just read the report and charts printed by the editors of one of the nation's outstanding magazines shown below. Complete reprints of this article will be sent on request.

DISPOSABLE FILTER TIP WITH EXCLUSIVE HYGROSCOPIC ACTION FITS ANY CIGARETTE, MAKES EVERY CIGARETTE SAFER TO SMOKE.

The NEW YORK PHYSICIAN & AMERICAN MEDICINE
IN ITS SEPTEMBER AND NOVEMBER, 1958 ISSUES SAID IN PART:

(Aquafilter) This new hygroscopic filter has now been engineered to such extraordinary simplicity that it is practically an integral part of the cigarette to be smoked. It drew wide attention when a national magazine with millions fold circulation and employing the most stringent tests, ranked it first in efficiency of all known filter holders. The improved plastic water-activated filter holder (Aquafilter) unlike previous holders, requires no refills. It has the following major advantages:

Maximum filtering action, as tested by the smoking of regular-size plain-tip cigarettes which showed reduction of nicotine up to 60% and for tar to approximately 58%.

Cool smoking Aquafilter is a hygroscopic filter and water-chilling is the classical method of cooling hot vapors. Merely changing from hots to cools (as in menthol-treated cigarettes) is only to change to counter-irritant which gives the sensation of coolness.

For better taste and aroma Aquafilter's filter efficiency is based on its water-cleansing and cooling principle which does not absorb flavor and aroma, whereas some filter-tip materials do filter out the taste of full tobacco flavor.

No soggy filters to endanger the smoker with the accumulated 'gunk' at the filter tip. In Aquafilter the nicotine and tar 'gunk' is trapped in a miniature condenser and cannot feed back into the mouth.

Disposable filter holder Aquafilter, with its built-in water-conditioned cartridge allows a full day's clean sweet smoking. Here are the scientific laboratory tests made by Stillwell and Gladdings, Inc., analytical and consulting chemists of New York City, showing the amounts of tar and nicotine contained in the mainstream smoke of the most popular brands of cigarettes; also, as indicated, the reduction of tar and nicotine with the use of Aquafilter.

Answers to Last Week's Puzzle

Across

1—Most of us prefer to keep out of SCRAPS, if possible (Scrape). The clue is too restrained with SCRAPE, an embarrassing situation, usually of our own making. Most of us is better with SCRAPS; it allows for those of us who enjoy a battle.

6—Many might marry less lightheartedly if they realized how much children APE their parents! (Age). —Children don't really AGE their parents so much. APE, imitate or mimic, is better. It's a sobering thought that we might become parents and have our children follow the example we set.

7—Goods are usually more expensive to buy when they are FEW (New). — They're nearly always more expensive to buy when they are NEW than when they are old. But they're only usually more expensive when they are FEW than when they are plentiful. There might be little demand for them.

8—It's sometimes very hard to make people of different MINDS agree (Kinds).—The KINDS, races or classes of people involved, is beside the point. People of different MINDS are people who have various opinions on a subject. MINDS is best to complete the statement.

11—Adolescents often SEEK to give their parents an impression of worldly wisdom (Seem).—That they often SEEK or try to do so is in character. But whether parents are so frequently as often taken in by such a pose, as SEEM would imply, is quite a different matter.

12—It seems that fear and mistrust might MAR any working agreement between the leading nations (Bar).—Fear and mistrust are always with us. It's reasonable to believe that they might impair any such agreement, but the nations are fully aware of the need for agreement and they cannot afford to let their fears BAR, prevent, it.

13—Marital friction is sometimes caused by innocent KIDS (Kiss). — KISS is too vague. It could be a child's kiss, a friendly kiss. KIDS is more definite; and they might well not know they're the cause of the friction.

14—Many people would scorn to be dishonest except, perhaps, where a TINY sum is involved (Tidy). — A TIDY sum might well be tempting, but it's questionalbe whether many people would be dishonest for a large sum. TINY is nearer the truth; if we get a nickel too much in our change, are many of us likely to bother about going back with it?

Down

1—When you feel SAP you often want most of all to be alone (Sad).—When you feel SAD you usually have little interest in gaiety or company; so that often understates. You don't so frequently have the same desire to withdraw when you feel a SAP, a fool, possibly because you want to make up for it.

2—When we REVILE, a speech it shows we're keenly dissatisfied with it (Revise). — Note keenly. We might easily REVISE a speech without being keenly dissatisfied. REVILE is better, because the act of reviling is necessarily an expression of keen dissatisfaction.

3—Ridicule is often salutary corrective for PRIDE (Prude). — A PRUDE is a person who is overly modest, and it's highly questionable whether ridicule will so frequently as often shake those convictions. PRIDE is better, particularly false pride.

4—Fortunes of war often compel a general to REVISE plans at short notice (Devise). — DEVISE suggests completely new plans. REVISE suggests merely that he alters plans already made to meet such contingencies. He's more likely to change his plans than to produce completely new plans.

5—Though they may seem to have many comforts it's foolish to envy people who OWE a lot of money (Own). — Not OWN, otherwise the vast majority of us are foolish! People who OWE a lot of money are much less to be envied.

9—A man inclined to SMIRK usually evokes the dislike of his colleagues (SHIRK). — Usually goes too far with SHIRK; his shirking work is more likely to bring trouble on his own head. A man who is inclined to SMIRK, smile in a conceited manner, can be very exasperating.

10—A serious illness usually makes heavy demands on a patient's nurse (Purse). — NURSE is a straightforward answer. PURSE is weak, because we don't know the state of his finances.

11—A man who argues with the boss often finds himself in a SPOT (Spat). — Not SPAT, a brief, petty quarrel or dispute. He's been arguing with the boss; a more serious predicament. He's in a SPOT — he's apt to get fired.

Star Reveals Wedding Plans

HOLLYWOOD, Calif. — (UPI) — Former child star Margaret O'Brien and Los Angeles advertising man Roger Allen disclosed plans to be married, but said the ceremony probably won't take place for about 10 months.

Margaret, now 21 and featured in several adult roles on television and in the movies, said the delay would be necessary because of current film work.

Electric Booster Adds to Joy of Solar Heater

For more than 20 years, W. R. Robbins and Son Roofing Co., through their Solar Heater Department, has been installing electric boosters on solar water heaters in Miami.

ROBBINS

"It is amazing, however, to find so many users of solar water heaters who do not know that this fine and efficient supplement heater is available for use on a solar system," says W. R. Robbins, owner of the firm.

Robbins said he feels that every home owner who heats water with the rays of the sun needs an electric booster to help it during cloudy and bad weather periods.

"The most efficient solar heater," Robbins added, "may fail to supply all the hot water needed during certain weather conditions. That is why an electric booster, installed by W. R. Robbins and Son, will eliminate your water heating problems.

"These boosters are installed, in most cases, in the hot solar line between the solar tray and the storage tank. This may be either in the attic or on the roof so that it is out of the way and cannot be seen.

"There is nothing complicated about the installation or operation. The booster is wired to a manual control switch which is conveniently located, in most cases, beside the fuse panel. So, by merely turning on the switch, which is as simple as turning on a light, you can have hot water in just a few minutes.

"This makes the operation of the booster both easy and economical. The user controls the time it is on and the amount of water heated. These boosters, like Robbins' roofs, are backed by our guarantee.

"W. R. Robbins and Son Roofing Co. maintains a staff of competent, specially trained inspector-estimators. They will check your property to assure you of a proper and efficient booster installation. There is no charge or obligation for this service.

"For a free inspection, call W. R. Robbins and Son Roofing Co. at NEwton 4-1588, or visit our office at 1401 NW 20th St."

White-Tite Features Three-Coat Sealing Process for Gravel Roofs

A BEAUTIFUL WHITE ROOF now may be seen on the home of Mr. and Mrs. H. Marks, 5201 SW 89th Place, South Miami. "Sealing and coating of the gravel roof recently was completed by White-Tite," says Lou Burrows, sales manager of the firm. "First of all, gravel which had fallen off the roof and onto the lawn or in the swimming pool was replaced where needed. Then the first coat of White-Tite's special bonding process was applied to imbed the gravel. After 48 hours, an interlocking sealer was applied which permanently locked the gravel to the roof. On the fourth day a third coat of White-Tite's special process was put on the roof to insure lasting beauty and protection." "Our process contains a special fungicide to kill mold and fungus," said Jesse Scalzo, owner of White-Tite. "We are proud of the quality and durability of our work and all cleaning and coating work is guaranteed for one year against mold and fungus. We also specialize in cleaning, sealing and coating tile roofs. Financing can be arranged with a small down payment and no interest charge on monthly payments. We handle all of our own financing. White-Tite is a member of the Miami-Dade County Chamber of Commerce." Free estimates may be obtained without obligation by calling NEwton 5-3603 or NEwton 3-8511. The White-Tite office is located at 2400 NW 54th St., in Miami.

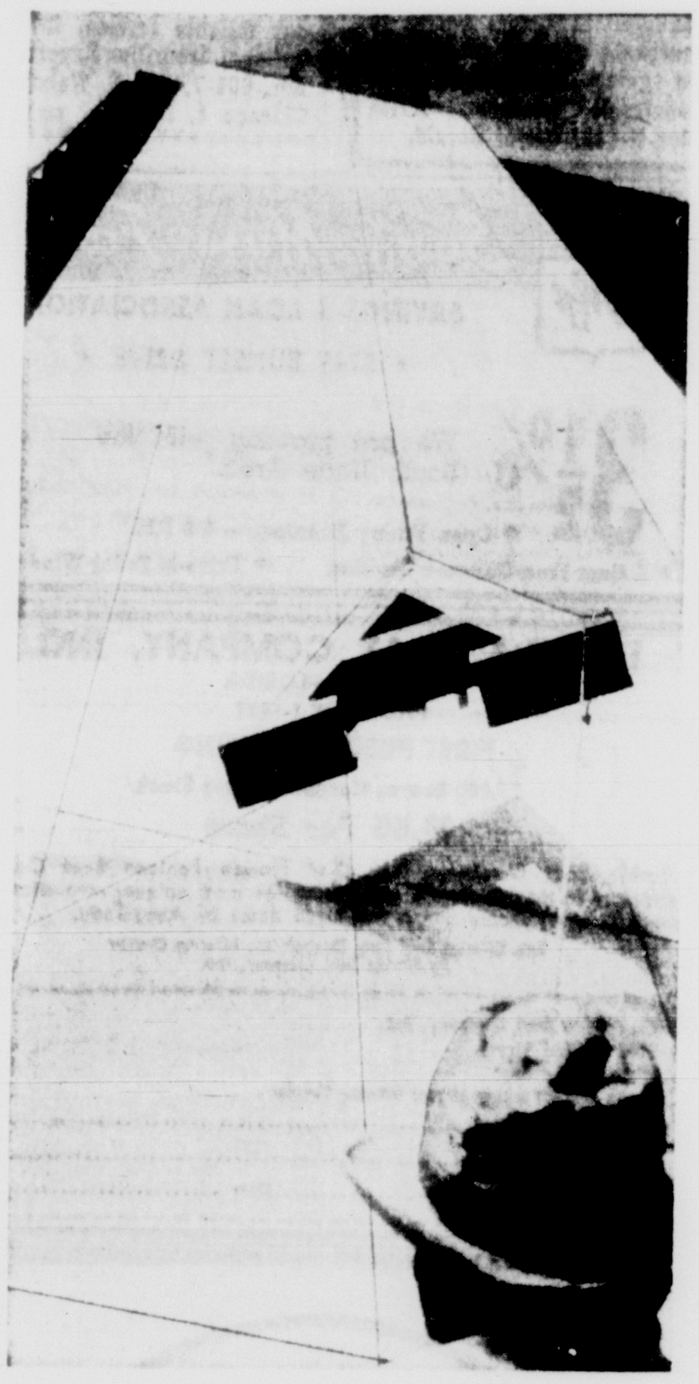
Business on the March In South Florida

In Industry

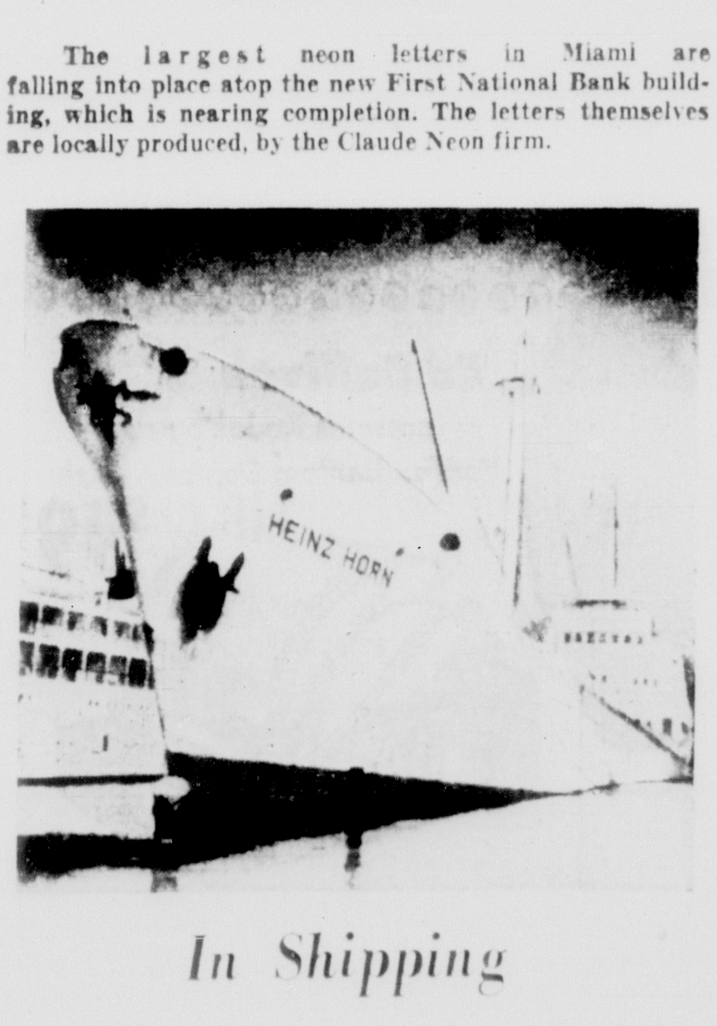
The unmistakable signs of progress are mirrored in these pictures of business and industrial activity in Southern Florida.

The big Houston Gas Corp. pipeline bringing natural gas into the area moves steadily southward, paralleling the Sunshine Parkway turnpike. It should be ready to serve some customers in Greater Miami by midsummer.



In Finance

The largest neon letters in Miami are falling into place atop the new First National Bank building, which is nearing completion. The letters themselves are locally produced, by the Claude Neon firm.



In Shipping

A new refrigerated cargo vessel of the Caribbean-Hamburg Line prepares to set forth on its first voyage to Latin American ports, carrying everything from cheese to air conditioners.

Gas Pipeline Burrowing Toward Miami

Business-Finance

—Complete Market Tables

James Russell, Editor

By STAN JOHNSON
Herald Business Writer

PERRY — A 24-inch metal tube which will soon be supplying South Florida with natural gas is burrowing toward Miami at the rate of three miles a day.

South of here, a big ditching machine is chugging across a wheat field, spewing up a neat bank of dirt and leaving behind a trench five feet deep.

A mile or two behind the ditcher, a sweating crew of 250 welders, heavy equipment operators and laborers is joining the pipeline together in 30-foot sections, coating it with plastic, wrapping it in asbestos, and wrestling it into the ground.

To date, the workers have laid 911 out of a total of 1,600 miles of main pipeline which ultimately will stretch from McAllen, Tex., to Cutler, south of Miami.

The main line, plus eight compressor stations and 1,231 miles of lateral pipeline, are being built by two contractors at a cost of $163,756,300.

Midwestern-Walco Construction Co., which has the northern end of the line, is running ahead of schedule and expects to complete its section into Kissimmee by April 1.

Harbert Construction Co., which has the southern section between Kissimmee and Cutler, is crawling southward along the Sunshine State Parkway and is expected to reach Miami sometime in May.

About June 1, a group of dignitaries will cluster around a gas burner in Miami for the "flare lighting," traditional opening ceremony for a new natural gas pipeline.

Natural gas will mean lower heating bills, more industrial development and — possibly — lower electricity bills for sections of Florida which have been without it.

"We don't know yet what our rates will be in Miami, Orlando, Jacksonville, Daytona Beach or other cities where we have distribution systems, but you can be sure they'll be substantially lower than the rates for manufactured gas," said F. E. Stanley, principal figure behind the pipelines.

Stanley, a onetime pipeline inspector for Cities Service Oil Co., is chairman of the parent Houston Corp. and its subsidiaries, Houston Texas Gas & Oil Corp. and Coastal Transmission Corp.

Despite their western names, the companies are based in St. Petersburg.

All of the pipelines' initial capacity of 282 million cubic feet per day has been sold in advance, with the great majority going to Florida Power & Light Co., Florida Power Co. and 17 industrial clients.

This delivery will be far below the state's estimated daily fuel requirement of 664 million cubic feet.

Only 19 per cent of the initial delivery will be available for resale to household consumers.

In Miami, for example, only the 16,000 customers now hooked on to the Houston Corporation's manufactured gas system will be able to get natural gas when the pipeline starts pumping in June.

However, this spring the Houston Corp. will ask the Railroad and Public Utilities Commission to authorize a seven-million-dollar expansion program, and over the next five years it expects to spend another 23 million dollars to raise its capacity to 441 million cubic feet per day.

Houston will compete with the power companies for air conditioning and household appliance business, Stanley said.

As a starter, it is closing a deal to supply all gas appliances and natural gas to 668 Capehart dwelling units at the McCoy Air Force Base near Orlando.

The corporation is also in touch with a number of large industries which are interested in building Florida plants if they can obtain natural gas.

Phones Tell Our Story Of Growth

In 1948, there were 315,731 telephones in service in Florida.

Today, a little more than 10 years later, there are 1,100,000.

This impressive indication of Florida's growth is contained in a new booklet published by Southern Bell Telephone Co. to show the effect of the state's expansion on the telephone business.

In the same period, Southern Bell's employe force in Florida doubled to a total of 12,000 and its annual payroll rose 300 per cent.

C. J. Yates, vice president and general manager of the firm, said Southern Bell has invested more than 369 million dollars for phone plant and equipment to keep pace with Florida's growth.

Rex King, Miami district manager, said major factors contributing to growth of phone service in South Florida were continued residential building, new hotel and motel construction and the area's business and industrial expansion.

'58 Income Was Down

WASHINGTON — (AP) — National income in 1958 failed to match the 1957 level and rising living costs aggravated the situation.

The Commerce Department said today preliminary figures indicate national income approached 360 billion dollars in 1958, compared with 364 billion a year earlier.

Since consumer prices rose about 2 per cent in the same period, the department said, income was down about 3 per cent — in real terms — more than the dollar decline.

A Sobering Business Statistic: S. Fla. Tops in Retail Thievery

By STAN JOHNSON
Herald Business Writer

We are accustomed to reading impressive statistics on South Florida economic standing in the nation, but here's one we can't be proud of.

Department stores report that Gold Coast stores have one of the highest shrinkage rates in the nation.

The Harvard Business School says the average loss due to internal theft and shoplifting in a department store with annual sales of from 10 to 20 million dollars is 1.1 per cent.

The steady rise in department store thievery has created a lucrative field for organizations like Merit Service Inc., a nationwide protective service which checks on the honesty, courtesy and efficency of store employes.

While one operator makes a purchase, another watches to see that the proper amount is rung up on the cash register. The operators note down cases of rudeness and inefficiency, and report them later to the store management.

Merit also checks store records to discover the source of inventory shortages, and questions store employes who are suspected by the management of pilfering.

"Often," says local manager Joe Allen, "we find that men in responsible positions are doing the stealing. It's not always the clerk who's responsible."

Not long ao, Allen and his operators caught a food store manager who admitted stealing $2,700 worth of merchandise over an 18-month period.

A $140-a-week pharmacist who took more than $1,000 from his employer told Allen he was saving the money to open a competing drug store down the street.

Some clerks start the day by taking $10 or $20 from the cash register, then ring up "short sales" for the rest of the day until they have made up the missing sum.

Others put merchandise aside and take it home later, or give it away to friends or relatives who come to the store by prearrangement.

Merit's president, M. M. Hament, estimates that the nation's department stores lost more than 200 million dollars last year because of internal thefts.

Allen says thefts in Florida stores are "the worst I've ever seen." He thinks the state's large transient population and comparatively low wages may be responsible.

Actually, 75 per cent of all workers give honest, efficient and courteous service. It's the remaining 25 per cent that keeps the Merit System in business.

He's Due for a Surprise

Bankers Are Smarter

'Crooks Not So Smart'

NEW YORK —(UPI)— Bankers are smarter than bandits, the American Bankers Association assured its members in the current issue of its "Protective Bulletin."

But, it added, if bankers hope to combat the wave of holdups that has been plaguing them in recent months, they need to take active measures to foil the crooks.

"It behooves all bankers to remember that in matters of intelligence, ingenuity and bravery, robbers are not a superior lot," the bulletin stated. "Given a fair break, bankers could beat the best of them, provided they match the bandits in matters of effort, planning and training."

A Brighter Picture for Business

By ARTHUR JOHNSEY
Herald Staff Writer

A brightened business picture may be traced in bankruptcies in the Miami area since the 1958 spurt.

The heightened rate of bankruptcy petitions dropped back to the normal level by September and remained there until the year's end.

June of 1958, when 53 were filed, proved the high point of the year. But by August the rate of filing was again at the level of approximately 20 a month, normal during 1957.

However, during the first three weeks of this month 19 bankruptcy petitions have been filed, three more than during the entire month of January, 1958.

Pack Scooter In Suitcase

LONDON — (UPI) — A Russian engineer has designed a portable motor scooter which can be folded up and put in a small suitcase, Moscow radio said.

In a broadcast in English for the United Kingdom, Moscow radio said the scooter weighs about 50 pounds and builds up "quite an impressive speed" with its one-horsepower engine.

Only two or three minutes are needed to fold it up, the broadcast said, and then it can be "checked in a theater cloakroom."

Court OKs Plan for TMT Ferry

General creditors of TMT Ferry, Inc., of Miami, will received 17½ per cent of their allowed claims in preferred stock of a reorganized company under a plan approved in federal court.

District Judge Emett Choate sanctioned a proposal that aims at a compromise settlement of U.S. tax and customs duty claims by payment of $50,000 on confirmation of the plan and $100,000 in succeeding annual payments.

Three towing companies which have maritime liens will receive $10,000 each in cash and the balance in stock, and Merrill Stevens Dry Dock will receive 200,000 shares of preferred stock.

The arrangement is said to permit the corporation to retain large amounts of cash as working capital.

The corporation, operated under reorganization sections of the bankruptcy laws since November, 1957, is engaged in shipping between Jacksonville, San Juan and the Virgin Islands, and has a ship under charter to the Trinidad government.

A Miamian's Explanation

Why Russia Lags In Foreign Trade

By STAN JOHNSON
Herald Business Writer

Russia's failure to put the ruble on a firm foundation in world money markets is placing her at a disadvantage with the United States in competition for foreign trade, says a Miami currency expert.

Clarence Grant, manager of the local office of Perera Co. Inc., foreign exchange dealers, said the value of the ruble has declined steadily outside of Russia because of the Soviet's failure to adopt a realistic exchange rates.

The ruble is pegged officially at four to the dollar, but it is traded on free currency markets in New York and Zurich at anywhere from 25 to 33 to the dollar, Grant said.

Perhaps recognizing that the official rate is not what it should be, the Russian government has established a second official rate of 10 rubles to the dollar for personal remittances, tourist expenses, and other noncommerical exchanges.

Russians traveling abroad may obtain dollars from a Soviet bank, but only at the 10-to-1 rate, Grant said.

Rubles are dumped on the free currency market by seamen or airline stewards who use the dollars they receive to buy luxury items which are smuggled back into Russia and sold at fantastic prices, Grant said.

Highly prized in Russia are hard-to-get Western goods like perfumes, wristwatches, cameras, transistor radios, American jazz records, drugs and saccharin, he explained.

When Russia grants loans to satellite countries, it does so in the form of merchandise shipments or credit given in rubles.

The borrowers must repay the loan in foreign currency which is credited to the loan at the official rate of four rubles for every dollar.

Thus, Grant said, the debtor receives only four rubles—or 40 cents—credit for every dollar he repays.

Deals like this, he added, have made nations wary about doing business with Russia.

5-10 Chain Plans Five Fla. Stores

The G. C. Murphy Co., a nationwide chain of variety stores, will open five new outlets along Florida's East Coast this year.

The company has arranged to lease two stores in the Miami area: one, containing 45,000 square feet, in the Central Shopping Plaza, NW 7th St. and 37th Ave., and the other, with 35,000 square feet, in the Palm Springs Village Center at 49th St. and Red Rd., Hialeah.

Other leases are being negotiated in West Palm Beach, Daytona Beach and Jacksonville.

The company, with headquarters in McKeesport, Pa., operates 323 stores in 17 states and the District of Columbia. It opened its first Florida store in Pensacola in 1957, and a second in St. Petersburg last year.

Strikes Helped Delta Earnings

Strikes that grounded its competitors pushed Delta Air Lines' earnings up during the last six months of 1958, Company President C. E. Woolman said in a report to stockholders.

Delta's board of directors voted a 30-cent a share dividend payable March 2. Woolman reported net earnings of $2,495,912 — or $2.22 a share — for the six-month period. This compares with $289,047 and 26 cents a share in the same period of 1957.

HOW TO SPECULATE IN QUALITY STOCKS

"Speculate" has unfortunately become a scary word among investors—largely because it is too often used to mean reckless bambling of the double-or-nothing variety.

Yet speculating remains one of the best ways to make a big sum out of a modest sum. This can be done with surprisingly small risk—and with handsome rewards—if you confine your speculations to carefully selected "Big Board" stocks.

It is a popular misconception that speculating is a guessing game, played only with little-known "cats and dogs," "penny stocks," uranium shares and sundry shaky new ventures.

Actually some of the best-known stocks have yielded extraordinary speculative profits—without the fantastic risks usually associated with large rewards.

When you invest in a well-substantiated company, your possible losses are limited — your possible profits virtually unlimited.

To illustrate, consider the quality of the famous stocks listed below. Each of these stocks represented an immensely profitable speculation for the farsighted investors who held them at the right times. How many of these star performers did you buy or sell when the time was ripe?

Shell Oil
Studebaker-Packard
Raytheon
Chance-Vought
North Am. Aviation
Lorillard
Westinghouse
Gen. Motors
Ingersoll-Rand
American Motors
Richfield Oil
Armco
American M. & F.
Curtiss-Wright
I. B. M.
Standard Oil of N.J.
Gulf Oil
U. S. Steel

However well you can do by holding such stocks "through thick and thin," you will be astounded at how much better you can do by buying these stocks close to their bottoms and selling them close to their tops (intermediate-term).

To show you the benefits of a speculative approach at this crucial point in the market, you are invited to be our "guest" for the next 3 weeks of regular service as outlined below.

Indispensable to the effectiveness of this Service is accurate investment timing—the hard-to-come-by "when" of investing. Although the tools our Research Department uses to forecast market fluctuations are complex and mathematical, the principles on which these tools are based are quite simple—as simple, in fact, as the Law of Averages. Moreover you need not be a mathematician yourself to share the rewards of a mathematical approach. You need only act upon clear recommendations to buy, hold, sell or switch. Then watch the results.

Thus you have the unique opportunity to judge this service on future results alone—results which should take place right before your eyes . . . before your trial expires!

Moreover, you can easily match the forecasts against the finally recorded facts. For the language of all the Reports you will receive is clear, unhedged—straight to the point. You are never left in doubt as to (a) exactly what is being forecast (b) what action is being recommended and (c) when to take that action.

In buying only the well-known listed stocks recommended, a sensible speculator may really take fewer chances than the average "conservative" investor whose capital is often whittled away by inflation.

A man who bets always with the odds on his side can hardly be called reckless, though he may well be a speculator. So long as he spreads his risk among a sufficient number of "bets" — each with the odds on his side — his chances of coming out on top approach absolute certainty.

With such a purely objective method, you automatically avoid the danger of emotional thinking and of being swept away by the majority viewpoint which is always wrong at the very times the biggest opportunities occur.

For example . . .

. . . At a market bottom, most people feel most like selling. Yet a bottom is the best time for you to buy.
. . . At a market top, most people feel most like buying. Yet a top is the best time for you to sell.

The same is true of individual stocks, many of which hit their own tops and bottoms at different times from the general market.

These are basic facts about the market that no investor should ever ignore. Yet most investors do. That's why the minority will always make more money in the stock market than the majority.

In contrast to the big rewards — and small risks — of this active approach to investments, you may actually lose money by simply "sitting tight" — especially when a long-term bear market occurs.

Even in a bear market, a nimble investor can make money on the ups and downs on the way to a long-term bottom. When you are armed with an objective method of investment timing, you need no longer fear tops and bottoms. Instead, you can look upon them as golden opportunities.

To show you how this method works in the critical period ahead, you are invited to receive the following aids — including 3 separate services — during the next 3 weeks:

(1) STOCK MARKET SURVEY (3 Weekly Issues)—A continuing guide to the "when" of investing for capital gains.

(2) STOCK SELECTION GUIDE (3 Weekly Issues)—A continuing selection of the best stocks in the best industries — with positive buy, hold or sell recommendations. The Guide just issued also ranks 500 stocks according to investment preference now.

(3) INDUSTRY TREND FORECAST (3 Weekly Issues) — Long-term and intermediate-term forecasts of each of 44 industry groups, many of which will continue to outperform the market.

(4) STOCK SELECTION MANUAL — 48-page "Stock Market Analysis: Facts & Principles." Gives you a complete, step-by-step explanation of the "how" of investing for capital gains —supplemented weekly with buy-hold-sell advice.

The recommendations you receive as a subscriber are based on methods developed over a period of 28 years. You can act on the single "end-product" advice—to buy, hold or sell—or you can follow the computations in detail. Either way, you are sure of avoiding dangerous and unprofitable emotional investing. Instead, you can now capitalize on how bullish or bearish OTHER investors are going to be.

While Bulls Gained, the Bears Lost

By ELMER C. WALZER
United Press International

While the bulls were building up fat profits over the prolonged stock market rise, the poor bears were losing as much as the bulls were making.

And during the month bounded by Dec. 15 and Jan. 15, the bears covered commitments—rebought stock they sold short—to the extent of 692,277 shares.

During that month alone the Dow-Jones industrial average rose 30.83 points or 5.5 per cent and the rails rose 13.26 points or 8.6 per cent.

And no one knows where those bears sold the market. They may have had losses of 20 to 100 points according to the stocks they sold. And their losses must have been fantastic.

Selling short takes no skill at all. The broker does all the work. You must have a brokerage account adequately margined. If so, you merely telephone the broker and say sell 100 XYZ short at the market or at a certain price.

The broker immediately checks the loan market to see if he can borrow the stock. If so, he sells it on an uptick. That's a rule to prevent selling the maket short when it's in a sharp decline.

Suppose the stock is sold for $100 a share. The 100 shares would be worth $10,000. The broker collects that amount and immediately lends it to the person from whom he borrowed the stock. The stock lender will pay the current call loan rate on the money.

If the price rises, the broker sends over some more money and if it declines the stock lender sends some back.

If the stock is in big demand for short sales, the lender may have his rate of interest he pays on the loan cut.

Sometimes he gets the money for nothing and then the stock is lending flat. Sometimes the stock borrower has to pay a premium to the lender if the demand for the stock is very great.

Let's take an average of a market decline where the bear — the short seller — makes money. Say the stock fell to $90 a share. Not counting commissions, etc., that's a $10 profit for the bear if he covers — buys the stock back and returns it to the lender. On 100 shares, he'd make a gross profit of $1,000.

Now let's see what happens if the market goes up as it has been doing for months. Say the stock rose $10 and the bear covered. He'd have a loss of $1,000 plus commissions, interest, and other costs.

Each time the 100 shares go up $1 a share, the bear has a paper loss of $100.

The difference between a short sale and a long purchase is that the bull who buys a stock hoping it will go up can lose no more than the original price he paid on the stock, while the bear's loss on a short sale is unlimited.

Stocks No Substitute For Savings Account

By WILLIAM A. DOYLE

Q. My sister and I are approaching middle age and have each put aside (in savings accounts) $1,000 as entrance fees to an old ladies' home. We also have another $500 between us. We would like to invest this to earn a little extra, so that we will be covered in case of sudden sickness.

Can we buy two shares of American Telephone and Telegraph stock with our initial $500 and then open one of those monthly investment plans jointly? We are thinking of investing $40 a month ($20 each) this way.

Where can we get the details on MIP? We would like to talk to someone who would take a genuine interest in helping us. We don't want to go to a broker who might take advantage of us.

A. Unless you ladies have more money put away than the amount you mention, you shouldn't invest at all. You certainly shouldn't put that $500 into stocks (not even AT&T) and leave yourselves without any cash reserve.

Suppose either or both of you became seriously ill. You would have to dip into the $2,000 you have earmarked for your old age. It is much safer to have ready cash in time of personal emergencies than to have securities.

When you are absolutely certain that you have enough cash on hand, that's the time to open a Monthly Investment Plan. Don't be afraid of brokers. They are in business to carry out orders. Any member firm of the New York Stock Exchange doing business with the general public will be glad to give you literature and detailed information on how to buy AT&T or any stock listed on that exchange through MIP.

Q. We have $1,200 we would like to invest toward our 10-year-old son's college education. Do you think that the purchase of five shares of General Dynamics, 10 Long Island Lighting and 10 Wheeling Steel would be in line with our aims? We would add to these as our situation permits.

A. It would be a step in the right direction. Your over-all holdings would be pitched toward growth, with Long Island Lighting giving you an anchor in safety. That's a good combination for your purposes.

Overshoes Save His Stock

JERSEY SHORE, Pa. — (AP) — The swollen Susquehanna River flooded some downtown sections of this city but it didn't put Melvin Manolen's shoe store out of business.

He called the local newspaper and said:

"Everything's under control. My problem is solved. I put rubbers on all the shoes."

BEST $5 INVESTMENT I EVER MADE

By a Barron's Subscriber

One of the most profitable moves of my investing experience cost me only $5. For this small sum I began to acquire an asset that has brought me untold benefits.

I mean the knowledge of investment values I've gained by subscribing to Barron's National Business and Financial Weekly.

This has helped me do a better job of separating good investments from bad investments. I have built my capital and increased my investment income. I have gained greater peace of mind financially.

This story exemplifies how Barron's serves its readers. There is no other publication like it. It is written for the investor who is willing to think about his own money. It is the only weekly affiliated with Dow-Jones, and has full use of Dow-Jones' vast, specialized information in serving you.

In Barron's you are shown what, where, and why the REAL VALUES are, behind current security prices. You get clear, well-founded information on each week's trends and prospects (the changing fortunes) of individual corporations—and their dividend and market trends.

Barron's subscription price is $18 a year, but you can try it for 17 weeks for only $5.

This trial subscription for $5 will bring you the investment implications of current political and economic events and the perspective you need to anticipate trends and grasp profitable investment opportunities.

See for yourself how important Barron's can be to you in the eventful weeks ahead. Just tear out this ad and send it today with your check for $5; or tell us to bill you. Address Barron's, 392 Newbury Street, Boston 15, Massachusetts. MH-125

OIL STOCKS
Laggards in '58—Leaders in '59?

THE 1958 bull market passed the petroleum stocks by. A business slump in this country and political uncertainties abroad depressed the earnings and clouded the prospects of most companies in this group. Now oil company profits are rising once more. Yet, are the oil stocks really "behind the market"? Or are there important developments occurring within the petroleum industry which make these issues undesirable holdings even now?

If you are among the many investors whose portfolio includes oil equities, you will be especially interested in The Value Line Investment Survey's latest analysis of the petroleum industry. It considers in some detail issues vital to the value of your stocks (such as the development of a workable import control program and the probable course of relationships with oil-rich foreign governments). In addition, the Value Line staff has prepared a special report examining the effect of the threatened reduction in depletion allowances on the earnings of each of 43 leading oil companies. Specific estimates of 1959 earnings and dividends are made for each company. The Value Line's objective rankings and measurements of value guide you to the best stocks to hold now, and make clear those which should be avoided.

The latest edition of the Value Line Survey covering the oil stocks, together with the special study of the effect which reduced depletion allowances would have on oil company earnings, will be sent to you at no extra charge under the special offer described below.

A Special $5 Introductory Offer*

Under this special offer, you are invited to receive a copy of this 96-page edition featuring the oil stocks at no extra charge and to benefit from a one month's introductory trial of the Value Line Survey at one-half the regular rate. You will receive Ratings & Reports on over 250 stocks and analyses of 12 industries with Value Line's exclusive rankings to guide you to the best stocks to buy or hold now, those which will meet your requirements for income, safety of principal and capital appreciation.

Among the petroleum, natural gas and coal industry stocks analyzed in the current edition are:

Atlantic Refining
Cities Service
Gulf Oil
Imperial Oil
Phillips Petroleum
Pure Oil
Royal Dutch
Shell Oil
Sinclair Oil
Socony Mobil Oil
Stand'd Oil (Calif.)
Stand'd Oil (N.J.)
Union Oil
Arkansas-La. Gas
Amer. Natural Gas
Columbia Gas
Consol. Natural Gas
El Paso Nat. Gas
Northern Nat. Gas
Panhandle Eastern
Southern Nat. Gas
Tenn. Gas Trans.
Texas Eastern Trans.
United Gas Corp.

You will receive under this offer the next four weekly editions of the Value Line Survey. Your introductory subscription will include also the special edition on the petroleum, natural gas and coal stocks, a new Special Situation recommendation, a Supervised Account Report, two Fortnightly Commentaries, Weekly Supplements and four Summary-Indexes with latest ranks and ratings on more than 850 stocks.

(Annual Subscription $120) *New subscribers only

ATTENTION, LARGE INHUMAN CORPORATIONS!!
(also human-type investors)

Small, inhuman Florida Corp., manufacturing and distributing greeting cards nationally, has expansion program rolling in spite of itself. Needs heavy capitalization. You can be selfish and buy the WHOLE corporation for $100,000, or be conservative and buy only a piece. Don't count on this as a tax loss, because it insists upon making a profit. For detailed information, write "Corporation, Box 864 Stuart, Fla." Please give references, for consideration. No brokers, please.

6 LOW-PRICED STOCKS FOR A FAST MOVE!

Our analysts studied over 500 low-priced stocks before they selected these six for recommendations to our investment service subscribers. These all meet the rigid requirements we have established as a speculative investment with both fast and great profit possibilities. We would like to send you our report on them, with current earnings, recent prices, dividends, etc., by return mail.

One is a famous radio-TV network that has recently closed some remarkable contracts, and even now yields over 5%, with regular dividends.

Another is a little known chain of stores that is going great guns, with present dividend a yield of over 6%.

Still another is a promising Airline in which shares are available at around $7.

All This is Yours for Only $1!

This list of all 6 Low-Priced Stocks sent to you, with appropriate revelations, at NO EXTRA COST, along with a 30-Day Trial Subscription to the Weekly Dow Theory Forecasts, which regularly supplies you with such vital investment information as:

(1) THE DOW THEORY MASTER LIST OF STOCKS (A "Blue Book" of best buys)
(2) THE STOCK SERVICES DIGEST (A concensus of what 14 other leading investment services are recommending)
(3) SPECIAL SITUATION STUDIES (Concise reports on promising industries)
(4) BEST BUYS AMONG LOW-PRICED STOCKS (A list of 30 stocks ranging from a dollar up that we think offer real growth and profit possibilities)
(5) STOCK SWITCH RECOMMENDATIONS (When to get out of stocks bought previously)
(6) CURRENT BUSINESS OUTLOOK

JUST MAIL THE COUPON

All the above comes to you in the next four weeks, including the 6 selected stocks mentioned above, for just $1, and even your dollar will be refunded if you are not delighted with the service. Simply fill out the coupon and send it with a dollar today.

Send me the list of 6 Selected Stocks, Stock Service Digest & Bi-Weekly Business Outlook and enter my name as a 30-day Trial Subscriber to your DOW THEORY FORECASTS Investment Service. I enclose $1 as payment in full.

HOW TO MAKE SHREWD SPECULATIONS
in stocks under $5

Now you can get revealing reports giving analysis and opinion on investment bargains in little-known stocks. These are stocks of HIGH-GRADE companies that are well-managed, have good earnings prospects, yet are overlooked by the average investor. We specialize in selecting these stocks selling under $5. A. J. G. of Westport, Conn., writes: "I now take 4 other services, but yours is one of the best I have seen for the small investor."

FREE REPORTS: See for yourself how large profits may be reaped from a small investment in these LOW-PRICED "hidden" value stocks." The recommendations you receive are impartial. We are not an investment dealer or broker, and no salesman will call. To receive free SSR Reports for one month, just mail this ad—or postcard—together with your name and address to:

Let KIPLINGER show you FREE...

HOW TO MAKE THE COMING BOOM THE BEST 10 YEARS OF YOUR LIFE

What to do now about your job, business, savings, investments . . . to capitalize on extraordinary opportunities ahead . . . and how to adjust your plans—week by week—to the warning rumble of sudden changes—before the lightning strikes!

In every boom, some men succeed in pyramiding modest savings into sizable fortunes. They are men alert to opportunity and quick to seize it . . . men who get that "extra jump" that means the difference between average profit and a real "windfall". W. M. Kiplinger, the man who has foretold important business changes many times in the last 35 years—whose famous Kiplinger Letter guides a select group of the country's successful men and women—now foresees the biggest boom yet . . . tells you how to get ready NOW to build a lifetime nest egg. Send coupon below to receive FREE —as a gift—his timely new book

KIPLINGER LOOKS TO THE FUTURE
BOOM AND INFLATION AHEAD
and what you can do about it

Yours FREE with this offer

BOOM AND INFLATION AHEAD and what you can do about it

Here are dozens of sound, sensible ways you can cash in BIG on the coming boom! What to look for and how to exploit the once-in-a-decade opportunities that can be yours . . . and how to avoid the inflationary pitfalls that go hand-in-hand with these opportunities. Everything explained in complete, down-to-earth detail, and easy to understand . . . how to mesh your income, savings, business, short and long term investments with boom-time opportunities. Here's the viewpoint you need to profit by events before they become common knowledge . . . seasoned guidance and judgment to help you come out of the boom with your future secure. Kiplinger also shows you:

- How to safeguard the buying power of your dollars
- Why, when and how the boom will start
- How quickly prices will go up—how far
- Whether to buy a house now or wait
- Which businesses will gain—which lose
- What careers offer the best opportunities
- How to become financially independent
- Areas that will profit most from the boom
- Where executives will be needed
- How to set up an inflation-proof retirement income
- What securities will benefit by the boom
- How to save interest on a mortgage
- Should you open your own business
- How to make money overseas
- Higher college tuitions—how to meet them
- Life insurance—good or bad buy
- New products that will change your life
- Your best hedge against inflation
- Outlook for wages, hours, taxes
- Prospects for mutual funds, investment trusts
- Help for housewives, working women, widows
- What to do with money you've saved

Don't stand by—shackled by uncertainty—while other men, with no more resources than you have, are successful! Here are dozens of topics keyed to your financial affairs now—and for the years ahead. Not just vague theory, but actual MONEY MAKING PLANS—for young men, family heads, business owners, people on fixed income . . . everything to help you get YOURS while the GETTING IS GOOD!

YOURS WITH OUR COMPLIMENTS—

"25 BEST CANADIAN STOCKS FOR 1959"

5 DIVIDEND PAYING GOLD STOCKS. These are strong at current prices and with earnings on the increase, are well positioned for higher trading values over the next 3 to 12 months. Price range: $2.30-$17.00.

5 OIL AND GAS STOCKS. These are greatly underpriced from standpoint of earnings, reserves, assets, and market potential. Backed by companies with strong finances and excellent properties. Price range: $2.50-$20.00.

5 INDUSTRIAL STOCKS with outstanding records. Backed by firms with proven ability. They have been chosen for safety, growth, income, and substantial appreciation during 1959. Price range: $8.00-$42.00.

5 MINING STOCKS earning a profit from current production. Companies behind these stocks have long records of growth, profits, and stability. Price range: $3.50-$29.00.

5 LOW COST SPECULATIVE MINING AND OIL STOCKS. All possess above average potential, good property location, aggressive leadership, and adequate financial backing. Price: 18c-90c.

This new book shows you why these 25 stocks are pointed to higher prices in 1959. You receive complete and easy-to-understand description of development, exploration and production, past, present, and projected earnings, current programming, basic patterns in the trading cycle, dividends, properties, treasury position, capital expenditures and many more important factors. This new book, just off the press ($3.95 retail value), is yours without cost when you become a new subscriber to The Canadian Forecaster.

The Canadian Forecaster is an 8-page weekly commentary on the Canadian market. It suggests stocks to buy, how much to pay, when to sell, explains why. It keeps you up to date on significant exploration, developments, corporate decisions. In addition, you receive all the individual help you need at no extra cost. A 60-day trial costs $5 ($5.50 airmail), $45 per year. Address The Canadian Forecaster, Suite 2-8, 240 Calvin, Buffalo 16, New York.

Demand for choice property in the Florida Keys has caused prices to soar during the past few years. Because of the limited amount of select land available, prices are expected to continue to climb.

VENETIAN SHORES, the finest development in the Keys, represents an exceptional investment opportunity to capitalize on the Florida Keys' unlimited future. This waterfront community offers choice canalfront residential homesites for as little as $1,500 down.

Take advantage of this outstanding opportunity. Write Box 451, Islamorada, Florida or phone Key Largo 5252 for free literature . . . or better, enjoy a pleasant 75 mile drive down the scenic Florida Keys and see VENETIAN SHORES for yourself.

I WAS GOING BROKE ON $9,000 A YEAR

So I Sent $7 to The Wall Street Journal

High prices and taxes were getting me down. I had to have more money or reduce my standard of living. Like Alice in Wonderland, I had to run faster to stay in the same place.

So I sent $7 for a Trial Subscription to The Wall Street Journal. I heeded its warnings. I cashed in on the ideas it gave me for increasing my income and cutting expenses. I got the money I needed. Now I'm slowly forging ahead. Believe me, reading The Journal every day is a wonderful get-ahead plan.

This experience is typical. The Journal is a wonderful aid to salaried men making $7,500 to $25,000. It is valuable to the owner of a small business. It can be of priceless benefit to young men who want to win advancement.

The Wall Street Journal is the complete business DAILY. Has largest staff of writers on business and finance. The only business paper served by all three big press associations. It costs $24 a year, but you can get a Trial Subscription for three months for $7. Just tear out this ad and attach check for $7 and mail. Or tell us to bill you. Address: The Wall Street Journal, 44 Broad Street, New York 4, N. Y.

BAXTER TURNS BULLISH ON GOLD SHARES
Noted monetary expert sees sharp boom

A widespread boom in gold stocks is about ready to explode, according to economist William J. Baxter's latest Bulletin entitled "The Flight From The Dollar."

In this startling Bulletin Baxter shows that there is a worldwide rush to get out of dollars and into gold. He points out that last year alone the United States lost two billion dollars in that precious metal. He shows why the politicians will inevitably force a rise in the fixed price of gold.

Which gold stocks will profit most? Which will have the sharpest rise? Which low priced issues can be bought for potentially large gains? Get this Bulletin for the answers, and for Baxter's convincing reasons for forecasting an explosive gold boom. It is available at $2. Use the coupon below.

Pupil-Place Law Called 'Delusion'

Won't Work, Says Virginia Official

FAIRFAX, Va. — (UPI) — Virginia's top legal brain said Saturday that dependency on a pupil assignment plan such as Alabama's to preserve segregation "would be pinning our hopes on a snare and delusion."

Attorney General Albertis S. Harrison said that the U.S. Supreme Court only upheld the Alabama plan on its face and not in application. He said the courts would never permit its use of criteria which excluded qualified Negro children from white schools.

"We might as well face it," he said. "There are Negroes living in every county and city in this state who are qualified for admission to any public school under any standards that would be approved by the courts, and no plan that is legally administered will exclude them."

Harrison's unexpectedly frank speech, delivered at a country club here, quelled speculation that Virginia, its anti-integration laws stricken, would turn to a pupil assignment plan for a solution.

The speech also gave indications that Harrison, who conferred with Gov. J. Lindsay Almond earlier Saturday on new anti-integration strategy, was resigned to integration of Virginia public schools.

"No plan will be approved by the federal courts under the present decisions that does not permit and result in the admission of pupils to schools with regard to race or color," Harrison said.

Boy Guarded In Arrest Of Airman

Police seized an AWOL Homestead Air Force Base airman in St. Petersburg Saturday night after whisking his 10-year-old stepson out of the way in case there was a gunfight.

Officers said, however, that Raymond W. Wendt Jr., 26, was not armed and did not resist.

The FBI said he was wanted for theft of government property, armed robbery and desertion from the Air Force base at Homestead.

Wendt, his wife, Marion, 30, and his stepson, Danny, were in a St. Petersburg house when police and FBI agents pounced on the house. Fearing Wendt might put up a fight, the officers waited until the boy left the house to play before making a move.

A uniformed policeman grabbed the boy and hurried him down the street.

Prio's Free to Return To Cuba, Lawyer Says

Dr. Carlos Prio Socarras, one-time Cuban president, is free to return to his homeland provided he returns to face a New York indictment for smuggling arms to Fidel Castro, it was learned Saturday.

S. R. Costanzo, a member of the law firm which represents Dr. Prio, said Prio has posted $2,000 bond and "can leave the country" pending the court session.

He was backed up by U.S. Attorney James L. Guilmartin who said a person under bond can come and go as he pleases "under normal circumstances."

Prio himself was unavailable for comment.

The trial was set for Feb. 10 but may be postponed because of the resignation of an assistant U. S. attorney who was handling the case, Costanzo said.

Dr. Prio was ousted as Cuba's president by Fulgencio Batista in a bloodless 1952 coup and has been in exile at Miami Beach since.

Another source close to the former exile said he returned to Miami Beach this week to spend a few days with his wife and two daughters, and to make arrangements for them to go home to Cuba.

Dr. Prio went back to the island after Castro toppled the Batista government.

The ex-president still has no official tie-up with the new Cuban regime.

Cash Register Robbed

Bar Owner Shot Fatally in Head

By EDDIE GONG
Herald Staff Writer

An Ojus bar owner was found fatally shot in the head beside his rifled cash register Saturday night by two customers who heard his dying gasps when they came in to buy a drink.

Metro detectives said Vernon Brubaker, 54, of 3181 SW 24th St., died at North Shore Hospital shortly after he was carried from his Melody Lane Bar, 18320 Biscayne Blvd.

Detective Sgt. Dick Shelton said Brubaker, a bachelor, had bought the bar 10 days ago from Charles Hannum, 62, of 1559 NE 131st Rd., North Miami.

Hannum told The Herald he owned the bar for a year and had been robbed last September. He said the area where the bar is located is one of the roughest areas I've seen in 29 years in the business."

James Harold Albea, 30, of 18801 NE 22nd Ave., and John F. Mincar, 37, of the same address, told detectives they entered the bar about 6:30 p.m. to buy a drink and that the bar was empty. Both are grooms at the Greynolds Park stables.

Thinking the bartender was in a back room, they said they waited several minutes at the bar, then heard labored breathing coming from in back of the bar. They found Brubaker, crumpled and bleeding from a bullet wound above his right ear. The cash register was empty.

Petare's Royal Palm Victory Easier Than It Looked—Avila

By RUSS HARRIS
Herald Turf Writer

'Twas the biggest Latin American celebration since Castro entered Havana, after Petare won Hialeah's Royal Palm Handicap Saturday.

Three dozen Spanish-speaking friends of the Argentina-bred victory swarmed into Hialeah's winner's circle. "Jubilant" is only a mild description of the emotions.

One well-wisher shouted "Viva Venezuela!" and leaped upon Trainer Millard Farisziadie's back. The momentum knocked the handsome Latin horseman to his knees.

Millard didn't mind a bit. This was his first visit to the United States and he was enjoying it immensely.

"I love the United States, it's beautiful," he said.

A native of Kingston, Jamaica, Millard is only 39 years old but has had a fabulous career as a trainer. He was the leading conditioner in Jamaica six consecutive years (1945-51) and has topped the field in Venezuela for the last six years.

"No, I wasn't worried about the other horses catching Petare today," he said. "I knew he was fit."

Through an interpreter, Jockey Gustavo Avila revealed that—Petare's victory was probably easier than it looked.

"I didn't want him so close to the pace," Avila said. "But he was going so easily, we could have gone to the lead at any time.

Was Gustavo worried when the favored Nadir made his move in the stretch?

"No, because I wasn't letting my horse run."

Gustavo, only 19 years old, has been riding four years. "He is the only Venezuelan able to hold his own with the Chileans," said a Latin friend.

If Petare is an example of the Venezuelans, then spare our horsemen from the Chileans. The eight-year-old Petare arrived in this country only five days before the Royal Palm.

Racing Secretary Charles McLennan surprised many observers by rating the Argentine-bred Petare as the equal top weight at 120 pounds with Nadir. None of the press handicappers liked Petare's chances in his U.S. debut. But McLennan obviously did not overrate the South American.

Is Petare the best horse you've ever ridden? Gustavo was asked.

"No," he said, 'Senegal was the best."

Senegal has never been to the U.S. But, after his owners hear about Petare's triumph, they may be seeking accommodations.

Unfortunately, Petare was not nominated for the McLennan or Widener handicaps. But he's eligible to run in next Saturday's Bougainvillea on the grass and in the richer Hialeah Turf Cup Feb. 14. And he won't be 15-1!

Streit, Goodwin Gain Golf Finals On Windy Wins

By JIMMY BURNS
Herald Sports Editor

FORT LAUDERDALE — Two down with three holes to play, Marlene Stewart Streit of Toronto came back Saturday to beat Marge Burns of Greensboro, N.C., one-up, with a birdie four on the 18th and earn a third chance at the Doherty Golf Championship.

It comes today at Coral Ridge when Marlene meets Joanne Goodwin, 1956 champion from Haverhill, Mass., in the 36-hole finals. Miss Goodwin, beaten on the 38th hole in 1957 by Ann Quast, reached the finals for the third time in four years by defeating Barbara McIntire of Lake Park 2-1.

No golf match-maker could have picked two more fierce competitiors for the finals. Between them, they have figured in the past three climaxes.

Mrs. Streit was beaten by Grace DeMoss in 1954 and last year forced Mary Ann Downey to the 37th-hole, before losing.

The girls will be hard-pressed to trump the competitive semifinals played in gusts of wind which hit 38 mph. The wind made low scoring difficult, but all contestants thrilled the galleries with remarkable recovery shots.

Miss Goodwin scored a 39 in acquiring a two-up lead and was only three over women's par for the distance. The turning point came after Miss McIntire trimmed her deficit to one-up by winning the 15th with a par four.

"I should have listened to my caddy," said Barbara after pushing her three-iron tee shot on the 156-yard 16th hole into a pond. She conceded her rival a birdie two and became dormie-two.

"My caddy wanted me to use a five iron, but I overruled him," said Barbara, who was eliminated on the 17th where she matched her rival's par four.

The losing trend for Miss Burns, five times North Carolina Amateur Champion, came after she had made a remarkable recovery shot and sank a 35-foot putt to match Marlene's par four on the 15th.

But Marlene, who has won the U.S. Women's National, the British and Canadian Amateurs while the Doherty eluded her, is a fighter. She came back with a par three on the 16th and won the hole when Marge, who had driven to the far apron of the green, missed a four-footer.

The turning point came on the 368-yard 17th after Marlene pushed her drive into the rough and was almost stymied by two of seven pine trees standing like silent sentinels. She played an intentional four-iron slice between two pines, the ball landing within 15 yards of the green.

Marlene pitched over a trap within five feet of the pin, and won with a par four when Marge missed a six-footer. She had to blast from high grass where her approach shot had landed.

Miss Streit played a seven-iron third shot within four feet of the 18th cup, and won it with a birdie four. Mrs. Burns,

'Invader' Petare Just Kept Flying

By JOE McLAUGHLIN
Herald Turf Editor

Petare, bred in the Argentine, flew to Miami last Monday . . . and kept on flying Saturday in winning Hialeah's $33,300 Royal Palm before a startled audience of 21,175.

The invader, an 8-year-old son of Moslem-Colette, owned by Anselmo A. Dorato, literally gobbled up a star-studded field of 11 foes for little rider Gustavo Avila, during the mile and eighth trek.

The South American invader, who turned in most of his racing feats on Venezuelan tracks, won by three parts of a length over Roy Faircloth's Sharpsburg, under Howard Grant.

A length and a half to the rear of Sharpsburg came Claiborne Farm's Nadir, who was supposed to win to give Bill Hartack a final triumph before Hartack began his 10-day suspension. But Nadir looked Petare "right in the eye" at the top of the stretch and the South American was on his way.

The morning line showed Petare 12 to 1. He wound up returning $32.30, $13.20 and $4.90. Sharpsburg paid $8.20 and $4, while Nadir, bet to 75 cents on the dollar, returned $2.40 show.

Petare did not come to Hialeah unheralded. He won the Classico Clausura at Caracas last Jan. 4 but, while his record shows victories in seven stakes and handicaps in Venezuela, most fans wanted "proof." They got it in abundance Saturday.

Petare raced the mile and one eighth in 1:48 3-5 over an "off" track. The track mark is 1:47 flat, set by Bold Ruler in 1957.

Petare is not eligible for either the McLennan or the $100,000 Widener, highlight of the Hialeah meet, but is a likely starter in the Bougainvillea over the turf course and in the $75,000 Turf Cup on Feb. 14. The Bougainvillea is at a mile and three-sixteenths on Jan. 31. The Turf Cup will be raced at a mile and a half.

Petare, carrying top weight of 120 along with Nadir, was off good. He forged ahead of the speedy Kingmaker after the first five furlongs. After a half mile he led Kingmaker and Air Pilot with Nadir fourth and going well.

Nearing the stretch, it was Petare, Nadir and Sharpsburg, who came from seventh after three quarters of a mile. At the top of the stretch, Hartack roused Nadir and challenged Petare, but that was it. The South American pulled away and, except for Sharpsburg's late rush, finished in a gallop.

John Ring, chairman of the Florida State Racing Commission, presented the trophy. Petare got a pat on the noggin and whinnied when they paid off the winner's share of $21,095.

Hialeah's Saturday crowd bet $1,994,771. Figures for the first eight days of the meet show attendance off 4.2 per cent from last year — 139,189 against 145,261. However, betting is up 1.6 per cent — $12,058,540 against $12,253,261.

While Hartack missed the big one, he rolled two winners home — Claiborne's Natalie at $8.40 in the third and Johnny Applebaum's Tender Morsel ($7.40) in the fifth.

75-Mile Radius Not Enough

Minors Need Full Blackout Of TV Major Tilts, Says Shag

MONTREAL —(AP)— Frank Shaughnessy, president of the International baseball league, said Saturday there was "one big loophole" in the new sports anti-trust bills proposed by American Congressmen.

The bills would make it mandatory for big league clubs to impose a 75-mile television blackout around a minor league city on the day of a minor league game there. This would restrict TV games-of-the-week.

"But," said Shaughnessy, who is chairman of the major-minor league television committee, "while this would be a tremendous help, it does not go far enough. What we need is a complete blackout.

"For one thing there are television transmitters located on high mountains that carry a long way. These cities may be out of the 75-mile radius, but could still carry into the minor league cities.

"Burlington (Vermont) is more than 75 miles away from here. Yet we get their programs very clearly. I'm certain there are similar cases.

"The major league games should not be allowed to come in at anytime. People who see a major league game during the day on television will not pay to come out and see the minor league team at night."

Shaughnessy is very enthusiastic over pay television.

"That's the way to do it," he said. "I spoke to Walter O'Malley (Los Angeles Dodgers owner) the other day. He said it would go good in Los Angeles. The Dodgers and Milwaukee did not have television last year and drew the largest attendances.

"Pro football provided the right answer. They blacked out the game in their own cities and it turned out to be educational. It got the fans interested and they turned out when their own teams came home."

Shaughnessy believes the new regime in Cuba will change things as far as the Havana club is concerned.

"If (Fidel) Castro does everything he says he's going to do, the baseball situation there will be much better," he said. "Batista's regime was so corrupt and there was so much poverty that the people could not concentrate on sports."

Shaughnessy reiterated that, despite the threatened players' strike, the league would open with "business as usual."

Vees Name Souchock

RICHMOND, Va. —(AP)— Steve Souchock, who spent 7½ years in the major leagues as a first baseman and outfielder, Saturday night was named manager of the Richmond Virginians of the International League.

The announcement of his appointment was the first move on the Richmond front by the World Champion New York Yankees since they took over full ownership of the club earlier this week. The next step is expected to be the naming of a general manager.

Marlene Streit Shrugs Away Any Comparison with Ben Hogan

FORT LAUDERDALE — Two tiny girls will awe even masculine observers with their skill and accuracy over the Coral Ridge course today. They are Marlene Stewart Streit, who weighs only 106 pounds, and Joanne Goodwin, only a few pounds heavier.

There were times Saturday when it appeared the gusty winds might blow the girls clear off the links. Instead they stuck around to make the Doherty finals. Miss Goodwin, daughter of a golf pro, won the title in 1956 and almost repeated the next year.

GOODWIN

The Doherty title has eluded Marlene, although she has achieved greater distinctions in winning the British and Canadian Amateur titles and the United States National. She missed three times before coming through. That gives you some idea of her determination.

Known in Canada as the little girl with the big swing, Marlene first burst upon the Canadian sports scene in 1951. She's accomplished quite a bit since then and has even been compared to Ben Hogan.

"I'm not the least like Hogan," Marlene smilingly remonstrates. "I suppose I'd be a better golfer if I were. I just can't practice like he does, or get that kind of concentration."

* * *

Friends Discount Denial

FRIENDS DISCOUNT the denial calling attention to Marlene's faculty of making it appear as if nothing else but the next shot was on her mind. Like Hogan, she is not a talkative person in a golf tournament, although she does speak to her opponent.

Before she started her victorious comeback Saturday against Marge Burns, Marlene walked along chatting with Cookie Swift Berger as merrily as if engaged in only a friendly match.

Mrs. Streit and Hogan are alike in their golf swings. Being slight of stature, both have big swings.

Off the links, Marlene is as friendly as the playful Boxer which kept interrupting the semifinal golfers. Finally Pro Lew Worsham caught the pup and attached a rope to his collar.

The dog looked at Worsham so reproachfully that Lew finally asked a little girl to lead the dog around.

Regardless of which girl wins today, the gallery will be treated to some fine golf.

What Tourists Think About Rain

IT POURED rain here Friday and Saturday the winds howled. This had the natives shuddering. At a restaurant a tourist from the midwest listened to moaning about the rain.

Then in a cheery voice, he remarked, "When I left home it was sleeting and more than once this winter we had below zero temperatures. What are you crying about?"

JIM NORRIS

Obviously, the rain, of course. Speaking of lamenting, some people are crying that when the Supreme Court dissolved the International Boxing club, it killed prize fighting.

Jim Norris, who actually was the IBC, seems to be standing the court enforced separation from his favorite sport very well. He is enjoying life on his South Miami farm and gets more delight from his daughter's excellent performances in horse shows than in staging prize fights.

Baseball Stars Richer Than Golfers

THERE WAS A STORY the other day devoted to speculation over whether an athlete could become a major league baseball player easier than he could become a top-notch golfer.

MUSIAL

PALMER

The figures show financial rewards are better for the former. Only 25 golfers earned better than $13,000 from the PGA tournaments last year. It is safe to guess more than half of the 400 major league players received salaries topping that figure.

Arnold Palmer was the top paid golfer with $42,607.50 and Bill Casper Jr. was the only other divot maker drawing more than $40,000. Compare that with Ted Williams' $125,000, the $80,000 paid Stan Musial and the $75,000 received by Mickey Mantle. In addition the golfers must pay every penny of their own traveling expenses. The ball players get free transportation, hotel rooms and meals on the road. Even the average ball player gets more than the run-of-the-mill golfer, the minimum major salary being around $7,000.

A ball player may have an off-day, yet others will carry the team to victory. In golf, if you miss a shot, there is no one to save the error.

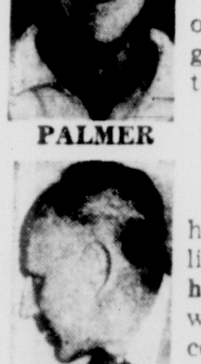
Par Three Course 'Best'



HILTON

One likes to think that a visit made here Friday by James Hilton, Miami's public welfare director, and Woody Laughinghouse, Miami Springs golf course manager, will expedite construction of a par three course at Miami Springs . . . Hilton "played" Robert Trent Jones' American Golfers' Club, a 2,877-yard par-three layout with holes ranging in distance from one hundred to 315 yards . . . Hilton plans to bring city commissioner Otis Shiver and others here to inspect the layout, where during the winter an average of 200 golfers pay a greens fee of three bucks . . . This might sway Shiver from trying the three-in-one hole course plan proposed by Luke Morris . . . Along with a majority of golfers, I think a fine par three course would be superior.

"Sure the Braves will repeat," says Hal Beazell, Sierra Motel manager, who with his wife Bavven has spent his last two vacations watching the Braves in the World Series . . . however, Hal isn't taking a chance of missing a sports vacation, so he'll go to the Kentucky Derby.

7-Foot McCoy Faces Frosh

UM Hosts Tall Kentucky Wesleyan

By LUTHER EVANS
Herald Sports Writer

Biggest basketball bargain of the season will be offered at Beach Auditorium Monday night when the University of Miami varsity plays Kentucky Wesleyan and the "varsity ineligibles" oppose the Hurricane frosh.

Both UM quintets are likely to get licked.

Bruce Hale's varsity draws the difficult assignment of trying to rebound with a Wesleyan starting five that averages 6-5 in height, plus seeking to shackle Kelly Coleman, sensational shooting sophomore.

McCOY

HALE

Gene Stage's freshmen will be pitted against an Opa-locka All-Star lineup which includes Mike McCoy, seven-foot center who recently quit Northwestern in hopes of entering Miami.

Two other fondly regarded ineligible athletes also will operate for Opa-locka — Guard Julie Cohen, who switched from NYU, and Guard Chris Stavreti, transfer from Western Michigan.

The 6-3, 215-pound sophomore, a father of two daughters at 20, leads Wesleyan in scoring with a 26.6 point average and in rebounding with 11.2 per game.

Last year as a freshman, Coleman pumped in 35 points for a losing cause against Miami and went on to become the nation's No. 6 pointmaker with 639 total points—a 26.2 standard.

COLEMAN

HOLLAND

The Hurricanes have height, if their sophomores can use it to advantage under boards.

Dead-eye Dick Hickox, 5-6 long range artist, and jumping-shooting Joe Gardner, 6-1, will be Miami's guards with 6-4 Ron Godfrey at the other forward.

HICKOX

STAGE

Kentucky Wesleyan is 7-7 for the season; Miami is 7-6. All but one of UM's victories came on home floors.

In addition to the UM transfers, the Opa-locka lineup will include Dr. John Gaul, playing coach from Lebanon Valley College; Billy Talbot, ex-UM guard; Talbot Trammel, former Washington and Lee star; and Jay Handlan, who was the nation's second highest scorer in 1952 at W&L.

They meet the yearlings at 7 p.m.; the varsity match goes at 8:45.

Swede Pulls Net Shocker

Unseeded Birger Folke of Sweden Saturday swept into the men's singles finals of the Coral Gables-University of Miami tennis championships with a stunning victory over Bert Brown (seeded No. 2) of Los Angeles, 3-6, 6-4, 6-2 at Salvadore Park.

The Swede battles top-seeded Jack Frost of Monterey, Calif., in today's finals. Frost lived up to his reputation by ousting Miami Beach's Ed Rubinoff, 6-1, 6-1.

Folke, always a slow starter, dropped the opening set to Brown and was trailing 4-3 in the second set before he pulled himself together. He won three straight games to capture the second.

After winning three straight games to grab the second set, Folke had little trouble in the finale.

Frost stormed the net throughout his match with Rubinoff. And as might be expected, he is a heavy favorite to dispose of Folke in today's 1 p.m. championship match.

Karol Fageros, the Coral Gables glamor girl, battled into the finals of women's singles with an easy victory over Chile's Alicia Heegwaldt, 6-3, 6-0.

In the other women's semis, second-seeded Marie Martin of Melbourne, Australia, won in straight sets over Sally Fuller of Coral Gables, 6-2, 6-2.

Ariel V Prevails In Gun Cay Race

Special To The Herald

CAT CAY, Bahamas — Horace Binney's new Ariel V Saturday won the Miami-Gun Cay Light Race and, in so doing, may have touched off a revolution — a revolution in hull design.

In her maiden race, the 44-foot yawl brought realization to a long-nutured dream of designer Warren Bailey by making mockery of one of the finest fleets that money can buy.

Surging into the lead during the first mile and keeping it for almost half of the rough 71-mile voyage, she was beaten to the finish line by only Dick Richardson's 63-foot yawl Good Hope.

But the recently re-rigged Good Hope, scratch boat among 20 starters and 12 finishers, didn't come close to saving her time on Ariel V.

Richardson's beauty, driven by 30-35 mile northeast winds, established a course record of 10 hours, 46 minutes and 37 seconds for the three-year-old race.

Ariel V was just 49 minutes behind — and she had a handicap of 2 hours, 27 minutes and 39 seconds.

Thus, the Coconut Grove Sailing Club entrant became the victor when her elapsed time of 10:46.37 was corrected to 8:38.58.

Winner in Class B and second overall was Jack Price's famed red-hulled yawl Comanche, also built by Bailey, with an elapsed clocking of 11:25.47 and corrected time of 8:59.12.

Skippering the 39-foot yawl Hoot Mon, two-time Southern Ocean Racing Conference champ, Miami's Sandy Holt snared third position. Hoot Mon's elapsed time was 12:41:01, her corrected rating, 9:32.17.

The 1-2-3 finishers were all Miami-designed. In addition to the Bailey-conceived Ariel V, Comanche was designed by Wirth Munroe; Hoot Mon by Worth Brown.

Ca Va, 40-foot yawl which won the 1958 SORC title, finished fourth under Drayton Cochran of the New York Yacht Club. Good Hope was dropped to fifth in overall placements.

Since breezes were strong and provided considerable windward work in turbulent seas, there could be no "lucky" tinge besmirching Ariel V's victory.

"She behaved beautifully," said Skipper Binney. "She was good on all points of sailing. We are very pleased."

Chief difference in the victor's hull from most yawls was that she has a deep flare forward at the bow, (for buoyancy and lift), a straight run and a wide stern.

"I've got a design of my own that . . . if sailed properly . . . would be faster than boat of her size racing today."

Binney believed him.

The results with corrected and elapsed time finishes:

Boat. Skipper	Time	Time
Ariel V. Horace Binney	8:38.58	10:46.37
Comanche. Jack Price	8:59.12	11:25.47

Middlecoff, Snead Trounce Irishmen By Four Strokes

BOCA RATON —(AP)— Sam Snead and Cary Middlecoff teamed up Saturday to beat Ireland's Canada Cup champions, Harry Bradshaw and Christy O'Connor by four strokes in an exhibition golf match at the Boca Raton Club.

Snead had a 34-36 — 70 par round, and Middlecoff came in with 37-34 — 71, giving the Americans 141. O'Connor, who had trouble with his putting all the way around, had a 41-34 — 75. His teammate turned in a 37-33 — 70 for an Irish total of 145.

The Americans took command early in the match, and were seven strokes to the good by the end of six holes.

O'Connor's double bogie on the par-four 4th put the Irishmen 2-down as Snead made it in four and Middlecoff and Bradshaw in five apeice.

A gallery of over 2,000 watched as the four men battled high winds which made sub-par golf almost impossible.

It was the second straight defeat for the Canada Cup champions at the hands of American pros. Last year Snead and Jimmy Demaret beat Japan's Torakichi Nakamura and Kosei Ono on the Boca Raton Course in a post Canada Cup match.

Rosewall Wins Net Marathon

BRISBANE, Australia —(AP)—Ken Rosewall, the unpredictable Australian who recently joined the pro tennis troupe, defeated Tony Trabert of Cincinnati in a 2½-hour marathon Saturday that decided the pros' singles tournament here. The score was 6-2, 4-6, 3-6, 7-5, 6-1.

Rosewall then combined with Pancho Gonzales of Los Angeles to defeat Trabert and Lew Hoad, also from Australia, in the doubles final 8-6, 6-4.

Cornelius Tops Pros In 'Par 3'

WEST PALM BEACH —(AP)— Women golf pros made an impressive showing Saturday on Belvedere Country Club's little par-three links in tournament competition with men.

Five of the ladies landed among leaders at midpoint of the two-day, 36-hole, $1,500 first annual Par Three Tourney.

Only one player — Bill Cornelius of Lakeland — broke the 27-27 par, shaving off two strokes with his 28-24—52. Cornelius' wife, Kathy, also a professional, led the distaff golfers with a 56.

Nearly 20 women were in competition in the field of 92, hoping that the short course (2,316-yards) would give them a fair show with the harder driving male golfers.

Wind and rain squalls harried all the players.

Bill Cornelius	28-24—52
Adrien Bigras	27-72—54
Al Brosch	27-27—54
Clyde Usina Jr.	26-28—54
Dow Finsterwald	27-28—55
Gary Nixon	29-26—55
Pete Cassela	27-28—55

Stetson Sinks Tampa, 96-80

DELAND — (AP) — Stetson scored its fourth straight basketball victory Saturday night, beating Tampa 96-80 and pulling into a second place tie in the Florida Intercollegiate Conference.

Unbeaten Miami leads the conference with four victories. Stetson and Florida Southern now have won three and lost one.

Knicks Nudge Pistons

NEW YORK — (AP) — Carl Braun's 30-foot set shot with 15 seconds left in an overtime period was the clincher as the New York Knicks defeated Detroit's Pistons, 122-118, Saturday in a National Basketball Association game.

Braun's overhead set, his only field goal after the intermission, gave the Knicks a 120-116 lead and a cushion against Phil Jordons' hook shot for Detroit with eight seconds to go. The Pistons, trying for a steal of the ball, fouled Ray Felix on the ensuing pass-in and the 6-11 Knick center closed out the scoring with two free throws.

The Knicks, who led by 14 points midway in the second half, fell apart in the face of the driving play of ex-Knicks Wally Dukes and Gene Shue. With that pair doing almost all the heavy work, Detroit moved from an 80-66 deficit into a 103-98 lead with 2:40 left in the fourth period.

The Knicks pulled up to a 105-all tie behind Ken Sears and Willie Naulls with 1:20 left. Then Dukes and New York's Richie Guerin traded fielders to send the game into overtime at 107-all.

In the extra period, Shue and George Yardley got the Pistons a 116-114 lead with 1:45 showing on the clock. Sears hit two free throws around a field goal by Naulls, before Braun dropped his clincher from the head of the free throw circle.

Sears led all scorers with 30 points. Dukes had 24, Yardley 23 and Shue 19 for the Pistons. It was New York's fifth victory in six games with Detroit.

Marlins Add Cates —Road Secretary, Trainer And Coach

By EDDIE STORIN
Herald Sports Writer

Bill Cates, who came within a dislocated shoulder of making the Brooklyn Dodgers squad at the age of 19, Saturday was named coach-trainer-traveling secretary of the Miami Marlins.

The Key West native was signed by Joe Ryan, Marlin general manager, on the recommendation of new Miami skipper, Pepper Martin. Cates worked under Martin in a similar capacity from 1949 through 1951 with the Miami Sun Sox of the defunct Florida International League.

"I'm happy to be back in baseball," said Cates. "I've had several chances to return, but they all would have taken me away from Florida. Miami is like a second home to me."

Ryan called Cates an "outstanding" base coach and "highly proficient" trainer. "It may sound like a lot of duties," said Ryan, "But we plan to give Bill some assistants."

Cates replaces Al (Doc) Ritter, who was the Marlin trainer from 1956 through 1958. Ritter is expected to accept a job offered him in the Philadelphia Phillies organization.

He so impressed Manager Casey Stengel that the then Dodger skipper decided to carry the youthful third baseman-catcher north following spring training in Florida. But a few days prior to the season opener, Cates suffered a dislocated shoulder sliding into base in an exhibition game against the Phillies.

"It was really a blow," said Cates Saturday. "I had hit a home run two days before and I was going good. But I was never the same after the injury.

"I knocked around the minors for a few years, but always had trouble with my throwing arm.

He then returned to his home in Key West, and since has been assistant city recreation director there. Bill also coached the Key West High baseball team to four state championships in his "spare time."

Cates has taken a leave of absence from his Key West job in order to accept the Marlin post.

Boost Asked For OB Use

City Manager E. A. Evans will receive a recommendation that the minimum charges for use of the Orange Bowl Stadium be raised to limit the number of high school games played there, Public Welfare Director James Hilton said Saturday.

The Stadium Advisory Board at its meeting last Thursday proposed that a $650 charge be made for use of the stadium when only the south stands are used. If all sections are opened the charge would be $750. In the past the charges have been $250 and $300, although it costs the city around $600 to open the stadium.

Hilton reported that advisory members A. A. Ungar, Dr. Ralph Ferguson and R. D. (Buck) Freeman voted in favor of the new rate, with Tommie Thompson dissenting.

This past season only five of the 16 high school games played at the stadium produced enough revenue to pay more than the minimum charge.

Hilton plans to convert Miami Stadium into a football field for high schools by placing bleachers on the east side. He favors a $250 minimum fee for use of these facilities.

Indians, Bruins Swap 4

As part of the deal the Indians also sent Morrie Martin, a 37-year-old southpaw pitcher, to Fort Worth at the American Association League for an undisclosed amount of cash.

Averill batted .347 for San Diego in the Pacific Coast League last season and .182 during a four-week period with Cleveland in mid-summer.

Bolger, 27, played 84 games in a utility role with the Cubs in 1958 and batted .225. He is a right-handed swinger. Briggs, 25, pitched in 20 games and had a 5-5 record.

Red Sox Name York Coach

York was sent to the Chicago White Sox midway through the 1947 season and wound up his playing career the next year with the Philadelphia Athletics. He still resides in Cartersville, Ga.

Meet Maestro Bobby Ussery, Tough on a Horse or a Guitar
. . . daughter Deborah and missus Irene lend the old man their ears

Upsurging Ussery 'Rides Hide Right Off a Horse'

By EDWIN POPE
Assistant Sports Editor

Bobby Ussery hardly qualifies as a student of the arts, but he has surprisingly definite tastes in music and literature for one who quit school after the seventh grade.

POPE

Then Irene tucks 3-year-old Deborah into bed in their trailer off NW 79th St., and Bobby turns to reading.

Now and then, in this setting of utter domesticity, Ussery's eyes may wander from the tiny tabulations of past performances and market-points, and he will consider times gone by.

At 23, Ussery probably has packed more adventure into the last 13 years than a dozen ordinary people encounter in a lifetime.

He left his Vian, Okla., home when he was 10 to hit the hard-knock-filled trail of professional quarterhorse riding.

At 16, in his first licensed ride on a thoroughbred, he won a $5,000 stake.

Today he is a $100,000-a-year man, leading jockey at Hialeah Race Course with 10 victories in eight days, and heir apparent to the New York riding throne.

"When I look back over my boyhood," Ussery says, "I think I've been mighty lucky. I feel real good about everything."

* * *

'A Complete Race-Rider'

FIVE - FOOT - THREE - INCH, 113-pound Bobby Ussery has been referred to as "more muscular than cerebral," and he has had his part of scrapes in racing. He was suspended for five months in 1952 for "conduct detrimental to the best interests of racing," when he "pulled" a horse. He drew a 30-day suspension last year for roughing up Jockey Eddie Arcaro, and he once staged a one-man fight against the Jockey's Guild when it refused to pay a doctor bill for him.

Now, though, Ussery is older and, in a mental sense, closer to the ground. There is a solid maturity in all he does.

"Bobby's a complete race-rider," Agent Pete Carr tells you. "Breaking from the gate, judging the pace, and using the whip. But he's more than that. He also is an adult. He doesn't give in to temperament any more. And he doesn't throw his money around. Some people will call him tight but Bobby won't wind up cadging five-dollar bills when he's through riding."

The security Ussery has built through more than 1,200 winning rides is far dearer to him than most. Like a lot of other jockeys, he came from poverty. Unlike a lot of others, he is not going back to it when he is too old to hit the saddle.

He has a nine-room home on Long Island. He invests in conservative stocks. And he does not bet horses.

"I grind it out every day at the track," Ussery reasons. "Why give it back?"

* * *

'Confidence Is Everything'

ONE of the things horsemen like most about the quiet little ex-barnstormer is his apparent immunity to deep slumps. Jockeys know that slumps are as self-perpetuating as tension headaches; the longer you have one, the harder it is to throw it off. Ussery's deep confidence is thick armor against sustained declines.

"I'm not bragging. It's just that confidence is everything in this business. You see a hole, you got to go through it. You don't have time to stop and wonder if you've got the guts and reflexes to do the job."

Horses are the first to catch their riders' attitudes, and Agent Carr brings up the case of a pouty old mare named Folly Mills as evidence of Ussery's touch.

"Folly Mills wouldn't run for anybody," Carr says. "Then Bobby came along, and Folly Mills wheeled out there and won regularly for him."

* * *

$4,000,000 in Purses

DAVE FELDMAN, who both owns and handicaps thoroughbreds, capsules Ussery in eight words: "He rides the hide right off a horse."

Along the "complete rider" analysis offered by Agent Carr, Ussery avoids the specialist's label pasted to lead-loving jockeys such as Ken Church and Walter Blum and come-from-behind aces like Conn McCreary and Howard Grant. "I ride like the trainer thinks his horse should be ridden. What he says do, I do, whether it's break out of the gate like gang-busters or lay off the pace and try to come on in the stretch."

A Sport in Our Town

The hardest thing about riding, he believes, is saving ground. "You can stay TOO close to the rail," Ussery says, "but the rider who consistently saves ground in an intelligent way is going to do better than one who always wants to go outside. That's just common sense."

The efficacy of Ussery's ground-saving argument is borne out by his total purse winnings — more than $4,000,000 since 1952.

* * *

A Derby . . . and a Stable

ONE of Ussery's ambitions is to win a Kentucky Derby. He hasn't even ridden in a Derby yet, much less won it.

Some day, thanks to excellent investment advice from former Jamaica President John Morris, he hopes to own and train horses.

But these things can wait. For now, Ussery has all he can happily handle in belting out daily victories, twanging the gee-tar for that nightly audience of two, and keeping up with the stock market.

"I never thought," Bobby Ussery says honestly, "I'd even have all of this."

Jockey Hurt At Orleans

NEW ORLEANS — (AP) — Jockey Jack Fieselman of Hot Springs, Ark., was injured Saturday in a three-horse pileup during the running of the third race at the Fair Grounds.

Fieselman was taken from the track unconscious. There was no immediate report on his condition.

The Hot Springs rider was aboard Wisemar when his mount, Adios Cue and Xalapa Boy went down as the field came out of the back stretch.

Jockey Ralph Borgemenke of Winthrop, Mass., who rode Adios Cue, and Robert Duran, of Raton, N.M., who was astride Xalapa Boy, were uninjured. Adios Cue failed to recover and was immediately destroyed.

Bowdry Can Climb If He Tops Hinnant

By MEL DERRICK
Herald Sports Writer

For the third time in a month, Chris Dundee's Miami Beach boxing production figures to shake up the ring ratings.

Late December matches between Lightweights Carlos Ortiz and Kenny Lane, and Welterweights Sugar Hart and Ralph Dupas strengthened positions of winners Lane and Hart. Tuesday, at the Beach Auditorium, eighth-ranked Heavyweight Contender Jesse Bowdry can up his stock . . . or slide behind currently unranked Clarence Hinnant.

Hinnant, whose last fight was an April loss to Bowdry, ranked as high as seventh in the heavyweight division before his layoff. He has victories over Yvon Durelle (an eighth round KO), Willie Troy and Yolande Pompey in his 25-12-1 chart.

Bowdry, who has knocked out 19 of his 26 foes, has lost to only one man, Sonny Ray. Ray has beaten him three times, including a TKO win in Bowdry's last outing.

Both are strong punchers who can also box. Bowdry patterns his style after Light Heavyweight Champion Archie Moore, while Hinnant, who spars with Heavyweight King Floyd Patterson when the champion is in training, leans toward that style.

* * *

The fight's not in Miami.

"I won the right to fight for the title here," says Busso, referring to his Nov. 5 non-title triumph over Brown at the Beach Exhibition Hall. "I want to fight him for the title here.

And how about the fight itself?

"I whipped Brown pretty bad in 10 rounds here," said Busso. "Fifteen rounds, I should beat him — let's see — one-third more."

* * *

MIAMI'S LOU GROSS, who worked in Frankie Ryff's corner as the Barney Ross-managed fighter beat Robinson Garcia at the Beach last week, worked with Ross when the to-be lightweight champion won the Chicago Golden Gloves featherweight crown in the early '30's . . . Long-time Promoter Sam Sobel, injured in an automobile wreck last month, it out of the hospital. He suffered eight broken ribs in the crash, and still has trouble getting about . . . Likely Beach fight next week: Artist-Boxer Mickey Crawford, currently training at the Fifth Street Gym, vs. adopted Miamian Gomeo Brennan.

* * *

LIGHTWEIGHT BOBBY MARRIE, who won his third straight four-rounder last week, is taking extension courses through LSU toward a degree in education. He hopes to someday teach history . . . And his manager, Hank Kaplan, has one of the largest collections of boxing literature in the world . . . Beach visitors include Cy Levy, N.Y. boxing inspector who may be New York's next boxing commissioner . . . Lightweight Chico Velez, who fights Weyman Dawson in Tuesday's 10-round semi-windup, won eight of eight fights in 1958 . . . Other Tuesday preliminaries: Charley Titone vs. Ray Estepa, 6 rounds, lightweights; Dickie DiVeronica vs. Joey Clements, 4 rounds, lightweights; and Silky Shelton vs. Bobby Shaw, 4 rounds, welterweights.

AND ISN'T Harvey Kwartler, the little man you see around Dundee's office, the luckiest guy in town? Has a dozen girls working for him in his other job of Chief Betting Commissioner at Miami Jai Alai.

DeJohn, Liston Meet Here Feb. 18

Sonny Liston of St. Louis and Mike DeJohn of Syracuse, N.Y. have been signed for a nationally televised battle of heavyweights Feb. 18 in the Miami Beach Exhibition Hall.

The 10-round fight, Miami Beach's first televised boxing show of 1959 and only the second fight in the new Exhibition Hall, may be blacked out in the Greater Miami area. Promoter Chris Dundee and sponsors of the Friday Night Fights discussed that question Saturday, but reached no final decision.

Liston, who has lost only once in 22 outings, is ranked No. 10 heavyweight contender by Ring Magazine. DeJohn, with 25 KO victories in a 36-4-1 chart, is ranked sixth by the National Boxing Association.

The two have a combined total of five Beach bouts in the past 18 months, winning four by knockout. Liston starched Frankie Daniels in one, Ernie Cab in eight. DeJohn leveled Leo Petras with one punch in the first round, KO'd Julius Griffin in 10, and drew with Neal Welch.

Liston holds knockout wins over Wayne Betha and Julio Mederos; DeJohn whipped Willie Besmanoff and split two brawls with Nino Valdes in his last three starts.

Alice Hagge Weds Investor

SARASOTA — (AP) — Alice Bauer Hagge, a professional tournament golfer, and Harry E. Hovey Jr., were married Saturday here where both reside.

Their license application listed the bride as 31 and Hovey, an investor, as 42.

Albie Pearson
. . . little giant returns

Albie Pearson Set to Defend In 'Baseball Golf'

Albie Pearson, American League Rookie of the Year, will come up from Cuba to defend his title in the National Baseball Players' Golf Tournament at Miami Springs Feb. 12-15.

The Washington Senator outfielder notified Tourney Director George Jacobus that he will be here.

"Miami's my good-luck city," tiny (5-4) Pearson wrote. "I was an untried rookie when I was in Miami last winter and the confidence I picked up in winning the golf title helped carry me through my first big-league season."

A special Red Schoendienst trophy will be awarded the winner of hole-in-one competition on Feb. 15. The Milwaukee Brave star is recuperating from tuberculosis in St. Louis.

The tournament is sponsored by the City of Miami. J. G. Taylor Spink, publisher of the Sporting News, donates special trophies.

Miami New Auburn Foe

AUBURN — (UPI) — The Auburn Tigers, who finished second in the nation in 1958, will meet three new opponents on the football field this year along with seven Southeastern Conference foes.

The Tigers added Hardin-Simmons, Miami and Mississippi Southern while dropping Chattanooga, Maryland and Wake Forest from the 1958 schedule.

The Tigers open Sept. 26 against Tennessee at Knoxville. Other Games are: Oct. 3, Hardin-Simmons at Auburn; Oct. 10, Kentucky at Auburn; Oct. 17, Georgia Tech at Atlanta; Oct. 23, Miami at Miami, night; Nov. 7, Mississippi State at Birmingham; Nov. 14, Georgia at Athens; Nov. 21, Mississippi Southern at Auburn; Nov. 28, Alabama at Birmingham.

Midland Gets Pilot

MILWAUKEE — (AP) — The Milwaukee Braves announced Saturday night that Jimmy Brown, a former coach for the Braves, has been signed to manage the Midland (Tex.) farm club in the Class D Sophomore League for 1959.

Strams Family Tree Full of Sports

HANK STRAM, U-Miami's new backfield coach, brings more than just fresh football savvy to town. He also has in tow his own Junior Hall of Fame.

"Dale, three, is named after Dale Samuels, one of my favorite quarterbacks at Purdue.

"And we named our one-year-old, Stuart Madison, after two of my best friends — Athletic Directors Stu Holcomb of Northwestern and Matty Bell of Southern Methodist."

If Dale Hall, top candidate to succeed Earl Blaik at Army, decides to take a UM backfield job, there may be some fierce matchmaking 'mongst Halls and Strams. The Halls have three small daughters.

Time Marches Backward

BILL JOHNSTON of Miami Beach Kennel Club celebrates his 25th anniversary as Jacksonville Kennel Club boss in unique fashion next month. He'll have a party for the whole crowd, turning back prices 25 years — 25 cents admission, 15 cents for a program, and a nickel for a hot dog. One price hasn't changed, though. Mutuel tickets still set you back two bucks . . . The late Fred Digby's successor as general manager of New Orleans' Sugar Bowl is all but set. It's John Cox, now athletic publicist at Navy, a crew-cut charmer with the same stomped-down dimensions as Orange Bowl ramrod Ernie Seiler . . . Bernie Butts of Hialeah High has no challengers as No. 1 college basketball prospect in the area. But the most promising "baby" could be Miami High's Dave Austin, a 6-3 sophomore who scales 200 pounds.

What! No Buckeye?

UM'S JUDY ELLER won more than just the National Girls Amateur golf championship last summer. She also set some srort of record for talismans with a lucky penny, a lucky shirt, a lucky golf ball and a lucky Tyrolean hat . . . Northwestern's Ara Parseghian just sighed when they handed him the Comeback of the Year award in Midwestern football. "I hope history doesn't repeat itself," erudite Ara said doubtfully: "Remember who won the award last year — Terry Brennan of Notre Dame!" . . . Calumet Trainer Jimmy Jones must have been as shocked as anyone when his Top Lea won a Hialeah race at a blockbusting $129.90 "Jimmy," sadly reflected wife Peg, "didn't have a nickel bet on Top Lea" . . . Which, in a roundabout sort of way, brings up one of the hardest truths of the turf: The rich people you see at the mutuels windows didn't get that way at the mutuels windows.

Hurt Roller Ace Benched

The Florida Red Devils, leading the California Bombers three games to two, face the Bombers tonight at Miami Stadium without the services of roller derby star, Terri Lynch. Game time is 6:30.

Miss Lynch was injured Thursday night in a pileup on a high bank and had to be carried from the track on a stretcher. She was taken to Jackson Memorial Hospital where X-rays showed no broken bones, but torn and severely bruised muscles in her right shoulder that will keep her out of action for several days.

Shirley Hardman will take over both the No. 1 spots on offense and defense for the Devils.

Stobs Given Top Award

Swimmer Shirley Stobs of the Miami Shores Country Club will be awarded top honors at the Amateur Athletic Union luncheon Sunday Feb. 1 at the Americana Hotel.

Miss Stobs scored eight firsts, four seconds, a third and a fourth to win a berth on the AAU All-America swim team.

FSU Netters In 18 Meets

TALLAHASSEE — (AP) — Florida State University Saturday announced a 1959 tennis schedule that includes seven matches with Southeastern Conference teams and four with Big Ten schools.

Eleven of the Seminoles' 18 matches will be held on home grounds.

The 1959 schedule:

March 14, Louisiana State at Baton Rouge; 17, Georgia at Tallahassee; 19, Miami at Tallahassee; 23, Georgia Tech at Tallahassee; 24, Southern Illinois at Tallahassee; 25, Minnesota at Tallahassee; 26, Florida at Tallahassee; 28, Michigan State at Tallahassee; April 3, Howard at Tallahassee; 4, Florida at Gainesville; 7, Murray State, Ky., at Tallahassee; May 1, Georgia at Athens; 2, Georgia Tech at Atlanta; 7, Stetson at Deland; 8, Rollins at Winter Park; 9, Miami at Coral Gables.

Tarnow's 69-212 Tops Ocala Golf

OCALA — (AP) — Paul Tarnow Jr. of Tampa took over the lead in the Henry N. Camp Invitational Amateur Golf Tournament Saturday. He shot 69, two under par, for a 54-hole total of 212.

Jim Trezevant Jr. of Tampa, who won the tournament in 1953, shot par 71 for a total of 215 and second place going into today's final 18 holes.

'Bunner' Wins Field Dog Event

PINEHURST, N.C. — (AP) — Belloak's Bunner, owned and handled by Richard B. Fox of Orleans, Mass., won the amateur gun dog stake feature of the Southeastern Brittany Club field trial Saturday.

The white and orange make ran a good searching ground race, hunting continuously with little handling. He pointed a feeding convey of 20 quail just before pickup time.

Narleski OK's Tiger Terms

DETROIT — (AP) — The Detroit Tigers Saturday signed Pitcher Ray Narleski, acquired in a trade with Cleveland last fall, to a contract for the 1959 season.

Power in Gus Bell's Bat Depends Upon His Spat

By Herald Services

There aren't any buttons on his shoes, but for Cincinnati Redleg slugger Gus Bell spats are back in style.

For the last two years, Bell's record as a slugger has been going down. When he starts going good, something always happens to his right foot.

He raises his right foot as much as three feet off the mat. That's where the spat comes in.

The spat resembles an ankle supporter with pockets like those on a hunting jacket. The pockets are filled with 10 to 20 pounds of lead weights.

"I believe daily use of the training spat will strengthen my leg muscles weakened by injury and infection last season," says Bell.

WHOOM! — Jet skis may be tried for the first time in actual competition near Innsbruck, Austria, next weekend.

The jet-skis are about 10 to 13 inches longer than a normal downhill ski and considerably heavier. In front of the binding they have a funnel-like air intake through which air is pressured to the sole of the ski. This reduces friction and makes for greater speed.

The jets are produced in Kitzbuehel, Austria.

Girls, Midgets On Mat Show

Shades of Mariutto! Coaches Leave Saussele Off All-Stars

Ted Saussele, Coral Gables fullback, was named the top Miami high school football player, Florida's No. 1 All-Southern player and was mentioned on several high school All-America teams last season.

This is the second year in a row the No. 1 player has been slighted. Last year Miami High lineman Gene Mariutto was omitted.

Ottis Mooney of Miami High and Glen Odham of Sebring, coaches of the South team, will be allowed to select two additional players before the game. There is a good chance that Saussele will be picked.

These Gridders Can Shoot, Too

MORE FOOTBALL players are starring in basketball this season than in the past. Miami High, Edison and Norland in particular lean heavily on football players.

Among other basketball-football stars are Tech's Andy Monteagudo and Don Lunetta, South Dade's Racey Timmons and Cecil Mills, Southwest's Brainard and George Dorris, St. Patrick's Phil Drosdick, John Murray, Charlie Minter and Richie DiMare; Coral Gables' Frank Lasky, Palmetto's Richard Roellig, Miami Beach's Norm Roskin, Jackson's Dan Riviero and Tommy Jackson and Hialeah's Lou Moran and Dick Krtausch.

Signs of Spring Creep In

Go to any of Greater Miami's 15 high schools and you will see hurdlers, pole vaulters, distance runners, dashmen, etc. seriously practicing their specialties.

Southwest is in its third week of football practice and Coach Joe McNulty has a problem — how to recognize the players. McNulty has 11 teams drilling and, in order to keep tabs of the boys, he asked each player to tape his name on his helmet.

And, here's an indication that baseball is not too far away: The South Florida Baseball Officials Association will hold its first meeting of the year Monday night in the Miami High Field house.

* * *

Wide Goal Posts Create Problem

WHEN THE COLLEGES changed their football rules to widen goal posts, they created a special problem for stadiums where high schools share the field with colleges.

For example: How will the Orange Bowl furnish goal posts with a width of 24 feet for colleges and 19 feet, two inches for high schools?

Looks like the City of Miami Recreation Department will have to erect temporary goal posts (that won't be too hard to tear down after a particularly exciting game).

Other Florida cities with the same problem are Jacksonville (Gator Bowl), Tampa (Phillips Field); Orlando (Municipal Stadium), Tallahassee, (Doak Campbell Stadium), and Gainesville (Florida Field).

Richard Weber Leaving Southwest?

SOUTHWEST may lose star athlete Richard Weber, a letterman in football, basketball, track and baseball. His father, a sporting goods salesman, plans to move to Hollywood soon . . . Norland will host Edison's B team Tuesday at 3 p.m. instead of that night. Exams will give students an early 2:15 dismissal time . . . Norland football players were commended by Principal Foster Hunter for their "fine job" in helping maintain discipline in the school cafeteria. The gridders serve a few minutes during their lunch period directing traffic . . . Coach Vince Schaefer must be wondering if he'll ever beat Edison again. His Stings lost to them Friday night for the fifth straight time . . . Pompano Beach, 9-1 in football, has won 10 straight basketball games . . . Daytona Beach Seabreeze is unbeaten after 13 games.

Pompano Top-Seeded In 8-A Cage Meet

Pompano Beach High has been seeded No. 1 in the Class A Group 8 high school basketball tournament which will be played March 4-5-6-7 at McArthur High School gymnasium in Hollywood.

Lou Morelli, McArthur athletic director and director of the tournament, made the announcement of pairings Saturday.

First round games will be played Wednesday and Thursday March 4 and 5; semifinals Friday March 6 and the championship game at 8 p.m. March 7.

'Slow, Sloppy'

Chileans 'Blast' U.S. Five

From Herald Wire Services

Sports Roundup

Chilean newspapers and spectators at the World Amateur Basketball Championships in Santiago have criticized the U. S. team for "slow and sloppy playing."

Although undefeated in three preliminary games and two in the final round robin, the United States has failed to impress. The Chileans expected the United States, where the game was invented, to be represented by a top flight team.

Instead, the Air Force All-Stars have barely slipped by in most of the games.

Chile's largest newspaper, El Mercurio, Saturday reported: "The team that is defending its title of world champion does not rate in quality or individual performance with other representative U.S. teams. Its players play precisely to win, but don't give the impression of confidence or positiveness that is expected of a team in this category."

SLATER MARTIN, St. Louis Hawks star, is a prime target of the University of Texas. The Longhorns want Martin to coach his old school out of the basketball doldrums. Martin says only money talks.

"I can't quit big money to take smaller money," Martin said. "My boss Ben Kerner, president of the Hawks) has been awfully nice to me. I am doing very well here and it would take a lot of persuasion to make me quit pro basketball."

BOASTING SOME of the biggest names in golf of a few years back, the Professional Golfers Association Seniors tournament starts Tuesday at Dunedin.

Such names as Horton Smith, Jimmy Thomson, Jug McSpaden, Dick Metz, Paul Runyan, Toney Penna and Ky Lafoon have been added to a list that already included Gene Sarazen, Al Watrous, Mortie Dutra, Sam Byrd, Joe Turnesa and Tony Manero for the 20th renewal of competition for players who have reached their 50th birthday. Sarazen is defending champion.

QUARTERBACK JOHNNY Unitas, of the Baltimore Colts and Fullback Jim Brown of the Cleveland Browns were honored as top pro players of 1958 Saturday night at the Washington Touchdown Club. Coach Weeb Ewbank of the Colts was named coach of the year. Jackie Jensen, Boston Outfielder and American League's most valuable player last season, received the baseball award. Other awards went to Quarterback Randy Duncan of Iowa, college football player of the year; Ben Martin of the Air Force Academy, college coach of the year; and Louisiana State University, outstanding college football team . . . The University of Florida Saturday announced a 21-game baseball schedule, including 12 home games, for 1959. Nine lettermen return . . . The Preakness Stakes was hiked to $150,000 Saturday. Officials of the Maryland Jockey Club, operators of historic Pimlico where the race is run, expect nominating, entry and starting fees to hike the purse to $180,000 . . . St. Louis Cardinal General Manager Bing Devine said Saturday George Silvey will supervise farm teams from Class AA through Class C and will do more scouting. Walter Shannon will continue as director of minor league personnel and chief scout.

Jet Colonel Zips Home

NEW ORLEANS — (AP) — Jet Colonel flashed his vaunted speed in the stretch Saturday to post a three-length victory in the $12,600 Pelleteri Handicap and wrap up the sprint championship at the Fair Grounds.

The 5-year-old son of Jet Pilot was breezing as he went under the wire in the six furlong feature with a comfortable lead over Liberal Art. Pete's Folly finished third.

North Miami Stuns High-Riding Edison

Edison's Red Raiders, who whipped tough Miami High Friday night, couldn't pull off the same heroics Saturday night and came off on the short end of a 64-63 basketball game with North Miami at Edison's gym.

The teams traded big leads in the battle punctuated by 24 penalties called against Edison. But at the end it was as close as possible.

With four seconds left, Edison's Jim Causey had a one-and-one free throw situation. One successful shot would have tied the game, two would have won it, but bad luck hit Causey at the worse possible time and he missed both.

North Miami's Tom Baxley poured 35 points through the nets for high point honors. Fifteen of Baxley's points came on free throws, reflecting the fact North Miami won the game at the free throw line.

North Miami jumped to a 13-14 lead in the first quarter. The lead was gradually whittled down by Edison until the third quarter. Then the Raiders splurged with 28 points for a 51-40 lead before going down to their sixth defeat against three wins.

North Miami's record now is 3-7.

Hialeah Cagers Nip Palm Beach

Bernie Butts flipped in 30 points and Tony Cocco added 28 as Hialeah's high-flying Thorobreds skimmed past West Palm Beach, 78-73, Saturday night to remain unbeaten in Gold Coast Conference basketball play.

Hialeah now has won six straight loop games in posting an overall 9-1 record.

Butts, held to eight field goals including the jump shot which jerked the Thorobreds out of last quarter danger, hit 14 free throws. Cocco had 12 two-pointers, four free throws.

Palm Beach, behind 48-33 at the half, whittled the margin to 71-69 in the fourth period. But Butts hit a jumper, and Hialeah ripped out to the final margin.

Verle Beebe bucketed 22 points and Tom Olofson added 20 for Palm Beach, losing its second game of the season to Hialeah.

Jerry Wilson hooped 29 points Saturday night to spark Miami High's B-team to an easy 74-42 victory over Palmetto at the losers' gymnasium.

The Baby Stingarees jumped ahead 19-8 at the end of the first period and coasted thereafter. Dave Azzarito was best for Palmetto with 13 points.

Hialeah Due 3 Big Tests This Week

Hialeah's once-beaten Thorobreds face three big tests this week as the high school basketball season reaches the halfway point.

Tuesday night Hialeah visits Central Catholic; Friday night the Thorobreds go to Miami Jackson, and Saturday they host Coral Gables.

Hialeah has the best local record, 9-1, but meets rugged competition in Jackson and Gables. Bernie Butts poured in 38 points in a previous meeting with Gables to pace Hialeah to a 70-50 victory, but Gables has improved lately.

The week's schedule:

TUESDAY
Hialeah at Central Catholic
Miami Beach at Coral Gables
Tech at Jackson
North Miami at F. Lauderdale
Curley at St. Patrick's
Key West at Southwest
Winter Park at Cocoa
Titusville at Oviedo

Women's Golf Meet Growing

HOLLYWOOD — Many new teams have been invited to compete in Hollywood's Women's International golf tournament starting at the Orange Brook Golf course Thursday.

Mary Ann Downey and Marge Lindsay will defend their championship in the best ball event. One of the outstanding challenging teams will be Betty Kerby and Joanne Goodwin, 1956 Doherty winner.

Mrs. George Wilcox of Miami, who played in the past four tourneys with Mrs. Jack Trippe of Miami Shores, has a new partner — Fran Emerson.

Doris Phillips and Dale Fleming; Judy Bell and Barbara McIntire; Carolyn Cudone and Cookie Swift Berger; Marge Burns and Evelyn Glick; Berridge Long and Alice Dye; Bobbie Hartson and Frances Rich; Gerry Adamson and Lanny Cranston; Glenda Freuhan and Shirley Lindsay; Mrs. John Dyson and Roma Neundorff; Tish Preuus and Ginny Ott; Nancy Roth and Pat Tiernan; Paulette Lee and Ellen Gerry.

COMPANIONSHIP

Late at night a man and his wife came to the golf range to practice on the Turf with their IRONS. The companionship demonstrated between themselves while helping each other with each other's golf technique was a pleasure to behold. By the way this has been going on for years at

Outboard Races on Tap Feb. 8

'Big 3' Enter Mid-Winter Regatta

Sandwiched between two other major Grapefruit Circuit events, the seventh annual Miami Mid-Winter Outboard Regatta is likely to lure a record field.

Scheduled Sunday, Feb. 8, over a course off Rickenbacker Causeway, the Mid-Winter follows Lakeland's Orange Cup and precedes St. Petersburgh's Sunshine regattas.

Entries already have come in from outboard's "Big Three" — Bill Tenney, Crystal Bay, Minn.; Lud Wiget, Lakeland, and Ralph Dowling, Cleveland.

Chairman John Baker has scheduled a total of 18 heats, two in each division. Classes are: A, B and D stock hydro; A, B and C racing hydro; C service hydro; C racing runabout, and C service runabout.

IF YOU DOUBT the class of sailors due to compete in the 21st annual Miami-Nassau classic consider this: three men who crewed aboard runnerup Vim in the America's Cup trials will be aboard Jack Brown's Calloon. They are, Buz Mosbacher, Dick Bertram and Jakob Isbrandtsen. Mosbacher, who skippered the 17-year-old Vim in just missing beating out Columbia for the U.S. Cup assignment will be at Calooh's helm . . . Reason Dooley Glander did not defend his Gun Cay Light race title was because he has sold Tavana. So he won't have to "sit on the beach" again next year, he already is working on another boat of the same design but four feet longer . . . George Storer Jr. of Miami Beach is newest owner of a Seminole, a new smallboat design by Glander. "We are going to sail as a class in the Miami Yacht Club's March regatta and also trailer a fleet up to Mt. Dora," Dooley says.

* * *

TAKING the press out to cover the start of the Gun Cay Light race Friday in his Egg Harbor cruiser, Daly Double, didn't prevent Daly Highleyman from keeping up with stock quotations. He simply ship-to-shore phoned the office of his "crew," broker Arliss (Jack) Land to find out how the market closed.

Hollywood $$ Attracts 'Open' King Feldcrest

By JOE BROWN
Herald Greyhound Writer

Feldcrest, American Open Derby champion, is coming to Hollywood Kennel Club for the $10,000 Hollywood Silver Anniversary Stake.

General Manager Thomas M. Lynch III said dogs are being brought here from all over the country for the 3-8 mile event in February. One greyhound — Go Super, Phoenix Derby Champion —will come 2,500 miles to compete.

BROWN

Feldcrest will race for St. Petersburg Kennel Club. Last summer the Orville Moses dog won the $25,000 American Derby at Taunton, Mass., and also set a world record of 30.3 seconds for the 5-16-mile course at Taunton.

With Bud Jack, of Hollywood, and Feldcrest entered in the Silver Anniversary Stake, the event will include two of the highest ranking marathon runners in the nation.

Other new entries include Lou Rock and Texas Yellow Rose, from St. Pete; Affectionate and Petite Reba, which will represent Biscayne Kennel Club.

Entries close today. First round of the stake is scheduled Feb. 10, the semifinals Feb. 13, and the title race for $10,000, Feb. 17.

FLAGLER, about to enter the final week of its 82-night winter racing schedule, continues to gain in both wagering and attendance.

Through 71 racing programs, the mutuel handle is 5.19 per cent ahead of last year's record figure for a comparable period. This meeting's handle is $16,622,372 — $820,666 over last winter's $15,801,706 at this time.

The meeting's attendance of 384,936 compares with 377,175 a year ago — a gain of 7,761 or 2.06 per cent.

Track officials credit the current gains to better weather and economic conditions. Another factor is interest in Flagler's Oct. 30 — Feb. 2 program of 31 stakes.

Two stakes highlight Flagler's final week. Wednesday: The two-heat final round of the $7,500 added Flagler Kennel Medley. Monday week: the Flagler Derby.

★ ★ ★

RACING Secretary Toby Rogers will have 24 greyhounds to pick from for two O. P. Smith Memorial elimination races featuring Miami Beach Kennel Club's stakes program Feb. 5. The Memorial finale will be offered Monday, Feb. 2.

Sixteen dogs will participate in the two Rickard Course eliminations.

Among the dogs are L. M. Baltes' Ransom Lou, Gold Collar Classic winner; Fleet Wing's Canadian Pacific, winner of the Rickard Memorial; Burl Eidson's Parnell Mary, second in the Gold Collar; and George Fulton's Dixie's Son.

Lineup of eligible nominees for the Smith Memorial trials: Remember Mama, Lonely Orchid, Gay Bonus, Naja Hannah, Fay's Fayzie, Blackest Yet, Bettie Bess, Mar Opera, Mar Yak, Sports Shop, Fable Gold, Cactus Hunter, Thou Swell, Trans Silly, Trans Lula, Rio Sancho, Amble, Sultry, Get Happy, and Jarmaine.

Zmuda's 1,629 Paces Bowlers

CHICAGO — (AP) — Edward Zmuda, 32, Detroit, a repair man for an adding machine company, toted up a 1,643 count Saturday to capture first place in the $250,000 Petersen Bowling Classic.

Zmuda, a bachelor, moved 14 pins ahead of the erstwhile leader, William Wagner, South Bend, Ind., who rolled 1,629 on Jan. 18.

BACKSTROKER Bill Ruggie of Ft. Lauderdale and the University of Florida is driving for his second SEC title.

Tomy Lee Headed for Fla.

Owner Fred Turner said the California pride "must be considered a definite starter."

Tomy Lee, English-bred son of Tudor Minstrel, won his first six starts in the West before moving to New York last fall for the Champagne Stakes. It was his first test at a distance of a mile, and he finished a neck behind First Landing, champion two-year-old of the year, with Intentionally three lengths further back in third place. Tomy Lee was disqualified and placed third, however, for carrying Intentionally wide at the top of the stretch.

Present plans are to race Tomy Lee in the Santa Anita Derby, then transfer him to Gulfstream Park. Owner Turner has named the colt for the Fountain of Youth Stakes on March 25, and may use that mile and a sixteenth race as a local prep before the big Derby doings.

Developed by us alone; and so wonderful that manufacturers ask for the formula. A blend of 2 different types of paint, each with unique features, applied simultaneously. The 2 resin films chemically unite into a bonded finish that is more durable and lasting than any other paint job. A combination that is guaranteed tougher, stronger and much more beautiful than any other paint job available anywhere in the United States. The vastly improved adhesion reduces flaking, chipping, and provides outstanding resistance to scratches and abrasions. A bargain at prices several times the amazing, low $10.00 additional charge with any paint job at JOHNNIE & MACK.

Detroit's Gordie Howe Zips Puck Past Chicago's Glenn Hall for TV Viewers

Davis Upset In Dash

WASHINGTON —(AP)—Nick Ellis of Morgan State, who hadn't won a major race beforehand, stunned a packed House at the Evening Star games Saturday night by upsetting Olympic star Glenn Davis in the 600-yard run.

Davis, the great athlete from Ohio State, finished third in his first attempt at the 600 and his first showing on the Eastern indoor track circuit.

Josh Culbreath, a former Morgan Stater, was second. Ellis darted ahead at the start of the last lap and Davis couldn't catch him. Davis was second until he tired abruptly 10 yards from the finish. Ellis, a 21-year-old junior from New Brunswick, N.J., was clocked in 1 minute 13.8 seconds.

Bobby Morrow won the 70 and 80-yard dashes, beating out ex-Morgan Stater Ken Kave in the first and Bob Brown, Penn State soph, in the second.

This was Morrow's indoor track debut and he demonstrated to the crowd of 5,300 that he has tremendous speed on the boards as well as the cinders when he captured the 70.

Morrow, of Abilene Christian College, and timed in 7.2 seconds. That was .2 off the meet record set by Dave Sime of Duke.

Rudolph Cops Dash

WASHINGTON —(AP)— Tennessee A&I runners swept the four top spots Saturday night in the 50 yard dash and led other events in the National Women's Indoor track and field championships.

Wilma Rudolph topped the 50 yard competition in 6.2 seconds, trailed by teammates Martha Hudson, Margaret Mathews and Shirley Crowder.

Tennessee A&I also took top honors in the 440 yard relay, finishing in 52.3 seconds. New York PAL was second, Cleveland Recreation third and Montclair (N.J.) Teachers fourth.

Bill Pierce Cut $2,500

CHICAGO — (AP) — Pitcher Billy Pierce Saturday accepted a salary cut estimated at $2,500 in agreeing to Chicago White Sox terms for 1959.

The 31-year-old southpaw, oldest player in point of service for the Sox, agreed in a telephone talk from his Detroit home with Vice President Chuck Comiskey.

It is believed the new contract calls for $35,000 to $37,500.

Key West Races Set

KEY WEST — The Stock Island Speedway in Key West will be the site of the South Florida Winter Championship stock car races to be held next Sunday.

Racing Director of Miami's Hialeah Speedway, Leon N. Dodd, will handle the promotion of the title races which will include a 50-lap championship event for modifieds and a 25-lapper for South Florida's Class B cars.

Many of those scheduled to compete, in addition to the local Key West drivers, will be boys from Hialeah and Hollywood Speedways.

Iowa Bows

IOWA CITY — (AP) — Northwestern broke a three-game Big Ten basketball losing streak by knocking off Iowa, 99-96, Saturday in a rough contest that had to be decided in overtime. Nick Mantis of Northwestern tied the score at 90-all with a short jump shot nine seconds before the end of regulation play.

Rookie Helps 2-0 Win

Howe-Paced Wings Blank Hawks on TV

DETROIT—(AP)—Rookie Bob Perreault, a pudgy off-season bartender filling in for the injured Terry Sawchuk, joined Gordie Howe in the starring role Saturday and paced the Detroit Red Wings to a 2-0 victory over the Chicago Black Hawks.

The National Hockey League matinee contest was witnessed by 11,423 paying spectators at Olympia Stadium and a national television audience.

The victory was Detroit's second straight — both over the Hawks — following the club's most disastrous slump in years. This was the Red Wings' first home ice victory of 1959 and only the team's third triumph in its last 17 games.

Howe's two-goal performance lifted the 30-year-old veteran over the 20-goal mark for the 10th straight season. Nine times an all-star team selection—six of them on the first unit—Howe now has a good chance to surpass his 33-goal performance of last year.

Perreault, a balding minor league veteran who will celebrate his 28th birthday next Thursday, has tended goal less than a dozen times in the big leagues but he played the part of an all-star Saturday.

He kicked out 24 Chicago shots, eight in each period, and came up with spectacular saves in the late stages when the Black Hawks put on a great rush.

Perreault is on loan to Detroit from Hershey, Pa. of the American League and the Red Wings have won both games since he has been substituting for Sawchuk, out with a shoulder injury.

Anderson 70 Wins 'Seniors'

Paul Anderson won the Senior Golfers' Handicap Championship at Riviera Country Club Saturday by posting a 79-9 — 70.

Anderson had acheived the finals by winning the 60 to 70 year age group division last weekend.

Red Devils Win Again

Florida's Red Devils whipped the California Bombers, 24-19, Saturday night in the Roller Derby at Miami Stadium before a crowd of 1,879. The Red Devils now lead in the series, 4-2.

Emily Kimner paced the Red Devil girls with five points while Chick Chakota notched 13 for the winning boys. Darlene Dunaway and Ralph Valladares were tops for the Bombers with 6 and 4 points, respectively.

Rain delayed the start 20 minutes and made the floor slippery, producing numerous falls and minor skirmishes.

Curley Nips Columbus After Buzzer

Terry Neist sank two free throws after the final gun Saturday night to give Curley High a 37-36 basketball victory over Columbus in the first athletic activity between the two local Catholic schools at the Southwest High gymnasium.

With six seconds to play Dick Politz put the Crusaders in command 37-36 with a lay-up. But Neist was fouled as the final buzzer sounded and came through with his two clutch shots.

Curley won the B-game also, 28-11.

Graham Rolls 'Big'

Mary Lou Graham, Miami's perennial city and state champion, grabbed every lead available Saturday night in the Women's City Bowling Tournament at Coliseum Lanes.

After the next-to-last night of the three-week tournament, Mary Lou's list of "leads" read like this:

1. All-events with 1,750.
2. High game with 639.
3. High scratch with 1,191.
4. High doubles, 1,293, with Ebie Albury as partner.

Alice Swanson moved into second place in all events with 1,682. Cora Harris and Susy Springman grabbed second in doubles with 1,260.

Third place in all events was earned by Dee Harboush's 1,675 Saturday night. And Leah Kepler and Cel Kilbride put together a 1,256 to tie for third in doubles with Rose Sampson and Helen Sicking, who bowled earlier.

The team lead didn't change hands, but Mansene's Spaghetti House moved into third with a 3,049. The leader is still Barry Martin Vitamins with 3,057. Barnett's Inc. is second with 3,053.

Robertson Pops In 38 As Cincy Wins TV Game

CINCINNATI —(AP)— Oscar Robertson pitched in 38 points Saturday afternoon as the fast-breaking University of Cincinnati Bearcats broke open their annual hometown rivalry game with Xavier University in the last half for a 92-66 basketball victory.

The game between the sixth rated Bearcats and Xavier's 1958 NIT champions was nationally televised and drew 11,293 paying customers to the Cincinnati Garden.

Although Robertson turned in another brilliant scoring performance, he had to share honors with Cincinnati's Bob Wiesenhahn, a 6 foot, 4 inch sophomore who turned in a tremendous rebounding job, particularly in the first half. He also contributed 13 points to the Cincinnati cause.

Xavier's Musketeers never were ahead although they managed to pull into a tie three times in the first half. On the last occasion a free throw by Joe Viviano knotted the count at 24-24. Ralph Davis' fielder put the Bearcats back out in front to stay.

They had a 41-30 lead at the half and turned the game into a rout in the final period with Robertson getting 21 of his 38 points, 18 of them of field goals.

Top scorer for the Musketeers was Joe Viviano with 17 points on six field goals and five free throws.

Xavier assigned 5-11 Ducky Castelle to the job of guarding Robertson. He held the Bearcat ace to four field goals in the first half but as usual he and other Museteers began accumulating fouls trying to halt "The Big O."

The result was nine free throws for Robertson in that period and then when the Xavier defense had to loosen up in the last half he had his field day.

Vols Rally

KNOXVILLE — (AP) —Kenny Coulter sparked a rally which broke Tennessee out of a six-point halftime deficit and gave the Vols an 84-71 Southeastern Conference basketball victory over Georgia Tech Saturday night. Tennessee took charge after the intermission and in one stretch poured through nine points while Georgia Tech was held scoreless.

Auburn Wins

COLUMBUS, Ga. — (AP) — The Auburn Tigers won their 24th straight basketball game Saturday night by trouncing Georgia, 81-61, in a Southeastern Conference game.

Only one field goal separated the two teams from the floor, with Auburn collecting 25 of 57 attempts and Georgia 24 of 74. On the free throw line the Tigers cashed in on 31 of 39 attempts while Georgia had 13 of 20.

The Grip

Old rivals, but new as head-coaching antagonists, Perry Moss (left) of Florida State and Bob Woodruff of University of Florida make with the handshake at Tallahassee Quarterback Club Jamboree. Moss is a former University of Miami aide who moved from the Wisconsin staff to the head football job at FSU.

Impossible? Not Here

A mathmatical near-impossibility took place Saturday night at the Hollywood Kennel Club: the dogs finished in exactly the same order in two successive races.

In both the eighth and ninth races, the order of finish by post position was 6-8-1-5-3-7-2-4.

Niblack Named At Gainesville

GAINESVILLE — (AP) — James Niblack, 27-year-old Santa Fe High School football coach, has been named head grid coach and athletic director at Gainesville High School, Principal W. S. Talbot said Saturday.

Niblack, a former University of Florida lineman, replaces Dick Flowers who last week became an assistant coach at Florida State University under Perry Moss.

Pagliaroni, Mallett Optioned by Bosox

Pagliaroni, signed out of high school for a $65,000 bonus, was sent to Vancouver of the Pacific Coast League. Mallett was farmed out to Minneapolis of the American Association.

Skater Wins Trials

GROSSINGER, N.Y. —(AP)— Don McDermott, two-time Olympian from Englewood Cliffs, N.J., Saturday won the 500-meter race of the middle Atlantic sectional Olympic speed skating tryouts in the sparkling time of 43.1 seconds.

Poor Barracuda! Either Hated or Loved

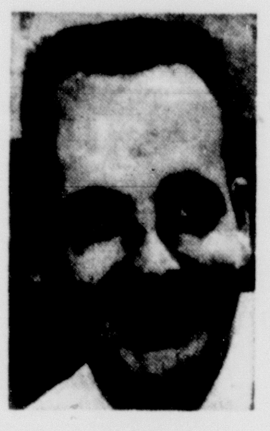
* * *

On Light Tackle, This Baby is Tough to Beat

By VIC DUNAWAY
Herald Fishing Editor

Barracudas strike most fishermen in one of two conflicting ways. At one extreme are the people who fish purposely and diligently for the spike-jawed fish. At the other are those who snub the 'cuda completely, and let loose with a stream of unpleasantries when they hook one.

Comparatively few are the anglers willing to evaluate the barracuda's worth and accept him accordingly: As a fine light tackle gamester, who can add a measure of excitement and fun to any fishing trip, no matter what else your bag may include.



DUNAWAY

Among offshore trolling men, the 'cuda has developed a reputation of lazy fighting — one long run then quick surrender. But in the deep blue he's usually taken on tackle that far outbalances his heft.

Bonefishermen malign him because he clips lines and mangles lures, and because he often nabs a bait from under the nose of a bonefish and comes to boat meekly with scarcely a noticeable wiggle.

There's a reason for this, too. Shallow flats are barracuda nurseries, which means that the average 'cuda caught in such places will be a very scrawny specimen indeed — not more than 12 inches usually.

* * *

Light Tackle Does Job

TO GET the most out of barracudas, keep your tackle "whippy." Inshore, where 'cudas range from five to 10 pounds and seldom exceed 15, an eight-pound spinning outfit will allow you to extract the maximum pleasure from them. Ordinary plug tackle, and the lightest of ocean outfits — service reel, slender rod and small-diameter line — are other acceptable choices.

Out on the reefs, 20 or 30-lb. fish are not infrequently caught. Bigger ones may also hit at any time. Sturdier gear is indicated here, but still no heavy artillery. Try 12 or 20-pound line: of course, with proportionately balanced rods and reels.

Where do you look for barracudas? Most anywhere. They range from the shallowest shoreline cove to far into the Gulfstream. The fish spend the early part of their lives on the flats, moving into deep water as they grow larger. Adult 'cudas, though most abundant around reefs, may, as indicated earlier, roam out to the Gulfstream, or even back into shallower water.

No Dead Bait, Please

WHEREVER your angling operations take you, seek out barracudas where shelter is handy — reefs, rocks, mangrove roots, debris or grass. They lurk around such places, ready to strike like a snake when an unwary fish ventures forth. The bulk of a 'cuda's diet is made up of slow-moving fish which stick close to cover.

Live bait, or a good facsimile, is a must for barracuda fishing. The fish seldom whack a dead chunk of meat.

Strip baits, ballyhoo, or whole dead fish can pay off if they are trolled or drifted to give them some measure of natural motion — not fast necessarily, just moving.

Likewise, productive artificial baits cover the entire range of plugs, jigs and feathers. But the best of all is a silver spoon.

Any discussion of barracuda fishing must necessarily include a warning against eating them. Some specimens very definitely are poisonous. It's a rare thing, but then again, there's no way to tell for sure.

Most scientists agree that the fish accumulate the poison in deep water, and that only the larger ones are afflicted. This would indicate that the small inshore barracudas are safe to eat.

As for me, I can do without. But I sure like to catch 'em.

Boat Show To Accent State Display

Florida's $500,000,000 a year stake in pleasure boating will be emphasized at the Miami International Boat Show Feb. 20-25 with nearly a third of the exhibits representing state interests.

"Statewide participation is the heaviest in the 18-year history of the show," President Harry Santana said. "We'll have 87 Florida exhibitors from 19 different cities and more than 20 of the 70-odd lines of boats to be shown will be Florida-made craft."

Previous high was 79 last year.

"The large display of Florida-made products points up the tremendous growth of marine industries throughout the state as a result of the pleasure boat boom," Santana said.

Cities to be represented in the Miami marine exposition next month include Jacksonville, Tampa, St. Petersburg, Fort Lauderdale, Sarasota, Winter Park, Winter Garden, Jensen Beach, Salerno, Hollywood, Boca Raton.

TY OF MIAMI, P
RLD'S FINEST FISHIN

BIGGER than the fisher-lady and almost as heavy is this 63½-lb. sailfish measuring 8 ft., 2 in. brought in by diminutive Lillian Shutt of Chicago. It's a citation-winner in the Met Tournament and a score for Capt. Howard Hall on the Wecatchum at Pier 5, Miami.

Gar Wood Jr. Sparks 'Met'

Gar Wood Jr., Miami designer of fishing reels, had the catch of the week in The Herald-sponsored Metropolitan Miami Fishing Tournament when he landed an 80-lb. black tip shark on spinning gear and 8-lb line.

His entry was one of 9 new leaders hung on the scoreboard this week. Capt. Cecil Keith Jr., Islamorada, was Wood's guide.

In the general division one new tournament record and a world record were set by Met participants. William Marshall of Coral Gables fished out of Ocean Reef Club, Key Largo to whip a 78-lb. amberjack on 18-lb. line to set a new record with the International Game Fish Assn. in the 20-lb. line class.

James J. Gouse, Swampscott, Mass., continues to hold the lead with his 73½-lb. white marlin taken off Miami Beach. Truman Duncan of Chicago claimed the general division spotlight with his 4-lb., 13-oz. pompano, taken off Toms Harbor Bridge on the Keys.

Plug casters were led by Arnold F. Schmidt of Miami who collected a 7-lb., 10¾-oz. bluefish in Biscayne Bay. He also holds a new tourney record in the spin casting division with an 8-lb., 12¾-oz. blue caught in the same waters.

Comanche, Hoot Mon Seek Lipton 'Repeat'

By LUTHER EVANS
Herald Sports Writer

The 2-3 finishers in Saturday's Gun Cay Light Yacht Race — Comanche and Hoot Mon — will be the only former winners in the starting fleet for Saturday's 26th annual Lipton Cup sailing.

A 28-mile sprint over a triangular course off Miami, the Lipton officially launches the 1959 Southern Ocean Racing Conference circuit.

EVANS

It will be followed, in order, by the Miami-Nassau, Feb. 3; the Governors Cup at Nassau, Feb. 7, and the St. Petersburg - Havana, March 14.

SORC Chairman Lew McMasters announced Saturday Cuba's new government had urged the Havana race be revived. Last year, political turmoil resulted in yachts sailing, instead, from St. Pete to Miami.

Hoot Mon, Sandy Holt's 39-foot yawl, has won this event three times — in 1952, '53 and '55.

Chairman Edwin H. (Ned) Mairs expects at least 25 starters, providing rigging and sails damaged in the Gun Cay Light adventure, can be repaired in time.

Starting time is 10 a.m. Saturday, a mile northeast of Government Cut.

FOR THE FIRST time in 20 years, Commodore R. T. Symonette won't be on hand when the Miami-Nassau fleet arrives in the Bahamian port.

There's good reason. He leaves Feb. 3, the day the race starts, for England to be knighted by Queen Elizabeth in recognition of his role as a leader in civic and political life of the British colony.

From now on, his formal title will be Sir Roland.

Symonette and Commodore Arthur Bosworth of the Miami Yacht Club are responsible for the Miami-Nassau acclaim as one of the world's finest yacht races.

MERCURY-POWERED outboards racked up 15 endurance records to be submitted to the Union of International Motorboating during the recent Orange Bowl Regatta's Nine-Hour Race. Gene Meadors, Orlando, will apply for five records; Jimmy Wynne, Miami, two; Dick Spelman, Miami, two; Ted Moberg, Wauwatosa, Wisc., three, and John Bakos, Covina, Calif., three. . . Tampa Yacht and Country Club has scheduled its annual Gasparilla Sailing Regatta for Sunday, Feb. 8 . . . The National 5-0-5 class, not even represented in local waters, will stage its national championships Feb. 16-17 at Coral Reef Yacht Club . . . On Feb. 20, Yachting Magazine's One-Of-A-Kind championships start with 34 classes on hand.

Scotch Cross $8.80, 3.50, 2.90; Moon Princess $2.70, 2.40; Jubilist (b entry) $3.20.

WINNER SELECTED BY: Ulbig.

OWNERS: 1. R. R. McClarin; 2. Mrs. J. W. Dunham; 3. C. H. Wacker III; 4. Wheatley Stable; 5. Windfields Farm; 6. J. G. Krams; 7. Mrs. H. L. Nathenson; 8. West Wind Farm; 9. Elmendorf; 10. C. M. O'Boyle.

SCOTCH CROSS established a clear lead on the turn and responded to rousing to hold MOON PRINCESS safe. The latter broke in somewhat of a tangle, was slow to respond from the quarter pole but was getting to the winner at the end. JUBILIST bore out on the turn and held on well. HIGH BID failed to reach contention. MERVIELLEUX could not keep pace. STARLET MISS was through early, as was BRIDLEWISE.

TENDER MORSEL, unhurried while following the pace, was eased to the outside on the final turn and responded to strong pressure to gain the victory over NAH HISS. The latter rallied just before, and on the inside of, the winner and fought it out gamely. NEGROTRECE moved boldly to enter the first flight after five furlongs and continued a fine response to the end. PEN HALLOW held a slight lead on the final turn and into the stretch, then weakened slightly. PLAIN BEN, steadied when outrun for command, attained a slight lead briefly and weakened. GRAND MOGUL flattened out badly.

SCRATCHES: None.

SLAIPNER was closest to the pace for much of the race and responded well for a narrow victory. OLYMPIA BLEND moved outside in the stretch run and finished fastest of all. WHITTLEDY CUT showed a clear lead to the furlong pole, held on gamely but was not good enough. MT. OLIVET failed to reach the top ones. DEADEYE DICK closed with a rush. EVER BEST gave way badly. MISS ERLEN could not keep pace. RED CADET flattened out badly.

PETARE attained prominence from the outside early, forged to the front after five furlongs, shook off the challenge of NADIR in early stretch and responded smartly to hold SHARPSBURG safe. The latter, far back early, improved his position from midway of the final turn and continued his fine response to be getting to the winner. NADIR, forced to steady briefly on the first turn and delayed slightly until PETARE made his move late along the backstretch, made a strong bid on the final turn and in early stretch, then faltered. RICCI TAVI lacked the needed rally. AIR PILOT was with the pace for about six furlongs and weakened. KINGMAKER attained the early advantage, failed to draw clear and gave way badly. AMERIGO retired early.

Demaret Pacing 'T-Bird'

PALM SPRINGS, Calif. — (AP) — Flamboyant Jimmy Demaret forged into the lead of the $15,000 Thunderbird Invitational tournament Saturday at the end of the third round.

The fashionable Texan, ruined par 71 of the Thunderbird Country Club with a 64, which gave him a 54-hole score of 199 and a firm two-stroke lead over his nearest rival.

Demaret, who won this tournament in 1953, 1956 and 1957, toured the premises in 33-31—64 for the par 36-35—71 test.

Alone at 201 was young Wesley Ellis Jr. with 34-34—68. Tied at 203 were Ken Venturi, last year's winner, with a 68, and Bo Wininger who matched Demaret's 64 for the round.

Unheralded Jim Ferree of Winston-Salem, N.C., who led the field going into the round, dropped back after two straight 66s to a 72 and a tie at 204 with five other pros.

They were Billy Maxwell, 68; Lloyd Mangrum, with his third straight 68; Jack Burke Jr., 68; Masters Champion Arnold Palmer, 67, and Fred Hawkins, 66.

"This is a good driving course and I usually am a good driver," said Demaret, explaining his triumphs on Thunderbird's 6,800-yard course.

Jimmy drove well Saturday. He had seven birdies, missed only one green and none of his putts measured more than 10 feet. He got into a trap on the 420-yard fifth but banged out 30 inches from the pin and got his par.

Tramples Grass Course Record

Round Table Shoulders 132, Pockets Santa Anita Victory

ARCADIA, Calif — (AP) — Round Table, carrying a staggering 132 pounds, set a new track record Saturday as he romped home by five lengths in the $28,250 San Marcos Handicap over a mile and one quarter on the grass at Santa Anita.

The time of 1:58 2-5 was also a new North American grass course record.

Spotting the field 15 to 26 pounds, racing's all-time money winner led all the way around the rolling course and pulled away at will in the back stretch. Willie Shoemaker was looking back through the stretch as the Table glided to the wire.

Round Table, the heavy favorite, paid $3.10, $2.60 and $2.20; Eddie Schmidt returned $4.90 and $3.20 and Andrew Alan $3.10.

Round Table carried the same weight assigend for next month's $145,000-guaranteed Santa Anita Handicap — also at a mile and one quarter.

Saturday was the first time in Santa Anita's history that a horse had lugged more than 130 pounds into the winner's circle. Discovery and Citation had tried, but failed.

Round Table, too, missed earlier this month when he gave away 17 pounds to Hillsdale and was nipped by a head in the seven furlong San Carlos' Cap.

It was the fifth time in the Table's magnificent career that he has been under two minutes for the mile and one quarter. No other thoroughbred has cracked two minutes for the distance more than twice.

Round Table, flying the Kelly-green silks of Oklahoma oil millionaire Travis M. Kerr, broke quickly from the starting gate as 48,860 fans watched through a smoggy overcast.

The Table held the lead from wire to wire.

Pan Triumphs At Sunshine

OLDSMAR — (AP) — Pan won the featured $2,500 Rocky Point Handicap at Sunshine Park Saturday, beating a fast-closing Guy's Birthday by a length and a quarter. Tyus finished third. The time for the six furlongs was 1.12 2-5.

The six-year-old Pan, ridden by Clarence Roberts, was the betting favorite of the crowd of 4,169. He paid $7.50, $3.90 and $3.00. Easy Me and Eric's Pet combined for a $23.70 daily double.

Sooner Mermen Rout Kansas State

MANHATTAN, Kan. — (AP) — Oklahoma's swimming team set four pool records and took all but one first place in beating Kansas State, 70-16, in a dual meet Saturday. The records were in the 410-yard medley relay, 60-yard free style, 440-yard free style and 200-yard back-stroke.

Arakistain 'Specializes'

Arakistain (his playing name) has competed in 129 doubles matches this season and not one singles contest.

The 205-pound Basque is used in this role because he adapts easily to any front court partner. In the fifth, seventh, 10th and 11th contests Arakistain has placed in the money 58 times, winning 20 games.

CAREAGA and Ignacio have opened up a 10-point lead in the International Doubles race at Dania Jai Alai Palace. The pair have accumulated 19 points.

Laca and Aldecoa are in second position with nine points, two more than Vergara-Echeverria and Ondarra-Piston.

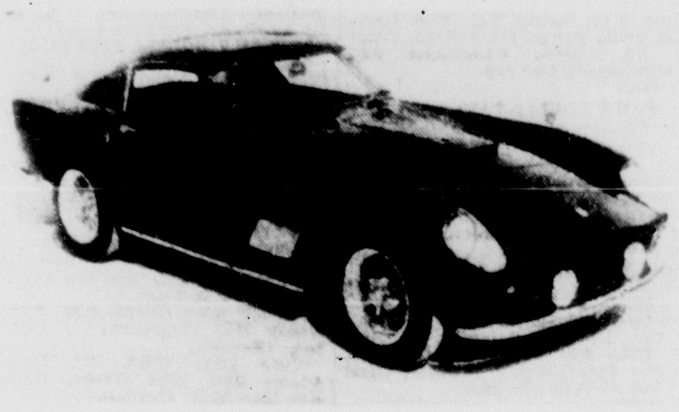
Foreign and Sports Car Show Rolls Into High Gear Today



Shape of Things Has Changed Since '98
. . . Ferrari Berlinetta gets you there, for a price

Anyone who doubts that foreign cars are here to stay need only to amble down to Dinner Key Auditorium today, or any day until a week from Monday.

There on display will be more than 200 foreign and sports cars turned out by 42 manufacturers, underscoring the importance of imported machinery in this country's automotive budget.

The International Foreign and Sports Car Show, first of its kind in Miami, will offer most every type of foreign locomotion.

There will be cars that look a bit like covered motorcycles, good for getting the groceries if you're not a big eater; cars on the space-ship side that corner nicely at 160 miles an hour; and economical, no-nonsense cars that form the core of the foreign car boom.

Visiting hours are from 2 to 11 p.m., except on the final day when the doors close at 7.

The offerings are by no means restricted to gleaming enamel and the heady aroma of expensive leather. In addition to new car smell, visitors can drink in:

1—A fashion show angled along international lines, which starts each evening around 8:30.

3—Dealer displays including replicas of the Tower of London and the Eiffel Tower, designed to get you in a continental frame of mind.

4—A number of automotive conversation pieces, including a car that flies, a safari wagon and a cute piece of machinery designed for trips to and from the beach.

5—A "25-words-or-less" contest which awards each night's winner a new car, foreign of course, plus 100 gallons of gas.

Ten years ago, anybody who filled a hall full of foreign cars and tried to sell tickets at the door would have been quickly surrounded by men with butterfly nets.

Since then increasing numbers of Americans have decided against paying to haul around all that U.S. chrome plate and tail fins.

The people responsible for those ulcers in Detroit apparently like the economy, handling ease and individuality of foreign cars.

What are these people like? According to a survey by the British Motor Corporation, the average Morris economy car owner is 35½ years old, has one other car, a family with two children and earns more than $5,000 per year.

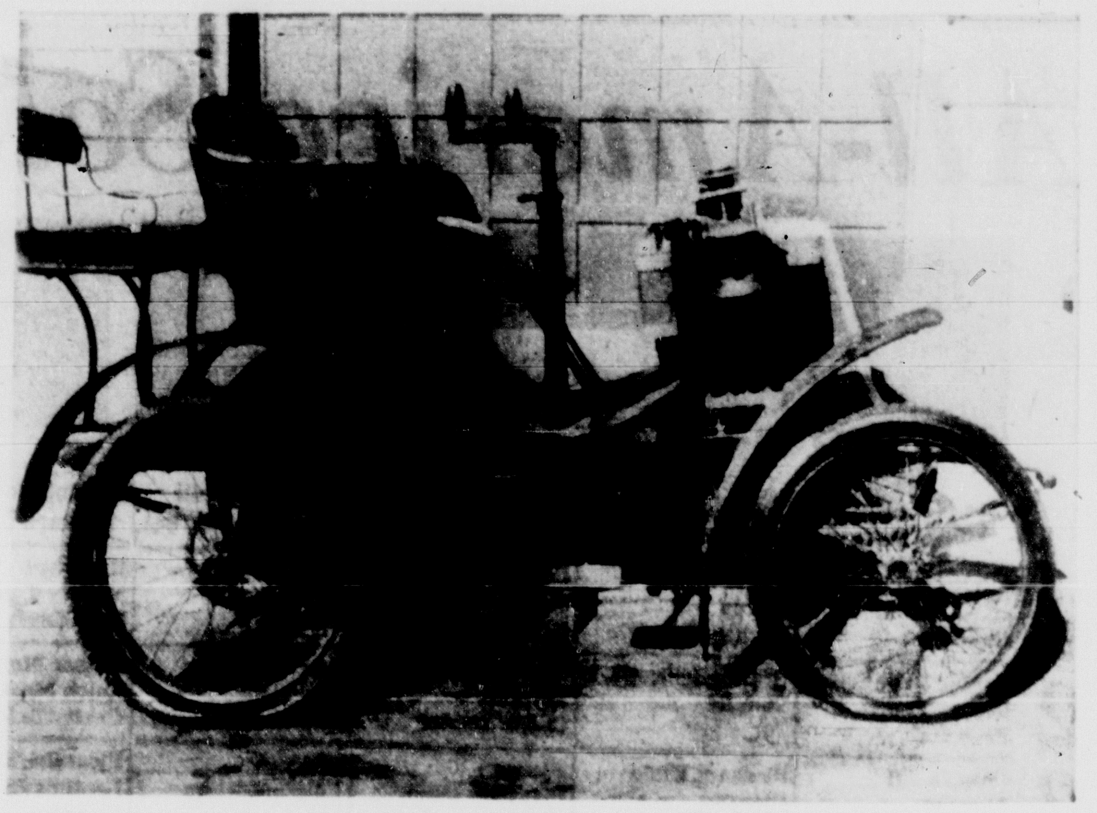
Florida apparently is full of these kind of people. The state ranks behind only California in the number of foreign car registrations.

Dade County mirrors the foreign car sales success story. In 1957, 7.5 per cent of the county's car registrations were foreign, 39.7 per cent were General Motors products and 30.4 per cent were made by Ford.

One year later the foreign car percentage had jumped to 20.3, GM was down to 30.6 and Ford had 21.7.

It isn't tough to see who's making the money these days. So if you get down to Dinner Key you'll probably see some familiar faces.

"No-Down-Payment Jones," who used to sneer at the foreign stuff while hustling domestic chrome, probably will be wearing an Italian tie, English shoes and a big smile for those interested in his new foreign car lines.



1898 Renault Got You There Without Horse, But With Footman
. . . auto show features what believed to be oldest operative auto

Classic Cars to Share Billing

Many otherwise normal individuals seem to get weak-kneed and bleary-eyed in the presence of a reconditioned classic car. To them there's nothing quite so beautiful as the gleaming brass of a proud ancient auto.

The eight-day foreign and sports car show opening today at Dinner Key auditorium will offer ample fare for this devout automotive sect.

The center of interest will be an 1898 French Renault, complete with seat for a footman. This car is believed the oldest operative auto in existence.

Classic cars loaned by Miami's Frankie Watts include a 1909 Stevens Duryea, a 1913 Rolls Royce "Silver Ghost," a 1936 Brewster town car with "cow-catcher" type front bumper and a 1913 former hearse converted into a racing car.

The 1913 Rolls purred through the streets of New York City for 40 years in the service of Mrs. Cornelius Vanderbilt.

The 60-year-old Renault runabout is a bit removed from its era, but great pains have been taken to make it feel as much at home as possible.

The shiny veteran of many a traffic battle will be shown against a replica of Paris, complete with Eiffel Tower, Versailles gardens, statuary and waterfalls.

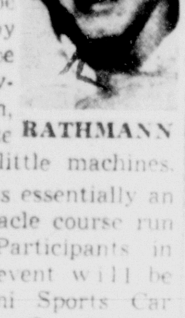
Gymkhana Opens Car Show at 11

A gymkhana featuring more than 100 cars from four South Florida sports car clubs kicks off the foreign and sports car show at 11 a.m. today at Dinner Key Auditorium.



RATHMANN

Another opening day feature will be one-half midget races put on by Miami's Jim Rathmann, winner of the history's fastest auto race at Monza, Italy last summer.

One-half midgets are powered by chain saw motors and will be raced today by small fry race drivers. However, adults can, and do, squeeze into the sleek little machines.

A gymkhana is essentially an automotive obstacle course run against time. Participants in this morning's event will be from the Miami Sports Car Club, the Sports Car Club of Palm Beach, the Key West Sports Car Club and the Tropical Sports Car Club of Fort Lauderdale.

Continuous color movies will be shown of some of the world's great races including the Indianapolis "500," the Sebring 12-hour world championship sports car race, the 500-mile Race of Two Worlds at Monza, the 24-hour LeMans sports car race and the Darlington 500-mile late model stock car race.

On display will be the 3 liter Ferrari sports car in which Phil Hill and Oliver Gendebien won last year's LeMans race.

The car was reconditioned by the factory and sold to Pedro Rodriguez Sr. of Mexico City. Eighteen-year-old Pedro Jr. drove the car to a surprising second in December's 250-mile feature event in Nassau Speed Week.

A new Ferrari Berlinetta will be in the show. Although billed as a town car, this is actually a racing car with an enclosed body.

An earlier model Berlinetta finished fourth in last year's Sebring race, an exceptional performance in an event usually dominated by open, full-race sports cars.

English Fords Pace New Cars

English Ford's led new foreign car registrations in Dade County in October, 1958. The 237 Fords were followed by 71 Volkswagens, 65 Renaults, 45 Fiats and 39 MG's.

Then came Borgward with 28, Hillman, 25; Triumph, 21; Lloyd, 20; Austin and Peugeot, 19; Vauxhall, 14; Morris, Opel and Volvo, 13.

New in America!

New Taunus 17 M 2-door family sedan. Up to 35-miles-to-the-gallon economy. Room for five!

'59 TAUNUS 17m German-made! It's from Ford!

Compact size is the big surprise, economy the big idea and luxury the handsome bonus in this newly arrived precision-built Taunus 17 M. Two and a half feet shorter than conventional cars, a near foot less in width, the Taunus is a wise and welcome "in between" that lets you slip between traffic, park with the greatest of ease, carry all the family (and their belongings) with up to 35-miles-to-the-gallon economy!

German ingenuity is everywhere in the Taunus 17-M. You'll see it in the totally unique suspension system: self-adjusting rear springs, giant front springs combined with telescopic shock absorbers for a truly "even keel" ride. You'll feel it in the surpassing, overtaking urge of the German-made short stroke engine. Four cylinders, 67 h.p., it delivers the highest torque in its class! And once inside you'll discover it over and over in the fine imaginative details of German craftsmanship. Door latches, for example, are safely imbedded in the arm rest. Foam rubber seats adjust for both leg and back comfort. Even the electric clock, like everything about this car, is made with German precision.

Four ways to "go"! Standard U.S.-type 3-speed transmission with nothing new to learn. Or the option of Germany's famous Saxomat "no pedal" clutching. Or Overdrive! And even a 4-speed transmission for sport car devotees. The widest choice in any imported car.

Six models to choose from! The Taunus Combi Station Wagon and 2- and 4-door Family Sedans, Standard and DeLuxe, are just now previewing at dealers near you. Price? Less than you'd think for an imported luxury car. Lots less!

Made in West Germany for Ford Motor Company, Dearborn, Michigan, and sold and serviced in the United States by its selected dealers.

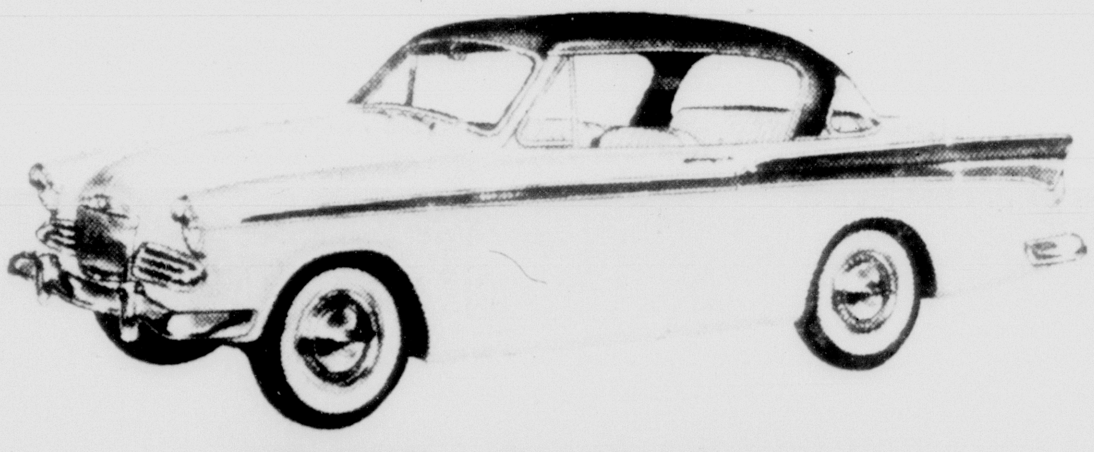
Experts rate the 1959 HILLMAN best!
POPULAR SCIENCE: "In the opinion of the writer, the Hillman—at the price—probably is the best buy among the more popular cars selling under $2000." MOTOR TREND: "Excellent choice as a small car for the one-car family. More power, sturdier engine . . . cruises easily at highway speeds. Even six-footers can find leg room to ride comfortably. Service and parts readily available." Five models—4-door sedans, convertible, 2- and 4-door station wagons—from $1639 p.o.e.



Rally Champion 1959 SUNBEAM
MOTOR TREND predicted: "The Rapier is an excellent road machine, and with its big-hearted engine, floor shift, improved steering and rugged brakes, it will have European rallyists talking to themselves!" And here are Sunbeam's latest achievements: Winner of R.A.C. British International Rally! 1st and 2nd in its class in Circuit of Ireland Rally! First British car across the line in Monte Carlo Rally! Manufacturers' Team Championship in International Tulip Rally! 1st, 2nd, 4th and 5th in its class in the 2600-mile Alpine Rally—Europe's toughest! Sunbeam Coupe de Sport, $2499 p.o.e.; 3-position convertible, $2649 p.o.e.

Test-drive both of these performance champions at your Hillman/Sunbeam dealer's!

An engine that has been run at full throttle for 7 hours before installation, acoustical mufflers that tune out sound frequencies, shock-absorbers that you can adjust from the driver's seat—these and a thousand other engineering refinements add up to a precision instrument that cruises gracefully at 90 m.p.h., costs $13,995, and never becomes obsolete.

What makes Rolls-Royce the best car in the world? "There is really no magic about it—it is merely patient attention to detail," says an eminent Rolls-Royce engineer.

The brain-box, which selects the gears, is first bored to an accuracy of 1/4000th of an inch, which is normal at Rolls-Royce. It is then blasted by particles of ground coconut shell, under air pressure. The resulting mirror-smooth surface is then fine-bored with ground oat-husks.

How they test your car

Have you ever bought a new car that turned out to be a lemon? When this happens it is generally due to the manufacturer's failure to test the car sufficiently.

For example, every engine is run for eight hours on a test bed—thirty minutes idling, thirty minutes at normal revolutions, and seven hours at full throttle.

On removal from the test bed, one engine in twenty is stripped down to the last bolt. It is then laid out on a table and examined with microscopes.

Ninety-eight ordeals

Your finished Rolls-Royce spends at least a week in the final test-shop being fine-tuned. Here it is subjected to ninety-eight separate ordeals.

If, for example, the gears on the rear axle are audible through a stethoscope, the entire rear axle is removed.

The finished car is test-driven over hundreds of miles of winding English roads, before delivery to you.

Fourteen coats of paint

The coachwork is given five coats of primer paint, and hand rubbed between each coat, before nine coats of color paint are applied and hand finished.

The radiator shells are made entirely by hand—in burnished stainless steel. Not a single surface on the radiator is flat. Its surfaces are bowed to an infinitely slight degree, on the same theory whereby the ancient Greeks made the outer edges of their temple columns slightly convex. In this way the design, viewed as a whole, appears geometrically correct.

This radiator has never changed, except that when Sir Henry Royce died in 1933, the famous monogram RR was changed from red to black.

Seats in the House of Commons

In upholstering the seats, Rolls-Royce uses the same English leather used on the seats in the House of Commons.

Eight full hides—enough to make 128 pairs of shoes—are selected from thirty or more to obtain perfect matching for color, texture, thickness and grain.

Once the hides have been selected for your car, a label containing your serial number is attached to each. The complete process of stitching, filling and covering the seats, squabs and door panels is then handled by one team of craftsmen.

What's a Rolls-Royce like to drive?

First and foremost, Rolls-Royce is the most controllable of cars. You can cruise at very high speeds with a feeling of sublime safety.

The power-assisted steering is responsive and exact —"the best in any car," reports ROAD & TRACK. You can really feel the road.

The power-assisted brakes are steady—you can apply them with full force at 100 m.p.h. and the car pulls up squarely, without any tendency to fade, or pull to one side. Only a very light pedal pressure (less than on domestic cars), is needed.

There are three independent systems of brakes on a Rolls-Royce—two hydraulic systems, and a mechanical system to the rear wheels, as well as mechanical hand braking. For absolute safety, the hydraulic brake systems are designed so that damage to one will not affect the other.

"If it had no other great qualities, the brakes of the Rolls-Royce would set it apart from cars of comparable size and performance built in any other country today," writes the Motoring Correspondent of THE OBSERVER. "A light pressure brings the powerful gearbox-driven servo into action and speed is simply dissolved away, silently and without a tremor."

You can drive long distances with amazing lack of fatigue. This is the result of many factors. Sensitive steering and smooth brakes. Good springing—not too soft, so you never get seasick. By moving a switch on the steering column, you can adjust the shock absorbers to suit road conditions.

Another switch defrosts the rear window by heating an invisible network of 1360 steel wires in the glass. There are two separate ventilating systems, so that you can ride in comfort with all the windows closed.

The loudest noise comes from the electric clock

There is no soundproof padding in a Rolls-Royce. The silence comes from mechanical perfection. Three mufflers tune out sound frequencies—acoustically.

The silence in a Rolls-Royce is uncanny. "At 60 miles an hour the loudest noise comes from the electric clock," reports the Technical Editor of THE MOTOR.

The car weighs 4780 pounds. But it is delicately maneuverable, and its great reserves of power are instantly available in an emergency. Acceleration is lively—a smooth, silent, inexorable surge that takes you from 0 to 60 m.p.h. in 11.6 seconds.

You don't need a chauffeur

This new Rolls-Royce is designed as an owner-driven car. It is eighteen inches shorter than the largest domestic cars. It is easier to park.

There is an element of simplicity about the appearance of the car which, says AUTOSPORT, "makes almost any other car seem cheap and tawdry by comparison."

For example, the instruments on the dashboard. Instead of looking like a jukebox, they are austere white on black, with legible calibrations. And they are accurate. One instrument even tells you the level of oil in the crankcase.

There is a picnic table veneered in French walnut that slides out from under the dash. Two more swing out behind the front seats. The backrests on the front seats are individually adjustable.

There is a light for map reading under the dashboard, and individual lights beside each back seat, so that the occupants can read without disturbing the driver. There is a warning light on the dashboard which starts flashing when your gas tank gets down to its last three gallons.

You can lubricate the entire chassis while the car is in motion, by simply depressing a pedal from the driver's seat.

The luggage compartment holds two two-suiter suitcases, three medium-size suitcases and two overnight bags—enough for a party of four on a drive from coast to coast.

You can also get an Espresso coffee-making machine, a dictating machine, a bed, hot and cold water for washing, an electric razor, and a telephone.

Vettura di Signor Churchill?

The psychological overtones of a Rolls-Royce are not to be denied. Drive one and you are monarch of all you survey. Nobody can trump you. Nobody can compete with you.

Reports Gordon Wilkins in THE OBSERVER: "The unfeigned awe and admiration which the car excites everywhere is gratifying and sometimes moving. In Milan an old workman in faded blue overalls inspected my car with shining eyes, then removed his cap and said, 'Scusi, Signore. E la vettura di Signor Churchill?' "

And there is, above all, a profound satisfaction in handling such an exquisite piece of machinery. Every other car on the road acknowledges your sovereignty. Your symbol outsymbols everybody else's symbol.

What about service?

Some people hesitate to buy a Rolls-Royce because they have misgivings about service. Rolls-Royce service is a good deal better than the service on most ordinary cars.

There is now a coast-to-coast network of dealers and parts-depots. Rolls-Royce headquarters in New York will fly spare parts to any point in the United States.

A man we know reports that a buzzard flew through his windshield in Texas recently—at 80 miles an hour. His Texas dealer had a new windshield flown in. He was back on the road next day.

The Rolls-Royce people retain a fatherly interest in every car they make.

They bring out a new model very rarely indeed. However, they make continuous engineering improvements, and these improvements are introduced as soon as they have been perfected, without waiting for a new model. Sometimes the improvements are introduced retroactively. This means that the new part is sent to all dealers and installed in your car without charge to you.

How expensive is a Rolls-Royce?

The price of a new Rolls-Royce is $13,995. Before you decide that this is more than you can afford to invest, consider the following arithmetic:

1. You can pay by installments over one, two or three years. We have heard of a bank in Chicago which allows you to spread payments over six years. And an increasing number of corporations are buying Rolls-Royce cars for their senior executives.
2. Annual depreciation is low and you will keep your Rolls-Royce for a long time—the average is eleven years.
3. A Rolls-Royce never becomes obsolete. You are assured of a continuity of styling that protects your investment. The styling of the Rolls-Royce, year after year, is always clean, graceful and functional—never outlandish.
4. Most new cars are guaranteed for 90 days only. Every Rolls-Royce engine and chassis is fully guaranteed for three years. This is important.
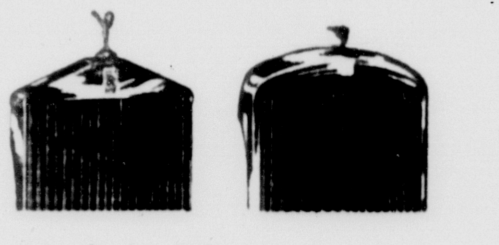
5. Most cars of today cost five or six times as much as they did twenty years ago. The new Rolls-Royce Silver Cloud costs the same as the Phantom III of twenty years ago. In terms of real dollars, the Rolls-Royce is an even better value than it used to be.



What's the difference between Rolls-Royce and Bentley?

The Bentley is made by Rolls-Royce. Except for the radiators, they are identical motor cars, manufactured by the same engineers in the same works.

The Editor of THE AUTOCAR has this to say about the Bentley: "The latest Bentley model offers a degree of safety, comfort and performance that is beyond the experience and perhaps even the imagination of the majority of the world's motorists."

Hill Heads American List

U.S. Drivers to Fill Gap Left by Foreign Greats

Musso

Castellotti

The center of power in the deadly world of road course racing, nudged by death from Italy to England, has been shoved again, this time toward the United States.

Not since Jimmy Murphy won the French Grand Prix in 1923 has there been an American victory in one of those 10 or 12 Grands Prix which decide the world auto racing championship. But it is apparent that U.S. drivers soon will dominate.

The lineup of American Grand Prix drivers now rivals the depleted British roster. The U.S. group is headed by California's Phil Hill and includes Texan Carroll Shelby, Masten Gregory of Kansas City and Troy Ruttman of California.

For years Italian cars and drivers dominated racing. In the late 1930's the invincible German cars of Mercedes-Benz and Auto-Union held sway. And again in the early 50's Mercedes-Benz swept the board.

But Italy was the spiritual center of the sport. Then, following World War II, death cut down the great Italians.

Tazio Nuvolari's lungs were eaten away by gas fumes. Alberto Ascari died a superstitious death mirroring almost exactly the crash of his father. Eugenio Castellotti missed a simple downshift and hit a wall. Last summer the last of the great Italians, Lugi Musso, crashed in the French Grand Prix at Rheims.

Juan Manuel Fangio, of Italian descent and an Argentine by birth, was perhaps the greatest driver of all time. His mastery was unparalleled—for five years until his retirement last summer.

Peter Collins died of head injuries in the German Grand Prix. Archie Scott-Brown, the stunted, one-armed marvel, was burned to death at Spa, Belgium. Stuart Lewis-Evans died of similar injuries. Thursday marked the death of Mike Hawthorn.

Jean Behra, the highly capable and increasingly cautious French champion, is left. So is Count von Trips, the steady German slowed by a bad crash at Monza.

But there is an unprecedented gap in the ranks of the world's great drivers. It appears Americans will fill it.

—STEVE McNAMARA

Selling Points

Economy, Durability Aren't 'New'

Two of the big selling points of foreign cars, economy and durability, weren't invented for the American market.

And in contrast to the American practice of getting a new car every three or four years, Europeans often buy a car to last a generation.

Since the buyer often expects his car to last 25 years, a manufacturer wouldn't last long in business if his cars started coming apart after five years.

Gas mileage figures vary enormously, of course. Some of the "bubble" cars boast more than 50 miles per gallon while the more expensive sports cars will get you only 15 miles on a gallon.

But in the main, foreign cars get close to 30 miles per gallon.

If driven with a light foot, good gas and at a steady speed, most of the imports will do better than their advertised mileage. Stoplight drag races and constant town driving will drop the figures considerably.

Servicing No Problem

Spare parts and repair facilities are no longer a problem in the U.S. for many foreign cars.

The large volume manufacturers have a network of distributors, dealers and service centers from coast to coast.

Many manufacturers, notably Volkswagen, will award a dealership only on the condition that a large stock of spare parts is bought.

7 Nations in Show

The cars in the foreign and sports car show at Dinner Key Auditorium are products of seven countries: England, France, Italy, Germany, Sweden, Czechoslovakia and Japan.

Bankers, Too, Going 'Foreign'

Five years ago some banks were hesitant about accepting foreign car financing. Today the situation has been reversed.

Banks have found foreign car paper is excellent business. Repossessions are fewer and imported car buyers generally have better than average credit ratings.

In addition, the depreciation rate is slower on imported cars and their resale value is higher. Indeed some brands have brought more on a used car car lot than their listed new car price.

The good financial news is restricted, however, to the well-established brands.

Some of the cars that look like toys are considered just that by bankers. And you'd be hard pressed to find a banker willing to finance an electric train or a slide set.

So just because that cute little "Widget Six" is foreign, don't assume your banker will leap at the chance to lend you the purchase cost.

Moss-Briggs Cunningham Sebring Deal in Works

Stirling Moss
. . . last great one

By STEVE McNAMARA
Herald Sports Writer

Stirling Moss, last of the post World War II era's great road racing drivers, may drive for American Briggs Cunningham in this year's Sebring 12-hour world championship sports car race.

The Herald learned Saturday that Cunningham is negotiating with Moss to drive a new Lister Jaguar Streamliner in the March 21 event, the United States' only sports car race of international significance.

Cunningham is the Palm Beach and Green Farm, Conn. sportsman who has built his own sports cars, campaigned Jaguars throughout the world and most recently is famous for skippering the victorious Columbia in the America's Cup yacht race last summer.

With the road circuit drivers' list depleted by death, Britain's Moss stands head and shoulders above the other drivers who will be active this season.

The Herald learned Moss has tentatively approved Cunningham's financial offer and is waiting only to confer with his manager upon returning from Australia today.

Since the new E type Jaguars almost certainly will not be ready in time for Sebring, Cunningham will enter the new Lister Streamliner plus the two Lister Jaguars he campaigned last year.

Two of the other drivers on Cunningham's Sebring team will be Eddie Crawford of Northfield, Ill. and Walt Hansgen of Westview, New Jersey.

This year Cunningham probably will have new 3 liter engines for all his cars.

* * *

They probably will either team up in Casner's 3 liter Ferrari or split up and find co-drivers for the 3-liter machine plus a 2-liter Ferrari recently bought by Hunt.

Also, they plan to co-drive the 3 liter car in this summer's 24-hour race at LeMans.

Flying Car Tops Show 'Weirdies'

Three of the cars in the foreign and sports car show at Dinner Key Auditorium will never do much in the way of volume sales.

A car that flies, one that's dandy for safaris and another that's all the rage on the Riviera probably won't find their way into many Florida garages.

When operated as a car, it has a top speed of 67 miles per hour and gets 15 miles to the gallon.

Five minutes later it's an airplane approved by the Federal Aeronautics Administration with a cruising range of 300 miles and a top speed of 110 mph.

The British safari car called the "Gypsy," looks something like a complicated jeep. It uses either diesel fuel or gasoline, has solid rubber suspension and comes equipped with 33 accessores including a water pump and a posthole digger.

The rage of the Riviera is called a "Jolly." Turned out in Italy, it's a tiny open car with wicker seats and without doors.

First Showing For Eight Cars

Eight of the foreign cars in the show at Dinner Key Auditorium will be making their debut in this country.

They are new models of the Singer, Turner Sports, Gypsy safari car, Vespa, Moretti, Alfa-Romeo and German-made Prinz.

Chicago-Bound Coach Leaped From Tracks When It Hit Car
. . . convalescent sailors worked to free injured buddies

Sailors' Leave Switches To Nightmare Train Wreck

HIGHLAND PARK, Ill. —(AP) — A weekend leave for a group of convalescent sailor patients turned into a nightmare Saturday. Their Chicago-bound electric train hit a car at a crossing and the lead coach uncoupled and leaped from the tracks, knocking down a high tension wire tower before flipping over on its side.

The driver of the car, John Picchietti, 59, of Highland Park, was killed, and 28 train passengers, including 17 sailors, were injured, none critically.

Police said several convalescent sailors from nearby Great Lakes, one hobbling around with a cast on his broken leg, worked heroically to help free their injured buddies from the overturned coach.

The train, a four-car Chicago, North Shore and Milwaukee Railroad electric interurban was en route to Chicago from Waukegan. Several hundred sailors boarded the train at Great Lakes, including about a dozen who were released from the Great Lakes Hospital on weekend or overnight passes. The 17 injured sailors were given first aid treatment in Highland Park Hospital and removed to the Great Lakes Hospital.

BERNING

ADDE

No Metro Commissioner will admit he is part of the masterminding, but several confide that "others" are lining up a "parlay" involving County Manager O. W. Campbell and Port Authority Director George McSherry.

The object: to oust the $35,000-a-year manager from California and the $30,000 airport chief from New York in one across-the-board sweep.

Commission members who are the strongest McSherry men, notably Johnny McLeod, are hot for putting Campbell in the soup. The anti-McSherry force, led by Bob Haverfield, is at least tolerably pleased with the manager.

After the new terminal is fully completed, operational, and stacking up profits from concession deals, McSherry will be expendable—from a political point of view. McSherry's own supporters may offer to put their man on the block in return for votes against Campbell.

The deal would hinge absolutely on selection of successors to the county's two top-paid officials. At least six commissioners, preferably more, would have to agree on the new appointees.

And the way the Metro board has splintered lately, McSherry and Campbell could be safe for the next 40 years.

* * *

WHO SAYS civilization isn't advancing? Those heavy, bronze-barred fences and gates were put in the then-new courthouse lobby 32 years ago to protect official records from rioting mobs. In the current modernization, the bars are being ripped out. Even the massive stone columns are being slimmed and rounded.

* * *

SEVERAL COMMISSIONERS insisted on making nomination speeches, in the "I give you a man who . . ." style of national political conventions, when they selected the Planning Advisory Board last Wednesday night.

Faris Cowart was giving them a man who was several kinds of outstanding church leader. Before Cowart got to the name of his nominee, Chevy Dealer Anthony Abraham, McLeod stopped him with this question: "Who are you nominating, Faris—Pope John?"

* * *

COMMISSIONER Alex Gordon will take along three "experts" in property assessing when he questions Campbell at 2 p.m. Monday on Dade Assessor John Gautier's charges that the manager is upsetting his operation.

McLeod wants a copy of every request for action sent to Campbell by a Metro department head. The Commissioner claims the manager is moving too slowly, or not at all, on worthwhile suggestions, such as a county-owned parking garage near Jackson Memorial hospital.

Commissioner Art Patten agrees with McLeod. He said, "I had to stick my toe in a lawnmower and wind up in the hospital to find out that Dr. Kermit Gates (Dade health chief) feels we urgently need new 250-bed hospitals in the north and south ends of the county."

SHORT NOTES: Commissioner Chuck Hall raised the question: Can a member of the Planning Advisory Board do work for the county through his private firm? To the relief of half the commissioners, whose nominees contract for county business, County Attorney Darrey A. Davis replied "yes" . . . The appointment of Leland Featherstone gives the Civil Court of Record five active jurists. Retiring Judge David J. Heffernan will remain on call until his term runs out in January, 1962 . . . A proposed courthouse post office branch, manned by Metro employes, would cost the county $1,000 a month to operate . . . Commissioner Bob Haverfield nearly fell off his chair when Abe Aronovitz bid on one of the county's surplus air-conditioned autos. To his relief he learned the bidder was a Miami Beach man with the same name, not his law partner, the former Miami mayor.

* * *

WISECRACKING Circuit Judge Marshall C. Wiseheart had the sharpest comment on City Attorney William Pallot's claim for permanent disability attributed to a fall from the office swivel chair.

"At least they didn't kick him out of it," he told Olavi Hendrickson, who was ousted by a city commission majority.

Hendrickson, upheld by circuit and supreme courts, told Judge Wiseheart he thought the chair was "weakened" by his immediate successor, portly George S. Okell, who preceded Pallot as city attorney.

Students to Vie For $50 Bonds

3 Miamians Found Dead In Wreckage

The bodies of three Miamians and a Venezuelan, killed in a plane crash near Maracaibo, Venezuela, were found Saturday by a search party.

Located near the wreckage of a Lebca International Corp. Airlines plane on a 13,000-foot mountain were the bodies of H. R. Jack Perez, 43, president of the airline, who lived at 11425 SW 88th Ave.; Alfredo Abate, 21, of 142 W. 17th St., Hialeah; and a Miami cattle tender, Elizio Fernandez; and Nelson Unda, Venezuelan passenger.

Perez, described by Miami friends and relatives as an expert pilot, delivered a load of cattle in Merida Thursday and then took off for Maracaibo. The plane crashed 15 minutes later in the rugged Sierra La Culata mountains 18 miles away.

Perez started the airline here 10 years ago. He is survived by his wife, Lee; four children, Jackie, Jimmy, Jeffrey and Jill; two brothers, Mario and Sergio; and a sister, Mrs. Nina Valdez, all of Miami.

Abate, co-pilot of the plane, was single, friends here said, and is survived by his mother, who lives in Venezuela.

At Banquet

Herald Man To Address UM Class

Don Shoemaker, editorial page editor of The Miami Herald, will address members of the arts and sciences graduating class at the University of Miami next Sunday.

His topic will be "Objective Man."

The occasion will be a 6:30 p.m. banquet at the Student Union sponsored by Delta Theta Mu, scholastic honorary. Awards to outstanding seniors will be made by Dean E. Morton Miller.

SALARY PLUS COMMISSION

YOU can learn the most profitable type of selling at Miami's leading dealer, selling both used cars and new cars. Our salary plan pays you $50 per week plus commission, plus demonstrator, group insurance, vacation and prizes. You will be working with the best trained sales staff in Miami where the men make from $500 to $1,000 per month. Our records prove that we sell more used cars and NEW ENGLISH FORDS (America's largeest dealer) each and every month than any other dealer in South Florida.
THE MAN we want is under 40, married, with children and a solid selling record of big ticket items to the consumer. He must be able to present, demonstrate, and close without tricks or misrepresentation. If you have a record of leadership in sales, you can start making big money right now. See us for an application and interview.

VAN MOVERS NEEDED!

Are you interested in earning an average of $1,000 per month? That's the experience of many successful van operators driving for Aero Mayflower Transit Company, Inc., under 48-state contract. George Robinson says he nets over $1,000 per month, has paid for two tractors, owns new car, complete new household furniture, and has built substantial bank account since joining Mayflower's contract/fleet in 1953. We are expanding Mayflower's service, need additional van operators 23 years or older to go into business for themselves with Mayflower. We furnish company paid training if needed, at no cost. All you need is desire to become independent businessman and a 1955 or newer model tractor titled in your name that meets Interstate Commerce Commission safety requirements. Personal references needed. Write John Davis, P.O. Box 107, Indianapolis 6, Indiana.

FRONT desk clerk must have good transcript experience. Apply in person only, mornings 10 to 12. Travelers Hotel, 4767 N.W. 36th St. Miami Springs.

Yours for $5,000 investment
SOMEWHERE in the Miami area there is an experienced gas station operator who is not afraid of work and who would like to make a change. He would like to operate for himself a business which he knows and understands. He has been careful with his money - has saved a few thousand dollars — but realizes that he cannot, on his limited savings, buy land, construct building — install equipment, buy inventory.

For such a man, we have an unusual opportunity. He uses his money solely for the purpose of buying his own inventory. Except gasoline. Our deal is unusual in that we supply the gas and pay the operator for pumping it. We charge no rent and we pay all electricity and water bills. Applicants will be carefully checked. If you think you can qualify, phone MO 5-1824 or MO 5-1866 any morning from 8 to 10 A.M.

INVESTMENT OPPORTUNITY
In Dade County
PER ACRE
EVERY investor should own some of this property with a bright future soundly based on the growth of Greater Miami. Located north of the Tamiami Trail (U.S. 41). Excellent average elevation 8 Ft. Less than 20% of Dade County enjoys such high elevation. Miami Beach has an elevation of 5 Ft.
BANKERS, Hotel owners, Attorneys and Businessmen are among those who have purchased some of this property through us. These men recognize a wise investment. Land of this elevation in Dade County at such a low price presents an outstanding opportunity for enhancement.
$750 ALL cash for 10 acres. 29% down for larger parcels. We can't sell this land for a few dollars down and a dollar a week—if we did, we'd have to raise the price greatly. We'll pass the savings on to you.
NO ROADS or utilities as yet. The wise investor purchases undeveloped land at a low price, and profits manyfold later. Only a limited quantity is available at this price, and this offering is subject to prior sale.
TITLE insurance and oil and mineral rights, of course.

HERE'S more: 4 big bedrooms, deep roomy sliding door wardrobe closets, 2 large linen closets, 2 sparkling tile baths with colored fixtures to match. Lush tropical landscaping with fruit and shade trees, beautiful rose hedge around front of house with completely fenced — in rear yard plus well and pump in for inexpensive watering. Close to scoool and just walk to the corner for the bus.

BEST of all: only $400 down—$13,300 total — one mortgage payable $76.68 monthly pays principal, interest and FHA insurance. There is NO SECOND MORTGAGE It's the best buy you have ever seen. There's only one like this so don't be late! Here's the address again.

GOOD BYE NEIGHBOR
WE ARE so sorry to see you leave. It's hard to realize that it was 5 years ago that you moved into your brand new home — honestly, it looks just as new today, but of course the improvements are there. When you added the sprinkler system, well and pump, planted the shade trees on the 90'x100' lot we knew that you would keep the most meticulous lawn on the block, and of course the heat keeps it warm as toast on days like last Sun. but in the summer when I visited with you the air-conditioning was wonderful. We all think the arrangement of your 3 bedroom, 2 bath home is one of the most novel and practical that we have seen. I certainly appreciate a nice listing such as yours as we so seldom have a house on our block for sale. I also appreciate the opportunity of meeting, greeting and welcoming my new neighbor. I'll be there between 2 and 5 P.M. today and quote the realistic price of $26,500 with good terms.

Our employees want to be able to spend Sundays with their families and have asked us to cooperate by closing on Sunday.

THEREFORE:

WE WILL BE CLOSED ALL DAY SUNDAY

We would very much appreciate your opinion of this policy. Please let your dealer know your wishes, either by mail, telephone, or best of all, in person, as we certainly want to operate our businesses in the manner which best suits you, the public.

You can also express your opinion and your cooperation by shopping for your cars on Saturday and the other days of the week. Most of us are open every week night for your convenience, so that regardless of your working hours we can adequately serve your needs.

For and about WOMEN

Sun Fashions

By Beverley Wilson

Herald Fashion Editor

Your newest play clothes may be as orange as the favorite fruit on Florida trees or as yellow as tropical sunlight. Then again, taking inspiration from the other end of the world, they may pick up the arresting "Kabuki pinks" and other colors of the Japanese theater. Every designer's eyes are slanted toward the Orient this season.

But Miamians are apparently more ready to go wild with color than with silhouette in their resort wear. The general fashion trend to conservatism has invaded sportswear as well, and most local women prefer to stick to their classic Jamaica-length shorts or their tapered Capri-length pants.

Far-out ideas tentatively advanced by designers — like knickers copied from the kind a man used to wear on the golf course — have met with upturned noses here. So have wide-legged culottes and draped, Siamese-style pants.

If you really insist on looking different, it's more chic to get really brief and wear a bikini this season.

To learn where they're available in Miami, call The Herald Shopping Service, FR 9-3826, after 9:30 a.m. today (Sunday). After 24 hours, the information may be obtained only by sending a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

EDWIN HALL

Did you ever feel as if you were in another world?

After attending four score and more women's club meetings, I felt slightly out-of-this-worldish when I went spying on two men's club luncheons recently.

My purpose was to see how men and women differ as club members.

And they DO differ . . .

Eleanor Dixon

Take the matter of finding a seat. Men in the Miami Rotary and Kiwanis Clubs use the church approach, seating from the back of the room. Whether this is modesty, or they want to sneak out in the middle of the meeting, who knows?

Women usually follow the bargain counter technique — get up front and get a good seat.

The women who went to the Miami Woman's Club's forum on finances recently packed the front rows of the auditorum first. They had come to hear about how to handle money, and they weren't going to miss one word!

* * *

'Madam Dodo?' Gracious, No!

THERE'S MORE INFORMALITY and joshing around among the men's clubs. They seem to delight in poking fun at each other.

Maybe women are more sensitive of each other's feelings — they would NEVER refer to a past president as "a platypuss" or an "extinct dodo bird."

But this got roars of laughter from both the past president and the members of the Miami Kiwanis Club.

In response the president announced (tongue in cheek) that "after you're president of THIS club, you're immune to innuendos . . . you even can run for the county commission."

This jolly-good-fellow atmosphere is beloved by the men. All members at the downtown Rotary and Kiwanis meetings wore huge name buttons, telling their occupations and length of membership. These men are determined that everyone ought to know everyone else.

Sometimes women's groups have name tags. The Miami Woman's Club and the South Miami Woman's Club, for instance, wear name tags at regular meetings but not at social functions. Most of the time it's up to the individual to ask a friend, "Who is that woman in the blue hat?" or live in blissful ignorance.

* * *

Songs a la Rotary Are Fast

ONE THING ABOUT THE MEN, though. They sing too fast. At least I could barely keep up with the Star Spangled Banner a la Rotary and Kiwanis.

These men have no inhibitions about singing. They love it. At one meeting before Christmas the Rotarians even tapped their spoons on their water glasses in time to Jingle Bells.

At this same meeting, every man who had a birthday that month was called to the front of the room. About 10 of them stood there, arms on each others' shoulders, and swayed to and fro while their fellow members sang Happy Birthday to them.

A few high school boys visiting at this meeting looked a bit sheepish to see their elders put on such an exuberant display.

And perish the thought that a similar group of dignified, middle-aged women of the community would do the same thing.

* * *

BUT THERE'S A NO-NONSENSE attitude when the men's clubs call their meetings to order. BONG goes the big brass bell on the speaker's table and there is dead silence in the audience.

If you're not used to it, this bell can jolt you out of your chair. But it gets results — quick.

A woman's club president calling the meeting to order usually ventures a well-modulated, "Ladies," into the microphone. Then she waits patiently until the noise dies down.

Speaking of noise, men have the advantage on this one by nature of their low voices. A room full of 300 men talking has a soft, rumbling sound. The buzz of 300 women is shrill.

Truancy Doesn't Pay

MILITANT IS THE WORD for the men's attitude on attendence. If they miss a meeting in Kiwanis and Rotary, they have to make it up by attending another club's meeting. Hence the sprinkling of men from Coral Gables or Miami Shores Kiwanis clubs doing make up work at the downtown club's meeting.

Women are more subtle. They'll cajole, spend hours on telephone committee work and think up all kinds of gimmicks to get their members to a meeting.

They usually introduce their new members in a dignified manner, sometimes at special parties such as the presentation ball of the Coral Gables Junior Woman's Club.

When the Kiwanis club introduced a new member the other day, the men's sponsor casually told a bit of the man's background, including the fact that he was born in Georgia.

Loud groans came from the Floridians in the audience at this statement.

"But we expect him to be a good member in spite of this handicap," the sponsor replied.

As we said . . . these men don't stand on formality.

FIRST STATE VISIT

Port Authority Up in the Air On Protocol

By HELEN WELLS
Herald Society Editor

LOCAL HOSTESSES have their heart burning moments on the knotty question of how to seat their dinner guests, but this is a drop in the bucket compared to the problems confronting the Dade County Port Authority.

After all, Miami hostesses only have to worry about whether or not the guests they've seated side by side are speaking. But the Port Authority men have the vital question of diplomatic protocol to solve when they entertain in honor of the President of Argentina, Dr. Arturo Frondizi, and his wife, Senora Elena Faggionato de Frondizi, Saturday at the Fontainebleau Hotel. (Dr. Frondizi is coming here to dedicate the new International Airport terminal building.)

Dr. Frondizi

As one wag put it, the PA men "are up to their black ties in dignitaries," all of whom have to be seated, addressed and housed with utmost protocol.

Since this is the first state visit of a president of a foreign country to this area, everyone is boning up on how to address the president. General opinion is that "Your Excellency" is proper.

Lucky for Mrs. John L. Steward, who's in charge of the seating, eating, meeting and greeting of the ambassadors, ministers and so on that she's had experience. She helped set up the first General Assembly for the United Nations back in 1946. She can also send an SOS to Walter Walters, head of the State Department in Miami, if things get rugged, or to Clement Conger, deputy chief of protocol who is coming from Washington.

PERSON TO PERSON

Here are just a few of Mrs. Steward's headaches: Foreign relations ministers rank higher than ambassadors, but an embassy minister is lower than an ambassador. Consular corps officials usually have next precedence, but because this affair is in the U.S., American ranking dignitaries are next in line.

Just to make things a little more complicated is the fact that while ambassadors all hold the same rank, their seniority in Washington is the deciding factor in their seating succession.

Uruguay's Ambassador Julio a Lacarte is top man on the ambassadorial visiting list. Next is Ecuador's Dr. Jose R. Chiriboga, then the Dominican Republic's Ambassador Don Manuel A. de Moya. Next down the line are Argentina, Costa Rica, Paraguay, Venezuela and Bolivia.

Dr. J. C. Kruisherr, economic minister of the Netherlands embassy, outranks French Consul General Jacques Grellet, who in turn outranks Maj. Gen. Jean Bezy, air attache of the French embassy.

And just suppose (horrid thought) that one of the ambassadors cancels at the last minute because of illness or what-not and sends his consul general. The consul general cannot take the ambassador's seat!

Such a contretemps would send Bunny Steward leaping to the table to re-seat everyone at the ambassador's table and to find a seat at consular level for the replacement. Not only that, she would have to find out if the men below the missing ambassador would move up a notch. Woe and worry!

So important is protocol that if a diplomat is incorrectly seated, he may get miffed and walk out. Several weeks ago this did happen, but not in Miami.

Their Home Is Safe

"MY MIND is on the flood in Columbus . . ." said Mrs. John Galbreath, the former Dorothy Firestone. The flood is the worst Columbus has ever had and although the Galbreaths' home there is safe—it is on the side of a hill—nearby Darby Creek is six or eight feet over its banks and has flooded some of the homes.

Mrs. Galbreath

Mrs. Galbreath opened their home on La Gorce Island a week ago and expects Mr. G. this week. He has a number of horses running at Hialeah and she says she has "a few."

* * *

Watching Golf Tilt

THE REASON Ruth and Brad Streit, golfers at Indian Creek, are keeping watchful eyes on the results of the Doherty Golf Tournament at Coral Ridge Yacht Club in Fort Lauderdale is a good one.

Marlene Streit, wife of Brad's nephew, Douglas Streit, is playing in the tournament. She is a graduate of Rollins, won the U.S. Amateur and the British Amateur a few years ago, so they have high hopes for her.

Ruth Streit

Before they went to Fort Lauderdale Marlene and Douglas visited Ruth and Brad in their apartment in Bal Harbour.

If you've wondered where Betty and Orion Mather were, they've been out of circulation for two weeks while Orion was hospitalized. He is home now and recovering and the Mathers have plans for a party at the end of February.

Organ Recital

WHEN Dr. Ralph Harris, professor of theory in organ at University of Miami, and Mrs. Harris went to Nassau over last weekend, Dr. Harris gave an organ recital on Sunday evening in the Episopal Cathedral there.

They were guests at the Balmoral Club of Sir Oliver and Lady Simmonds who entertained for them as did Mrs. Roger Tyler, wife of the American Consul. The Harrises went to Nassau under the auspices of the Friends of the Bahamas.

Mrs. W. Alton Jones is expected at her home on LaGorce Island this week. Mr. Jones is chairman of the board of Cities Service and their northern home is on

State Legislation To Be Discussed By PTA Council

Legislative issues of interest to parents and teachers will be discussed at Dade County Council of Parent Teacher Association's 10 a.m. Wednesday meeting in Ponce de Leon Junior High School.

State representative W. C. (Cliff) Herrell will lead the discussion by six PTA leaders who attended the state PTA legislation conference in Tallahassee this past week.

They are: Mrs. W. L. Mussett, past state president and state legislation chairman; Mrs. Henry Fox, council president; Rodney Nowakowski, council legislation chairman; Mrs. William P. Cooke, first vice president; Mrs. H. J. Johansen, school education chairman and Mrs. Grover Angell, recording secretary.

Two new PTAs — Riviera Junior High and Thomas Jefferson Junior High — will be recognized at the meeting. Miss Catherine L. Moore is program chairman.

Too Sick for Race? Not Oyster Bay Fan

By REGRET
Herald Columnist

Mrs. Howard C. Brokaw at Hialeah
. . . with daughter, Mrs. John A. Morris

Winners' Circle

IT TOOK A LOT of persuasion but Mrs. Howard C. Brokaw of Palm Beach, New York and Oyster Bay finally convinced her daughter, Mrs. J. A. Morris, that she was well enough to go to the horse races. Mrs. Brokaw has been laid up with pneumonia but decided Wednesday she was well enough to get out. The only concession she made to her daughter's concern was allowing someone else to trot to the betting windows for her.

Mrs. Brokaw was sitting in the Amory Haskell clubhouse box with Mr. and Mrs. Fitz Eugene Dixon and Mrs. Frederick Owsley of Palm Beach. Mrs. Brokaw said that the Haskells were due to return Thursday from their West Indies honeymoon.

She Got a Trophy At First U.S. Race

WHEN Levelix won the Jasime stakes Wednesday at Hialeah nobody was very surprised. But when the wife of Levelix's owner, Michael G. Phipps, announced that she'd never been to an American race track before, the jaws did drop.

Pretty Mollie Phipps and her husband were guests of Hialeah publicity director Everett A. Clay and his wife and were joined by Mr. and Mrs. Fred W. Hooper. There was another "first" for Mrs. Phipps, whose husband is a new director of the course. She entered the winners' circle to receive Levelix's trophy from Mrs. Hooper whose husband is also a director.

Hialeah Returns To Victorian Days

This shiny, precisely appointed green and tan carriage is drawn by four matched bay geldings which are registered Morgans. Traditional carriage horses since the 1700's, Morgans drew President Andrew Jackson and fought under Gen. Ulysses S. Grant.

The one-ton brake, driven by John S. Whitaker Jr., is part of a collection belonging to food manufacturer John M. Seabrook of New Jersey. It was originally used to carry 19th century parties to the steeplechase and their dogs to the fields to hunt. The dogs have their own compartment in the rear which, like the rest of the carriage, has been restored to its original handsome elegance.

Clarks' Box Is Busy Spot

A BUSY SPOT last week was the box belonging to the John C. Clarks of New York and La Gorce Island. Early in the week Mrs. Clark had with her her granddaughter from New Canaan, Conn. Margaret Jean Hawkins, better knows as Rusty because of her deep auburn hair. Rusty, who not too long ago finished prep school, traveled in Europe with Mrs. Clark this fall.

Something new was added Wednesday—Mr. Clark! He'd been feeling a bit po'ly opening day so the former president of Hialeah forewent the initial festivities.

Visitors from San Francisco

GETTING TO BE Hialeah regulars are Jan and Mike Cowles who are spending the winter in their Indian Creek Island home. Their San Francisco house guests Eleanor (Mrs. John) Wells and their daughter Christine were with them recently. Christine is at San Francisco State College and in her junior year — "I hope!" She just finished her final exams and until the results come back she doesn't know for sure where she stands!

Mrs. Cowles is expecting more young people for guests the end of this month. Mr. Cowles daughter Lois Harrison and her husband Jack are coming down from New York with their two boys Mark who's almost two, and Kent born last November.

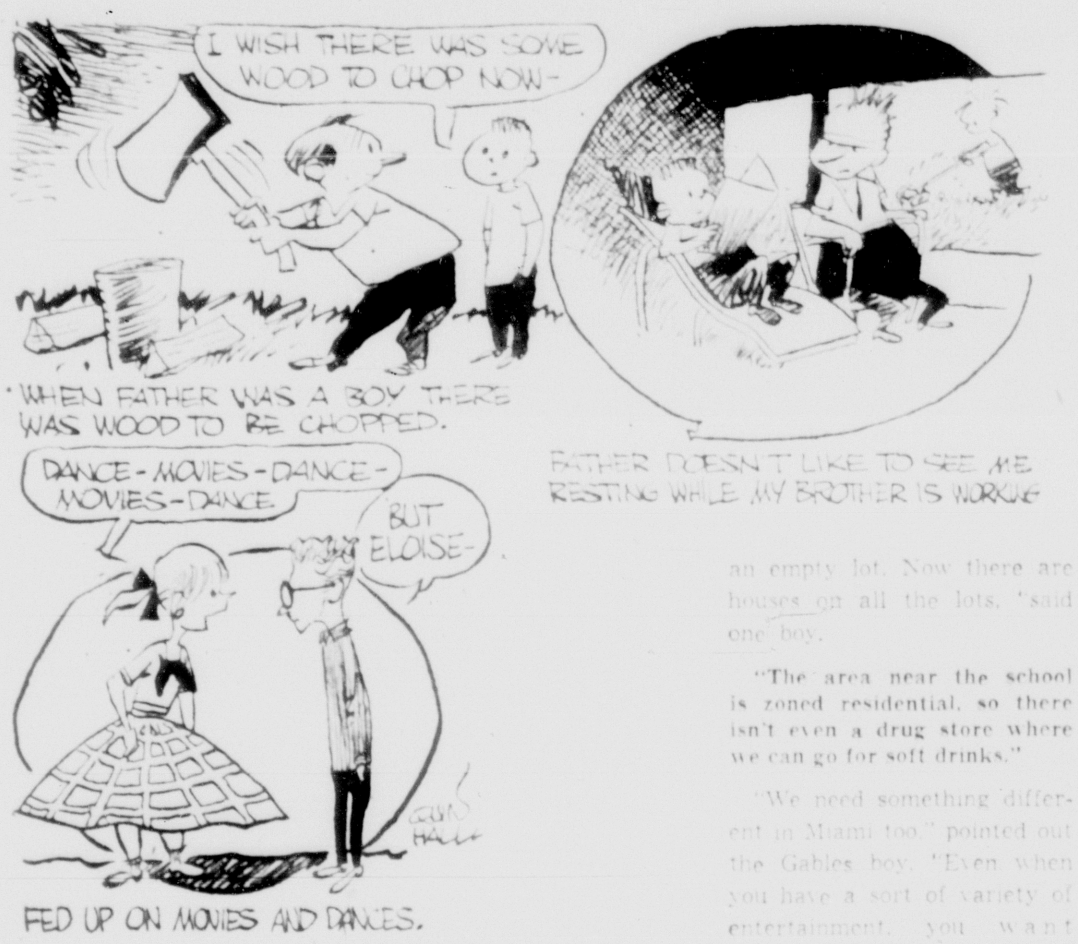
Teens Say: Life Is Too Easy —We Need a Real Challenge

Each Sunday The Herald presents the Teen Panel, ideas on problems and situations of interest to the teenagers. This panel is composed of four leaders from Miami Norland High and two typical teenagers from Coconut Grove.

Today's panelists are Norland students Richard Barnard, Doug Krug, Marie Kowall and Barbara Hammond plus Helen Swain and Brad Hanafourde of Coconut Grove.



I WISH THERE WAS SOME WOOD TO CHOP NOW-
"WHEN FATHER WAS A BOY THERE WAS WOOD TO BE CHOPPED.
FATHER DOESN'T LIKE TO SEE ME RESTING WHILE MY BROTHER IS WORKING DANCE-MOVIES-DANCE-MOVIES-DANCE
BUT ELOISE-
FED UP ON MOVIES AND DANCES.
GLYN HALL

By BEVERLY PAULSON
Herald Staff Writer

Today's teenagers lead too lax a life, members of The Herald's Teen Panel think. And they don't think it's the young people's fault.

"About the only thing that's strict about a teenager's life is homework," a 14-year-old Norland High student said pensively.

"And we don't get much of that," said the Coral Gables lad.

"Well, we have homework," answered a Norland youth. "But it's busy work. It's never different—it's just made up to keep us busy nights, I think."

"What we need is a challenge in school," contributed the Gables boy. "I've been in school for 12 years and I haven't had a real big challenge yet."

The panelists agreed that school isn't always stimulating to the bright student, but couldn't find an answer on how to give strong challenges as long as brains and mediocrity are mixed in the classroom.

The average teenager, they thought, needs challenges and time-consuming interests outside of school even more.

* * *

WORK AT HOME, they decided, might help.

"I've heard my father say that in his boyhood, he had to split wood and carry wood and do all kinds of things around the house," said the first boy.

"About the only thing I've got to do at home is work around the yard."

His parents don't require him to do work at home, said another boy. "I don't have anything to do, but whenever my father sees my brother out working and me sitting in the house reading he gets a pained expression on his face."

The other panelists mulled over their parents' childhood recollections and concluded that teenagers were underworked.

Which means of course, they pointed out, that they have much more free time. And that creates problems, too.

"Most of the trouble with this freedom deal is that you read all the time about teenagers getting in trouble," pointed out a Norland boy. "Still they don't give us enough to do."

"That's right," agreed the Gables girl. "When I was dating one boy we went to the movies, then we went to a dance, then we went to a movie, then we went to a dance. I got tired of movies and dances."

"In our area there's not enough recreation and since our school is new there still aren't many activities.

"And we can't hop into a car and go someplace," added the other Norland boy. He pointed out that he and his three fellow Norland panelists are 15—too young to drive.

* * *

CAN'T TEENAGERS manufacture their own entertainment? the panelists were asked.

"You speak of manufacturing our own entertainment, but how can we?" quickly countered one of the boys. "We used to play baseball on an empty lot. Now there are houses on all the lots," said one boy.

"The area near the school is zoned residential, so there isn't even a drug store where we can go for soft drinks."

"We need something different in Miami too," pointed out the Gables boy. "Even when you have a sort of variety of entertainment, you want something different to do at times."

"A big commercial amusement center would be different," suggested a Norland girl.

A great idea, agreed the rest.

The panelists considered that comment for a moment, then agreed it was true.

Challenges—not time filling activities — were what they personally needed, they decided. And where could they find them? They didn't know.

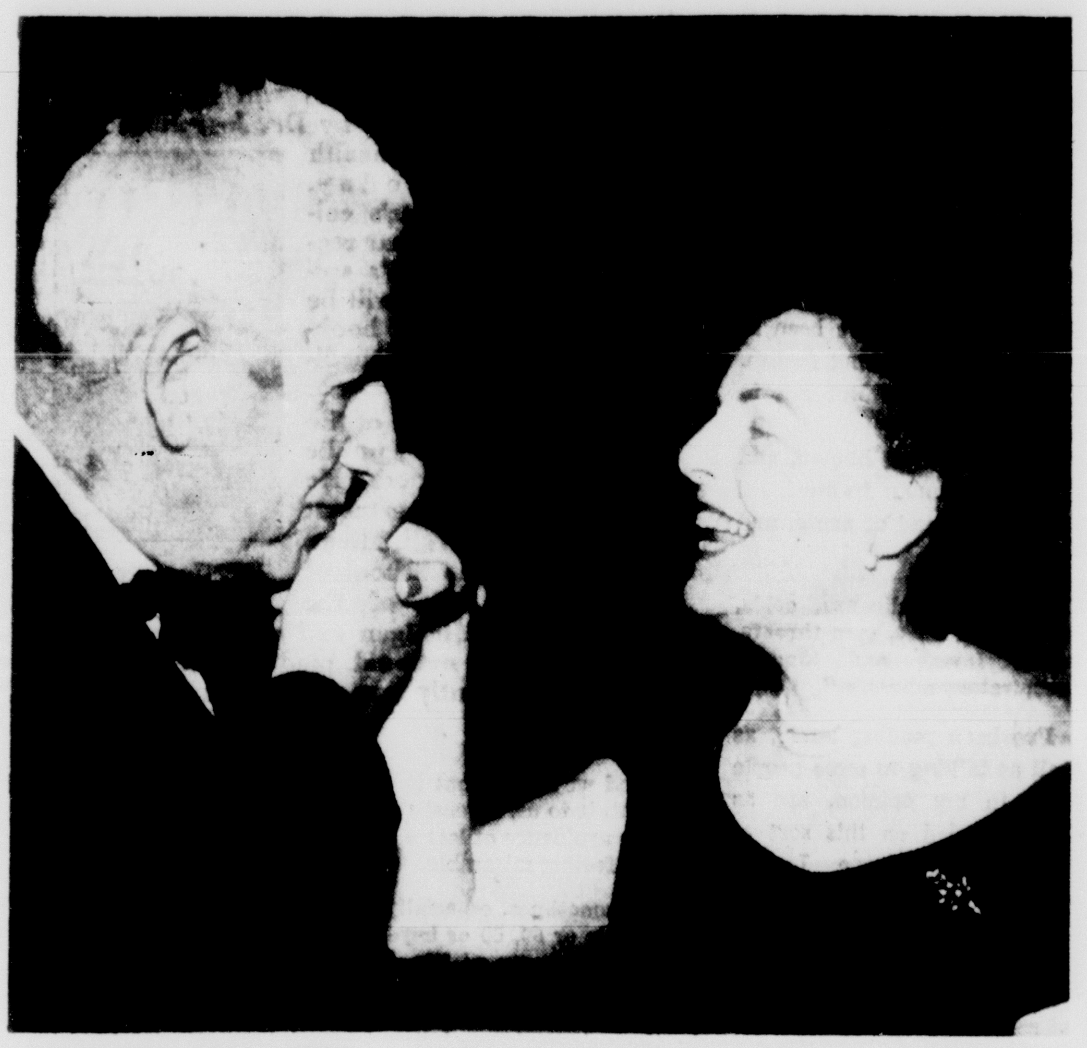
Can Music Soften Menacing Soviets?



OLD WORLD GALLANTRY — Sen. Paul Douglas kisses the hand of Mrs. Melvyn Douglas, the former Helen Gahagan, onetime celebrated actress and congresswoman from California. They're no relation.

Dear Herald Readers:

Never, never will your correspondent forget the scene at the Soviet Embassy when Van Cliburn suddenly showed up and gave a private concert for Anastas Mikoyan . . . Only a handful of Americans, mostly press, witnessed the extraordinarily dramatic event. Soviet Ambassador Menshikov's six-to-eight party for his brainy deputy premier was virtually over.

Ambassadors from countries vitally interested in Russia's every move had come and gone — the German Ambassador, the British, French, Iranian, and America's Ambassador to Russia . . . So had presidential press secretary Jim Hagerty and his wife; Marjorie Post May; Congressman William Ayres of Ohio, and Jimmy Roosevelt of California. . .

A little after 8 Russia's dynamic man of charm, surrounded by fawning comrades, was posing for group pictures in the big hall of the ornate embassy — when suddenly every Russian in the place broke into cheers and loud applause. Bounding up the grand staircase, to be greeted by unfeigned warmth was their American hero — tall, slim, curly-haired Van Cliburn. He had come all the way to Washington from New York just to accept this invitation . . .

Mikoyan kissed the towering lad and obviously asked Van to play for him, for the pressing throng moved into the crystal-lit, gold-trimmed ballroom over to the grand piano.

With Mikoyan standing beside him and Menshikov in back of him, Van began to play the Soviet's popular "Moscow Evening," and all the Russians in the room broke into song. It gave one a strange and uncanny feeling.

In this embassy of a country dedicated to the overthrow of our government, here was the greatest picture of camaraderie and brotherly love with an American you could imagine — and all the Russians seemed so confident.

Congressman Jim Fulton of Pennsylvania called out for Van to play "Ochi Chornnoye" next. He shouted it several times. There were some giggles, but the rest pretended they didn't hear . . . A song of the old regime, it was subsequently tabooed in Russia.

The magnificent strains of Liszt's Rhapsody No. 12 then began to fill the room, and throughout the long, beautifully played composition all stood and listened, Mikoyan with his eyes on the fleet fingers of the great young artist.

One looked at the master politician and the youthful musician, and wondered. Could ties of music the Soviets love so much some day weaken their determination to dominate the world? One thought not. But, at least, Van was trying.

Rockefeller a Cinch To Become President

If you don't think Nelson Rockefeller has the presidency of the United States already sewn up, read this story and ask yourself: How can a man so thorough lose?

A friend who shall be nameless took the Staten Island ferry during the New York gubernatorial campaign and en route he had a shoeshine. The Italian-American bootblack who performed this service wore a huge "I'm for Nelson Rockefeller" button . . .

He said he was a Democrat but he was going to vote for Mr. Rockefeller because he was such a wonderful man. Why did he say that?

"He has written me two letters," replied the bootblack. Whereupon he put down his brushes, took off his hat and pulled out the first letter. In effect it read like this:

"DEAR MR. BRIONI:

I just want you to know that the most wonderful shoeshine I have ever had in my life is the shoeshine you gave me last week going over on the Staten Island ferry. Thank you so much. Sincerely yours, NELSON A. ROCKEFELLER."

As if that wasn't enough to insure the allegiance of Mr. Brioni and all his relatives to the famous multi-millionaire who knew a good man when he saw one, the second letter to come out of its millinery safekeeping was even nicer. It went like this:

"DEAR MR. BRIONI:

I have to go over to Staten Island next Tuesday and my secretary tells me that a ferry leaves at 9:15, 9:30, 9:45, etc. Will you be kind enough to drop me a line telling me on which ferry you will be so I can have another one of your wonderful shoeshines. Sincerely yours, NELSON A. ROCKEFELLER.'

Yep, Gov. Rockefeller is a cinch to win the presidential election, but I'll bet his valet is getting an inferiority complex . . . Imagine a Rockefeller having to go to that much trouble just to get a good shoeshine!

Douglases Entertain For Douglases

WHITE-THATCHED, liberal Senator Paul Douglas of Illinois and his wife tossed a party for the Melvyn Douglases following the world premier of "Juno" based on Sean O'Casey's play "Juno and the Paycock."

Actor Melvyn told the story of how the two Douglas couples, who are no relation, became friends through a long line of coincidences shared by their wives, Helen Gahagan Douglas and Emily Taft Douglas, who first met when they both became United States Representatives. Here it is:

Both were on the stage before they were married — Helen Gahagan who was a celebrated actress on Broadway; Emily Taft who finished the lead role of "The Cat and the Canary" on Broadway and took it on tour for two years.

Both married Douglases the same year . . . Both came to Congress in 1945. Both were Democrats and both liberals . . . Both were assigned to the Foreign Affairs Committee. And at that time both their husbands were serving in the Armed Forces, both in the Far East and both as majors . . . But you haven't heard anything yet!

In 1954 when Paul Douglas was sent back here for more operations after a near fatal wound, he first slipped down to the Capitol to get a glimpse of his wife . . . To the doorman at the House gallery he said, "I am Major Douglas, husband of Congresswoman Douglas. May I go in?"

Back came a reply that stunned him. "Oh, yeah?" said the disbelieving doorman. "Major Douglas, husband of Congresswoman Douglas, arrived a quarter of an hour back."

Paul didn't even know there was another Congresswoman Douglas, but strangely enough Melvyn had shown up just 15 minutes earlier!

The actor said he had just learned of another coincidence. It seems that the Melvyn Douglases' daughter recently went to Israel to work on a cooperative farm just for the adventure of it all, whereas the Senator's daughter (named Helen) had married an Israeli and was now living there! . . .

How To Use Foilage To Be Taught Here

Garden club members are constantly looking for new information on how to grow and use Florida's sub-tropical foliage to the best advantage. For the third year, district 11 of the Florida Federation of Garden Clubs and the University of Miami is responding to this search for knowledge with a Tropical Short Course for Garden Clubs.

Course will be held at the University of Miami Wednesday through Friday and registration is being taken by the Adult Education Division of the University of Miami.

Wednesday's program features an outline of the course by Dr. Taylor R. Alexander, chairman of the UM botany department and coordinator of the program. A flower arrangement workshop, taught by Mrs. Charles Harry Blanchard, nationally accredited flower show judge, will follow.

Field trip to Fairchild Tropical Garden and Matheson Hammock Thursday will include a discussion by the garden's staff on planting techniques.

On Friday the gardeners will hear Mrs. G. O. Gjoerloff, state chairman of landscape design for the FFGC, speak on community design and city planning. Another instructor for the course will be Dr. Monroe R. Birdseye, assistant professor of botany.

Mrs. Robert E. Adams, district director elect, is chairman of the short course.

Flu Shots Can Prevent Misery --Even Death for Some

By DR. JOSEPH G. MOLNER

Diseases and treatment will be discussed in simple lay language by Dr. Joseph G. Molner in a new Herald health column beginning today. Through Dr. Molner's column, which will appear regularly in the women's section, Herald readers will be offered leaflets and booklets on a variety of medical subjects.

Dr. Molner is one of the nation's outstanding public health commissioners. He is head of the Department of Health of Detroit, Mich., a lecturer at the School of Public Health of the University of Michigan and a member of various state and national medical societies. His articles frequently appear in scientific publications.

Dr. Joseph G. Molner

As a matter of fact, I should have written this last summer, because I would have been in less danger of looking foolish. Or next summer. But not in the winter.

However, being human, and subject to human frailties, I'll be blunt instead of acute, and barge in.

I've been reading lately, as well as talking to some people who, in my opinion, are as well-informed on this sort of trouble as anyone I can think of.

And here's my conclusion: To date, there is no cure, and no "preventive" for the so-called common cold, but there has been some amazing progress in preventing flu.

The point I do want to make is this: If we can prevent flu, we can also prevent a great deal of illness that we casually think is something else.

There is plenty of good evidence to lead us to believe that a lot of "colds" are mild flu cases, most assuredly that some "pneumonia" is flu that has gone berserk.

In approximately the last 15 years an enormous amount of progress has been made in studying flu and developing vaccines to prevent or minimize it.

It is my opinion that the effectiveness of modern flu vaccine has been very much under-rated in public esteem. It hasn't had a tenth the publicity that some other things have had.

But mark my words, in another year, or two, or five the public is going to realize how much has been accomplished, and in this country alone we are going to avoid millions — yes, I mean it — millions of days of illness per year.

It is going to become routine for us to have a flu shot every fall. And we'll find that it will be worth it to us, several times over, in avoidance of lost work, days of feeling miserable.

And sometimes, especially in the people or 50, 60 or beyond, it will save years of life. For flu may be just a period of misery for a few days to those in the prime vigor of life. It can mean death to the very young and the very old.

Maybe I sound over-positive about this. But I do not think I have overestimated the value of flu vaccine one little bit.

Both Theories Are Baloney

DEAR DR. MOLNER:

I read two booklets on vinegar and on molasses, and each indicated the need of some daily to maintain good health and to help many common ailments—Mrs. H. W.

I shortened your letter, but you know from experience that one of those theories is baloney. If you try the other, you'll find that it is, too. If anybody tried all the wild theories of this sort, you know what he'd get? Belly-ache.

* * *

NOTE TO MRS. H. W.: You've done all you should do in the way of having your boy examined, and since nothing is wrong with him, I'd say that his complaints about having "a funny feeling" when you spank him are a shrewd child's method of giving you the business. But good!

* * *

Leg cramps and foot pains? Both can be stopped! To learn how, write to me in care of The Miami Herald, requesting my pamphlet, "How To Stop Leg Cramps and Foot Pains," enclosing a large self addressed, stamped envelope and 5 cents in coin.

Dr. Molner welcomes all reader mail, but regrets that, due to the tremendous volume received daily, he is unable to answer individual letters. Readers' questions are incorporated in his column whenever possible.

Why Does Congress Neglect Medical Research? Mrs. R. Asks

By ELEANOR ROOSEVELT

NEW YORK — In this country we spend an infinite small sum of money, for medical research, which is our only defense against diseases that kill far more people each year than were killed in the last war.

Mrs. FDR

This is brought out so well in a book, "Before We Sleep" by Hank Bloomgarden, which I think every American should read. It puts clearly some questions that should interest every man, woman and child.

Our government will spend this year more than $2,300 per capita for military defense. This is much more than is provided for medical research.

But last year our representatives in Congress under the leadership of two great economists — one of whom is John Taber, who, I regret to say, comes from my own state of New York — Refused to add 14 cents per person to defend the nation against illness and disease through research.

Although our progress in this field has been great, much remains to be done.

And the voices that should be raised for more government money for this purpose are strangely silent. They are voices of the National fund for Medical Education and the American Medical Association.

Is this because they are afraid that government contributions are going to hurt free enterprise in America?

Which is more important: to conduct more and better research and save more lives, no matter where the money comes from, or to make sure that the money comes from private sources which will not interfere with the ideas of such organizations as the American Medical Association.

Take Care of Baby Teeth To Avoid Future Trouble

By MARY ENGLISH
Written for The Herald

Your South Florida Child

The problem of dental care for one's child is always important. It cannot be overemphasized that the future of your child's teeth depends upon taking him to the dentist early for prevention of decay.

I have talked to half a dozen dentists, both in Florida and in the north, who say that too many mothers take the attitude that baby teeth are not important and admit that they have never taken their children to a dentist until the permanent teeth come in.

Years ago, children's baby teeth were ignored as unimportant and small children were never taken to the dentist.

Modern dentists believe this has a lot to do with crooked teeth, spaces and other dental problems in adults of a generation ago.

It is surprising how many mothers still remark that their children's baby teeth are not important and refuse to take them to a dentist until they reach school age.

* * *

WITH the increased knowledge of dentistry and new scientific methods in dental care, it has been established that children should be taken to the dentist twice a year for thorough cleaning and checking of cavities by the time they are two to three years of age.

They should be taught to brush their teeth regularly as soon as they are old enough to dress themselves, feed themselves and be toilet trained.

Until they can do it alone, parents should brush their teeth for them just as they bathe them and take care of their other physical needs.

One prominent South Florida dentist, formerly from a mid-western state, told me that he could see no real difference in the amount of cavities among children in the mid-west where he practiced and in the South Florida.

I raised this question because of the unusual amount of soft drinks consumed by children in South Florida due to the heat here. The dentist pointed out that while children in South Florida might drink more soft beverages this is offset by the excessive amount of pies, candy and other energy giving sweets which children in a colder climate eat. He said that a balanced diet in a child is important in cutting down on cavities.

Children eating foods with less sugar content do have better teeth except for those rare constitutional exceptions where the teeth are so strong that no matter how inadequate the diet, nothing seems to affect them.

* * *

A NEW TREND in dentistry is a specializing in the care of children's teeth. This dentist understands the personality and temperament of children. He not only has a special knowledge of the structure of children's teeth, but has studied child psychology too. He is able to deal with any fears of the dental chair that children may have. If there is a child dentist available in your locality, I would highly recommend the use of one.

Nationwide statistics have shown that fluoridated water cuts down dental decay between forty and fifty per cent. Dade County has fluoridated water and neighboring Broward County does not.

It seems to me that efforts should be made for tax legislation that would afford equal opportunities for prevention of tooth decay.

Since sodium fluoride, the chemical used in fluoridated water, is important in limited quantities for preserving the teeth, it can be applied by the dentist on children's teeth to prevent decay. However, because small children like to eat tooth paste, it is best to keep toothpaste with sodium fluoride or chlorinated water away from children under school age who might be inclined to eat the tooth paste.

FRUIT COMPOTE

Combine a can of grapefruit segments and a can of Kadota figs and their syrups with some Sherry or Port wine and a little lemon or lime juice. Serve warm or cold as a refreshing fruit compote.

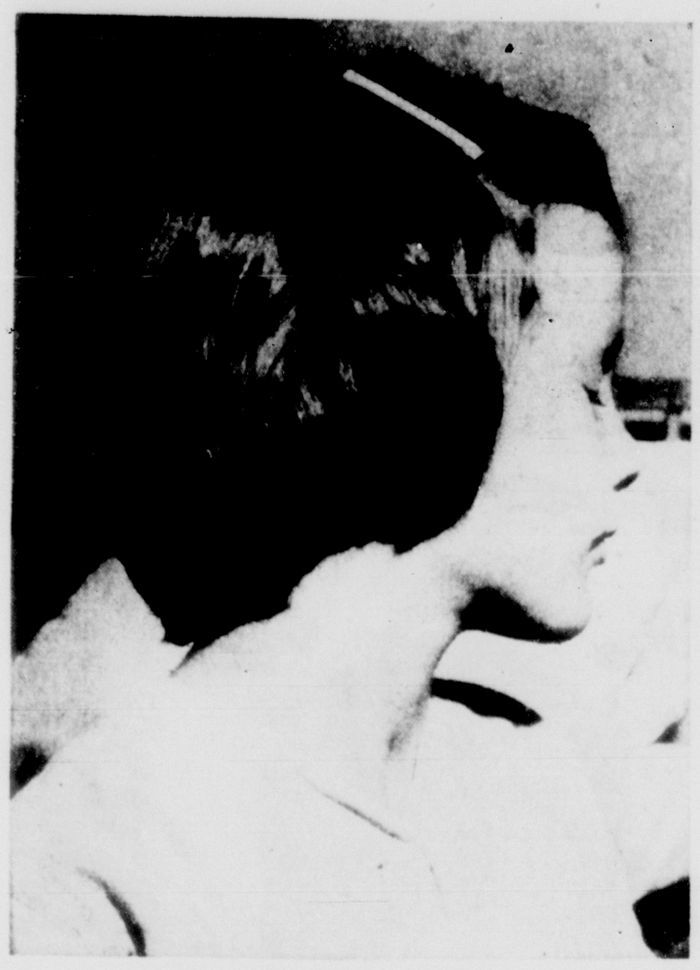
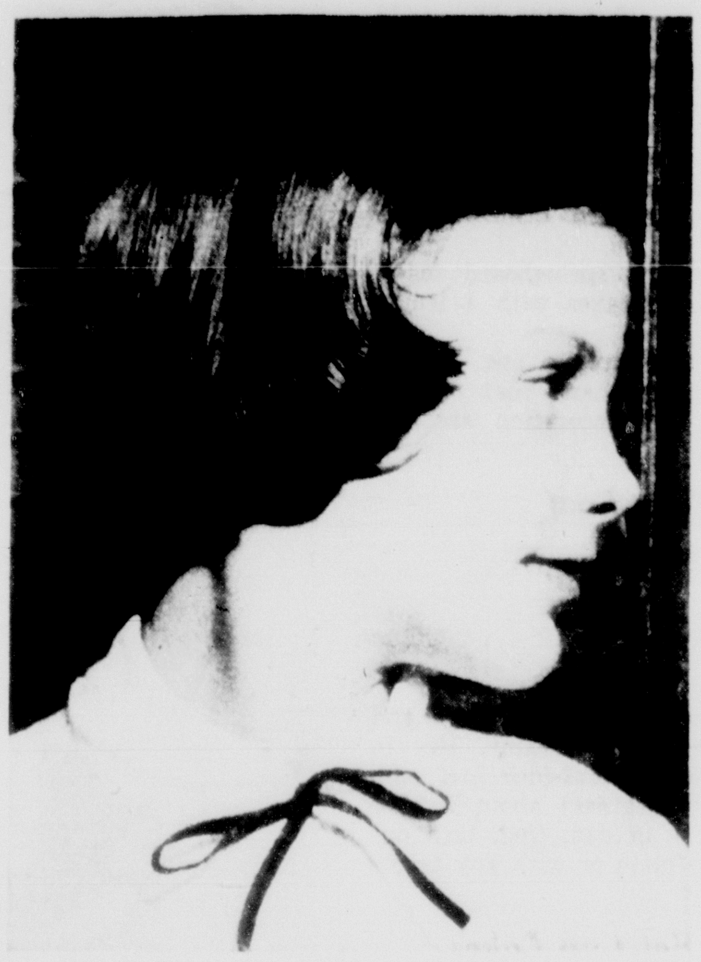
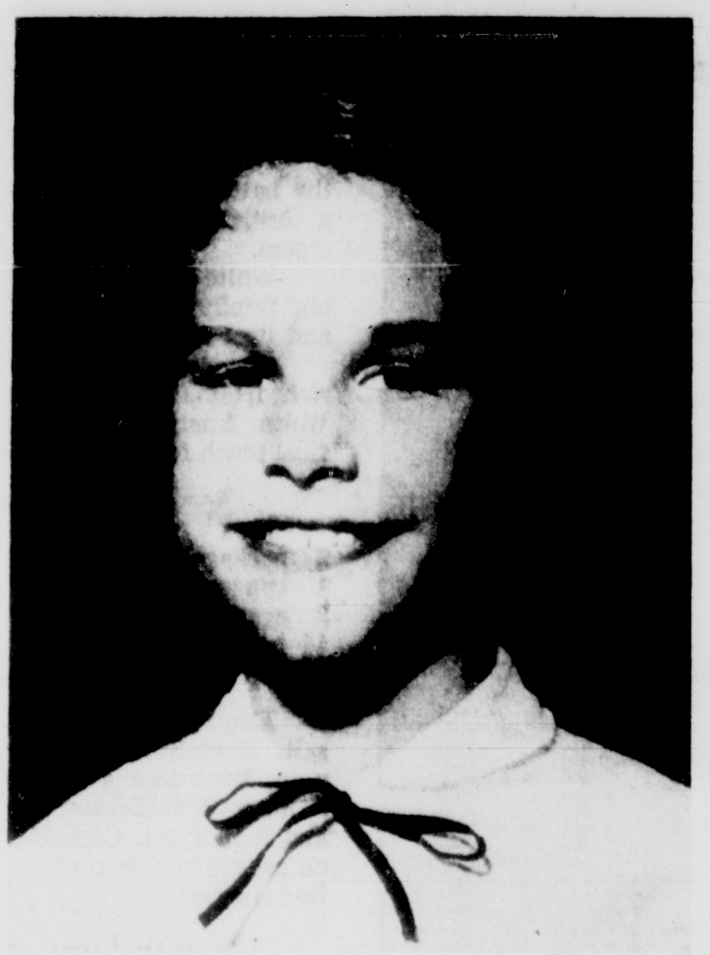
Beauty Shop Visits Martha



Eight-Year-Old Martha Is Ready for Styling
. . . 'I like short hair, but not too short'



After Styling . . . With a Page Boy Flair
. . . 'This is fun,' said Martha



'No Bangs, Please,' Said Third Grader
. . . just a teaser curl, no more

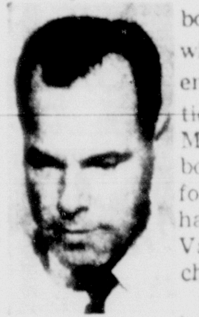
By ELEANOR HART
Herald Glamor Clinic Editor

Since Martha Phillips, age 8, couldn't go to the beauty shop, the beauty shop came to Martha.

Glamor Clinic

In this instance, the "beauty shop" was Doug Conway, chairman of the Greater Miami Hairdressers' Association's observance of National Beauty Salon Week, Feb. 8-14. He carried his shears, hair clips and spray to Variety Children's Hospital where winsome Martha was visiting for a few days.

The meeting of these two was timely. Every year, Miami hairdressers turn over the proceeds of Beauty Salon Week activities to the hospital.



Doug Conway

And every six months for the past three years, Boston-born Martha, who was stricken with paralytic polio in Maracaibo, Venezuela, four years ago, has returned to Variety for a check-up.

Beauty service for hospital patients and residents of children's homes is a part of the service that Greater Miami Hairdressers render their community.

And Martha enjoyed every minute of hers.

"I like my hair short, but not too short," she informed Mr. Conway, tossing a thick, straight-as-a-stick, light borwn mane.

No, she didn't care for bangs. A side part, please.

Mr. Conway placed a barber's apron around her neck and went to work. Scissors, hair clips and spray were his only tools, since the hospital hair drier wasn't working, and he hadn't brought one with him.

The stylist shaped and thinned, "so it will fall into a page boy style," he explained. Then he made pin curls, nine on the left side, seven on the right and sprayed with lacquer.

Martha 'Dries' While She Dines
. . . a hair style in minutes

While Martha was "drying" she ate her supper from a hospital tray — meat balls, noodles, spinach, salad, grapes, bread and milk.

She ate everything but the grapes. "I don't like grapes," she explained.

When she grows up, Martha wants to be a stewardess. She already has her uniform, one that Santa brought her for Christmas.

She is such a big girl (third grader in Maracaibo), she flies alone. But there are plenty of folks here in Miami who are glad to see her when she arrives — her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Lobel, and a red-haired cousin, Mrs. Ann McFall.

Her trip home will be a momentous one, for not only has Martha "lost" a lot of hair, but the brace on her left leg as well.

For the next six months, she'll try walking without it because she has made so much progress.

Meanwhile, the money that Miami Hairdressers realize from their Beauty Salon Week activities — fashion show with clothes by Mister Wyatt at noon on Feb. 8 and a valentine dance the evening of Feb. 14, both at the Dupont Plaza Hotel, and open to the public — will be used to help at Variety Children's Hospital, some of them just like Martha.

Gerontology To Be Federation Topic

Mrs. C. M. Washburn, Tampa, past president of the Florida Federation of Women's Clubs, will speak at the Wednesday meeting of Dade County Federation of Women's Clubs.

Mrs. Washburn

Mrs. Washburn is now chairman of gerontology for the General Federation of Women's Clubs and will talk on that topic Wednesday.

The meeting is at 10 a.m. in the Miami Woman's Club, 1737 N. Bayshore Dr. Honor guests will be senior women citizens who are active in community and club work.

Fun portion of the meeting will be a community sing led by Mrs. W. J. Van Steenburg and Mrs. H. H. Howell.

Glamorous Desserts—So Easy with Cake Mixes

Put Nuts in Pound Cake Made From a Mix
. . . serve with chocolate ice cream or any flavor you like

Had Twins To His Music

LUXEMBOURG — (WNS) — A disc jockey for Radio Luxembourg was convinced that most of his feminine audience listened to his program to relieve the boredom of their daily routine.

To test his theory, the deejay, Andre Bourillon, asked women listeners to write in and tell him exactly what they were doing or thinking at that moment.

One replied that she had just had twins while the program was turned on.

An 82-year-old widow announced that she had been teaching the cha-cha-cha to the postman, who thereupon proposed marriage and a Paris honeymoon. Three housewives were busy killing chickens, and one was killing a pig.

A schoolgirl had her portable radio quietly tuned in during class. "I always get higher marks when I take examinations to your music," she confided.

Top Hat Cup Cakes With Filling
. . . carbonated beverage flavors the filling

By JEANNE VOLTZ

Herald Homemaking Editor

Here are a few ideas to start you thinking of glamorous desserts made easy with cake mixes. And the glamorizers are so simple.

Packaged pound cake has chopped nuts mixed into the batter before baking. Thin slices of the cake make a festive party dessert with stemmed dishes of ice cream.

One day bake a banana cake from a mix. Spread rich fruit filling between the layers and coat it with white frosting. Whole fruits for decoration are the final touch for a glorious cake.

Nut Pound Cake Loaf

2 packages golden pound cake mix
1 cup water
2 eggs
¼ teaspoon salt
1 cup finely chopped nuts

Empty cake mix into bowl. Add water, eggs and salt. Beat 3 minutes, until batter is creamy. Mix in nuts. Pour into a lightly greased 9x5x3-inch loaf pan. Bake in a moderate oven (350 degrees) about 1 hour and 5 minutes. Cool 15 minutes in pan, then turn out on rack to finish cooling. Serve plain or with any favorite ice cream.

Lemon-Lime Top Hat Cup Cakes

1 package white cake mix
¾ cup sugar
2 tablespoons cornstarch
1 7-ounce bottle lemon-lime carbonated beverage
2 tablespoons butter or margarine

Mix cake and bake in cup cake pans according to directions on package. Cool.

Blend sugar and cornstarch. Stir in lemon-lime beverage. Cook over low heat, stirring constantly, until smooth, about 5 minutes. Stir in butter.

Cut cone-shaped wedges about 1½ inches deep from centers of cup cakes. Spoon filling into center and set wedges on top of filling. Makes about 1½ dozen cup cakes.

Banana Cake With Fruit Nut Filling

1 package banana cake mix
Fruit Nut Filling
Beat 'n' Eat Frosting

Bake cake mix as directed on package in two 9-inch layers. Cool. Spread Fruit Nut Filling over one layer. Place second layer on top. Frost top and sides of cake with Beat 'n' Eat Frosting. Decorate with more fruit and nuts, if desired.

FRUIT NUT FILLING: Combine in saucepan ½ cup chopped dates, ½ cup chopped raisins, ¾ cup brown sugar (firmly packed), ⅓ cup granulated sugar and 1 cup water. Cook and stir over medium heat about 30 minutes or until thick enough to spread. Cool, then add ½ teaspoon lemon juice, ½ teaspoon lemon rind and ½ cup broken walnuts.

BEAT 'N' EAT FROSTING: Combine in small deep bowl 1 unbeaten egg white, ¾ cup sugar, ½ teaspoon cream of tartar and 1 teaspoon vanilla. Mix well. Add ¼ cup boiling water and beat with sturdy egg beater or electric mixer at high speed until mixture stands in stiff peaks, 3 to 4 minutes.

Note: Store any leftover cake uncovered at room temperature or in refrigerator to prevent frosting from becoming too soft.

Tony Curtis: Man Between Two Lives

JEAN WARDLOW
Photos By RAY FISHER

Boyishly handsome Tony Curtis is a man between two lives: the young side, spent in New York's East Side of crowded tenements and gang fights; and the adult side, an actor with polished ability and established dramatic reputation.

At 33, he hasn't quite lost the one. He hasn't yet grasped the other. But he's working hard.

He says "ny-ther" in his continuing study to speak better—a friendly, informal way of speaking, but sometimes with a studied way of choosing the larger word.

Celebrity Parade

But East Side traces are there, too — "y'know?" at end of a sentence, or a declaration ending in a questioning note. He "digs" something or speaks of "a philosophy" in succeeding sentences.

He smiles wryly when you ask him about it. "It's a combination of trying to better my speech," he explains.

This boy is no Albert Schweitzer. But he's no shallow Valentino type either. He has more of a brain than his studio once gave him credit for. He's a man, too, making up for lost time in learning.

We met his train in Hollywood to talk with one of two men: the Tony Curtis of the teen-age set, the man with the almost too-pretty face; or the Tony Curtis of the Saturday Review with an enthusiastic acclaim for his acting in "The Defiant Ones."

We met neither, but the man in between — and just a brief glimpse at that. How much can you learn of a man in 30 minutes?

On his way to Key West for filming of "Operation Petticoat," he stood up as we entered his compartment — smaller than he seems in pictures — shorter, thinner and with small features.

At first glance he looked like a bullfighter — slim-hipped in black trousers that fitted more snugly than Ivy Leagues, white shirt that showed up his tanned face, clear blue eyes.

If anything, he's better looking to see in person — more of a masculine look. When you see him, you can better imagine him in the denims, T-shirts and leather jackets of the New York gangs of which he talks.

* * *

No Desire For Something

HE DOESN'T TRY to cover up his East Side beginnings. To some old friends he's still Bernie Schwartz as he was born, elder of two sons of an Hungarian - American tailor.

"Sure, I had my bout with the law, in a minor way," he said of his early days, just a shade this side of juvenile delinquency, a subject about which he'll talk for hours.

He continued in a deep voice, "I found most of my trouble was not having a point of view, an attitude, a DESIRE for something.

"Until that time I didn't know what I wanted to do, where I wanted to go." He leaned over to tie highly-glossed black shoes.

"And there was all that free time."

I Had My Bout With The Law
. . . admits Tony Curtis

Few Close Friends as a Youngster
. . . gang stuff is bad

Why so much? What about school?

"I attended school, but never to the point of being a scholar." Any subjects interest him? "No-o-o. Nothing at all. The only thing I was interested in in school was getting out of it as quickly as possible."

He smiled and shook his head. "If I had used one HALF the energy I used in avoiding school and thinking up tricks to get grades — oh, you know, borrowing papers, stuff like that — I would have finished school. I went through seventh term." He felt in his pockets for cigarets, found none and asked, "May I bum one from somebody?" then went on.

"I didn't have many close friends," he said. "And that's another thing I'd like to bring out. A boy or girl can be helped with having close friends, someone they can talk to.

"The gang stuff isn't any good. One boy wants to join a group and he has to prove he's better than someone else."

* * *

Settlement House Or Reform School

THE TRAIN had passed North Miami. He was busy with the last details of gathering together baggage and tidying up. His movements are cat-quick. He brushed his hair and passed his hand over the sides for final smoothing (a bit of vanity, perhaps?) and continued.

"My role in our gang (The Black Hand) was the nut. They thought I was crazy.

"You see, I wasn't very big as a kid, but I was a good athlete. It was kind of an understood thing — y'know? I could lick this guy or that guy and it was just understood that I could. Most of our trouble really existed between ourselves — fights with other gangs. Not like it is now. We didn't have knives. We just used our fists. But it was mostly between ourselves. Or we'd be accused of breaking windows or taking stuff from the dime stores . . . we were more or less afraid to try anything else. It was mostly with ourselves.

"Consequently, as a result of being a small kid, I had to get away from trouble a lot of times. I'd jump on back of taxis as they were going through traffic. Things like that.

"The other guys would say, 'He's crazy.' So I was like the nut of the gang."

It was during a roundup for questioning of several of these gangs that Tony was given a choice between taking part in Henry Street Settlement House activities or going to reform school. His choice was obvious. "Naturally we all raised our hands for the settlement."

And at the house, Tony met a man whom he counts as one of three persons responsible for his present success, Henry Schwartz (no relation), a worker there. The others are Tony's mother, who lives now in California and his father, "rest his soul, he just passed away."

* * *

He's Hungry To Learn More

AT THE SETTLEMENT Tony had his first taste of acting. But it wasn't until after a hitch in the Navy that he went to dramatic school. Then it was a fast trip to Hollywood when a scout saw him in "Golden Boy," waved a 7-year contract at him and an offer of $75 a week.

He went through a series of pictures which brought him plenty of fan mail and a glamor boy reputation, but he doesn't believe his career got started until he began to free lance. "'Trapeze' was the big break for me," he says. "It was like the major league."

And if you think that Tony Curtis is the moral of a story of how to skirt the law, quit school and become a success, you should talk with the man with an almost hungry eagerness to "learn more."

"A distinguished friend of mine in Hollywood, a brilliant man, has stimulated me to study and helps me select good books on art, music, all that.

"Yes, I still paint — as a hobby. And I started to practice the flute." Then to a friend, "We goofed. We didn't pack the flute."

"We didn't goof," he replied. "Janet said don't remind you." Janet (Leigh) is Tony's wife who will bring their daughter Kelly, 2½, to join him next week.

The train had arrived. Tony buttoned his corduroy jacket and stepped off the coach to hear a familiar sound. A teen-ager's voice said, "Ooooo, there he IS."

Club To Hear Senator Pope

Senator Pope
. . . guest speaker

State senator Verle A. Pope, St. Augustine, will speak at the Miami Woman's Club's annual banquet Tuesday evening in the clubhouse.

This is the club's yearly program planned specifically for the interest of members' husbands, who will be honor guests.

Sen. Pope is mentioned frequently in political circles as a 1960 gubernatorial candidate. His stand on revision of the state constitution made headlines in June when he called Gov. Collins' plan for revision "a step backward" and a blow to the big counties.

He will be introduced Tuesday night by representative George Hollohan.

Mrs. Carolyn Helmly Godley is program chairman for the dinner, which starts at 7 p.m. after a 6:30 reception. Dr. C. Roy Angell of Central Baptist Church will give the invocation.

Lt. Tom Lipe, chief of the city of Miami's detective bureau, will give a memory demonstration.

Sen. Pope's topic is "Wisdom Plus Knowledge Equals Understanding," which is the club's theme during the administration of Mrs. John D. Simmons.

The speaker is a native Floridian, educated at the University of Florida. He was chosen one of four outstanding senators in the 1953 session of the legislature, and named "most valuable senator" in the 1955 session."

He Sells Food Amid Fine Art

By HELEN VAN HOY SMITH
Herald Staff Writer

PALM BEACH — "Hey, look, this jazz is for real." The young actor's voice was awed as he gazed spellbound at the original Claude Monet in Nathan Cummings' penthouse apartment in the Palm Beach Towers.

And all the "jazz is for real" in the luxurious apartment of this remarkable man who collects paintings, gives cocktail parties, and carries on colossal financial operations in this same penthouse apartment, or on the roof garden, which is also most intriguing, with its bronze statuary, depicting agricultural subjects.

"After all," he says, "I am just a groceryman."

He is president of Consolidated Foods and recently found himself on the front pages of newspapers and in news magazines for his purchase of M.G.M. stock.

* * *

THERE ARE SOME 65 or 70 paintings on the walls of this apartment. Impressive, imposing and often bizarre in color and design, they glow with color. They have been perfectly chosen for this apartment in the tropics.

He likes to tell about how he finds his pictures. He goes to obscure studios in Paris, Rome, or London, and if he sees what appeals to him — color, subject matter, and quality in painting — the picture is quickly acquired.

He likes to encourage young painters of ability, and with the exception of the Monet, practically all of the pictures in Palm Beach are by contemporary artists.

His Palm Beach collection, of course, is just part of the pictures he owns. He has also given pictures to many galleries, including the Chicago Art Institute, the University of Notre Dame, the Louvre, the San Francisco Museum, the Montreal Museum and Joe and Emily Lowe Art Gallery at the University of Miami.

A GRACIOUS HOST. Nathan Cummings fits in well with his surroundings. He chatted about art, the movies, and business in general the other afternoon, wearing a white coat and bright red slacks.

He thinks that movies do more to spread the gospel of the United States in Europe than almost any other medium. He spoke of Ben Hur which M.G.M. will release in October.

Just how much money does Cummings have?

"That," he says, "is nobody's business but my own."

Friend Runs Out; Socks Half Knit

CLEVELAND — (WNS) — An advertisement in an Ohio college newspaper reads as follows: "Just broke with my girl friend. Need help finishing argyle socks."

U.S. Gals' Independence Challenged

This observation comes from one of France's leading clubwomen, Mme. Menie Roger - Gregoire, who is worried about a rising trend among Frenchwomen to imitate the American female's "aggresive tendencies."

Mme. Roger - Gregoire issued a warning to her countrywomen, declaring that the U.S. "hard-sell" technique would end in disaster if a French girl tried it.

Furthermore, she stated, with all her determination and prowess, the American woman rarely gets what she wants.

"We have been told repeatedly how American women 'run' things in their country and dominate most aspects of life there."

"Naturally, when we hear so much of this, we begin to believe it. But I don't."

The petite clubwoman insists that the Frenchwoman's femininity is the secret of her strength. She says, "the acid test is this: which wife finds it easier to get what she wants from a man? I'm sure the Frenchwoman does —every time."

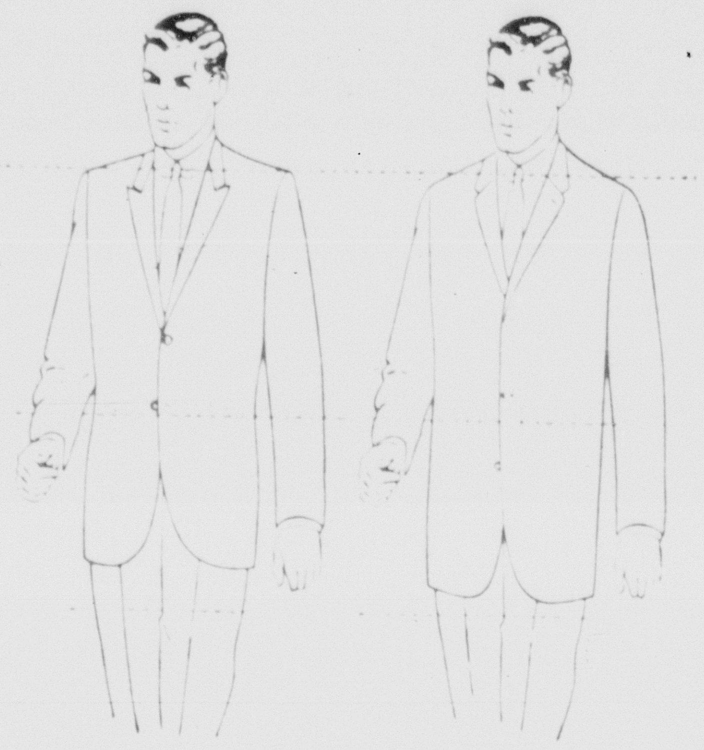
How Continental Differs from Ivy

By BERT BACHARACH



NEW TREND: Our two sketches show the major differences in silhouette between the new Continental model (at left) and the Ivy or Natural Shoulder (at right.) Note, from top down, that the Continental has squarer shoulders and a peak lapel; it has two buttons, rather than three, and a slight shaping of the waistline; and it has a cutaway rounded front and is shorter.

MEMORY JOGGERS: On several occasions I've mentioned the practice of slipping an important memo under the cellophane cover of a cigaret pack, which will provide 20 reminders before the pack is emptied . . . I just encountered another idea. Fellow I know slides the memo under his tie clip. It shows, of course, and that's what makes it a good reminder! . . . Then there's the fellow who carries a few government postcards in his pockets and mails himself one when there's something he doesn't want to forget or neglect.

ODD ITEMS: Word to Wives — You can sharpen your sewing machine needle by sewing through fine sandpaper a few times . . . Another Word to Wives — If you have poor luck with fresh flowers at home, try giving your vases a good washing with hot detergent suds, to remove any bacteria that may be wilting the posies . . . Tip for Motorists — Do you carry an umbrella in your car? If so, protect it by using one or two cardboard mailing tubes as a cover. Otherwise, it can be badly soiled, even torn . . . Male Bag — Richmond, Va. "Is it bad grooming to wear ready-tied bowties? Isn't it better grooming to hand-tie your own?" No. The ready-tied bows are also hand-tied — and better, probably, than any of us can tie them!

POCKET TRICKS: With the new, trimmer clothing, men shouldn't load their pockets with so much stuff. One idea (that I'm merely reporting, nor enthusiastically advocating) finds clip-on pens and even cigaret packs tucked into the elastic tops of socks! (It's an old gob custom.) . . . If you're average, you carry a whole bunch of keys in your pocket. But how many days of the year do you use more than one, or at most two? So why not tote just those (they will fit neatly in a pocket of your wallet) and carry the keyring only when needed?

Paris Shows To Start

PARIS — (AP) — New styles that will please the men as well as the women were promised by a top Paris designer as this fashion capital readied itself for the opening of 1959 spring and summer shows.

While it is expected that the general trend will be back to normal waistlines and longer skirts, after the extremes of last season, don't rule out surprises.

"The big change will be in volume and balance of the silhouette," said Pierre Cardin, one of the most original and creative designers. However, he added reassuringly, the ladies will like it — and even the men.

"I attach no importance to the waistline or the length. I do not feel for dark colors, and my collection will be very bright," Cardin said, speaking in the role of the fashion oracle he is rapidly becoming.

The big season will be under way Monday with the Jacques Heim show. The privilege of lifting the curtain on collections traditionally goes to the president of the high fashion syndicate, the post where M. Heim succeeded Raymond Barbas of Jean Patou.

Jean Patou and Cardin will follow on Monday afternoon, Pierre Balmain, Tuesday morning and Michael Goma (a newcomer of last season) in the afternoon.

Climax of the collections is still reserved to the House of Christian Dior, which will show Thursday morning, with Lanvin Castillo following in the afternoon. Winding up the major houses, Jean Desses will open on Saturday morning.

At Least She Could Talk Back

HAMBURG, Germany — (WNS) — Frau Adolphe Schmidt left her husband because he was training to be a traffic cop and spent every evening blowing whistles and making wild gestures in the living room.

Worst of all, he used her as a culprit to bawl out and write tickets to.

Marriage counselors have advised Frau Schmidt merely to take a vacation from her husband until the training period has ended.

He Can't Teach Kissing

PARIS —(WNS)— Prince Cyril Narischkine, a handsome Russian-born Parisian who is known here unofficially as the Continent's best hand-kisser, has turned down an offer to direct a chain of hand-kissing schools scheduled to open soon in New York, Hollywood, Washington, Dallas, San Francisco and Chicago.

"There is nothing to teach," insists the White Russian prince. "To be born a male is to be born a natural kisser of ladies' hands."

Frederick Mellinger, head of a top Hollywood couture house, flew to Paris to sign Prince Narischkine for his new venture the hand-kissing school chain, and is now looking for a replacement.

"With European travel at its peak, the demand for hand-kissing schools in America is growing every day," declared Mellinger.

He admitted that the demand is coming from American women, not men.

Prince Narischkine agreed that the ability to kiss a lady's hand is an essential art for any gentleman, but doubted that there is enough to the subject to establish a training course.

"All that the American man requires is a little practice," he explained.

"If there are going to be hand-kissing schools in America, they should be for the ladies and not for the men," suggested the prince.

"Women must learn how to give their hands to be kissed," concluded the prince. "There should be dignity and a moment of silence. But silence is so difficult for the American woman."

Is Necking In School Improper?

"DEAR MISS VANDERBILT:

"On several occasions girls and boys in our school have been surprised when found in each other's arms around various corners and in the halls.

"Some of our teachers think that even for very respectable girls and boys this is not appropriate conduct.

"They even go as far as to say that a public display of affection shows a lack of refinement.

"One of the teachers thinks that if a person hasn't any respect for himself, the least he can do is to show consideration for the general public.

"We are really puzzled. We would appreicate your frank opinion on the attitude our teachers are taking.

T. P., Darrouzett, Tex."

I quite agree with your teachers.

When I was in high school this kind of conduct meant a summons to the principal's office.

I still think that such discipline was a good idea.

How New Wonder Drug Cosmetic Restores Young Look to Aging Skin

Medical science proves specific skin cells can be reactivated, wrinkles due to dryness or lack of oil reduced, young skin tone restored, by the application of two female hormones, estrogen and progesterone. These are now offered for the first time, without prescription, by Helena Rubinstein in new medically safe Ultra Feminine Face Cream. Read the scientific evidence below.

Helena Rubinstein Salutes Medical Science

Helena Rubinstein acknowledges the cooperation of the many participating doctors and research scientists, universities, hospitals and clinics, for their help in the development and testing of her Ultra Feminine discovery, the first face cream that actually reverses two of the aging processes of the skin.

Helena Rubinstein's Ultra Feminine Face Cream is the only formula containing both vital hormones natural to you as a woman—estrogen and progesterone. Like your physician's prescription, this formula is active. It works on the skin cells themselves.

Power Restored To Aging Skin Cells

Right now, the tiniest fraction of an inch below your skin surface, lie the same living cells that made your skin soft, firm, fresh when you were very young. Medical tests show that Ultra Feminine reactivates these sleeping cells!

What Is Young Skin?

To the eye it is firm, clear, unlined, dewy. To the medical scientist the cells of the young skin are still able to retain their natural moisture. These plumped out cells cushion the surface so that it cannot sag into age lines. Young skin is constantly filmed with softening, protective oils plentifully supplied by the sebaceous (or oil) glands. This picture holds true till "youth-supply" failure begins . . . when the vital hormones which power these cells for young functioning start to wane. What are these hormones?

Jewel-like pure crystals of Estrogen and Progesterone — the two vital female hormones in Ultra Feminine Face Cream.

Nature's Way of Making a Woman Feminine

These hormones are estrogen and progesterone, the hormones responsible for female sexual development. For procreativity. For the sum total of femininity: soft, lustrous hair, gentle voice quality—graceful neck — feminine curves — long, rounded legs. And for soft, smooth, supple skin! When estrogen and progesterone wane, no beauty treatment that simply puts moisture and lubricants on the surface of the skin can help the "youth-supply" cells function as once they did.

Beauty Through Science

The first startling beauty break-through came when Helena Rubinstein made her memorable estrogenic cream discovery thirty years ago. Now, with the further cooperation of medical science, she announces Ultra Feminine, the first wonder drug cosmetic with both estrogen and progesterone to help the skin cells compensate for hormone failure.

Here is what the doctors report:

Tissue cells can hold moisture again after use of Ultra Feminine! These cells, plumped out once again by moisture, support the surface firmly. Lines smooth out. Wrinkles due to dryness are reduced.

Is Ultra Feminine a drug?

Yes, this precedent-shattering beauty treatment is precisely that. It is a drug by action, working within the skin to restore vital physiological substances. Surface creams, on the other hand, reach only the outer layers of the skin. Ultra Feminine meets the same rigid tests that drugs prescribed by doctors have to pass—yet it is so safe it needs no prescription. Ultra Feminine is the wonder drug cosmetic of beauty science!

Works Like a Prescription

No surface additive of moisture, no superficial lubrication can give you the results obtained from this wonder drug preparation. Only the functioning of your own skin cells can truly create the smooth, supple, fresh look of youth. Use Ultra Feminine faithfully for thirty days. You will discover that you can look younger.

Little Freddie Wouldn't Give in to Pain

By EVELYN FIELDUS
Written for The Herald

Even a little boy can be courageous. Freddie Mott was.

It was for his outstanding courage that the 11-year-old Little Leaguer was presented a trophy Wednesday night by the Miami Shores Recreation Department.

Freddie, son of the Fred D. Motts, 11801 NW 1st Ave., is a good looking boy. He's a little thin, but not terribly so.

If he favored his right leg slightly at the award banquet at the Miami Shores Country Club, only his parents noticed it. But everyone knew of the lad's long struggle against illness.

* * *

FREDDIE WAS A NORMAL, healthy baby who walked before he was a year old. But when he was seven, he complained of a cramp in his right leg.

Growing pains, thought his mother, and she rubbed the pain away.

The next week the pain kept coming back, not intense, but persistent.

X-rays showed Freddie has a bone disease, commonly called Legg-Perthes, which causes the ball of the thigh joint to become soft. The slightest movement of the leg or hip causes the bone to crumble.

Doctors believe the disease is caused by an infection or bruise to the tissue around the bone, cutting off the blood supply to the tissue which in turn causes a deterioration of the bone itself. It is most common in boys between the ages of seven and 14. An estimated 7500-15,000 children are affected in the U.S. today.

The only treatment for the disease is complete immobilization for three to five years.

* * *

FREDDIE spent the first two and a half years in the cast which would not allow him to stand or sit.

He had two choices: He could lie on his back or he could lie on his stomach. He much preferred the stomach position — this way he could watch TV and play chess, checkers and other games with his little brother, Dale and the friends who came to visit.

Freddie Mott
. . . Little Leaguer now

By constantly practicing push-ups, Freddie developed strong arm and shoulder muscles so he could drag himself to the front door, where he spent hours looking out, watching Dale and the fellows play.

Then one day Freddie's father came home with a large wagon. He removed its sides and with a large piece of plywood built a flat bed on the wagon. Mrs. Mott made a small mattress for it.

It became a common sight in the neighborhood to see a bunch of boys coming down the street pulling Freddie along with them, cast and all.

* * *

EVERY THREE MONTHS, Freddie made a trip to the hospital where he was removed from his cast, X-rayed and promptly re-cast.

It was an agonizing process because his new cast stayed wet and clammy for two or three days. And after the cast dried, his small body inside its plaster of paris prison, sweated, itched and ached.

But no one, not even his parents, ever heard him complain. Only his eyes, faintly shadowed with violet circles, revealed his misery.

When Freddie was nine, the doctor told him his cast would soon come off for good. But three months later, the X-ray machine dictated otherwise.

"I'm sorry, son," the doctor said, "but to be on the safe side we better wait another three months."

It was the only time Freddie cried.

Two days later however, Freddie was out visiting his friends again, pushing his wagon up and down the stret.

* * *

FINALLY, THREE MONTHS LATER, Freddie's cast was removed and he was fitted with a brace.

It was a strong steel and leather affair which lifted Freddie's hip until his foot could not touch the ground. His other shoe was then built up to a corresponding level. At first Freddie had to use crutches to balance himself, but he was soon able to discard them.

Even with his brace he learned to run and play backyard-style ball and he could go to the recreation center to play checkers and chess.

On May 1, 1957 — three years and six months from the time Freddie was imprisoned in his first cast — the brace was removed.

But just two weeks later he was rushed to the hospital with a ruptured appendix. Once again, Freddie had to fight. This time for his life.

Six weeks later, it was a pale, wan little boy who appeared at the recreation center.

But today Freddie's an honest to goodness Little Leaguer in a natty blue and gray uniform. He has just one problem: He wants his team to win.

Let Your Means Be Guide In Choosing Your School

NEW YORK — (UPI) — Too many students choose a college too rich for the family budget, says an executive of a firm which underwrites educations.

Many average or below-average students fail to obtain a higher education, and others get to college but cannot continue because of lack of money, said Robert J. Keir. He is executive vice president of the Tuition Plan, Inc., which enables students to learn now, pay later.

The firm pays tuition and any other fees listed in the school catalog. Parents make monthly payments to the plan and may arrange school-expense contracts for one to four years. More than 90,000 students in private schools and colleges in 40 states and Washington, D.C., have used the plan in the past five years, Keir said.

He commented on a report from the "Department of Health, Education and Welfare that some 200,000 of the nation's best high-school students did not go to college for financial reasons.

"Too often parents and prospective collegians let their emotions and aspirations out weigh their judgment. Parents want to give children of average ability the 'best' college education generally at a 'prestige school.'

"They believed they can squeak through the cost of tuition, room and board, laboratory and other fees, but they overlook many incidental expenses that can double the actual out-of pocket costs," Keir said.

Tuition, room and board are highest in the East. The rate is lower in the Midwest and Far West; Southern and Southwestern colleges charge the lowest rates.

Most expensive colleges are Harvard and Princeton, which charge about $2,650 a year, not counting extras, Keir said.

Outside expenses for both preparatory schools and colleges range from $200 to more than $1,000 a year. One prep school in Connecticut charges $2,200 for tuition, room and board and students need at least another $800 for spending money.

"If you can't afford high rates and spending money, swallow your pride and enroll your children in church or local colleges. Let them work in summer to help pay their way."

Bitter Battle Ends at FSU In NSA Defeat

By BUCKY CANON
Herald Correspondent

TALLAHASSEE — One of the bitterest Florida State University political battles in years ended this week, at least temporarily, when the student Senate turned down membership in NSA by a 26-11 vote.

FSU

Bucky Canon

NSA is the National Student Association, composed of about 400 American university student governments. It was the third time FSU had considered membership in as many years.

Objectors to NSA hammered home the points that the organization voted to support integration in higher education and opposed restrictive clauses in fraternity and sorority constitutions.

Proponents argued that FSU was playing the part of an ostrich "burying its head in the sand" by refusing membership in a national collegiate group.

Both student body president Art Moore and the student newspaper, the Flambeau, supported NSA, but it was opposed by virtually all Greek groups on campus.

* * *

NAMING OF THE DOZEN or so streets running through campus became final this week as President Strozier removed the last hurdle by approving them.

The famed street facing the freshmen women's dorms will be known as Ivy Way. Other names re University Circle, Dogwood Way and Varsity Drive.

The names were applied by the senate last year and revised somewhat after a faculty committee suggested improvements.

* * *

THE CAMPUS took on an air of deadness this week. Fraternities and sororities quit throwing parties. The Flambeau stopped publishing. Student government groups held no meetings.

But inside the dormitories and rooming houses, things were far from dead. Lights burned brightly until the wee hours as 7,000 students prepared for and went through exam week.

The week began Thursday and ends next Friday. On Saturday 428 students will receive degrees in a graduation ceremony in Westcott auditorium.

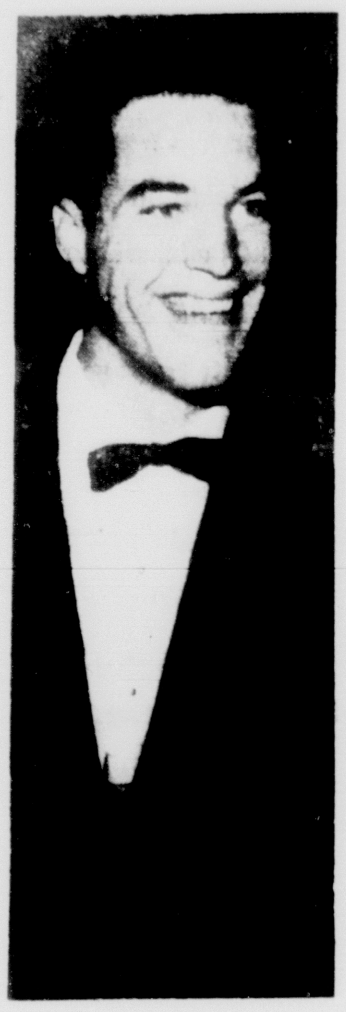
Sorority Will Show Clothes for Travel

A fashion travelogue (clothes for traveling) will be presented today at 5 p.m. by Gamma Epsilon Chapter of Beta Sigma Phi international sorority.

Show is in the Preview Lounge on Coral Way. Clothes from the Mary Schuh shop will be modeled by sorority members and hostesses will be dressed in international costumes.

The show is a benefit for National Cystic Fibrosis. Tickets will be at the door. Mrs. Jean Ann Chase is chairman.



HE COULD PASS FOR JOE COLLEGE but he's not. Handsome Paul Buhler Jr., black-tied for a recent formal party, graduated from Georgia Tech in 1955. He was a lieutenant (j.g.) in the U. S. Navy after graduation. His life is still tied to the sea since he works for a shipbuilding firm and is a hard-sailing member of Biscayne Bay Yacht Club. New Editors Appointed By Publications at UM

By SHARON NELTON
Herald Correspondent

Seymour Beubis has been named editor of Hurricane, University of Miami student newspaper, for the coming semester. He succeeds John Garcia.

U of M

Sharon Nelton

Working with "Sy" will be Steve Weeks, who moves up from sports editor to managing editor. Larrie Schmidt retains his position as news editor.

Tempo, UM's monthly pictorial magazine, also has a new editor. He is Mike Thompson, who was managing editor last semester. Vieve Yarbrough, outgoing editor, will take Mike's former job.

Selections were made by UM's Board of Student Publications, consisting of administration and faculty members and student editors and business managers.

The board created a new Tempo staff position—assistant business manager. Tom Starkey will fill the post.

TWO UM SENIORS who will graduate in February received certificates this week from Alpha Lambda Delta, national academic honorary for freshmen women, in recognition of their outstanding scholarship.

They are Ruth Lund, a marketing major, and Mrs. Anne Brett, a psychology student. Ruth had highest average among graduating ALD members.

Certificates go to ALD members who have maintained a B plus average for their four years in school.

NEW BARRY PROGRAM

Coeds Vote for Fun

By DIANE LE FEVRE
Herald Correspondent

Book-weary Barry College students will have an organized recreation program at last.

A poll of the student body before Christmas showed the coeds were in favor of the program. Now the Athletic Association has set up a bi-weekly recreation schedule intended to provide relaxation while fostering class spirit and team sportsmanship.

Barry

Diane Le Fevre

Consisting of team and individual sports, the activities will be supervised by AA members who will also instruct and coach. Learning and practice are the two by-products the AA hopes the program will produce.

Sister classes — seniors and sophs — will compete against juniors and frosh in sports like basketball, softball, volleyball, and swimming meets. But in the individual bracket — tennis, ping-pong, shuffleboard —it's class against class.

AA President Elinor Lackey, Miami, announced that a prize would be given to the outstanding participant. Other awards will be given to game champions.

Judy O'Neill, Hollywood, is AA secretary.

Plans were made for a World Sodality Congress at which sodalists from every nation will be represented. Seton Hall University, Newark, N.J., was selected as the site for the congress on Aug. 20-23.

Cabeth, who lives in Jacksonville, was appointed acting president of the Miami Diocesan Federation of Sodalities by the Rev. Harold A. Gaudin, S. J., diocesan sodality director. Father Gaudin also attended the Congress.

"WEEPING AND GNASHING OF TEETH" are the only sounds that pierce the hush of concentrated silence which marks the re-visitaton of the dreaded semester exams! Begun Thursday, exams will be completed Tuesday.

Suffragist

The life of Susan B. Anthony, woman suffragist, will be reviewed by Mrs. Edward G. Longman Tuesday at the last in a series of programs on famous American women given by the Womans' Club of Coconut Grove.

The event is at 10:15 a.m. in the home of Mrs. J. R. Hyatt, 3942 LaPlaya Blvd., Coconut Grove. Mrs. James Perry Greenleaf is chairman in the series.

Still More Studying

Approximately 40 per cent of the 303 Barnard College graduates of the Class of 1958 are now attending graduate or professional schools, according to a recent survey.

Of the 120 June alumnae in graduate schools, 75 per cent listed graduate study as their principal occupation.

Seventy-two alumnae are studying in miscellaneous fields ranging from business administration to physics. Fifteen of the graduate students are preparing for teaching professions; ten girls are in medical schools; and nine are in graduate schools of social work.

Five are doing graduate work in library service, four in law, three in theology, and two in journalism.

Vandy Girls Begin Formal Rush Week

By BARBARA JONES
Herald Correspondent

NASHVILLE—Exams over and books closed for a short vacation, sorority girls begin formal rush today.

The first open house today will be for all girls who signed up for rush—245 in all. There will be eight parties of 20 minutes each.

Barbara Jones

The procedures for rush week were explained to the rushees last week by Frances Hart, Miami, president of Panhellenic.

The rushees were provided with an alumni counselor to help them during rush. They met with their individual counselors Saturday and were given a name tag and an invitation to the first round of parties. Rush continues through Wednesday when preferentials will be signed. Rushees will receive their bids the following day.

VANDY STUDENTS interested in political science are being offered an interview-filled, four-day roving seminar with top officials in Washington at less than half the actual price. Dr. D. A. Booth, executive secretary of the Politics Study Center, announced that due to the recent Falk grant to the University, Vanderbilt will be able to pay almost all of the cost of the airplane ticket needed for the Feb. 25-28 jaunt. The purpose of the seminar is to bring a group of selected students into contact with some leaders in all three branches of the government.

Instigated only last week, the scholarship fund is rapidly rising toward the minimum goal of $10,000 hoped for by friends of Lewis.

Prince Needs Punishment? Whip His Friend Instead

LONDON — (INS) — The headmaster of an English school received this letter from an Arab prince, father of one of his students.

"My son Abdullah writes me that he is very happy at your school. He complains of only one thing: that he was whipped last week for a lack of discipline which he admitted.

"Please remember that my son is a Prince and a very sensitive and delicate boy. When it is necessary to punish him in the future, it would be better if you would whip one of his schoolmates.

"I am sure that seeing the punishment inflicted on another boy will impress him sufficiently."

Why a Cafeteria Boom? Working Girls Want 'Em

NEW YORK —(WNS)— The American working girl has just been credited with another of the nation's major revolutions. This time, it's the rise of the cafeteria.

According to a recent restaurant industry survey, career girls rate the lioness' share of honor for the development of the self-service restaurant as we know it today.

And they also get the thanks of cafeteria owners for the fact that an estimated 12 per cent of all meals served in public eating places in America is now served in cafeterias.

In the past three to five years, industry spokesmen report, there has been an increase of nearly 20 per cent in the number of cafeterias. The total is more than 21,000.

This boom is ascribed mainly to the rising number of girls at work who insist on eating in a hurry—to leave time for shopping.

Many a plate of baked beans has gone over the counter since 1885, when the first rudimentary cafeteria opened its doors near New York's Stock Exchange.

Known as The Exchange Buffet, the place attracted an all-male clientele — it was slightly shady for a lady.

The men ate standing up, in a great hurry, and totaled their own bills on the honor system.

The first cafeteria anything like what we're used to today was a Thompson's which opened in downtown Chicago, prior to the Colombian Exposition in 1892.

Both sexes could enter here — provided they could eat without a knife. For self-service food in those days was quickly consumed "spoon food," and nary a knife darkened Thompson kitchens for decades.

The average turnover in cafeterias during a single dining period, industry surveys indicate, is about three and a half times; in the service restaurant, on the other hand, turnover is only one and a half to two times in the same period.

Go Ahead And Cry

Being a housewife nowadays, says Dr. Robert L. Faucett, is a hard, demand-manding, complicated, nerve-wracking job. Yet, in our culture, it is not held in high esteem, and the lady who tackles it is expected to "keep a stiff upper lip."

Dr. Faucett believes this philosophy is all wet. He thinks housewives should be encouraged to let off emotional steam when the stresses of their work "get" them.

"We have been seduced into thinking that emotional disturbances are out of place," Dr. Faucett said. "But some people — housewives especially — must live with emotional disturbances.

"In a house full of kids, how can she help it — and how can she help showing it?"

It's Strictly a Question of Profits

VALENCIA, Spain —(WNS)— Ladies in Spain now pay only half-price to attend wrestling matches. Promoters admit their aim is not to interest women in wrestling — it's purely a question of profits.

The wrestlers are inspired by the presence of ladies at ringside, explained promoter Jose Ramirez. Furthermore, every time a girl buys a ticket to a match, "at least three men hurry to the box office

BECAUSE THIS MAN AND HIS SKILLED RESEARCH CHEMISTS DEVOTED 25 YEARS TO THE STUDY OF WOMAN'S SKIN CHEMISTRY . . .

Today your skin can have that vibrant young glow you thought you'd never see again!

CHARLES REVSON, President of Revlon . . . in this easy-to-understand interview, explains 'Ultima'. . . the first scientifically advanced nutrient cream with bio-energizing action!

* * *

MR. R: Well, it's the only nutrient cream with a special bio-energizer that increases the capacity of your blood vessels to let more blood through—improves your circulation. You see, your bloodstream carries nutrients to feed skin cells—carries away waste materials, helps keep your skin clear and healthy. Stimulating circulation helps both processes.

YOU: How do I know there really is such a thing as a "bio-energizer" in 'Ultima'?

MR. R: That's easy. You can feel it . . . your skin almost tingles. That's the bio-energizer working to bring back a wonderful young glow.

YOU: This is beside the point, but isn't it unusual for a man to be in the treatment cream business?

MR. R: Why? Most of our top skin specialists are men. I've spent a good part of the past 25 years working alongside our research chemists, making a full-scale study of the changing phases of your skin . . . from infancy, on through womanhood.

YOU: Did this research show how much good is done by ingredients like royal jelly, "wonder drugs" and hormones?

MR. R: Well, take hormones . . . they're fine as far as they go. But no "one" ingredient goes far enough. Not even a combination of ingredients does — if it's in a heavy, greasy cream that "sits" on top of your skin. If this happens, you go to bed with your face all "buttered up," and risk doing your skin more harm than good!

YOU CAN ACTUALLY STRETCH YOUR SKIN WITH A HEAVY CREAM!

MR. R: As you get older, you can stretch your skin with heavy creams—because you drag and pull to apply them. They're hard to absorb, too. And it stands to reason if a lot is left on the surface, less is working inside. But 'Ultima' is so quickly absorbed you won't see anything on your face in the morning. Instead of a greasy film, there's just that young glow you thought your skin had lost.

YOU: Why did it take so long to perfect one cream?

MR. R: Well, it's easy to make a heavy cream with nutrients—but no one has perfected a light cream to give your skin all the beneficial ingredients it needs. Our aim was to bring you a cream with more rich ingredients than any you've ever used—yet with the lightest, finest texture possible. That's why 'Ultima' goes to work almost instantly. Also, it contains fast-acting polyunsaturates.

POLYUNSATURATES HELP YOUR SKIN REGAIN WHAT IT HAS LOST OVER THE YEARS!

MR. R: When you're young, two things keep your skin soft and smooth . . . oils and moisture. But as you get older, your skin doesn't produce as much natural oil and loses its ability to hold moisture. Now, polyunsaturates act on skin cells to help increase their moisture-holding capacity!

YOU: You said as I get older, my skin dries out. Is this what causes lines and wrinkles?

MR. R: Wrinkles that get worse unless you help your skin get back the ability to hold moisture and produce natural oils. As far as oils go, when your skin is young it produces lots of "squalene." But it gets less and less over the years. Now, 'Ultima' contains squalene that's specially treated so it's practically the same as the natural oil that your skin had in abundance when you were younger.

YOU: What's the one big thing 'Ultima' does to make my skin look younger?

HELPS CORRECT YOUR SKIN STRUCTURE!

MR. R: It fills out the sub-surface cells with moisture. This rounds out the skin surface, helps erase lines. And because of the oils and nutrients in 'Ultima', dry flakiness disappears almost completely.

YOU: How soon does all this happen?

MR. R: I won't promise that 'Ultima' will make your skin look younger over-night . . . you have too much good sense to believe that. But many women have told me that within a few weeks, their skin looks five years younger. Just so you can find out for yourself, we've packaged a limited number of Sampler Jars — priced at 2.00* — and containing enough 'Ultima' to demonstrate its remarkable results. Why not visit your Revlon Consultant before her supply runs out?

Hospital To Have Cocktail Parties

By NORA OPHULS
Herald Staff Writer

Ever go to a cocktail party in a hospital?

Probably not, nor are there many to whom such an evening sounds lighthearted and gay. Hospitals and the "happy hour" don't seem to mix.

But members of the fund raising committee for The Miami Heart Institute think differently, and well they might. In the Institute's carpeted dining room which overlooks a pool patio and Lake Surprise in Miami Beach, the committee is holding a series of open house-cocktail parties.

Intimate and elegant these parties will be, for in addition to the un-hospital-like atmosphere they have the benefit of two knowledgeable social chairmen in Baronness Vladimir von Poushental and Mrs. Claire Mendel, wife of the German consul in Miami.

They also have the advantage of an illustrious list of dedicated committee members such as Mrs. Jose Ferre, Mrs. Nelson Swift Morris and Mrs. Martin Pulcher.

The purpose of the cocktail parties is twofold. Not only does the committee aim to raise money to equip the Institue for surgery, but it wishes to make Miamians aware of the Institute's contributions to the care and cure of heart disease.

The reputation the Miami Heart Institute holds throughout the country is tops but relatively few of its neighbors know of the valuable job it is doing.

It has been housed in the buildings which made up the old King Cole Hotel at 4701 N. Meridian Ave. since 1951 but it's history goes back much further. It was granted a charter in 1944 and received its first donation in 1945. The Korean Conflict erased all plans of constructing a plant, so they bought the hotel. The first patient was admitted in 1952.

* * *

Patient Revenue Supports Institute

THE MIAMI HEART Institute is supported entirely by patient revenue and contributions from interested friends. It does not benefit from the Heart Fund since the American Heart Association is not permitted to establish or donate to the construction of a hospital. And until this committee was established early this month all fund raising had been done by a few devoted doctors and men.

It is interesting to note that many of the committee members are former Institute patients. In their opinions they were treated more like guests than patients. With the comfortable lobby and lounge, carpeted halls, sunny patio, magnificient view, excellent food, friendly nurses and individual beauty care a patient goes home feeling very pampered.

Yet this is not a rest home. It is equipped to handle all phases of cardio-vascular disorders except surgery. And its research program is an ambitious one.

The plant comprises eight cottages and a main house plus housing for its professional and lay staff, an engineering shop, and other operating necessities.

The main house contains the patients' rooms, dining room kitchen, offices and other such facilities, plus equipment for treatment, some of which is illustrated above. This equipment, plus a whirlpool bath and an electronic muscle contracting machine will be demonstrated for the cocktail guests by the nurses, doctors and committee members.

One of the cottages is devoted to physical therapy and is equipped with whirlpool bath, walking bars, sun lamps, electronic muscle stimulator, hydroculator packs, and various simple exercising machines.

In another the research goes on, a half dozen small rooms filled with test tubes, refrigerators, white mice and bunsen burners. The institute's research is also carried on at Howard Hughes Institute and at University of Miami.

* * *

Surgical Staff And Tools Needed

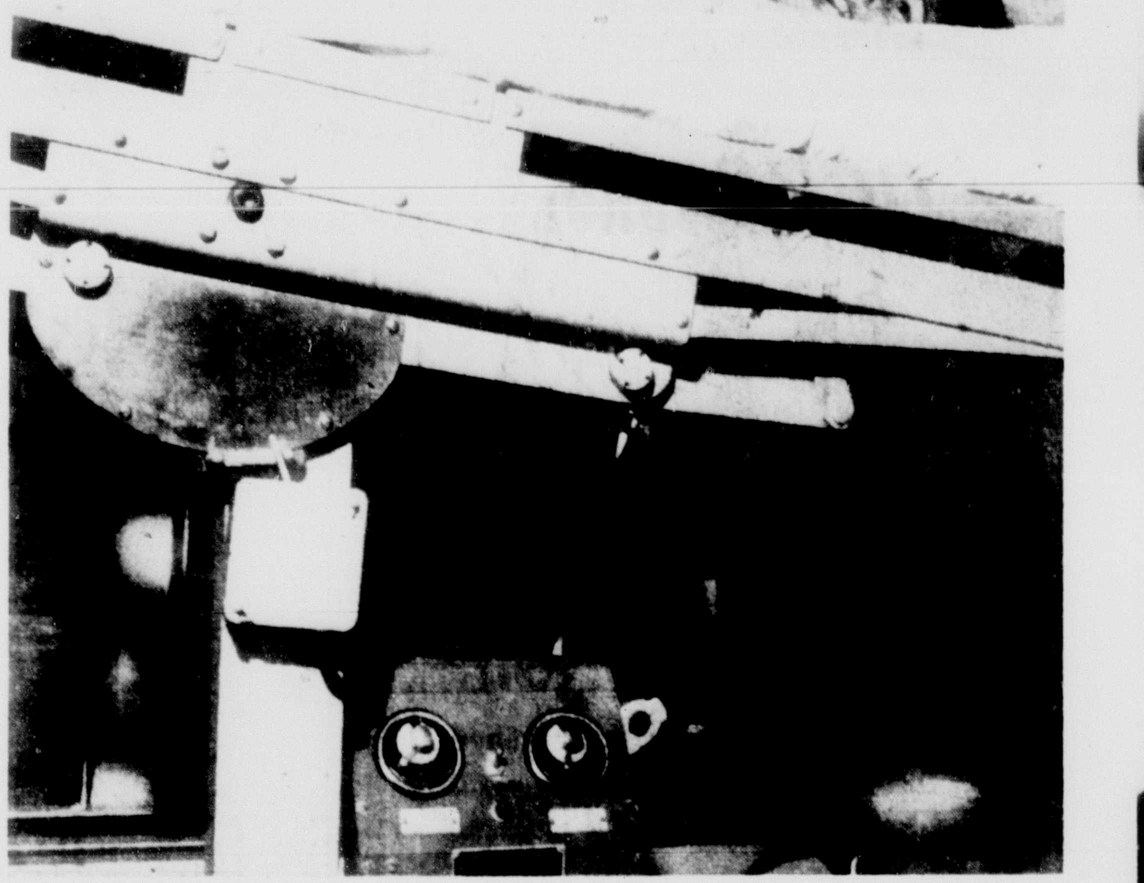
BUT THE INSTITUTE, proud of its reputation in cardio-vascular medicine deplores its lack of surgery. In order to keep pace with developments in cardio-vascular medicine it feels it must equip itself with the best surgical staff and the latest surgical tools. Hence the fund raising committee.

Beside the six cocktail parties, the first of which was Thursday, the committee is giving a series of breakfasts for business men, also in the hospital dining room.

The committee is made up of 33 men and women who have worked — without a chairman since they were organized after New Year's by Mrs. Frederick Rank of Surfside.

Via these parties, to which they are inviting people they feel would be interested in the Institute, they hope to educate Miami about and gain sympathy for the work of the Miami Heart Institute.

And their slogan, which fits both these endeavors, is "Bless your heart."



TEETER TOTTER with medical value is the institute's oscillating bed designed to stimulate circulation in the extremities. Mrs. Sam Becker, Miami Beach committee member, demonstrates the machine-driven bed which tilts slowly forward and stops, allowing blood to fill the patient's arms and legs, then tilts back and stops, allowing blood to flow back toward the heart. The institute has three such beds.

DO IT YOURSELF GLOVE is made in seconds by repeated dippings in a tub of warm paraffin and oil. After about 10 dips in quick succession the hand is left in the 140 degree bath for 15 to 20 minutes. This treatment stimulates circulation. Treatment over, the glove peels off easily and is remelted in the bath.

Iturbi To Be Star of ORT's Award Luncheon

Pianist Jose Iturbi will be the star of the second annual American Resort Fashion Award luncheon Feb. 25, sponsored by the Greater Miami and Miami Beach Afternoon Chapters of Women's American ORT.

For the second year, awards will be presented to designers of resort fashions. The awards, called "Jennies," are statuettes of Mrs. Jennie Grossinger, ORT benefactor.

The luncheon in the Deauville Hotel will include a fashion show by Jordan Marsh, which is giving the designer awards.

Purpose of the luncheon is to publicize and raise funds for the vocational training school program in Israel, the Middle East and Europe, supported by ORT (Organization for Rehabilitation through Training).

Mrs. Irving Tillis and Mrs. Joseph Wilkes are presidents of the sponsoring ORT chapters (Greater Miami and Miami Beach Afternoon).

PTA Members Want To Be Good Parents

Members of Nautilus Junior High PTA want to know more about being good parents. They've requested a workshop on family life education which will be held at 8 p.m. Tuesday in the school auditorium.

The physical, emotional and social growth of teenagers will be discussed by Dr. James Furlong, Dr. Louis Maradie and Mrs. Grover Angell.

Dr. Furlong is a specialist in internal medicine; Dr. Maradie, a clinical psychologist, was formerly with the diagnostic center of the Dade County Board of Public Instruction; Mrs. Angell is character and spiritual education chairman for the Florida Congress of Parents and Teachers.

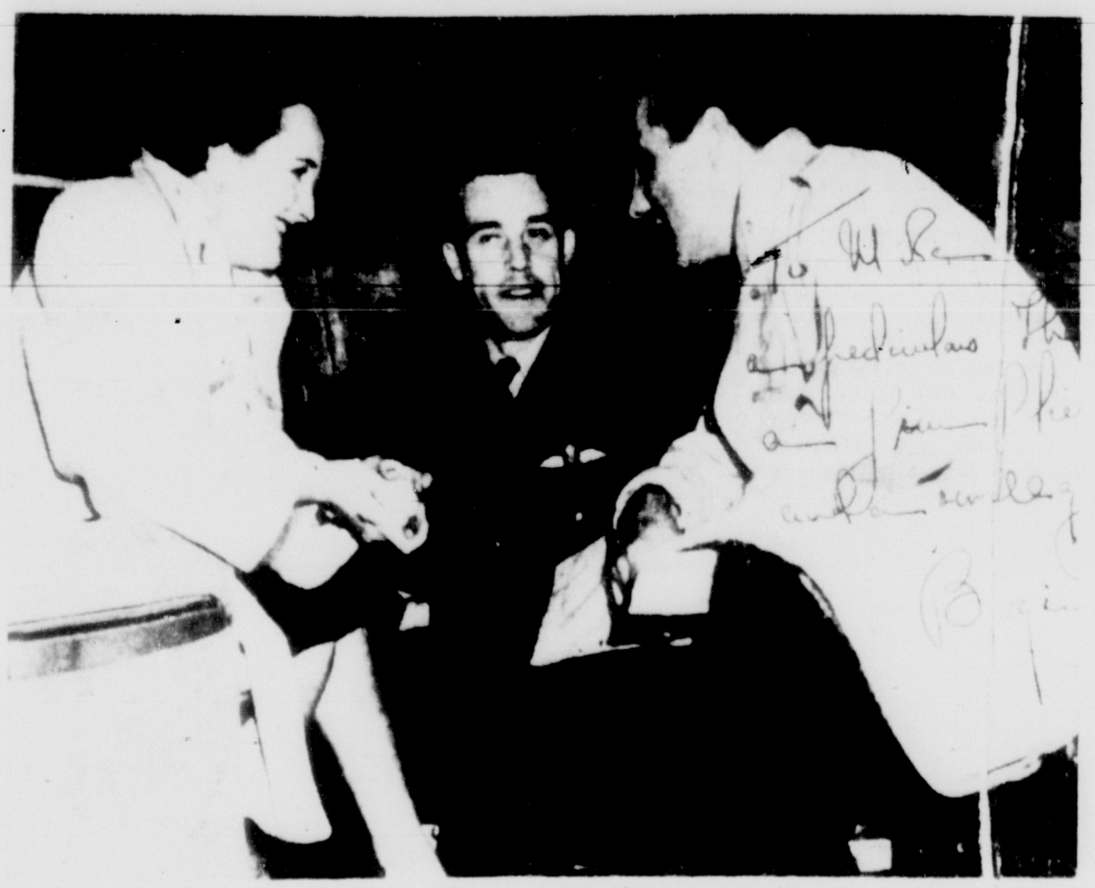
MARY ASTOR: My Story

'I'm Ready for Baptism'

After her second marriage ended in divorce, Mary Astor remarried. Her third husband was Manuel del Campo, a man six years younger than herself.



MARY'S THIRD HUSBAND, Manuel del Campo, center, visits her and Humphrey Bogart on the set of Across the Pacific in 1942. He was on leave from the Royal Canadian Air Force at the time picture was taken.

One In a Series

The recounting of my life has carried me through many love stories, cheap and tawdry and ephemeral. Now I am hesitant, filled with a humble apprehension, for I have come to the point where the great love story of my life began.

The outer fabric of my life, with its pattern of recurring mistakes; my talent for rushing blindly, headlong into disaster; the shambles that inevitably resulted from my habit of acting first and thinking afterward, if at all—this should have destroyed me, body and soul.

And destroy me it almost did, and would have, were it not for the unseen and unfailing ministrations of this Tremendous Lover. No language, be it ever so extravagant, can express my wonder and awe at His persistence.

I have turned my back on Him repeatedly; I have disobeyed Him flagrantly; I have glimpsed the very edge of hell. I have carried the burden of sickening guilt, and felt it lifted—when I cried, "I have sinned exceedingly . . . Forgive me."

* * *

'What Difference Does It Make'

BUT I MUST get back to the attic and continue my house cleaning. And a dirty job it still is. Much remains to be aired—unpleasant sordid ugliness.

My son was born June 5, 1939, five weeks prematurely. Not long after I had brought Tono home, Mike began to talk about having him baptized.

Tono had to be baptized in the Catholic Church and we would ask Bill and Mary Gargan to be godparents. Bill and Mary were not really close friends. Did it matter what church Tono was baptized in? I said, "After all, what difference does it make?" Mike replied, "You couldn't possibly understand. It makes a great deal of difference."

So Tono was baptized at St. Monica's Church. Bill and Mary came back to the house with us, and we celebrated with some drinks.

Since Tono's baptism the Gargans had become increasingly close friends. I listened with growing interest when they discussed religion with Mike.

'Find the Things That Interest You'

ONE AFTERNOON Mary brought a priest to the house. Father Augustin O'Dea was a warm and hearty man, who soon dispelled my shyness of the Roman collar.

"Don't look at me as though I were going to eat you up," he laughed. "Believe it or not, priests aren't out to grab off everyone who comes by, like a spider in his web."

I relaxed, and we had a pleasant visit. Father was not at all doctrinaire or dogmatic. We didn't talk much about religion; he told me he had some books that might answer some of my questions.

I read the books, and then returned them to him at Nazareth House, in the Valley, where he was director. I came back with another armload.

"Don't try to read through all of them," he said. "Just skip around and find the things that interest you." A series of trips between San Remo and Nazareth followed, and I found myself "skipping around" in an impressive number of Father's books.

* * *

I Was Eager To Learn

IN PALM SPRINGS, I went to my first mass with Mary and Bill. I didn't understand much of what was going on, but there was something "comfortable" about it, and easy, real quality that I had never felt when, in the dim past, I had gone to church with my parents.

Then my reading tapered off, and for a while my curiosity was dulled by a combination of professional and personal crises that left no time or thought for other interests.

Later, I renewed my discussions with Father O'Dea. I think I did not know how deeply my idle curiosity had involved me, but I found that instead of reading Father's books with a detached interest I was beginning to study them avidly.

I went to mass occasionally at St. Monica's, but I felt strange and ill at ease.

I was ever more eager to learn, and I pestered Father constantly. He told me to go slowly. If the gift of faith came, it would come in its own time; meanwhile I must pray for it. I had a rosary, and I used it, although the meditations eluded me.

* * *

Happy, Content And Safe

FATHER WAS a patient teacher and a good one. Finally he agreed that I was ready for the baptism. I knelt at the rail and made my profession of faith, and then I went back to the baptismal font, to be baptized in the Roman Catholic Church.

Every morning at six o'clock I went to Mass and Communion at Nazareth House, breakfasting occasionally with Father O'Dea, and then went on to the studio, only a short distance away. I would sit at my dressing table early in the morning sunshine, putting on my make-up, full of thanksgiving for all my blessings—my radio show that was doing so well, the fine picture I was working in, my bounding good health.

And I thought, in my happiness and contentment that I was quite safe, that some intangible kind of magic had created an automatic immunity against the wiles and snares of the flesh.

I failed to realize that I was still myself, that temptations would continue to exist, as they always had, and that now I had a greater responsibility than ever before to struggle against them. But I was not in the habit of struggling.

Thrifty Housewife Pleases Papa

By JEAN WARDLOW
Herald Staff Writer

READERS' EXCHANGE

It pays to be thrifty. It's not just the money. But think of that soul-satisfying feeling you get when you tell your husband how well you watch his pennies.

It gives you that mother-hen-watching-over-her-brood feeling. Here's one of those mother-hen hints:

Use a fruit jar when dry cleaning small items like neckties, gloves, ribbons. Pour the fluid into the jar, douse the article and screw the lid on tightly. Shake well.

Take Mildew Off Mahogany

MILDEWED mahogany furniture, your days are doomed. Mrs. J.M.J. of Ogunquit, Me., and Miami, has a method which she says will do away with mildew on furniture.

She writes:

"TO MRS. A. T. of South Miami—for her mahogany and walnut furniture. First off, clean off all surface dust and soil with a good furniture polish (she gives the name of a commercial polish which we'll be happy to pass along at your request and a self-addressed, stamped envelope).

"Then take a pad of the very finest steel wool, 00, and a bottle of (commercial) polish, pour on the wool and rub gently. Do not use too much polish, but if it does not remove the spots the first time, use again.

"In Florida one has to watch for mildew in almost everything. A little precaution taken upon arrival, and from then on, will do it."

Machine of No Use Without a Recipe

A "GERMAN HOUSEWIFE" has an Italian problem which she hopes Florida housewives can solve for her.

Concerns a ravioli machine which she bought recently. Works fine. But she has no recipes to use with it. And what's a ravioli machine without a ravioli recipe?

She asks, "Would some of you good Italian cooks tell me how to make dough and both cheese and meat fillings? Not the sauce."

Guess the Lantana housewife already has a sauce recipe.

Can you help her so that she may hear the gentle hum of her machine at work — to say nothing of the gentle hum of her husband after he's eaten the ravioli.

Soak Milk-Stained Garments First

HERE'S a short memo on baby's laundering. No, not THAT kind. It concerns baby's milk-stained garments.

MRS. S. M. of Hialeah says to soak baby's milk-stained clothing in cold water before washing it. And when washing, use hot soap or detergent suds.

What Did We Do Wrong?

SPECIAL PLEA to MRS. A. R. G. of West Hollywood. Two readers need help with your fudge recipe (hers was the cook-11-minutes kind).

Their problems are at opposite ends of the pole. One's hardened too fast and turned sugary; the other is ready to turn in her chocolate covered spoon and call it quits because it DIDN'T harden. Says it was just "a batter." And who wants batter when she's hungry for fudge?

Can you tell them what their trouble might be, Mrs. G.? Both claim to have followed ingredients and instructions.

Cheese Tops Baked Tomatoes

"Golden Topped Tomatoes" add interest to winter meals. Cut tomatoes into thick slices and arrange in shallow baking dish. Season with salt and pepper, dot with butter and sprinkle with instant minced onion and grated Cheddar cheese. Broil or bake until tomatoes are tender and topping is bubbly and lightly browned.

Sergeant Asks: How Can We Save Money?

By MARY MILLER

Budget Consultant, Mercantile National Bank of Miami Beach

Money Clinic

If you have the idea that the Air Force is made up of a bunch of fly-boys living luxuriously on the taxpayers' money, you might be interested in the budget of a staff sergeant stationed in the Miami area.

Sergeant Stone (not his real name) has a wife and two-year-old child. He is paid $88 every two weeks, and once a month receives a family allotment of $137.10, making a total of $313.10.

He does not have medical expenses to meet, but that is about the only way in which his budget differs from yours.

The expenses listed on his questionnaire totalled $236, and included rent, utilities, food, car expenses, and installment payments on some home furnishings.

The remainder, $77 has to cover clothing, personal miscellaneous expenses, recreation, savings. The sergeant asked for help in dividing it so that he could save some money — which he is not at present doing.

In offering budget suggestions for the Stones, I have kept in mind the fact that the husband's clothing expense is probably quite low. I have worked on the theory that the wife, as well as the husband, should have some personal spending money each month.

The amount of savings hopefully suggested—$15 a month, does not sound large. But it amounts to about five per cent of the take-home pay.

At any rate, it is $15 a month more than they are saving now. If kept up regularly, it will eventually provide at least a small cushion against emergency. In addition, it may set up savings habits that will carry over when the income reaches a higher level.

Tasty Trick

Next time you have several small amounts of leftover cooked vegetables in the refrigerator, put them together with a cream sauce in a baking dish. Top with buttered bread crumbs and bake in a hot oven until the sauce is bubbly and the topping browned.

Palm Beach Socialites Planning Charity Balls

By HELEN VAN HOY SMITH
Herald Staff Writer

PALM BEACH — The pessimistic poet who mourned "Alas! for the rarity of Christian charity under the sun," had never been to Palm Beach, where the largest and most glamorous events are given for sweet charity.

On March 12, some 850 socialites will attend the Candlelight Ball in the Orange Gardens of the Everglades Club. Proceeds will go toward expansion of hospital facilities at St. Mary's and Pine Ridge Hospitals. Desired also is the establishment of a clinic for the acutely ill, with all special equipment centered there.

Chairman of the ball is attractive Mrs. William E. Benjamin II. Richard Hoyt of the Trevi Shop in Miami will do the decor for the dance, carrying out a candlelight theme.

Pauline Trigere will design an evening dress as one of prizes awarded during the evening. Miss Trigere will send a collection of beautiful gowns to be modeled and a bevy of beautiful girls to do the modeling.

Working with Mrs. Benjamin are: LeRay Berdeau, executive chairman; Morris Brown, treasurer; W. Terry Gibson, secretary; Mrs. Stephen Sanford, entertainment, Mrs. Robert Brown and Mrs. Frank Lewis, ball; Mrs. Robert J. Sweeny, information; Mrs. J. Jay O'Brien, invitation; Christopher Dunphy, bachelor committee chairman; Dr. Walter N. Newbern, doctors; Mrs. Patricia Massey Tevander, decoration; Mrs. Valentine Bartlett, Hobe Sound; Mrs. Stewart Iglehart, Delray Beach; Mrs. Joseph P. Savage, tickets; Mrs. Volly Townsend, Womans Auxiliary; Mrs. Benson Ford, fashion; Mrs. Marco W. Johannson, program.

* * *

THE HEART BALL, with Mrs. Frank McMahon, (Betty Betz) chairman, will be on Feb. 19 at the Bath and Tennis Club. Decorations will follow a French theme, with the French Line donating the dinners and champagne for the ball.

Mrs. H. Loy Anderson is chairman of the "Bruncheon" which precedes the ball on Feb. 15 at the Celebrity Room of the Royal Poinciana Playhouse and the Concours d'Elegance to follow in the Royal Poinciana Plaza.

The American Cancer Society is sponsoring the opening of "The King and I," at the Musicarnival Feb. 10, followed by a supper party at the Palm Beach towers.

'Help Me Save My Marriage; It's Going on the Rocks'

DEAR ELEANOR HART:

I have been married five years, have two beautiful daughters, a nice home and a handsome husband "almost perfect," yet I am very unhappy.

The problem is that my husband does not keep a job. After a year or two he gives his resignation. The work is never good enough and they never pay him enough.

He has been without work two years. Since then, our second daughter was born. Naturally, I had to quit work for five months and had to borrow money for doctors, hospital and living expenses.

Thank God, I make a good salary. Our debts are paid and we are living well. But I resent this way of living. I would like to stay home more with my children and enjoy them while they are small.

I have all the responsibility where money is concerned. This type of living makes me nervous and irritable at times, and I often nag my husband.

He tells me there is nothing he can do about it, that he does everything he can to find a decent job according to his ability and knowledge, and if I do not like it, I do not have to take it.

This makes me sad. I love my husband and would like to keep him. But I feel bitter and I show it outside.

My husband is a great help in the house. He does everything for the children. He loves them dearly, feeds them, bathes them, cleans the house every day, better than most women.

I do not understand why it is so hard for him to find a job. He is very intelligent, has a B. A. degree, won two Pulitzer prizes, one in Europe and one here for good work. He speaks four languages, has many friends.

What do you think can be done to save my marriage that I feel is going on the rocks?

MINOU

Is it really only YOUR marriage? Do you really feel the way you do, or do you feel you ought to feel this way, possibly because of "society's pressures?"

Apparently something is disturbing your husband, too, for obviously he is a man who has the ability to succeed in his chosen line of endeavor.

You ask what can be done to save a marriage that YOU feel is going on the rocks. I earnestly advise private counseling with a professional marriage and family counselor, of which there are several in the Greater Miami area.

'I Claim Mine Is Best Hubby'

DEAR ELEANOR HART:

I must let Satisfied Mrs. know that she possibly has the second-best husband in the world, but I really have the greatest!

We have four children, ages 6, 9, 12 and 20, have had more than our share of ups and downs, but have grown more in love with each passing year.

My husband has always been a good provider, and works from 7 a.m. to 9 p.m. every day, with no days off except Christmas and New Year's. And he spends every free moment with his family.

His ideals and character are also of the highest caliber. He is kind, sympathetic and considerate to everyone he meets, but his first concern is always for his family.

He is tall and handsome, and although he is getting slightly gray, he and our oldest son are often mistaken for brothers.

Our children are very proud of the fact that we are younger looking than most of their friends' parents, and also of the fact that we are still so much in love. We prefer each other to anyone else in the world.

In spite of having four children and heavy financial responsibility, with our oldest son in college, my husband is always ready to give a helping hand and counsel to fatherless boys. He has been exceptionally successful in straightening out several so-called wild teenagers.

I too must be excused for raving, but I love and respect my husband so much, it's difficult to express in a letter. He really is the world's most wonderful husband.

The Most Satisfied Mrs.

I doubt if Satisfied Mrs. will concede to you, but the rest of us must surely agree that you two, without doubt, have cornered the market on two wonderful guys. Thank you for writing.

Poem Helps

DEAR ELEANOR HART:

I read your column every day and agree with so many others, it's wonderful. It helps me in many ways, mainly to appreciate life and what I have. When I read about others' problems, I realize how lucky I am.

The other day I wrote a poem. I read it over often because it helps me when I'm lonely. You see, my boy friend is away in the Marine Corps and I miss him terribly.

Since your column helps me I thought my poem might help some of your readers. It reads like this:

My darling, if I could really say
How much I miss you every day,
You'd know my love is deep and true
And why, sweetheart, I wait for you.
Until you return once more to me,
My loneliness will always be.
I need your love more than you know,
If I knew the words, I'd tell you so.

MURIEL (AGE 18)

DEAR MURIEL:

Some songs don't need words. Thank you for thinking of us.

Eleanor Hart.

VIPs To Meet At Key Largo 'World Fairs'

Velvet Slacks, Ski Socks Out of Place at Musicale

Fashions Around Town

We think Miami women need take a back seat to no one when it comes to being well-dressed.

That's most of the time. But some of the fashion violations you can clock around our town would give Emily Post the screaming meamies!!

There's the girl who turned up at a musical event — traditionally a dressy affair—in red velvet slacks. Not only that, but she was wearing gayly colored socks with soles attached to them — the type you ordinarily think of as after-ski footwear around an open fire.

A stroll through the Cabana Club of a Miami Beach hotel can turn up some eye-popping sights, too. Scanty bikinis are becoming more and more popular with young, slim girls. But unfortunately you'll see them too on not so slim and not young girls who ought to be showing a good deal less figure.

Such ensembles as extravagant mink wraps, draped over ordinary day-time cotton dresses better suited to a trip to the supermarket than to a nightclub are not at all uncommon.

Then you'll see an odd silhouette a little like a duck's shape. It's produced by women who wear their fur-trimmed sweaters over cocktail dresses with elaborate poufs or drapes at the hipline.

And naturally the sweater also poufs out in back unbecomingly.

Most women viewing the races from Hialeah's clubhouse lean to casual silk print or linen dresses. But occasionally you'll see a woman who thought she was dressing for an evening cocktail party. We saw one pretty woman in a navy blue taffeta dress with a low neck and full skirt that would have looked divine at dinner at the Surf Club but lacked a certain sporting feeling.

* * *

NATURALLY, you have to look hard to find these non-conformists.

Our vote for the best-dressed women of the week is divided among three women we spotted in Hialeah's clubhouse. Mrs. Michael Phipps chose an understated beige shirtwaist dress polka-dotted in white. Mrs. Mike Cowles looked especially smart in a white silk printed with big blue flowers. Over it she wore a white sweater.

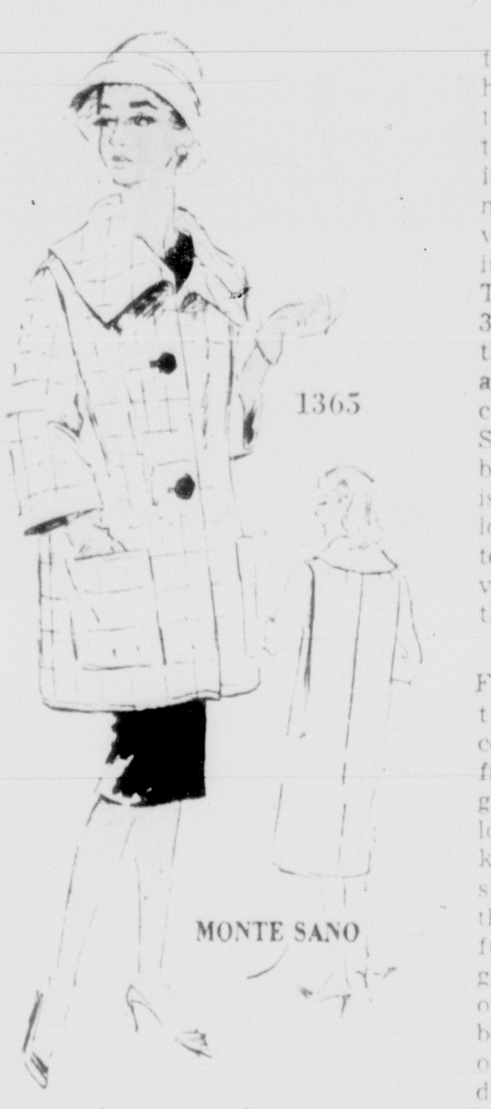
Good for Sports Or Summer Wear



FAMOUS soft tailoring that has always distinguished Monte Sano designs is yours for the making — and very easy making it is too! There are only 3 basic pieces in the pattern, with a seam down the center back. Sleeve is set in, but the handling is such that it looks like an extension of an inverted pleat at the shoulder line.

IMPORTANT FASHION signs: the oversized collar, set away from the neck; giant buttons; low placed pockets; shortened sleeve. In either three-quarter or full length, it is good in tweeds or wool coatings, bengaline, faille or shantung for dressy wear, linen or novelty cottons for a summer topper.

SIZE MEDIUM requires 2¾ yards of 54-inch material for ¾ length coat, 2 7-8 yards of 36-inch material for lining and 2 yards of 42-inch material for interlining.

TO ORDER Pattern No. 1365, state size, send $1, plus 5c postage. For 96-page Pattern Book No. 15, send $1. Address Spadea, Box 535, G.P.O., Dept. M-6, New York 1, N. Y. If paid by check bank requires 4c handing charge.

Hallmark Art Show Fully Rates Its Name

By DORIS RENO
Herald Music and Art Editor

Music and Art

Art Reviews

The Fourth International Hallmark Exhibition, now installed in Lowe Gallery, is surely the best-quality, the most international, and the most varied and interesting show this business firm has sponsored.

The fact that more top-grade painters from many countries have entered paintings, and first-class paintings, in the show is undoubtedly due to the withdrawal from the Christmas card idea which has dominated previous Hallmark shows.

This year no theme was suggested to the 50 invited artists, and more and finer responses were, quite obviously, the result. It seems to us that more painters have top-flight canvases on view than in any previous Hallmark show.

There are two unusual features—most of the canvases are small, and most fit into the representational category. The size of canvases being what they have been at the Lowe this year, and the predominating school unabashedly abstract, both these features are refreshing to contemplate.

We liked a lot of things in the show, but did not go along with the judges on all the awards. Several things we liked most did not get any prizes—most notably Andrew Wyeth's "49th Parallel," Walter Murch's "Architectural Fragment," Carl Fellman Schaefer's "Wheat Field," and Jacob Weideman's "Early Autumn."

Had we been consulted, the last painting mentioned might have got first prize.

Of special interest is Maurice Vlaminck's "Village in Normandy," which the painter entered just before his recent death at past-80. It is by no means the best work this painter has left behind, but it is attractive.

Twenty-eight American painters, nearly all well-known, are represented in the show and 22 from other countries.

* * *

BOTH the photographic shows now up at the Lowe are excellent. Jacques Wolfe has a unified study of North Carolina and its inhabitants, and Richard Veit has boating photographs, pictures shown on a recent European journey, and portraits.

Wolfe's pieces are sensitively-conceived, sympathetic portraits of people and buildings, or of the two in conjunction. There is depth and perception in them, and a love of human beings shines through. The artistic quality is high. There are also several striking landscape studies, including a beauty of a waterfall.

Veit's portraits are striking, his sailboat studies winged, and his travel pictures excellently composed. The European and Mexican studies make the viewer hungry to go abroad and see for himself.

* * *

XAVIER GONZALEZ' one-man, which will be at the Playhouse Gallery through Feb. 7, reveals this New York and Cape Cod painter as an extremely sensitive watercolorist who composes with style, uses color subtly and delicately, and stylizes his material intelligently.

He doesn't imitate Marin, doesn't resemble him at all, really, but he is moving along towards the stylized-plane relationships Marin used. One major difference — he never "bats out" a picture, as Marin frequently did in his later years, but apparently works slowly to establish detail and meaning.

Some of the finest are "The Bee," "Tinker Shop," "Heliopolis," "The White Wall," "Apotheosis," "Interior," "Tug Boat." There are also four oils on view, all interesting, but we prefer the watercolors.

* * *

RUDOLPH GALLERIES has a new group show of the "regulars" who exhibit there during the winters.

Among the most rewarding things on display during this period are Bruce Dorfman's "Portrait of a Cello," Ann Kopp's Figure Study, Bruce Currie's "Girl Watering Flowers," Arnold Blanch's "Village," Milton Avery's "Cows in a Pasture," Robert Philipp's "Girl in Red Jacket," and the Sidney Laufman landscape.

There are also paintings by Doris Lee, Syd Solomon of Sarasota, Sadie Rosenblum of Miami, Sigmund Menkes, Ben-Zion, Fletcher Martin, Raphael Soyer, and others.

* * *

THE GROUP SHOW at the Coconut Grove Women's Club has on display small paintings by most of the painters from the Grove and Gables who usually contribute to this annual event.

Among them are Elizabeth Upham Davis, Granville Fisher, Robert Draper, Rachel Stearns, Florence Kushner, Mrs. Forbes Hawkes, E. A. Evans, Eleanor Humphrey, Patricia Kirkeberg, McGibbon Brown, Gladys Randolph, Paul Laessle, Margaret Goggin, and others.

MASTERS AT PLAYHOUSE

New Art Exhibits At 3 Galleries

The new Playhouse Gallery and Mirell Gallery, both located in Coconut Grove, will open new exhibitions this week.

The Playhouse Gallery will open Monday an Old and Modern Masters show, which will be a collection of paintings and sculpture lent by institutions and private collectors of the Greater Miami area. It will continue through Feb. 14.

Among the pieces on view will be work by Paris Bordone, Feti, Veronese, Philippe de Champaigne, Corot, Courbet, Ganssens, Kneller, LeSueur, Metzinger, Nattier, Ben Benn, Anton Clave, Lionel Feininger, Milton Avery, Robert Brackman, Ernest Lawson, Vassily Kandinsky, Modigliani, Doris Rosenthal and Serisawa.

Lenders include Mr. and Mrs. R. H. Nichols, Robert Draper, Gen. and Mrs. E. A. Evans, Francois Lardon, Dr. Louis Skinner, Oliver Orton, Alfred Barton, Mr. and Mr. Claire Mendel, Dr. S. Gerber, Dr. and Mrs. Carl Davis, Mr. and Mrs. Gardner Cowles, Mrs. Irving Rabinowitz, Mr. and Mrs. S. J. Levin, Alvin Richter, Mr. and Mrs. George Farkas, Mr. and Mrs. Benjamin Blumberg, Lowe Gallery, Washington Art Gallery and Rudolph Galleries.

On view will be paintings by Elenora Chambers, who had a one-man show at the gallery last season; prints by Margo Hoff of Chicago; drawings by Lawrence Donovan; and watercolors by Fred Albert.

* * *

Art Previews Next Sunday

Two exhibitions will be previewed in local viewing places next Sunday. Bert Boucher will have his first one-man anywhere at the Village Corner Gallery in Coral Gables, beginning with the 7 to 10 p.m. preview today. The public may see the exhibition Feb. 2-28.

Mexican realistic painter Raul Vieyra will have a one-man at The Gallery Restaurant, Coral Way, beginning with a preview from 2-5 p.m. next Sunday. The show will continue throughout February.

Springs Art Guild Opens Exhibit

The only formal exhibition of paintings to be held this year by the Miami Springs Art Guild opened with a reception Saturday evening in a store at 246 Westward Dr., Miami Springs. The show will be open to the public from today through Feb. 3 from 12 noon to 4 p.m. daily.

Judges will be Lester Pfeiffer and Alexander Vitkakaus, who will award three equal prize ribbons and one honorable mention. The awards will consist of merchandise certificates from local art stores.

Jose Greco Returns Feb. 6

Greco

Jose Greco will be back in Miami for his fourth concert appearance when his all-Spanish company will do two performances in Dade County auditorium on Friday and Saturday evenings, Feb. 6 and 7.

The troupe will vary its assignment of dancers for the Spanish ballet, folk and flamenco numbers, but fundamentally the program will be the same for both performances.

Greco has been a familiar name in the Spanish dance field since about 1940, when he became the partner of the dancer La Argentinita, who died in 1945. His American fame however, dates from around 1951, when he made his first New York appearance and first tour of this country.

One of his specialties is Greco's own re-staging of the Falla ballet, "The Three Cornered Hat," danced in Spanish ballet style, instead of in the Russian style as was the case when it was in the repertoire of the Ballet Russe with Massine's choreography.

Lola de Ronda is still Greco's principal partner, though he also partners many of the other feminine dancers of the company. The entire troupe is composed of Spanish dancers except for Greco, who is half-Italian.

Exhibit Opening

The eighth annual members exhibition of the Hollywood Arts and Crafts Guild will be on view through Thursday in the Hollywood Recreation building, 218 N Federal Hwy. It will open with a preview and gallery talk by Byron Newton at 3 p.m. today.

MIAMI'S NANCY FIRSZT RETURNS FOR ROLE

'Rigoletto' to Open Season With Unique Local Touch

Flaviano Labo, Tenor
. . . La Scala and ex-Met star

Nancy Firszt, Soprano
. . . stars abroad as Patricia Cali

Giuseppe Taddei, Baritone
. . . La Scala vet in Rigoletto role

"Rigoletto", the first opera of Miami Opera Guild's season, will absorb a large part of the community's musical interest this week.

The opera will open on Monday evening in Dade County auditorium, skip to Miami Beach auditorium for a performance Wednesday evening, and return to the Dade auditorium for the final Miami performance Saturday evening.

The production is unique in that it is the first Opera Guild production for which a local singer has been engaged for a major role in all performances.

The story becomes even more unique when it is realized that the young singer, now a member of an important Italian opera company, has been brought back from abroad to make her local debut. She sang here once, before going to Italy, in a Junior Opera Guild production, but never previously in a senior guild performance.

She is known as Nancy Firszt in Miami, where she was brought up. To patrons of the Teatro Nuovo in Milan, where she sings regularly, she is known as Patricia Cali — the name she adopted for professional purposes when she was contracted by the company.

Miss Cali inherited the Gilda role in "Rigoletto" when Erika Koeth, the young German coloratura who was originally contracted for it, canceled because of a heart ailment.

In the Miami production she will sing opposite two young Italian singers with whom she has never sung in Italy — Giuseppe Taddei of the La Scala Opera Company, who'll be the Rigoletto, and Flaviano Labo, also of La Scala, who'll sing the Duke's role. In Milan she sings opposite Tito Gobbi in this role.

Miss Cali canceled two appearances with her own company to fly here for the Miami production.

Taddei also flew directly from Italy for the performances here. He is one of the best-liked baritones at La Scala, and also is well-known in Latin America.

Altman

Labo sang one year at the Metropolitan Opera, but his contract was not renewed for this season because of differences with the management. He has engagements at all the important European opera houses, in addition to La Scala.

The role of Maddalena will be sung by mezzo-soprano Thelma Altman, a "steady" at the Met. She was heard here once previously, as Suzuki in "Madama Butterfly." Norman Scott, popular Met basso, will have the role of Sparafucile.

Several Miami singers will handle the minor roles in Rigoletto, including James McCormick who will sing Monterone and Gregory O'Berry and Phillip de Stefano who will divide the role of Borsa.

Tom Winston will be Count Ceprano, and George Gibson, formerly of Miami but now of Texas, and Frederick Andre will share the part of Marullo. Asako Tomita will be the Giovanna, Gloria Traitz and Amy Dey will be pages, and Irene Patty Schwartz will sing the Countess Ceprano. The tiny part of a servant will be done by Teresa Grossberg.

The major local understudies are Rose Byrum, Gilda; Phyllis Ellis, Maddalena; and James McCormick, Sparafucile. James Faga is assistant stage-director and Nelda Edell wardrobe mistress.

The opera will be conducted by Emerson Buckley of New York City Opera. He has directed the guild music for the past eight or nine years.

Next Year: 'Carmen'

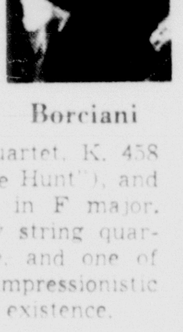
Next year's operas are announced as Ponchielli's "La Gioconda" and Bizet's "Carmen". "Gioconda", on Jan. 25-27-30, will have Eileen Farrell in the title role, Frances Bible as Laura, and Mary McMurray as the Blind Mother.

"Carmen" will have Rise Stevens in the title role, Dorothy Warenskjold as Michaela, Walter Cassell as the Toreador, and Brian Sullivan as Don Jose.

AT WHITE TEMPLE

Quartetto Italiano To Play Tuesday

Friends of Chamber Music's third concert of the season will present the Quartetto Italiano, one of the best-known Italian chamber ensembles playing today, at 8:30 p.m. Tuesday in White Temple auditorium.



Borciani

The Quartetto's program consists of the Boccherini Quartet in C major, Op. 44, No. 4, Mozart's B-flat Major Quartet, K. 458 (nicknamed "The Hunt"), and Ravel's Quartet in F major. This is the only string quartet Ravel wrote, and one of the finest impressionistic musical works in existence.

All are still young and none has ever played in any other chamber group. They play most scores from memory.

This will be the Quartetto Italiano's debut concert in Miami. It played its first South Florida concert two years ago at Norton Gallery in West Palm Beach.

The quartet was organized after the end of World War II at the home of Borciani, the first violinist, often first playing together informally for their own pleasure.

After playing all over Italy, they began to make tours of other European countries.

This is their fifth tour of this country, which they have been visiting every other year.

$125,000 El Greco Coming Here

A painting by El Greco valued at $125,000, and never before exhibited in the United States, will be one of the highlights of the Winter Art Festival to be presented at the Fontainebleau hotel Feb. 14-28.

A "Saint Francis," the El Greco painting is being loaned by the art collector Ian Woodner. This work of the "Greek" master, who lived about 1547 to 1614, was purchased from a Spanish collector.

Another important painting to be included in the show is a Renoir valued at $95,000.

The art sale and collectors' exhibition is being sponsored by the Greater Miami Jewish Federation for the benefit of the Eleanor Roosevelt chair in the history and philosophy of science at the Hebrew University in Jerusalem.

Guest Critic

Nettie Belle Hjort, Miami silversmith, will be guest-critic at the 7:30 p.m. studio sketch session at Lowe Gallery Thursday. She is an ex-officio member of the gallery's board of regents.

Organist Schreiner Here Friday

Alexander Schreiner, one of the best-known organists in the world thanks to a 30-year-series of radio broadcasts as organist of the Mormon Tabernacle in Salt Lake City, will play his first Miami recital at 8:30 p.m. Friday in White Temple auditorium.

The concert is free to the public. It's sponsored by the Miami chapter of American Guild of Organists.

The program begins with two Bach works, the Chorale and Prelude, "O Man Bemoan Thy Fearful Sin," and the Toccata, Adagio and Fugue in C major. Another major work programmed is Cesar Franck's Fantasie in A major.

Schreiner is a lecturer at University of Utah and the author of four books on organ music.

Beach Plans Arts Festival In Spring

Miami Beach's recreation department is going to sponsor a Spring Arts Festival during March, according to Jack Woody, recreation superintendent. All events will be held at the Ocean Front auditorium.

Among events scheduled will be choral programs, concerts, art demonstrations, dramatic productions, exhibitions of folk, round and square dancing, a pre-school program, and an amateur art exhibition.

The festival will culminate on March 29, 30 and 31 with the third annual city-wide hobby show.

Entry blanks for the art exhibit and hobby show will be available shortly at all Beach recreation centers.

Paintings Loaned To Lauderdale

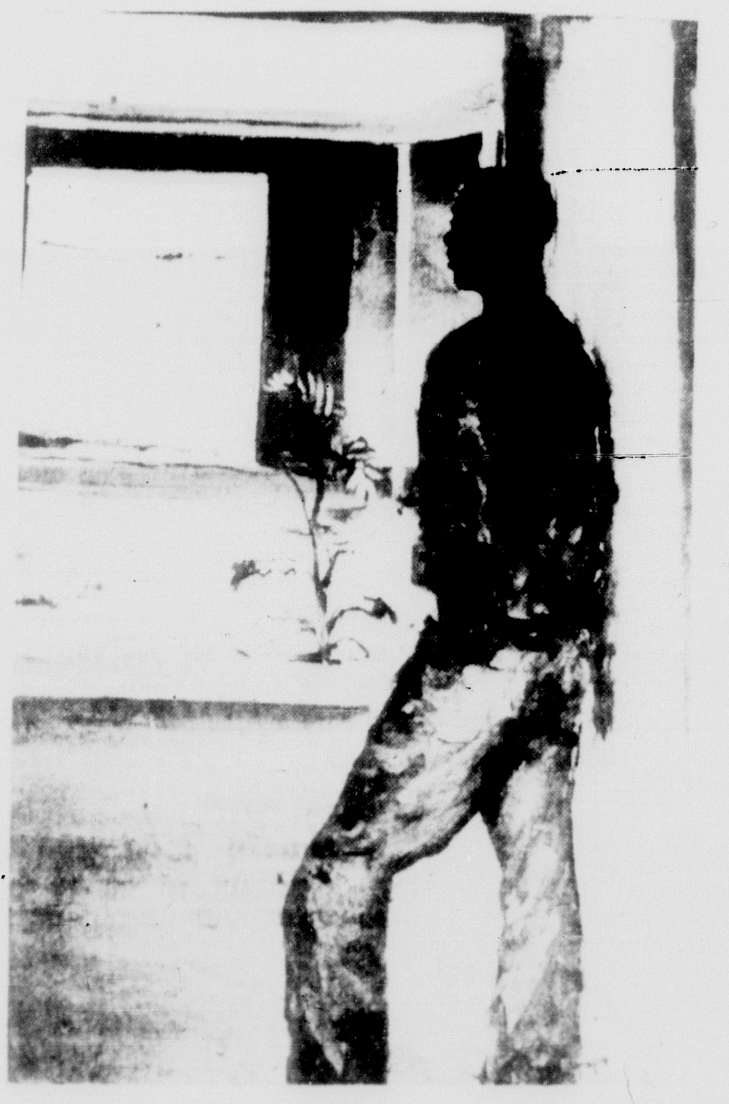
Simultaneous shows will present Jack Amoroso, director of Coconut Grove's Playhouse Gallery, in a one-man, and Henry Mitchell, of Philadelphia, in a showing of sculpture and drawings.



—Herald Staff Photo By Steve Weyer

"WILLIE," a character study by the 21-year-old local painter Tom Fresh, is probably the best work by this artist now on view in the Fresh-Delfino two-man exhibition at Eve Tucker Galleries, Miami Beach.

Art Winners Announced

EX-STUDENT SHOW, first award to Fred van Herun, second, Elliott Trotta, third Gordon Hatton.

STUDENT GROUP, first to Lori Chaput, second, Danny Ramirez, third, Raye Miller.

The show has been extended through Jan. 31.

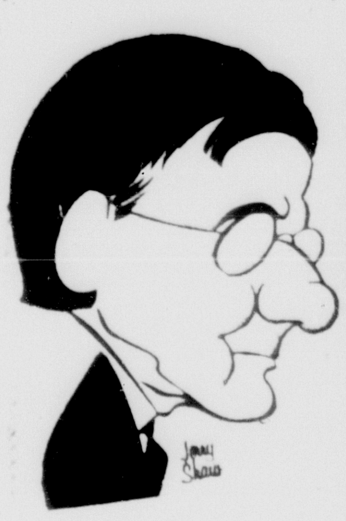
Today's Cele-Birthday

By JOY and JERRY SHAW
Of The Herald Staff



PAUL H. NYSTROM, economist-educator; born: Jan. 25, 1878, in Maiden Rock, Wis.

* * *

One of America's leading economists, Nystrom has written numerous books on merchandising. Long active as head of national retail groups, professor emeritus of marketing at Columbia, he also was assistant to the president of U.S. Rubber Co. Nystrom says of fashion: "Consumers, not producers, make the fashions. Neither clever ads nor high pressure selling can make a profitable market for what today's sophisticated consumers do not want."

'Can't You See I'm Snowed?'

LANSING, Mich. — (AP) — W. C. Wadelich, dispatcher for the Lansing City snow removal crews, worked through the night sending out plows and trucks and handling hundreds of telephone calls.

Then his wife called up to report: "The car is stuck in the driveway, Honey."

"Don't bother me now," said Wadelich, "you'll have to get it out yourself."

"Most Exciting in 10 Years"
During the past few weeks since I have been back at the Monte Carlo I have had so many happy visits from fine folks staying in Miami Beach who have just learned where I am that I couldn't resist the urge to write an open letter hoping it will reach everyone I know.
To all my friends who are now in Miami Beach, I would like to say: "if you are in the neighborhood or have an opportunity to drop in for old-times sake, I would like the pleasure of showing you the Monte Carlo and the many wonderful things about it that brought me back as its Managing Director.
This is truly a great hotel. Over the years I have made literally thousands of friends here because of the fact that folks who looked for the best, received the finest . . . in food, entertainment, accommodations, daytime activities, and what's more important . . . warm hospitality. Every meal is a banquet . . . every hour joyously recreational. Every inch of decor is spanking new . . . every service is most graciously rendered by the same dependable staff and personnel. It's a matchless combination!
Being back and renewing so many, many old friendships is the most exciting and, at the same time, the most gratifying event of my hotel career!
Looking forward to greeting you in person. I am cordially,
Harvey Weinberg

Nightlife with George Bourke

Free-Show-for-Guests Policy Pays Off, Hotel Group Finds

"MORRIS LANSBURGH is not considered 'that crazy man' any more," Gene Hogan, an aide at the Lansburgh hotels, comments in answering your question about the state and results of Lansburgh's mad experiment — The Cavalcade of Stars.

"Cavalcade of Stars" is the name given to the project wherein guests of the Lansburgh hotels — the Deauville, Sherry Frontenac, Casablanca, Sans Souci and Crown Hotels are treated for free three nights a week to stage shows starring such celebrities as Tony Martin, Mischa Elman, Sophie Tucker, Maurice Chevalier, Jerry Lewis, Alan King, Jerry Lester and so on. It started late in December and has continued since on Tuesday, Thursday and Sunday nights and will continue until mid-April.

Management is "very happy" with the success of it on every level. A stronger reply is Hogan's statement that it has had "a hell of an impact" in many areas. Capacity of the Cavalcade Theater (which is in the Deauville's convention hall) is about 4,100 — and capacity has been attained on enough nights to add up to an average attendance of 3,600.

* * *

Publicity Boosts Prestige

IN ADDITION to acceptance by the hotels' guests it has had fine publicity returns all over the country and it has increased the prestige of the Deauville and the associated hotels. It is in the area of its original intent, however, that its success has been most apparent. The glittering bonus package — let's face it — had one primary purpose — to put names on the hotel registers by offering something which could not be enjoyed by anyone but guests.

The only way to appraise properly its success in that purpose is by stepping back and considering what could have happened without that gimmick. Lansburgh management has stepped back, taken that look, and concludes that in "terms of occupancy and bookkeeping" the project has been "well worth it."

It has also been found that the one-night-stands by the top stars have had many fringe benefits for management too. The fact that the Victor Borges, Abbe Lanes, Xavier Cugats and Tony Martins stay at the hotel for at least a couple of days lends attractive lustre to the cabana. There is also the "leverage" which the one-night stand supplies in snaring a star for a regular engagement for paying customers and outsiders in the Deauville's Casanova Room. Lansburgh feels that he was able to get Jerry Lewis for a March date because of this.

It isn't spelled out but we assume that the "leverage" is in the fact that the $300,000 which the stars get in salary (lodgings, supporting bills, etc. are in addition) can be made a corporate expense against all the hotels.

Yup, Cavalcade of Stars has management in a "happy frame of mind" right now. It plans a summer version to be called Merry-Go-Round.

Havana Press Sales Rise Here

APPARENTLY Cubans have a habit paralleling the local one of "going home with The Herald" — but they won't do it unless they have, as do Herald readers, faith in what they read.

We had thought that with the return to Cuba of so many of its exiles who had lived in Miami during the Batista regime that Havana newspaper and magazine sales would have slumped here. Not so, says Roy at the News Depot on SE First Ave. near Flagler. The fact is, he says, that the slump occurred in the year or so before Batista fled and ended when the new regime entered.

The reason for the slump is a great tribute to the effectiveness and the necessity for a free press. For the last year and a half or so it was known that the Havana newspapers wore a truth-strangling gag. But early in the month when the Havana newspapers and magazines were able to resume their true function the sales at the News Depot soared.

* * *

Rebels Read Herald Frequently

FOR INSTANCE, 1,000 copies of the first post-Batista edition of Bohemia magazine were grabbed up by readers who cued up at the News Depot alone to get a look at the full truth in Spanish.

A Cuban in the foothills of Pinar del Rio last Sunday told us that frequently during the last two years they had first learned of many things that had happened only a score of miles away through American visitors or from clippings of The Miami Herald or The New York Times which were passed around.

Amusements

A very hep American woman who has been living in Havana for over 10 years revealed that other Americans there had been angry over our eye witness accounts of bully-boys of the secret police bouncing people about and by our statement of last April that "they are not taking prisoners alive these days."

"We weren't able to read about these things in our papers," she said, "so we didn't see how they could be true. Your accounts sounded as if you had been reviewing too many melodramatic Errol Flynn movies."

Errol Flynn's movie persecutors — or our imagination — couldn't have gotten that kind of stimulation for horrors from his movies. It would have taken all the Boris Karloff and Bela Lugosi movies ever made. Incidentally, Karloff opens today at the Paramount, Coral and Colony Theaters in "Frankenstein, 1970."

Sh-h, Fess Dirty Word in France

HOLLYWOOD, Calif. —(AP)— Fess Parker is billed as Fier Parker in France and Italy. The actor says that Fess is a naughty word in French idiom and in Italy means idiot.

In London, however, he's Fess because it means "proud" in old English.

Organists Give Recital Today

Edward C. May, organist, and Shelby Heck, pianist-organist, will present a recital at All Souls Unitarian Church at 8 p.m. today. Heck is present organist and May former organist of the church.

Met's Siepi Keeps Trim By Skating

Cesare Siepi . . . slim

* * *

SALLIES IN OUR ALLEY: At Cafe Leon a pair of producers were discussing their sweethearts. Moaned the first: "Only this morning mine told me to go to hell" . . . "You're lucky," sighed the other "Mine told me to go get her a mink!" . . . Two beautiful, but numb show girls were chatting. "Ja hear about Erroll Flynn and Fidel Castro?" . . . "No, who's she?"

Miriam Hopkins . . . slacks

* * *

MEMOS OF A MIDNIGHTER: Castro people told this col'm Erroll Flynn did join the rebels in the hills for two months, etc. They can't savvy why the star is being teased by New Yorkers. Castro's crowd hoped Ike would appoint N. Y. Times' Herb Matthews as Ambassador. "He understands us best" . . . Nancy Baker of "Tall Story" and Rod Steiger of "Rashomon" dinner-dating in Philly . . . Did Ethel Merman ankle out of a meeting of "Gypsy" producers, backers, etc. with: "I've had it!" . . . Vicky Autier, who debuts as a songstress at the St. Regis Feb. 5th, is a protegee of the Duchess of Windsor . . . Jane Powell had no joy selling all her coast realty. Her ex-mate got every dime . . . The chap trying to borrow from Lena Horne's friends (posing as her son) is a phony.

Esther Williams . . . snacks

* * *

Cast of Characters: Sultry Sallie Blair, whose hobby is collecting tight pants. Owns over 75 pair . . . Ilse Marvenga, who created the role of Kathy in "The Student Prince," now works for the Republican Party . . . Patti Stone, a stunning chorus girl, who says she wears $2.75 dresses . . . Chris James and Chickie James, both very pretty persons, who get each other's phone messages . . . Connie Freed, 14, has a Challenge Records click called "Things They Don't Teach You In School" . . . Ed Wynn blames the demise of his TV show on producers "who tried to make it charming instead of funny". . . Vivian Smolen, featured as "Sunday" on "Our Gal Sunday" for 14 years, celebrated the dropping of that program by getting married . . . Tennessee Williams, who flew to N. Y. when his new play "Sweet Bird of Youth" began rehearsals, wing'd to Cuba the same day.

* * *

THE MIAMI SPECIAL: Jimmy Hoffa's Teamsters Union is planning to organize doormen and car-runners of leading beach hotels . . . Joe Hart, who ran a chicken leg up to a million bux, will build a 9 million dollar hotel opposite the Roney-Plaza . . . Carmine's, a tiny spot near the Roney, is getting the big play from the stay-ups . . . The Embers is another popular spot . . . Riccio's on the 79th Causeway re-opened. It was missed . . . When the Secret Service warned that many counterfeit C-notes ($100 bills) were around, guests raced to hotel safety boxes to inspect theirs for the check numbers on the phonies: K-21 and L-21.

* * *

BROADWAY SKETCH: Leon de Bodes is the ticket-taker at the Imperial Theater where Lena Horne stars. He's been ticket-taker for 27 years but only at night . . . In the daytime he is "Mr." Leon De Bodes at Hattie Carnegie's swanky showroom, where he is also the fabric buyer.

* * *

* * *

TIMES SQUARE CIRCLE: They say Bing's boy Lindsay has lost his heart again. Now long-distance calls to Jo McCall, 19, of the A. Murray TV show . . . The square block opposite Lindy's will become a 3-story motel in 2 years. Drive-in facilities. No permanent tenants. Only transients . . . Peter Wyden resigned from Newsweek to join the Satevepost. Will work out of the Midwest . . . Esther Sutherland, vocalist at the Lighthouse, recently punched a 170-lb. teen-ager who insulted her, she says . . . Knocked him cold. His parents are suing her for fracturing his jaw . . . Rumor has Cary Grant settling a million on Betsy Drake. Plus a percentage of his movies for 10 years . . . The new baby over at the Tom Murphys of Fortune has been named Ellen . . . Yonkers will be a new tryout town for B'way shows. Eddie Dowling's taking over the old Strand there.

BACK in the association which gave him his first fame is Boris Karloff, who opens today at the Paramount, Colony and Coral Theaters in "Frankenstein 1970." Karloff made his first "Frankenstein" film in 1931.

Conservatory Expanding

Miami Conservatory is expanding its activities this week in the South Miami area to provide a complete music program for students registered at the South Miami branch.

Now instructing as well as at the main branch, will be Katherine Siegler Rice and Pamela Harris in piano; Kate Moe in voice; Eva Lee Savage in organ; Rosemonde Nichols in clarinet, saxophone and flute; and Roy Oliver in accordion and voice.

The Conservatory now has faculty talent available for recitals and lectures and talented students available for limited appearances. The South Miami branch is at 1403 Sunset Dr. with registration at the main studio, 2973 Coral Way.

Gallery Opens

Lend-a-Hand Gets Disney 'Sleeping Beauty' Preview

In one of those rare and beautiful coincidences, a motion picture telling an agless fairy tale about a teen-ager doomed to die through evil fate but who is saved by love, will be previewed here next month for the benefit of the Lend-a-Hand Fund — an organization which, through the contributions of those who love children, brings happiness to them through vacations and Christmas cheer.

The movie is Walt Disney's latest animated motion picture, "Sleeping Beauty," based on the Charles Perrault classic. It will be shown on Feb. 10 at the Sheridan Theater, as a benefit preview prior to its regular national roadshow release on Feb. 12.

The showing is by cooperation of Walt Disney's Buena Vista Film Company and Florida State Theaters, operators of the Sheridan Theater, only theater in the area equipped to handle the giant 70-mm film on which "Sleeping Beauty" is being exhibited.

The process is called Technirama 70 and is compatible with the Todd-AO wide-screen system in which "Oklahoma!" and "South Pacific" were shown at the Sheridan.

The same massive screen is being used for the projection of "Sleeping Beauty" and the Sheridan's sound equipment is capable of handling its stereophonic track.

Tickets for the benefit are already on sale at the Sheridan, according to Harry Botwick, regional director of Florida State Theaters. They are tax free because of the non-profit nature of Lend-a-Hand's work. They may also be had at The Herald and the Florida Theater.

"Sleeping Beauty" is the first animated movie presented in such grandiose style. In fact, the Disney studio now refers to it as "The art of enlivened, moving paintings" and claims that it represents a way of story telling impossible in any other medium.

Disney has not been satisfied to make his film eye-appealing alone, it has been scored with an adaptation of Tchaikovsky's "Sleeping Beauty Ballet" by George Bruns.

"Sleeping Beauty" is a brand new Disney film and is not to be confused with "Snow White" because of some plot parallels.

Concerto Wins Prize

NEW YORK—(AP)—Composers Walter Piston and Douglas Moore are the winners of the 1958 awards of the Music Critics Circle of New York.

Moore's "The Ballad of Baby Doe" was named the best opera.

A special citation in the orchestral category went to the ninth symphony of the late Ralph Vaughan Williams, renowned British composer. He died July 27 at 85.

No awards were made in the categories of choral and dance music.

Books 'n' Music

Edward Clarke will present Pamela Harris, pianist, as soloist at his 10:45 a.m. Thursday talk on books and music in Miami Woman's Club auditorium. The book to be reviewed is Hiram Bingham's

Films Sign 'Sweet 16'

SANTA MONICA, Calif. — (AP) — Superior Court approved a seven-year film contract under which 16-year-old Carol Lynley will make two pictures a year for 20th-Century Fox at $15,000 each.

Miss Lynley, born in Boston, lives in New York and goes to school there. She'll commute between New York and Hollywood for her film work.

The contract will permit her to do limited stage and television work. The court here ordered her to save 20 per cent of her earnings. She is also a top model.

Jack Kofoed Says

Stars A-Glittering All Over Our Town

BIG DAYS are coming up in the next few days for guests of Miami Beach hotels. There's the free "Cavalcade of Stars" shows at the Deauville and for paying customers there's gay and glittering entertainment all over town.

Harry Richman . . . '28-er

Steve Allen . . . 3 nights

Red Skelton and the Szonys are at the Fontainebleau, Betty Grable, of the gorgeous gams at the Latin Quarter, Duke Ellington in "Jump for Joy" at Copa City. That wonderful collection of show business immortals, Paul Whiteman, Harry Richman, Rudy Vallee, Buster Keaton, Bill Gilbert and Fifi D'Orsay in "Newcomers of 1928" is at the Deauville and three minature musical comedies of Broadway deftness, "A Rag, A Bone and a Ponytail" at the Americana, "Havana Mardi Gras" at the Lucerne, and the Ziegfeld Follies at the Carillon. The Borscht Circuit was never like that!

If George Bourke, The Herald's able amusement editor, is whittled down to 110 pounds come April, it will be quite understandable.

It's too bad only members and their guests can dine at La Bastille, for the food is wonderful and the atmosphere exactly what the Caesars would have chosen . . . Guiseppu Taddei, LaScala baritone, came in from Rome by jet Saturday to sing the leading role in the Opera Guild production of "Rigoletto" . . . Herb (Luau) Brooks about ready for action again after a hospital siege.

Still wondering when Charlie (Gray's Inn) Farrell and Leo (LaGorce) Adeeb will renew their golf rivalry . . . Tony Sweet elated at the fine start of his new restaurant (formerly Felix Young's) in attracting the mink-and-Cadillac set.

* * *

Hail to Maitre D's

ONE IMPORTANT factor in the success of any dining or show place is the maitre d', who is the contact point between it and the public.

Among those on my cheer list are Andre, of the La Ronde Room of the Fontainebleau, Bonardi, Bal Masque Room of the Americana, Marcel, Casanova Room of the Deauville, Nick Baca, Nick and Arthur's, Jack Class, Pompeii Room, the Eden Roc, Mac Sherman, Latin Quarter, Domenic, Cafe Cristal in the Diplomat, Al Fortini, Gallagher's, Tony (who looks so much like Rocky Marciano), of the Bonfire, Hans Reiss, Club Siam, of the Carillon, Velez, at Copa City, Max, Fleur de Lis Room, the Fontainebleau, Manning, Mona Lisa Room, Eden Roc, and others whose names will pop up here occasionally. Entertainment stars are important, but they come and go. The maitre d' stays on and on and on.

There's an Irish trend on the Beach. Probably the people most responsible are Frank Carroll and Johnny Gorman, the singing leprechauns, who've been playing in Our Town for 20 years, and are now at the Martinique.

Ken Gifford has changed the name of the Colonnade Hotel to the Shamrock Isle . . . Jan Murray, doing so well with television, he doesn't bother about night clubs any more, has a couple of weeks to go originating his "Treasure Hunt" poolside at the Fontainebleau. Steve Allen paid $250,000 for a Beverly Hills home last year, and has spent three nights in the place.

* * *

Royal-ty Poinciana

THE ROYAL POINCIANA Playhouse in Palm Beach has such great names as Hume Cronyn, Jessica Tandy, Ann Harding, Fay Bainter, Fernanda Montel, Arthur Treacher, Edward Everett Horton, Fred Waring and Reginald Owen lined up for this season's productions . . . "Playboy Magazine's" Jazz Poll named Frank Sinatra and Ella Fitzgerald as the nation's tops . . . Mike Zetz, who did so well with parts in "A Hole in the Head" and the TV series, "Stakeout" will probably be cast in "Operation Petticoat," to be shot in Key West.

There's always talk of good eating places in this space, so add to your list "Rusty's Roost," new dining room at the Miami Beach Kennel Club, and the Basque at Dania jai alai fronton. At both places there's messenger service to the mutuel windows, so nobody has an excuse for missing a bet.

Ronnie's Steak House is noted, naturally, for steaks, but when Dr. Arthur Burbacher, noted bone surgeon awarded the Order of the British Empire by Queen Elizabeth, eats there he orders double lamb chops . . . Si Byer's Seminole in Hialeah attracts so many Miami Springs golfers, he ought to change the name to "the 19th Hole."

Your Screwdriver, Sir

THE ROTARY CLUB meets at the Delano every Tuesday. Clark Batchelder, in charge of the attendance board, needed a screwdriver to repair it. He asked a bartender for one, and, to his amazement, was handed the potent drink called a "Screwdriver" instead of the tool.

The Footlighters Club will stage an all-star show in honor of the late Ben Kelly Feb. 9 at the Beach auditorium . . . The Richter family has taken over operation of the Robert Richter hotel . . . Joe Tuvim and his missus, uncle and aunt of Judy Holliday, vacationing at the Di Lido . . .

Charlie Spivak's "sweetest trumpet" will blow at the Gaslight Inn, starting on the 28th . . . Anything can happen in the strip-tease business. Five O'Clock's Zorita addressed a cub scout rally on the subject of snake handling.

Struck Zanuck's Horse

Niven's 'Polo' No Aid to Career

HOLLYWOOD, Calif. —(AP)— David Niven was a long time getting a part in a 20th Century-Fox picture and there's a reason.

"I arrived in Hollywood broke many years ago," he recalls, "but for some strange reason I was taken for a man of means.

"My first day in town found me in the steam room at the old United Artists studio sitting with Douglas Fairbanks Sr., Sam Goldwyn, Charlie Chaplin, Darryl F. Zanuck, Joe Schenck and others of Hollywood elite.

"It was quite an experience, except that the heat started getting to my malnutrition. Zanuck asked me my favorite sport. I was too weak to utter cricket, so I said polo. The word is shorter.

"Accordingly, I wound up the following day as Zanuck's guest at the Riviera Polo Club astride a horse with horrible green teeth and atrocious breath. I had a mallet in my hand but I didn't have the slightest idea of what to do with it because I had never played polo in my life.

"But I joined in and took a whack at the ball. Instead my mallet got caught in my hand and wound up smacking Zanuck's pony.

"The horse was very sensitive, and so was Zanuck — after he tumbled. To shorten the story, Buddy Adler, after many years, took over as head of Fox and now I work there occasionally."

He Thinks Film Is Sole of Art

HOLLYWOOD, Calif. —(AP)— Most unusual way yet of evaluating movies is done by Art DeForest, now starting his 43rd year in the movies as an extra.

Art worked about 50 days last year at an average pay of $19 a day. He supplements his income by selling shoes to members of the cast and crew.

"It's a 100-pair picture," says Art.

Crime Notes

Hope Gag On Crosby Backfires

HOLLYWOOD, Calif. —(AP)— Bob Hope thought he had a good rib in the making on his longtime pal, Bing Crosby, but as usual, the joke backfired.

The studio researchers working on Bob's "Alias Jesse James," ran across a book titled "Professional Criminals of America," published in 1886.

The leather-bound rogue's gallery listed six pages on a noted swindler and confidence woman with the surname Crosby.

Hope planned to tear out the pages and send them to Bing with a typical Hope crack but curiosity prompted him to see if there were any Hopes listed.

There were 28 pages on crooks named Hope.

Dirty Shame

HOLLYWOOD, Calif. — (UPI) — Film producer Sy Bartlett says he is now just the way he arrived in the world, without a pocket handerchief to his name. He lost everything when his house was destroyed by a mud avalanche.

ON SCREEN in a pre-Perry Mason film characterization is Raymond Burr, right, with Sally Forrest and Don Taylor in "Ride the Iron High," opening at the Trail Theater on Saturday.

Old Northwest Woos Arts

VANCOUVER, B. C. — (AP) — A stellar lineup of performers is being enlisted for the second International Festival here next summer.

Elizabeth Schwarzkopf of the Metropolitan Opera is to make several appearances and Gluck's opera "Orpheus" is to star Kerstein Meyer, Swedish contralto.

A dance troupe from Japan is also to perform.

The theatrical feature of the festival is to be Schiller's "Mary Stuart," and will be directed by John Reich.

Symphony concerts are to be conducted by Herbert von Karajan and Olvin Fjeldstadt.

Week's New Entertainment

MOVIES

FRANKENSTEIN 1970 — Boris Karloff back in a futuristic version of the tale about a man-made monster created in the atomic age, plus SPY IN THE SKY, science-fiction yarn concerned with mystery moons circling the earth, starring Steve Brodie and Sandra Francis. At the Paramount, Coral and Colony today.

Milly Vitale

FLESH IS WEAK — Sordid tale of double-crossing in London vice rackets, featuring John Derek and Milly Vitale, coupled with BLONDE IN BONDAGE, more about the foreign rackets, this time dope in Sweden. Lars Ekborg and Birgitta Ander featured. At the Variety today.

TONKA — Walt Disney live, not animated cartoon, production of untold story behind Custer's Last Stand, starring Phil Carey, Sal Mineo and Jerome Courtland. In Color. Paramount, Coral and Colony Wednesday.

WOLF LARSEN — Adventure film based on famous Jack London story, featuring Barry Sullivan and Peter Graves, double-billed with SNOWFIRE, story of a "girl who talks to horses," featuring Molly McGowan and Don Megoan. Florida Theater on Thursday.

RIDE THE IRON HIGH — Park avenue debutantes and press agents who try to keep their scandals out of the headlines, starring Raymond Burr and Sally Forrest, plus THE LAST HURRAH, starring Spencer Tracy, at the Trail Theater on Saturday.

DRAMA AND VARIETY

VISIT TO A SMALL PLANET — Legitimate stage presentation of Gore Vidal's comedy originally presented on television. Starring Reginald Gardiner, it opens Monday night for a two-week run at Coconut Grove Playhouse.

Charlie Spivak

PRIVATE LIVES — Noel Coward's comedy about social manners will open the 1959 season for Frank Hale's Royal Poinciana Playhouse in Palm Beach, with Eva Gabor starred. Monday through Sunday night.

THE LONG GOODBYE — Tennessee Williams play, coupled with another Williams play, "The Case of the Crushed Petunias," by Shoestring Theatre of the Young Women's Christian Association, in Y auditorium, SE First Ave., on Saturday night.

ALAN GALE — Begins return engagement at Ciro's, on Tuesday night . . . COZY COLE — Jazz topper follows Dizzy Gillespie at Rocking MB Lounge on Tuesday night . . . CHARLIE SPIVAK — starts engagement at Gaslight Inn on Thursday night.

Stage Is Vast Field

NEW YORK — (AP) — Every branch of show business is different — but it all comes to the same thing, says Director Jose Quintero.

"Whatever it is and whatever you do, the aim is to seize the spectator by the shoulder and make him pay attention," he explains.

One of the Broadway theater's most active workers, Quintero in the past year expanded his activities to overseas productions and the staging of two works for the Metropolitan Opera Co.

"If you stay in one place and do one thing you get typed — and that's the opposite of why you go into the theater in the first place."

Gardiner in 'Visit to Small Planet'

Vidal Comedy Next at Playhouse

By GEORGE BOURKE
Herald Amusement Editor

The legitimate stage in South Florida takes advantage of a lull in "new faces" scheduled to appear on the cafe scene this week to steal the spotlight with a trio of show openings.

Reginald Gardiner, veteran of many scene-stealing performances on the Broadway stage and in films, comes to the Coconut Grove Playhouse on Monday for a two-week-run in the lead role originally intended for Vincent Price in "Visit to a Small Planet." Gore Vidal's hilarious comedy of satirical bent, which played Broadway last season.

Robert Caldwell is directing the project in which other roles will be taken by Paul Lynde, Ann Whiteside, William Traylor, Lucille Benson, James Reese and Matt McCulloch. Lynde has been a frequent performer on TV and was featured in "New Faces of 1952."

Gardiner's screen work will be recalled in "Sundown," "Androcles and the Lion," "The Great Dictator," "Yank in the RAF," "Fury at Furnace Creek" and "Rock-a-Bye, Baby."

Up in Palm Beach Frank Hale and Paul Crabtree will get their Royal Poinciana Playhouse under way with a gala opening of Noel Coward's "Private Lives" also on Monday night.

Eva Gabor will be featured. She worked here a few seasons ago for Crabtree at the Palm Beach Playhouse, and, oddly enough, did Coward's "Blithe Spirit" in one of her dates. She also appeared on Broadway in Coward's "Present Laughter."

On the amateur drama level the Shoestring Theatre of the Miami Young Women's Christian Association will take an ambitious step by presenting two of Tennessee Williams' one act plays, "The Long Goodbye," and "The Case of the Crushed Petunias" at the "Y" Auditorium on Saturday night. Jay Jensen is directing.

Heading the night club openings this week will be Alan Gale, returning to Ciro's on Tuesday night; Cozy Cole, jazz expert, due at the Rocking MB Lounge on Tuesday, and Charlie Spivak, coming to the Gaslight Inn on Thursday.

Among the future events on the South Florida scene will be "Say Darling," which just closed on Broadway, at the Coconut Grove Playhouse with Dean Murphy, opening Feb. 9; "The Fifth Season," directed by Ruth Foreman, by the North Shore Players at Golden Gate Theater on Jan. 31-Feb. 1; "The Reluctant Debutante," by the Hollywood Little Theatre, Feb. 3-8 at 2641 Dewey St.; "Our Heritage," a musical "stage-o-rama" of Jewish music and folklore at Miami Beach Auditorium on Feb. 1 to commemorate the anniversary of the humorist Sholem Aleichem, and the Canadian Players production of "As You Like It" at Barry College on Feb. 21.

Kaye's Tot Likes Role --No School

HOLLYWOOD, Calif. — (UPI) — Danny Kaye's little girl, Dena, is in pop's next picture and the comedian says "she couldn't be more delighted," but not because of any yen for show business.

The 11-year-old girl liked the idea of getting out of school while working on "The Five Pennies," Kaye's latest for Paramount.

"All little girls go to school from 9 to 3," Kaye explained, "but she only went from 9 to 12 when she was on the set."

"And, she has only one line which will make her self-supporting for a couple of months," the popular laugh-getter revealed.

Despite the fact dad is one of the world's top comedians, the little girl hasn't evidenced any desire for a stage career.

"She doesn't really seem to think it's worthwhile," Danny laughed.

"Dena never knew what I did until she was about five years old," Danny recalled. "She thought I went to a garage every morning."

Wearing a sarong for his role as Red Nichols, whose life story is told in "Pennies," Kaye chewed on a piece of pineapple as he prepared for another take of the picture.

Teacher Giving Talk on Russia

Millicent Chamberlain, a Dade county art teacher, will give a slide-talk on Russia at 7:30 p.m. Thursday in the Dade County School Board auditorium, 275 NW 2nd St. She spent last summer in northern and eastern Europe.

Mrs. Theresa Beckman, who spent three weeks in Russia last summer, will also show slides, principally of Kiev, Yalta and other southern sections of Russia.

Concert in Jazz Set for Feb. 1

A modern jazz concert based on the art of improvisation, will be presented by the modern music department of Miami Conservatory at 2 p.m. Sunday, Feb. 1, in the concert hall of the conservatory, 2973 Coral Way.

Roy Oliver, director of the modern department, has arranged the program. The concert is being presented through a grant from the funds of the recording industries.

Running Well

HOLLYWOOD, Calif. — (UPI) — Carmen Phillips, who played a featured role in "Some Came Running," had her contract option picked up again by MGM.

There's Gunsmoke in the Air

HOLLYWOOD — (UPI) — Three veteran members of the cast of "Gunsmoke" (CBS-TV) will make a personal appearance tour of the country starting sometime in February.

They are Amanda Blake (Kitty), Milburn Stone (Doc) and Dennis Weaver (Chester).

'Twixt Twelve and Twenty—XV

Don't Be Afraid to Take a Chance with Your Career

Fifteenth instalment of an exclusive serialization of Pat Boone's best-selling book, " 'Twixt Twelve and Twenty."

By PAT BOONE

Pat Boone
. . . early in career

The surest way I know to develop your talent is to have enthusiasm that doesn't let down. Most of us start off with a great blaze of this priceless commodity, but many let it burn down to embers and finally ashes. How can we keep the flame alive?

We can recognize the truth that no talent is small. A girl with a talent for typing or homemaking may belittle what she can do, thinking that to be great in the sight of God or her friends she has to have the talent of Lily Pons or Helen Hayes. It simply isn't so.

A talent of yours, well-used and perfected, can be great or a great help to others. Our ability to see this is so has to do with our attitude toward the whole pattern of living.

Lily Pons' accompanist, each man in the orchestra behind her, each electrician and technician working backstage, is necessary and important to her performance.

Whatever your talent is, regard it as something special and necessary, and you'll add fuel to the fire of enthusiasm.

Don't be afraid to fail. If you are, you'll never try anything new, or anything challenging, and you'll be stuck in the same old rut.

And fail successfully! Look, I know how embarrassing it is to flop — I've done it plenty of times. But when that happens, I try again, a little smarter. I recommend this habit to you.

* * *

ALSO, have confidence in yourself: This doesn't mean to develop a giant ego and go wild. It means not being afraid to take a chance — not being afraid of change. It means following your own honest dreams instead of settling for some second-hand ones others may have for you.

If I'd been afraid to take a chance I'd probably be sitting in Denton, Tex., today doing odd jobs, still wondering what to do with my life. In fact, I wouldn't even have made it to Denton in the first place.

I finally did win one of the many contests I entered — in the spring of my freshman year at David Lipscomb college. It was the East Nashville Hi Talent Contest. The prize was a trip to New York all expenses paid, and an audition for Ted Mack's Amateur Hour on TV.

Even though I went on to New York that summer and was on the show three times, qualifying for the finals the next summer, this really wasn't encouragement enough to make me believe that singing was my life's work. I dreamed — but I went on with the studies that would qualify me some day for teaching.

The next summer, when I went back for the Ted Mack finals, I was a married man with a baby on the way. I appeared on the TV Amateur Hour and the Arthur Godfrey show, but my singing career seemed to come to a dead end.

I had a couple of night club offers, but nothing that promised well for a young family man named Boone.

On my way back to Denton I stopped in Nashville to see the folks. A disc jockey pal, Hugh Cherry, thought that Randy Wood, of Dot records, who lived in nearby Gallatin, might be interested in me.

Well, you can't say my enthusiasm was dampened by failure. I had made some records once for a small recording outfit and we sold exactly 85 copies, to all my relatives. I never got a cent because we didn't make enough to pay for the recording session.

Undaunted, I went over to see Randy and we made a verbal contract for one year. He promised that as soon as he got a song he thought I could do, he'd send for me. But he warned me it might take four to six weeks. After waiting eight months I'd about given up.

When Randy's call for me to go to Chicago finally came I was making a nifty $44.50 a week with WPAB-TV in Fort Worth; I was doing fine in school; I was the proud papa of one small girl, another baby was on the way, and it seemed Shirley and I had the beginning of a secure life.

* * *

WELL, there it was. Should I take the chance? Or should I settle for the security of the moment? Shirley, my parents, Mack Craig, all believed in me. But did I believe in myself?

Finally I decided I'd finish school whether the record was a hit or not, but that I still had to follow my talent where it led and not be afraid of change.

So I borrowed the money, went to Chicago and we recorded "Two Hearts, Two Kisses." It was a hit! Then I was asked to move to New York. That was a bigger step than Chicago, but I figured I could attend Columbia University, something I wanted to do.

And everything seemed to fall into place when Arthur Godfrey invited me to be on his show any time school permitted. I was out of a rut and into a life that certainly absorbed the biggest effort I had to give.

I admit I like money. I like it because it's gratitude I earned from someone for my services and I can use it to pass on as my symbol of gratitude. So I say the first step in financial security is to develop our talents until we can render a service so well that people will be very grateful for it.

All right, so now we've got money. The next step is how do we distribute it? I believe in a three-point distribution program that was good when I was 14, is still good at 24, and I see no reason why it shouldn't be good when I am 94.

ONE: You pay your bills. You cannot expect others to be prompt with their symbols of gratitude to you if you're happy-go-lucky in remembering the gratitude you owe. Don't borrow beyond your means to repay—and this includes installment buying.

TWO: You share what you have by supporting things like churches and charities and other worthy services that do not send bills to people. God has given you everything you have, and He asks in return only that you contribute according to your gratitude.

THREE: You save and invest. A certain percentage of what comes to us should be put to work for us so that we will always be in a position to back ourselves or others in a new venture, or so that, when a time of enforced idleness comes, we'll have stored up some gratitude and not need to mortgage our future.

And that, my friend, from someone who knows (me!) is a cornerstone for a happy life.

* * *

The room for improvement!

I told you earlier about how I slid into time-debt. One result of this was that I was constantly rushing but still always late. Being late was a habit I sort of acquired somehow.

After our oldest daughter Cherry arrived, when we were struggling along in Denton, Tex., Shirley and I wanted a TV set the very worst way. I had a chance to make $75 from one personal appearance. This would pay for a second-hand set we'd seen at a local store.

I appeared, however, just 30 minutes late and someone else had filled in for me — and also got paid for me. I'll never forget the look on Shirley's face when I told her.

It isn't that I'm a "wheelbarrow" type waiting around to be pushed. I just got into the dull, annoying habit of being late. Now, if it weren't for Shirley and Jack Spina, one of my co-managers, I might never catch up with myself at all!

Funny, too, knowing it, admitting it, trying hard to change it, there isn't anything else I know that really gets my goat except somebody fussing at me for being late.

The idea is to start young and develop the habits you want.

Up to the teen age we acquire habits via persuasion selected by our parents (the sewing machine strap, etc.) or by observation and imitation. We observe a lot and we pick up fast, too, both good patterns and bad.

But when we arrive at the teen age, while we still observe and imitate, we can also begin to reason and choose the habits we want for ourselves.

NEXT— What teen age habits are bad?

Pat Boone Says:

Now, do you know what I think money is? I think it's a convenient, useful symbol of gratitude. It has value only because we use it as a token of our appreciation for services rendered. So in and of itself money can't be a goal.

Sands Going Dramatic

HOLLYWOOD, Calif.—(AP)—Singer Tommy Sands, winding up his second year in the big time, is going the Sinatra route.

"I'm not forsaking rock 'n' roll," says the teen-age idol, "nor am I giving up music. But I'm up now for four pictures in which I don't sing a note.

"I've always wanted to be a dramatic actor — even more than a singer."

Sands doesn't believe that the rock 'n' roll fad is dying out but his next Capitol album will be all standard ballads with Nelson Riddle, Sinatra's arranger, backing him up.

He'll continue with the rock 'n' roll on single records.

Fess Gives Self Boost

HOLLYWOOD, Calif.—(AP)—Fess Parker is a director's dream. He not only does his own stunts but his co-star's as well.

During a scene for "The Jayhawkers," Director Mel Frank was startled to see French actress Nicole Maurey toss the big Parker, supposedly wounded, from the floor to his sickbed.

"Judo?" asked Frank of Nicole.

Nicole shook her head.

1.5 Million Dollar Jewel Robbery Still Baffles Police After 2 Months

The Perfect Crime?

The perfect crime may have been committed in Chicago two months ago.

Chicago detectives fear the jewels will leave the U. S. If they do, chances of solving the crime will be even slimmer.

CHICAGO —(UPI)— On a bitter, windy night two months ago, hotel tavern waitress Leona Pense muttered how cheap some people could be. A party of four had left her a seven-cent tip on a $10 bill.

At the other end of the Pick-Congress Hotel, someone was stealing $1,500,000 of jewels — the greatest gem robbery in U.S. history. Perhaps, the perfect crime.

The following afternoon, Charles G. Staiger, 65, president of the famed New York jewelers firm of Harry Winstonn, Inc., walked into the hotel's vault.

"The jewels. They're gone," he said. Police were called immediately.

Officials began talking of a dragnet and the countless police that could be used. A moment later, though, there was a second call:

"A parochial school's on fire. A lot of kids are hurt—bad," the caller said.

By nightfall the fire's toll rose to 90 dead at the Our Lady of the Angels School—and, except for a few detectives, the jewel robbery was all but forgotten.

Today, 30 detectives — some public, some private — work around the clock looking for those jewels. They admittedly have no clues, no leads, no suspects. Their lone hope is that the crime was too perfect.

"The crooks were too good," Pinkerton detective Clay Shackleford said. "They took gems that were too fine, too exquisite. They won't be able to get rid of them. Even if they break them up, the stones will be too beautiful to pass unrecognized — and if they shatter them, they'll be worthless."

The $1,500,000 estimate is wholesale. On the retail market, the stones and their settings were worth $2,500,000.

Staiger had placed the gems in his vault box at the Pick-Congress Hotel. He always stayed at the same hotel — after all, his brother-in-law, Albert Pick Jr., owns the place. The vault was "burglarproof."

To get in, one first had to sign a card, and the signature was compared at the credit desk. The credit clerk then would push a buzzer — and only this buzzer could open the vault door. The vaults inside had double locks.

"There were a lot of things wrong with that setup," Shackleford said. "First, too many people had access to that vault. Then, Staiger had been using this same routine for so long that he had built up a false sense of security, hoping his inconspicuity would be his best protection."

Shackleford said detectives' greatest fear is that the jewels will leave the U.S.

"If they get to Europe, we have had it," he said.

All customs agents have been alerted. Every reputable jeweler in the nation has pictures of the gems.

"We can keep this heat on for five years," Shackleford said. "If nothing else, we'll just wait. There were a lot of pieces in Staiger's collection. They won't alter them all. Some day, one will turn up — and then we'll find the others.

"It's a waiting game and we're going to wait."

He's Rep. Irwin

Latins Have New Friend

WASHINGTON — (UPI) — The Latin American republics have a new and sympathetic spokesman in Congress, in the person of Rep. Donald J. Irwin, (D., Conn.).

There are about 15,000 Spanish-speaking persons and several thousand Portuguese in Irwin's district.

His victory in the November election was helped by his addresses in Spanish to the electorate. Until the election he was instructor in Spanish at Yale University, and also a recognized authority on Latin American history.

Irwin is the first person of Argentine birth ever to sit in Congress. He was born of U.S. parentage at Rosario, Sept. 7, 1926, the son of a cattle-buyer, Monte Irwin, of Swift and Co. Before attending Yale in 1945 he lived in Rosario and Buenos Aires, and obtained his early education there.

Irwin in two years following World War II was a member of the joint United States-Brazil military commission in Rio de Janeiro. He also has visited in Uruguay and Chile.

In an interview, he said he intended to give special attention to inter-American affairs and to legislation pertaining to Puerto Rico. He hopes to visit San Juan soon.

Irwin said the inter-American system is a good thing, but he feels that the people of the U.S. have not given it the importance it deserves.

"In a global sense all of the American nations are a political group," he said. "They have many historical, economic and cultural interests in common. All are sovereign nations, born in a historical mold similar to that of the U.S. The Latin American nations are passionate in support of democracy. They know what it is to lose democracy, as illustrated in Cuba.

"I was sympathetic with the efforts to do away with Batista's influence, but I must confess that I am a little disturbed by what is going on now."

"I do not think that quick trials and executions will in the long run have a favorable influence on Cuba's economic growth and development. The Latin American tradition has always been one victory."

Irwin said there are 15,000 Puerto Ricans in his district.

"I have urged them to continue speaking Spanish and to have pride in their own culture," he said. "I have observed that even in some localities where there is antagonism to Puerto Ricans, there is much appreciation of their music and other cultural values. I feel that they can make a valuable contribution to the life of the U.S."

Color Sings A Blue Note For Spring

By Kay Murphy
Herald Decorating Editor

SEEING IS BELIEVING. But sometimes the cost of seeing comes high — particularly if you're personally applying the adage to the surroundings you live in.

How many of you can afford to take a chance on a new color scheme, a chance that you may NOT like it? How many of you can pay the piper —or would want to—for a blend of period pieces that curdles your sense of taste instead of soothing it?

MISS MURPHY

Wouldn't it be wonderful to see colors combined in exciting new ways before you attempt to experiment on your own? Wouldn't you like to learn the proper proportions to use when brewing a mixture of contemporary and traditionally-styled furnishings?

And wouldn't you love to master the balancing act? How, in other words, to play light against dark, or vice versa, in fabrics, carpeting, wall colors — wood finishes, too?

You can see and believe — at no cost to you. Burdine's has set up a gallery of rooms illustrating new trends in all phases of home decorating. Two of the first rooms to be installed are pictured on this page today. They were designed by Waldo Perez, who directs Burdine's decorating shops and is a member of the Florida Chapter of the American Institute of Decorators, and John Weber, member of the Designers and Decorators Guild of South Florida.

* * *

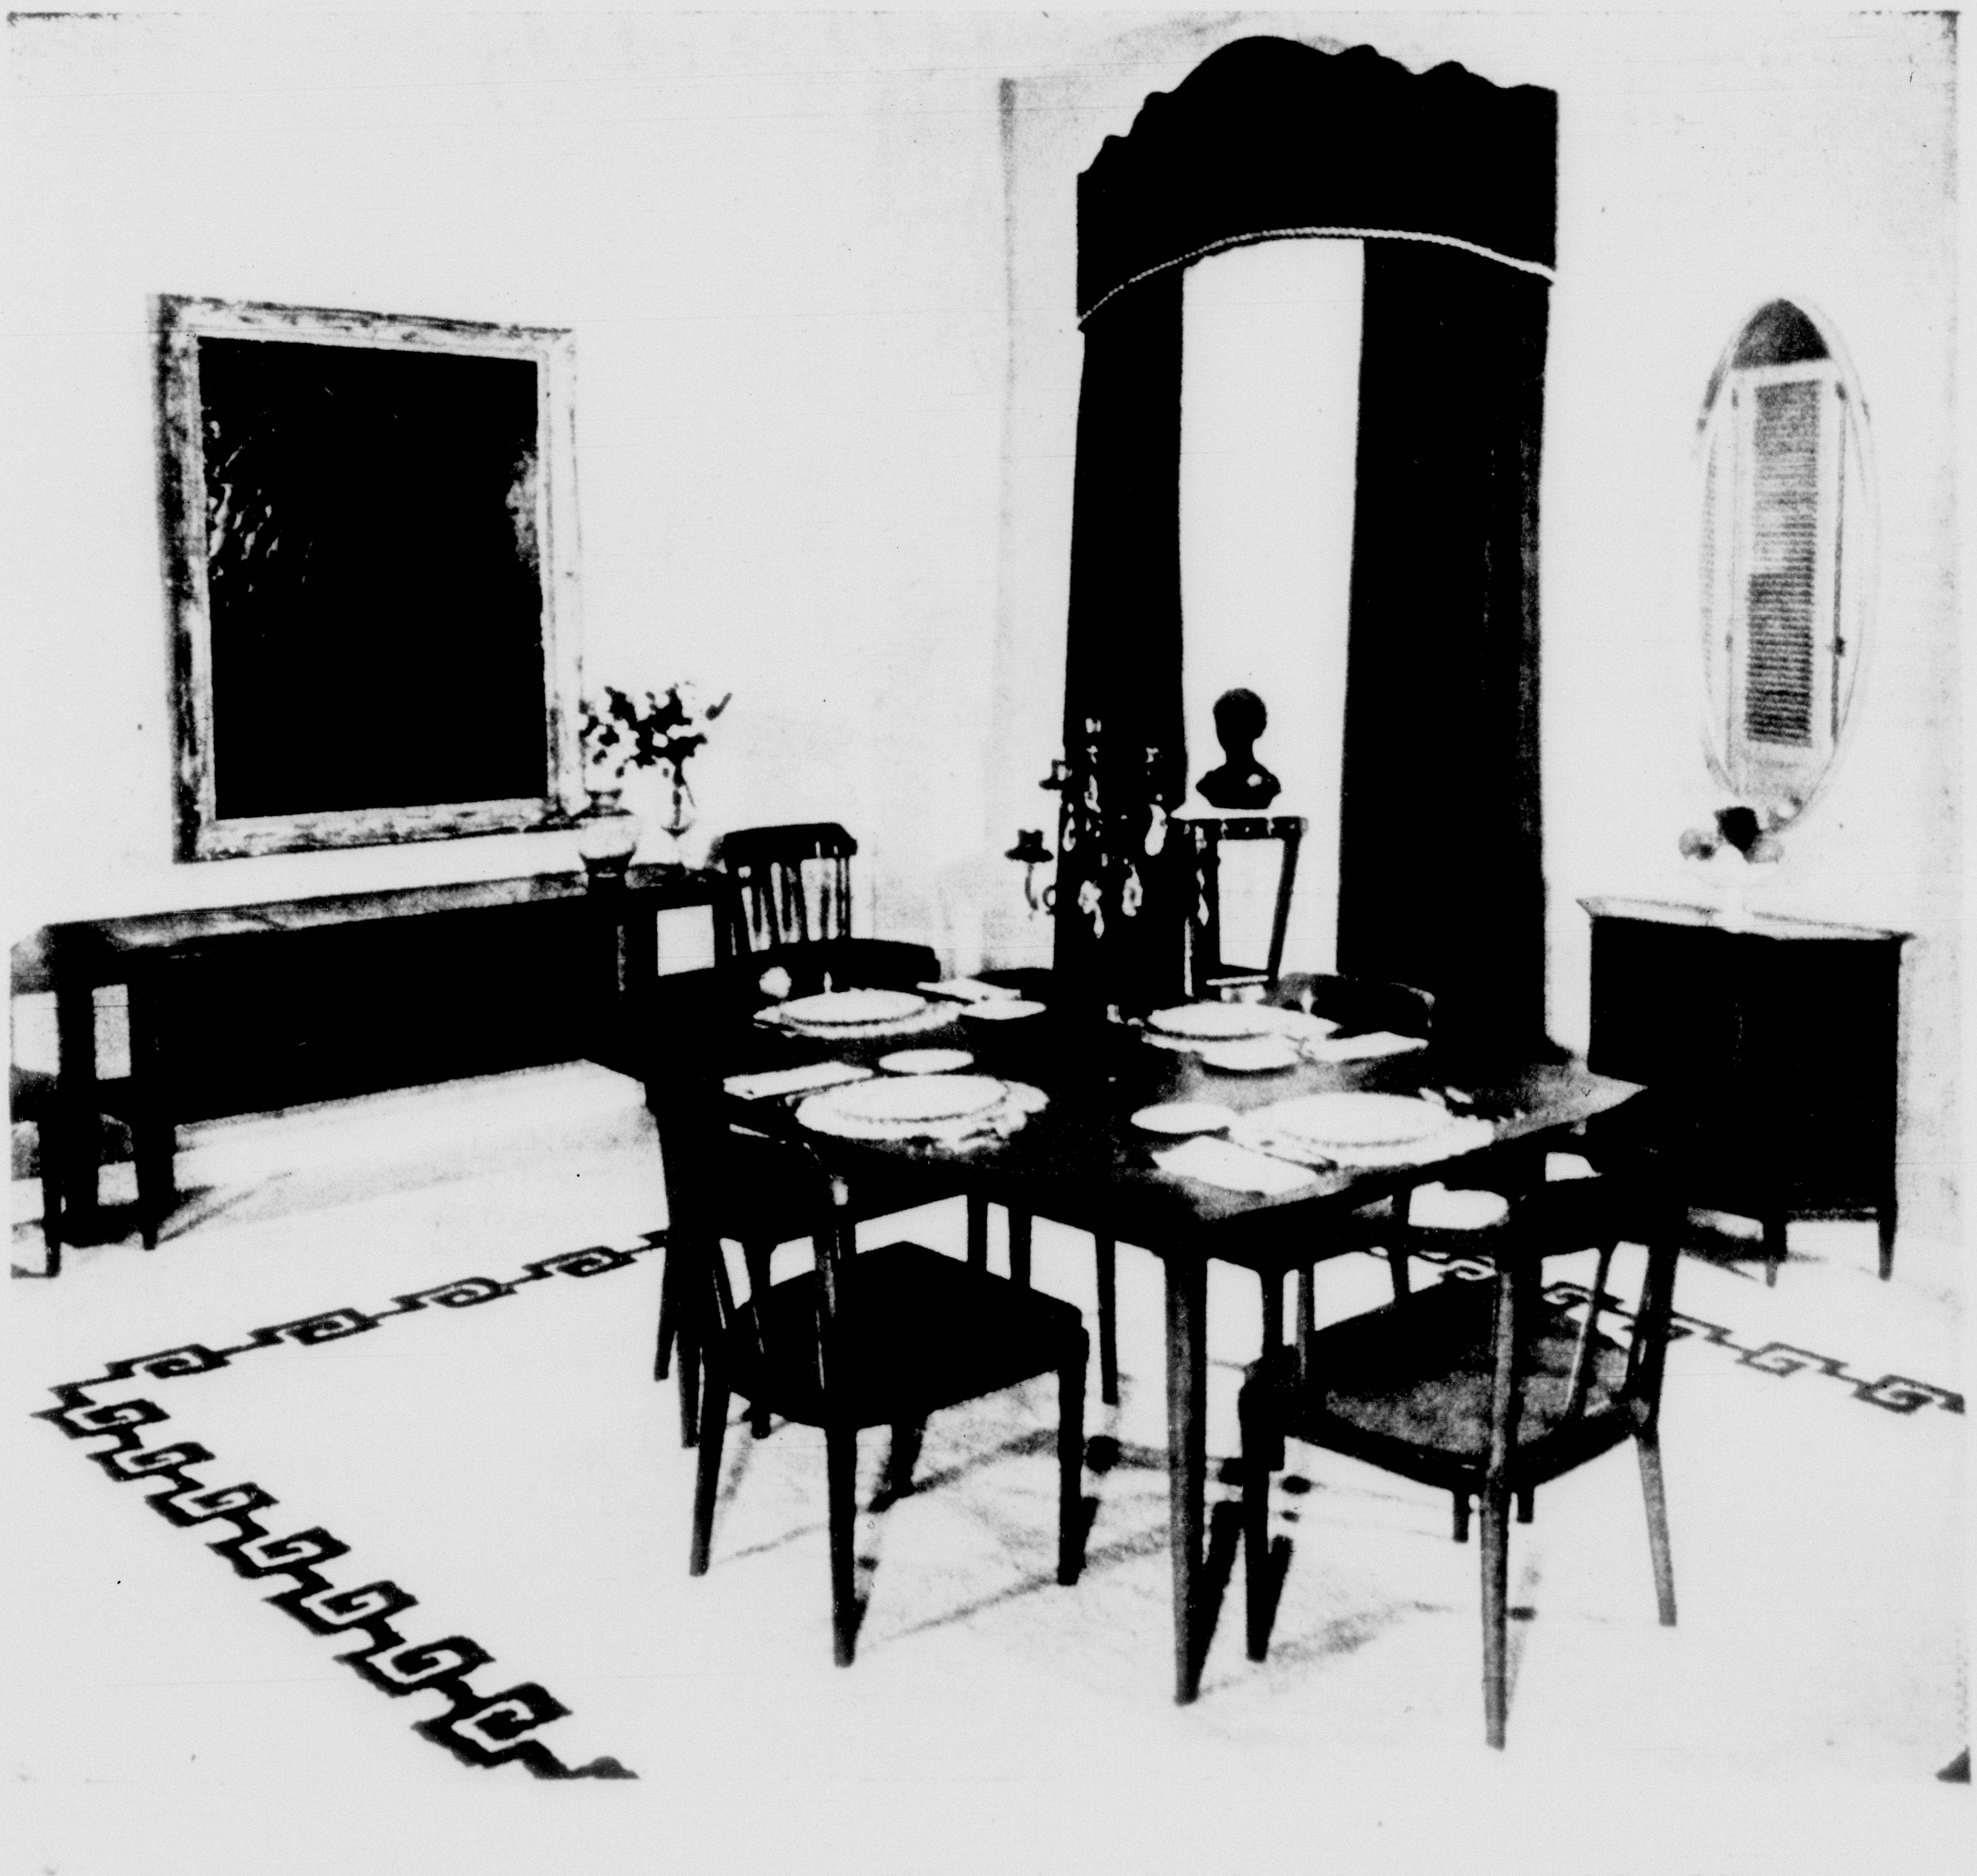
COLOR, AS YOU CAN SEE, is sounding a blue note for 1959. With green hitting an off-beat key that's harmonious, nevertheless, with blue. Accent colors, newer almost than the new year, are yellow and red. They'll be introduced in the gallery within a week.

Fabrics are now luxurious in texture. A lot have a silken sheen. Less pattern is in evidence.

There's less gloss to wood finishes—and you'll be seeing lighter finishes in the future. And the area carpet is here to stay, though the advocates of wall-to-wall installations say "nay."

The two rooms pictured show how contemporary furniture can be successfully accessorized with things that are traditional in styling.

Art is a part—an important part of decor—Perez believes. Therefore, the gallery is featuring the paintings of three local artists in its room settings: LaRue Storm, Maxine Shattuck and Tony Scornavacca.



Dining Room Decorated by Perez and Weber Shows that Good Art Is Part of Good Decor

Extra Billion Is Answer to Builders' SOS

By FREDERIC SHERMAN
Herald Real Estate Editor

CHICAGO—One thing stands out from the mass of speeches and panel discussions and merchandising displays that kept 30,000 persons busy at the 15th annual convention of the National Association of Home Builders.

SHERMAN

The builders are convinced their business will go to pot unless Congress taps the U.S. Treasury for another billion dollars to support the FHA and VA mortgage market.

You have to dig for this information because the 1959 policy statement of NAHB glosses it over with these words: "Insistence on an unmarketable VA interest rate forces acceptance of proposals to correct recurrent instability in our industry by purchase of mortgages with federal funds."

You wouldn't think those words add up to a plea for a government subsidy, but that's exactly it.

Here's the inside story of this change in basic policy by the Home Builders Association. The FHA and VA committee came in at the start of this convention with a secret resolution to the national executive committee asking for special federal assistance of a billion dollars for buying government mortgages at par.

In the special assistance measure passed by Congress last April, the par purchases were restricted to homes costing less than thirteen thousand five hundred dollars. The builders committee wanted to raise this to fifteen thousand. The executive committee, a hard core of conservatism in the association, rejected the resolution.

But the storm flags stayed up because Carl T. Mitnick of New Jersey, in line for the 1959 presidency, voted for it. It was Mitnick who won when the fight broke out at a meeting of the national board of directors. And that first vote was top heavy. The old guard fought back to bring it up again at the final closed-door session that produced the policy statement. The vote was closer this time, but the special assistance plea carried. The $13,500 ceiling was retained, but the builders want an extra thousand added in high-cost areas. Miami is not one of these.

* * *

Willits Backs Bank Proposal

PERRY E. WILLITS of Miami, a member of the 1958 executive committee, opposed Mitnick's stand throughout the convention. Willits is solidly behind proposal for a central mortgage bank that would govern this market as the Federal Reserve Board controls the national monetary balance. The mortgage bank the creation of Thomas P. Coogan of Bal Harbour, would purchase FHA and VA mortgages on the open market. It would finance itself through issuance of bonds and debentures on the open market. It would regulate interest rates on government mortgages to make them competitive with other investments. That's the real rub because Washington politicians feel that raising those interest rates, particularly for veterans, would be political dynamite.

Here is Willits' view: "The policy statement of NAHB has been generally opposed to subsidies of any kind. The executive committee refused to endorse the resolution because we felt that to ask for the special assistance subsidy would weaken our position in the creation of a central mortgage bank and weaken our fight for flexible interest rates in both the FHA and VA program."

It was generally the small builder who shouted down the Willits viewpoint at the meeting of the board of directors. But Coogan warns it will be the big operator who will benefit most from the special assistance money if Congress votes for it and manages to get it past a Presidential veto that has been threatened by the White House.

Said Coogan, "The small builders voted for what they think is a handout, but the big mortgage companies and big project builders have already made their plans to step in with commitment requests that would corner most of the special fund." Coogan added that the manufacturers of prefab homes would probably grab off 50 per cent of the money.

* * *

Coogan Forecasts 'Overhaul'

IT'S INTERESTING that the home builders are asking for more than their friends in Congress are offering. John Sparkman's Senate bill doesn't provide a dime in special assistance. Rep. Albert Rains is proposing only five hundred million dollars in a housing bill that the Alabaman says will be the biggest and best in the history of the country.

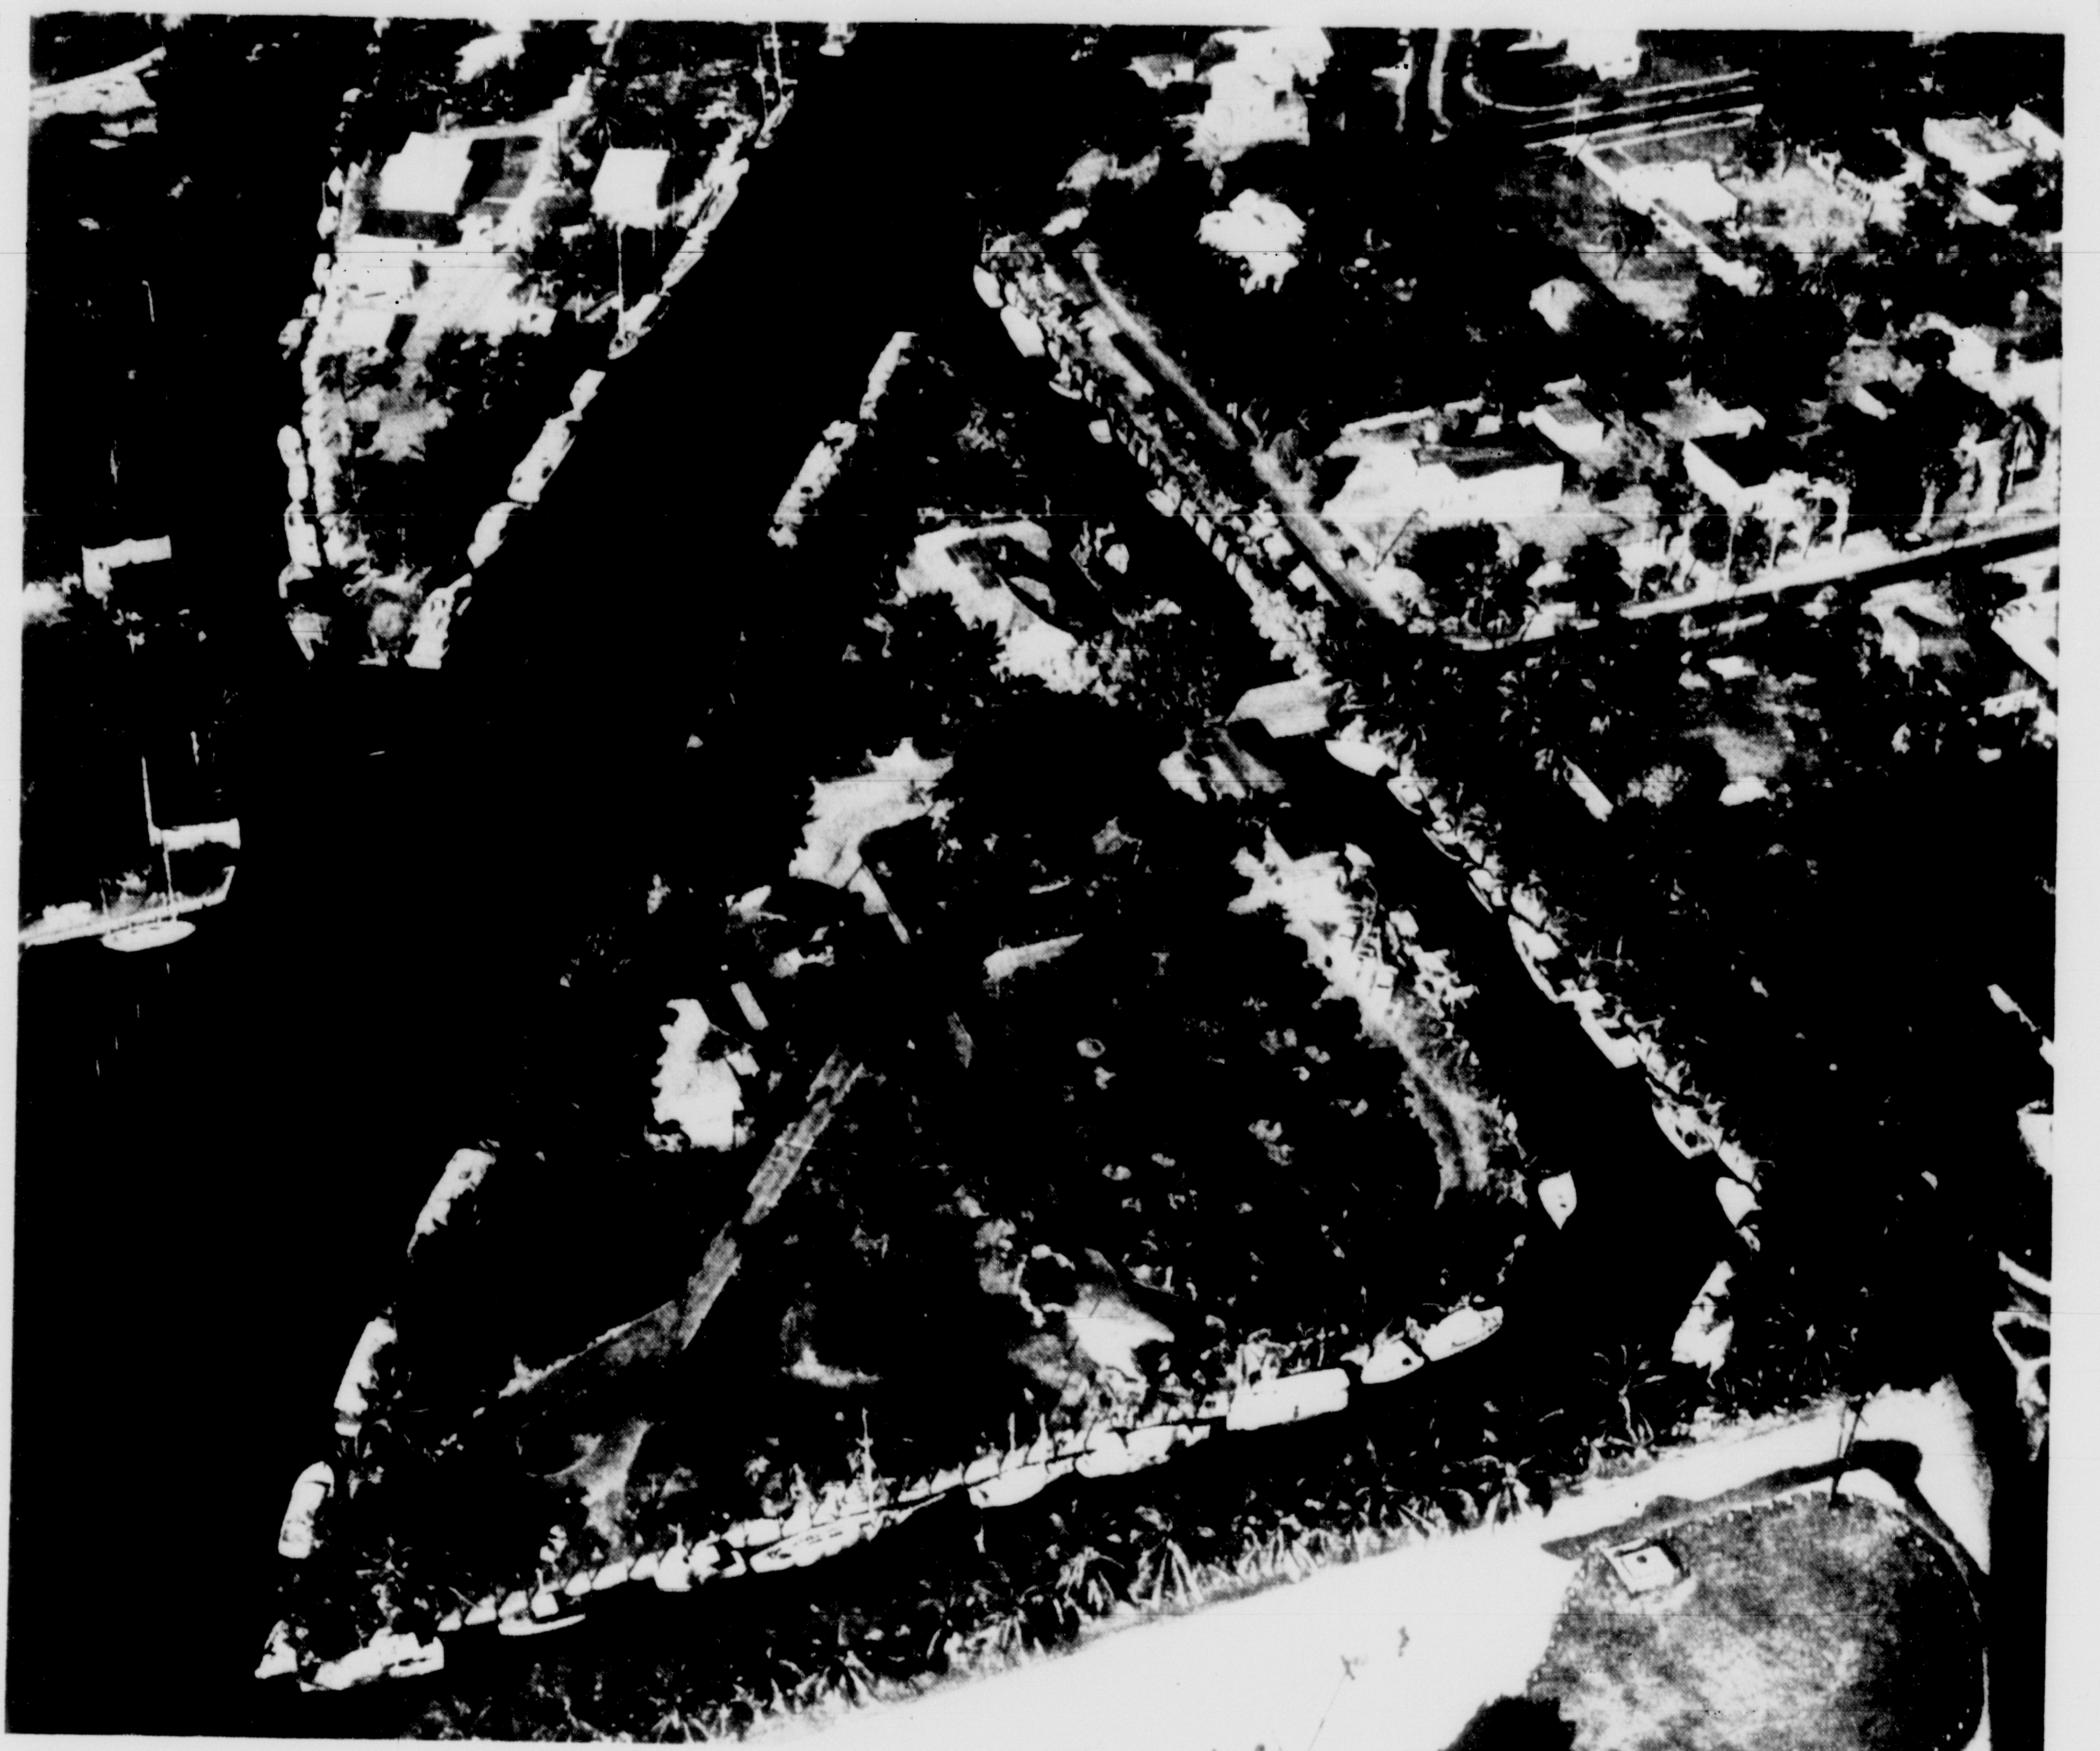
Coogan, a past national president of the home builders and a man with good pipelines to Capitol Hill, doesn't think it will be much of a housing bill that emerges from this session of Congress.

He feels that Democratic leadership is aiming for a complete overhaul of housing legislation during the 1960 election year. Coogan thinks Sen. Sparkman is aiming for the creation of a department of housing and a review of all housing agencies.

Scientists to Build Church in Beach

Low bidder among the four who submitted cost figures on the First Church of Christ Scientist in Miami Beach is Arkin Construction Co. with $303,246.

Chicago architect Charles D. Faulkner designed the building to be erected at Pine Tree Drive and 40th Street. Collaborating architects are Steward-Skinner Associates. Winston C. Gardner is structural engineer. William T. Brookman of Chicago is handling mechanical and electrical engineering.



MIAMI RIVER MECCA for yachtsmen has been sold for a figure close to $250,000, according to George Franklin of the Southland Companies, who negotiated the transfer of property. Just's Island is located at NE North River Rd. and 18th St. and is linked to the mainland by a bridge. Former owner of the five-acre tract is William A. Just pioneer developer in the Miami area. Purchaser is Donald A. Mitchell, a Riddle Airlines pilot. The island has 3,000 feet of dock space, an owners residence and 22 hental units on it's attractively landscaped grounds.

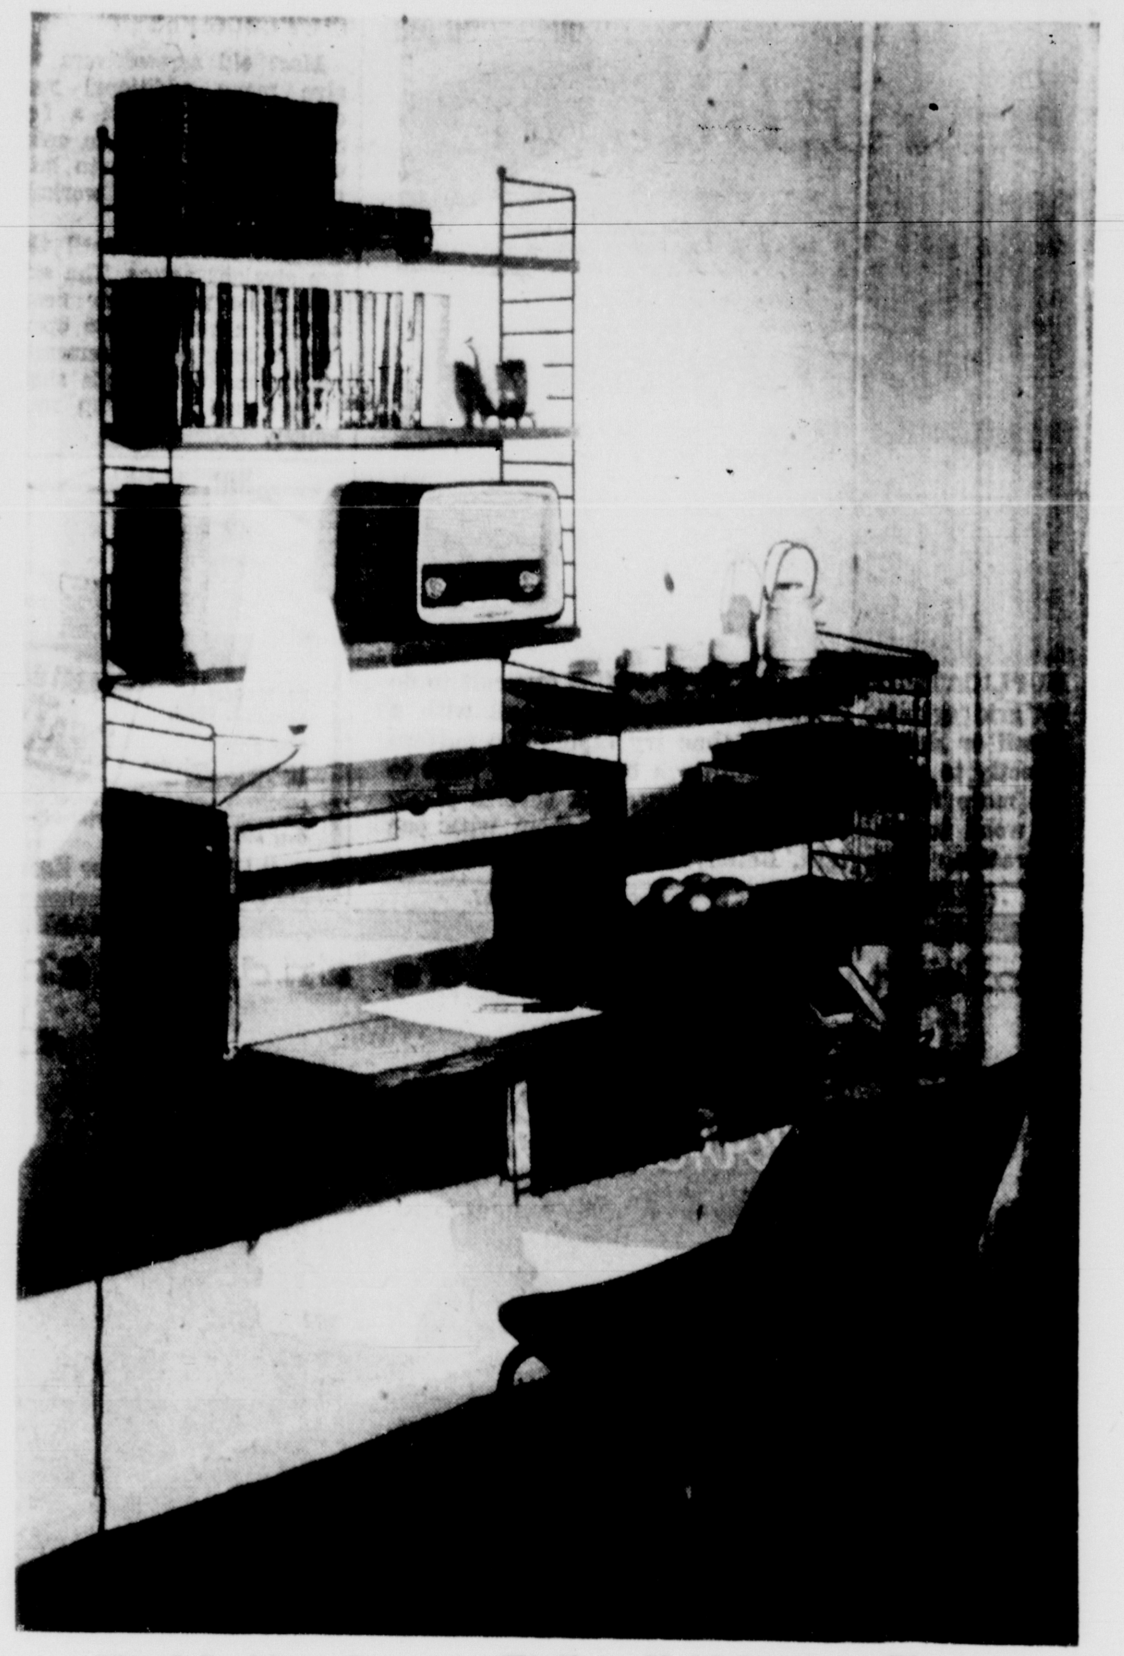
New Collection of Storage Shelves and Cabinets Is Designed to Grow With Your Children

. . . you can add units, regroup them as their storage needs change



Metal Ladders Screw in Wall to Hold Units in Place

. . . cabinet opens to serve as writing desk

Hook and Ladder Routine Works When You Need More Storage Space

The personality of a home is a reflection of the family living there. And this personality is often mirrored in the way you organize your wall space. Especially in the living room.

Do you have book shelves? Do you have display cases for collector's items? Do you have room to stack records for your hi-fi or stereophonic equipment? Do the children have a place to put their own things?

A new collection of storage units help you coordinate wall space by supplying a guide. Every member of the family can participate in the planning and assembling the units in one of the simplest do-it-yourselves projects.

The units were first introduced by a Swedish publisher looking for moderate priced bookshelves to attach to a wall. They were sold in bookstores for several years before consumer demand prompted the manufacturer to design different types for the home.

The units have two basic design parts: The supports, popularly known as "ladders" —and the storage units themselves, which can be suspended from the ladders at any height you wish.

The ladders are steel, with white or black plastic coating. They are attached to the walls with molly screws. The storage units include open shelves, open racks and a variety of closed cabinets.

Cabinets can be ordered with glass doors for china, with solid wood doors that open from the top or the front for bars, dropleaf fronts for writing desks and specially designed interior racks for record cabinets.

Some hi-fi fans have built their own sets into the cabinets of this collection. Shelves and cabinets come in birch, teak and walnut finishes.

In the living or dining areas the cabinets can be used to store china, silver, linens, writing materials and a wealth of miscellaneous materials handy to have within easy reach when you are entertaining.

In the bedroom, the ladders can be ordered in sections ranging from 8 inches deep and 10 inches long to 11 inches deep and 39 inches long. As you change in your line of wall units vertically from open shelves to closed cabinets you can join ladders of different depth.

For instance you might want two open shelves of 8 inches in depth, then a cabinet that is 12 inches deep, and your ladder will vary in depth accordingly. The cabinet and shelf units are 31 inches in length.

For special areas where 31 inches of wall space is not available, or smaller units are desired for other reasons, a 15 - inch shelf or drawer is available. In this case the ladders would be set just 15 inches apart. This small unit will serve as a telephone table or night table beside a bed. It also fits in for small kitchen areas where racks are needed for such items as cookbooks.

An important advantage of the collection over that of the usual built-in wall storage and shelf units is that it can be taken down at any time and rearranged. It can also be transported anywhere when the family moves.

The units are wonderful gifts for children. You can start a child on his wall unit with just two ladders and a storage cabinet. Each year you can add storage cabinets, or bookshelves and eventually a hanging desk. The desk height being adjustable, it can be raised as the child grows until it is 29 inches from the floor, standard for a desk.

If the child develops into a tall basketball player, he can have more leg room by simply raising the desk level a rung or two.

These coordinated storage units are called the String Collection and they're distributed in this country by Design International of New York. To give you an idea of costs, shelves range in price from $5.50 for one that's 15 by 8 inches to $35 for one that's 47 by 23 inches. Drawered-units range from $19.75 to $105.

Decor International is the local distributor but units can be obtained only through individual decorators or decorating shops or dealers in fine furniture.

DUPLICATING designs on stock is often difficult to do by grid system, layout tools, or by freehand with a pencil or sharp nail. Next time try taping the pattern directly to wood and saw through both. If you want to cut more than one of same design, tack several pieces of wood together and saw out all of them with one operation. (Copyright, Better Homes and Gardens)

Don't Discard Screwdriver

Most old screwdrivers will give many additional years of service with just a few minutes' work. Use an emery wheel or grindstone to bring the tips back to workable shapes.

Grind the ends until they are straight across. The sides should be parallel or nearly so. It's a very simple operation as long as you remember not to make the ends sharp. Blunt ends hold up much longer.

Brush Works Best

Use aluminum paint where a tough, wear-resistant finishing material is desired that will reflect a large amount of light, provide an excellent barrier against moisture and prevent rust.

There are three basic types of aluminum paint — for metal and masonry; for the exterior of a wooden house; and for either wood or metal indoor surfaces.

Brushing on aluminum paint gives better adhesion than spraying it on.

Don't make the common mistake of using aluminum paint as a prime coat over rusty metal, which should first be rubbed with steel wool and then covered with a coat of red lead or one of the other rust-inhibitive materials.

A Rugged Problem

MINNEAPOLIS —(UPI)— Because a carpet is an infrequent purchase for most families, few customers know what to look for.

First, determine the needs of your home and family. For example, cotton is cheap but wears fast and mats; rayon mats and soils easily but cleans easily; wool is resilient, resists soiling but is subject to attack by moths; nylon will outwear wool but mats easily.

For less than $10, you can buy cotton, rayon, blends of rayon and nylon, blends of rayon and wool. In the $10 to $12 group there are low-priced wools; from $12 to $15 the 100 per cent wools and more than $15, high-quality wools and nylons.

!! IMPORTANT NOTICE !!

The fact that more than 3000 homesites have been sold in LAKEWOOD PARK, for a volume in excess of 3½ million dollars, in the first 10 completed and recorded sections is incontestable proof of the stability and permanent investment values of this established community. We would be remiss in our obligation to Florida area residents if we did not point out that the final 2 units are now being offered for sale in LAKEWOOD PARK, Florida. These units contain some of the finest property in the entire development, and are positively the last homesites to be offered for sale in this deluxe and highly desirable community. We firmly believe that when these are sold, never again will a comparable Florida property be offered for sale at these unprecedented low prices.

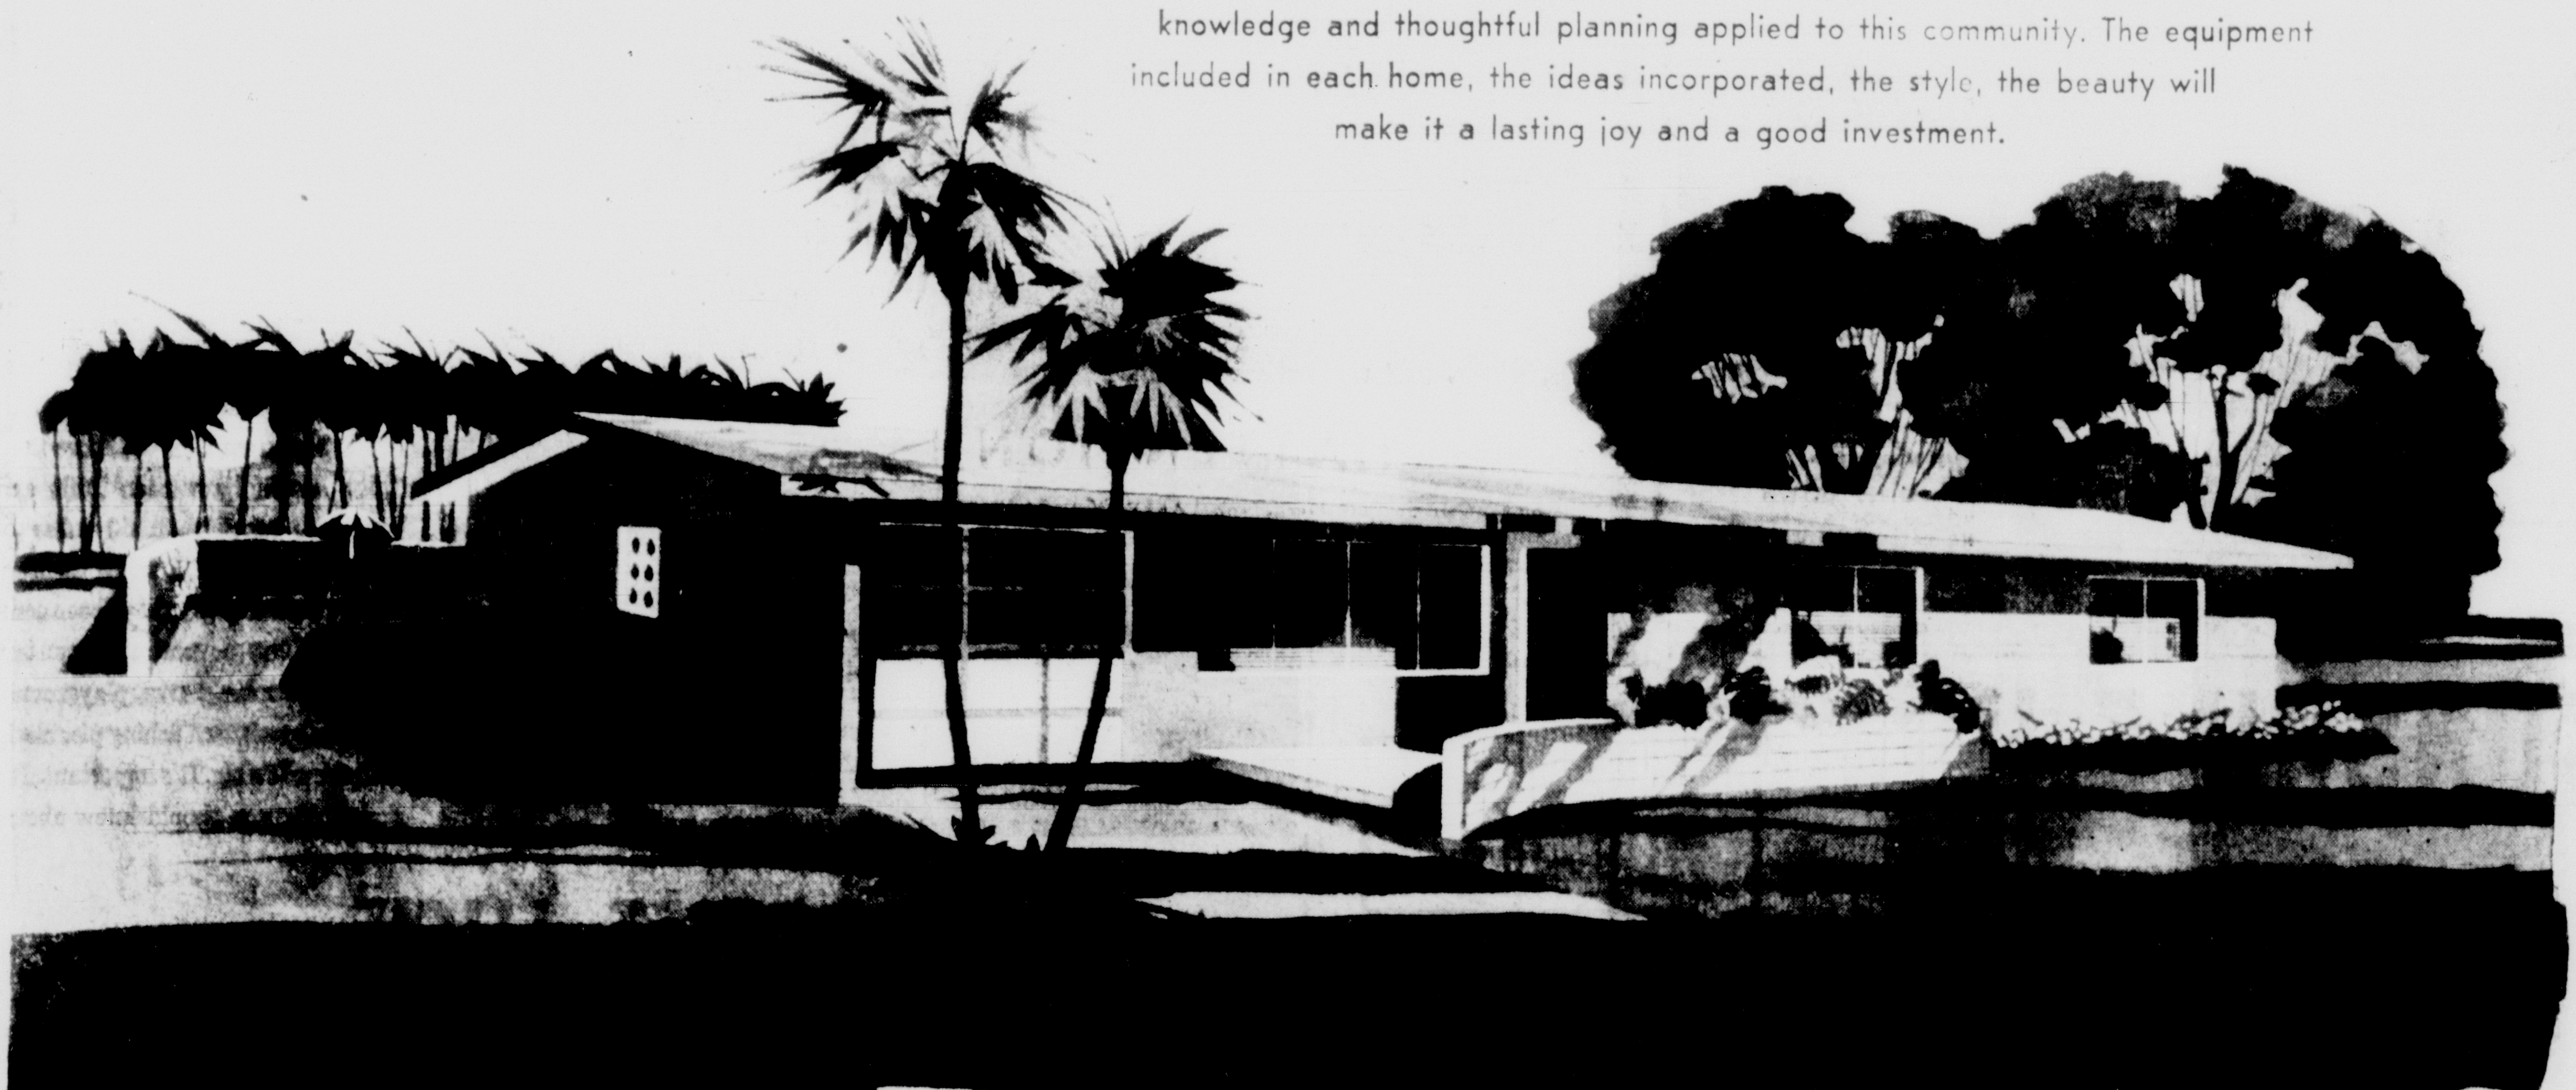
MANY features set these homes above others in a comparable price range. But basically, we believe the important difference is the high standard of construction. With 24 years experience in the building field, Babcock is recognized leader in the field of fine custom homes. This standard of quality is reflected in the knowledge and thoughtful planning applied to this community. The equipment included in each home, the ideas incorporated, the style, the beauty will make it a lasting joy and a good investment.



Indicative of the construction of Custom Value Homes are these suppliers of quality materials:

Chips off The Builders' Block

By FREDERIC SHERMAN
Herald Real Estate Editor

CHICAGO — This convention of the National Association of Home Builders produced a couple of quotes that should live forever.

From Robert Gerholz Sr., a past president of the national association at a seminar on better design: "It's great to spend a half hour in the ivory tower thinking about architecture but don't get caught up there in the busy building season. I find the house that sells has a colonial front with a good contemporary rear."

From Sen. John Sparkman of Alabama in a speech on financing as the key to stability in homebuilding: "Our goal should be a straight line production curve." But the senator didn't attempt to draw it.

* * *

DEMEO

VINCENT DEMEO of Miami Shores won a second term as regional vice president for Florida, Georgia, Alabama and Puerto Rico. But there will certainly be one Miamian missing from the 1959 executive committee. Perry E. Willits, a three-year veteran, went down the line in opposition to the association's request for special assistance in the FHA and VA mortgage program.

The new national president, Carl Mitnick of Merchantville, N.J., was for it and it's Mitnick who will pick the new executive committeemen next month. There's talk that James Albert of Miami will get the post when Willits is moved out. Jack Beatty of Bal Harbour took a stab at the national secretary's job, but never got his campaign off the ground and withdrew. He is saving all those buttons for next year.

* * *

BRAILEY ODHAM of Sanford sparked a quick fund raising campaign in the Florida hospitality room at the Conrad Hilton. About five hundred dollars was collected in tens and twenties to provide a good time for nine students from the University of Florida's department of construction.

The state builders association had donated three hundred dollars to pay for transportation and their rooms at the YMCA. The students had a booth at the Chicago Coliseum to show off pictures of the $25,000 house they are building for this spring's home show in Gainesville.

They are Robert Seckinger, Jon Dones, Tom Hampton, Bob Bird and Jerry Lane of Gainesville; Bill Norris of Fort Lauderdale; Jack Roat of Panama City, Larry Rhodes of St. Augustine and Bill Owens of New Smyrna Beach.

* * *

RAGNOR JOHNSON, who has just been appointed FHA zone commissioner for the Southeastern states, got an earful in Chicago about Brevard County housing needs from high ranking Air Force officers from Cape Canaveral. Johnson promised them he would visit the area next month to see what kind of special help they need in getting mortgage commitments. As it stands now, a man who opens a filling station or restaurant in Cocoa can get an FHA mortgage. But the engineers and technicians working at the missile base aren't considered good risks.

* * *

EMIL J. GOULD of Miami was one of eleven builders named honorary life members of the National Board of Directors of the Home Builders Association. To qualify for this honor, a builder must serve ten years and his local association must nominate him for the title.

Dutch Treat

In The Netherlands Antilles in the West Indies the official language is Dutch. But, only a few people speak any language other than English.

Weather or Not

To obtain a silvered or weather effect finish on close-grained wood use a coat of gray stain. When it is dry, rub the surface with a soft rag and small amount of white paint.

A Lesson for Us All

Ground Rules for Jet Age

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. — Transportation is going through great changes and, in turn, is changing land-use patterns in the United States, Howell H. Watson of Dallas, declared Saturday.

The Texas Realtor made his statement when he was installed as 1959 president of the Society of Industrial Realtors.

Watson cited as examples of transportation changes which will alter land use:

Increased use of air freight to distribute cargo.

Improved position of railroads.

"When the jet freights really become operational, a sizeable part of cargo distribution is going to go by air," he said. "To me this means that warehousing at or adjacent to airports will be at a premium. It means, too, that many suppliers who deal in relatively light-weight products will not stock heavy inventories because they can be supplied on a day-to-day basis with materials they need."

As for the impact of land use in the new interstate highway program, Watson pointed to estimates by the Public Roads Administration that 650,000 tracts of land will have to be purchased for the new rights-of-way.

"This land is in many cases coming right out of choice industrial locations. In other words, our basic supply of prime industrial land is necessarily being diminished for essential arteries," the Dallas real estate executive asserted. "The new highways are, of course making it possible to tap industrial land which has been inaccessible."

Because industrial land is in short supply, he advised SIR members to look to reclaiming good industrial land now in slum condition.

Change is in the air, too, for the trucking and railroad industries, President Watson said. "I think the outlook for railroads is brighter than it has been in many a year, and that what they do will have more impact on us industrial Realtors than perhaps any other single form of transportation," he told his audience.

The speaker cited the Transportation Act of 1958 as having alleviated the situation of the railroads somewhat. He said additional legislation could be expected to improve their competitive position and give them more latitude in providing other forms of transportation to users.

He said this will affect industrial Realtors because railroads have a reservoir of land — good sites, close-in to metropolitan centers, and strategically located. "I believe much of this land is going to be inevitably developed for manufacturing and warehousing purposes. I believe also the railroads are going to play a vital role in the redevelopment of our older cities," he declared.

Investment Opportunity
In Dade County
$75 PER ACRE
Every investor should own some of this property with a bright future soundly based on the growth of Greater Miami. Located north of the Tamiami Trail (U.S. 41). Excellent average elevation 8 ft. Less than 20% of Dade County enjoys such high elevation. Miami Beach has an elevation of 5 ft.
Bankers, Hotel owners, Attorneys and Businessmen are among those who have purchased some of this property through us. These men recognize a wise investment. Land of this elevation in Dade County at such a low price presents an outstanding opportunity for enhancement.
$750. All cash for 10 acres. 29% down for larger parcels. We can't sell this land for a few dollars down and a dollar a week — if we did, we'd have to raise the price greatly. We'll pass the savings on to you.
No roads or utilities as yet. The wise investor purchases undeveloped land at a low price, and profits manyfold later. Only a limited quantity is available at this price, and this offering is subject to prior sale.
Title insurance and oil and mineral rights, of course.

Are You All Set to Build?

Good home planning doesn't end with a site and a set of drawings. The basic elements of proper home planning include sturdy building materials, adequate wiring and electrical equipment, copper water lines and well-cured lumber.

Good materials are more economical in the long run, since replacement costs can often exceed initial costs.

Research Puts Color To Work

Today's kitchens are as beautiful as any other part of the house. Colorful appliances may be purchased to carry out almost any color scheme. The wonderful part of it is, that research experts and chemical experts have worked out coatings which makes it possible to keep appliances clean and shining without marring the surfaces, or dimming the gay hues.

"My orders are: 'SELL OUT NOW'!"

FOR THE FIRST TIME NEW F & R HOMES ARE MARKED DOWN

IN PRICE!

Only 9 Left Out Of 1,000!

1st House Sale In The History Of F & R Builders

IN THE PAST 4 YEARS, 3500 homes have been built by my company, F & R Builders, a name well-known in South Florida.

Today, there are but 9 new homes for sale at the Village.

These 9 remaining homes all have 3 bedrooms, 1 bath, a built-in Frigidaire or Caloric Range and Oven, a G.E. Garbage Disposall, Venetian blinds, select Oak hardwood floors and a host of other deluxe features all included in the price of these contemporary split-level homes.

THESE HOMES DURING THE PAST 2 YEARS HAVE SOLD FOR AS MUCH AS $18,500.

WE ARE SELLING THEM TODAY FOR JUST $15,975! CLOSING COSTS ARE ALSO SLASHED TO JUST $59!

Friends, I have checked with the proper authorities. I have absolute permission to run this sale. We are going to finish selling at Coral Way Village quickly for this is the first time we have ever marked down the price of a new home.

Coral Way Village homes have sold—I must repeat—for as much as $16,500, $17,500 and $18,500. We couldn't build and sell them today at those prices. Furthermore, ask some Coral Way Village home owner what he wants for his home and you'll see that it is many thousands more than $15,975—the price at which we are going to sell our last 9, 3 bedroom homes.

THESE HOMES ARE AVAILABLE FOR immediate occupancy. You can move in while qualifying. Act quickly, and I guarantee that you will save $850 cash this very day.

Cordially,

Newton L. Mulford

THERE'S A GRAIN of truth in all of George Nakashima's designs for he believes the true grain of the wood should determine how you use it. His Origins Collection is now in the home furnishings department of Jordan-Marsh and he will be on hand Monday and Tuesday to tell the origin of Origins. An architect, as well as woodworker, Nakashima is an American-born Japanese who was educated at the University of Washington, the Massachusetts Institute of Technology and the Ecole Americaine de Beau Arts in Paris.

Studies' Pay Off--He's $50 Richer

Poelvoorde

Competition was sponsored by the Joint Cooperative Committee of the Florida Association of Architects, the Florida Engineering Society and the Florida State Associated General Contractors Council.

Poelvoorde graduates from the UF this month, will enter Cranbrook in Bloomfield Hills, Mich., for graduate studies.

ORIENTAL-TYPE lantern to light your garden is a do-it-yourself project that takes little time to complete. It's made of three flat plywood squares mounted one above the other on spacer blocks. Free construction plans are available from the Douglas Fir Plywood Association, Tacoma 2, Wash.

Why Let Colors Sing Off Key?

If the rooms in your house open into each other, see that the colors harmonize. If your dining-room is painted in a lime shade, use this color as a secondary color in your living room.

Here's Slant On Drainage

One of the most popular surfacing materials for the increasing number of patios dotting the nation's backyards is quarry tile. Quarry tile is most familiar in a brick-red color, but is is also available in many other hues such as sand, buff, blues, and greens.

A patio should be slightly sloped to facilitate drainage. The waterproof surface itself will dry in a few minutes.

Take a Look, a Critical Look!

Have you looked at your home lately?

You see it every day of course. But have you viewed it with the inquiring eye of one who is looking for defects or thinking how things might be improved?

It's a good idea occasionally to make a tour of the house, and decide what has to be done.

Take flooring, for example. If it's wood, linoleum, or other such material, is it discolored and worn? If so, make a note to do something about it both for safety's and appearance's sake.

Take a critical look at the walls and ceilings, too. Defects may have developed so gradually that you are barely aware of them. Your visitors are, though.

The removal of accumulated bric-a-brac will do much to improve your home's appearance, and perhaps provide room for living that you didn't realize you had. It will make your home a safer place, too.

While you're on your inspection trip, be sure to check exposed wiring and worn plumbing. A few inexpensive replacements now can save you some substantial sums later.

Teenagers Won't Roam With Place of Their Own

Teen-age wanderlust is less of a problem in homes where youngsters have areas they can call their own.

Many home designers, anticipating the need for future family expansion, now include extra space that the home-owner can readily take advantage of as needs arise.

A little imagination can convert this extra space into a family recreation room, party room or dormitory-style bedroom. Sheldon Cady, designer for Allied Chemical's Barrett Division, recently designed a recreation room with soda bar that makes youngsters appreciate home, sweet home.

Every material in the room—starting with noise-reducing acoustical tiles and insulating planks on the walls—was used for decorative as well as functional purposes.

The soda bar frame was made of easy-to-clean corrugated panels.

Texan Calls for Action

Let's Fight City Blight

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. — America is now at the "crossroads of decisions" on whether to push ahead vigorously with vital urban renewal efforts or to "continue to avoid the avalanche of decay that is choking our economy," according to Lloyd D. Hanford of San Franciso, president of the Institute of Real Estate Management.

Hanford addressed a joint meeting of the Institute and the American Society of Real Estate Counselors here Saturday. Both organizations are professional affiliates of the National Association of Real Estate Boards, which is holding its mid-winter meetings in San Antonio.

Hanford said that the pressures of urban deterioration have been building up over the past four decades and added: "Those of us closest to the land itself have long realized the growing dangers that have been approaching relentlessly. Up to the last few years, the warnings of sound observers have been ignored."

The speaker noted that in the national urban renewal program under the Housing and Home Finance Agency and in the program of various citizen-groups such as NAREB's Build America Better Committee and the American Council to Improve Our Neighborhoods "we have the means and the know-how to reverse the cancerous growth of urban blight."

Blight, he said, results in unsightly, unsanitary, unsafe, and overcrowded buildings; a high incidence of communicable diseases and crime, including juvenile delinquency; financial losses in ad valorem taxes; above-normal insurable losses and stifled business activity.

Basic to the solutions of blight problems are strong and diligently enforced health, building, fire, and housing codes; adequate zoning ordinances; the availability of needed financing at reasonable costs for rehabilitation and reconstruction; a local planning program that fits the existing community pattern and "does not attempt to build a utopia that is uneconomic;" and the "will to proceed" on the part of all elements in a given community.

Hanford listed among the benefits that will result from an effective urban renewal program better health for the entire community, an "unbelievable" reduction in crime and delinquency, a "vastly enhanced value of our entire physical plant," increased local tax revenues, and "greatly improved business and working conditions."

Warning that "many difficulties" still beset urban renewal, the speaker urged his audience to concentrate on "some vital and correctable problems that greatly impede our progress."

He termed the first of these the public apathy that comes with the time lags between the conception and realization of urban renewal programs, and advocated a reduction in "these frustrating delays," by three steps:

The elimination of "such of the unnecessary detail work in the orderly process of planning and procedure."

Making certain that all levels of urban renewal planning and procedure are in the hands of "diligent experts in the respective fields."

Among other helpful actions, the West Coast Realtor called for the implementation of state enabling legislation that will permit municipalities to freeze ad valorem taxes in a designated renewal area for a "limited but reasonable period of time," and the provision of information and counselling service at little or no cost to owners and tenants in a designated renewal area.

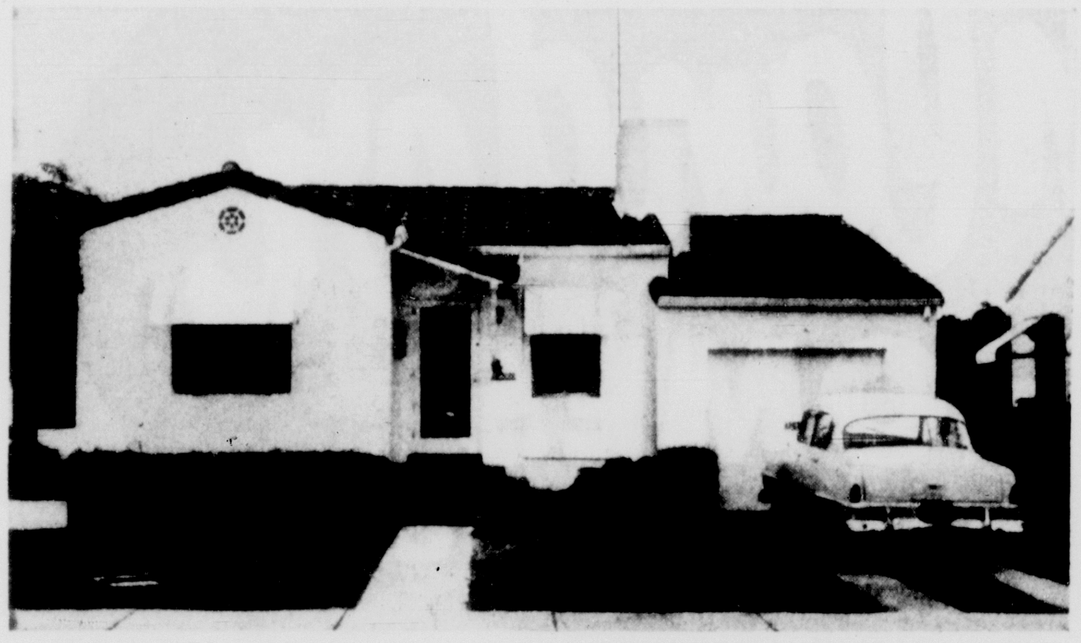
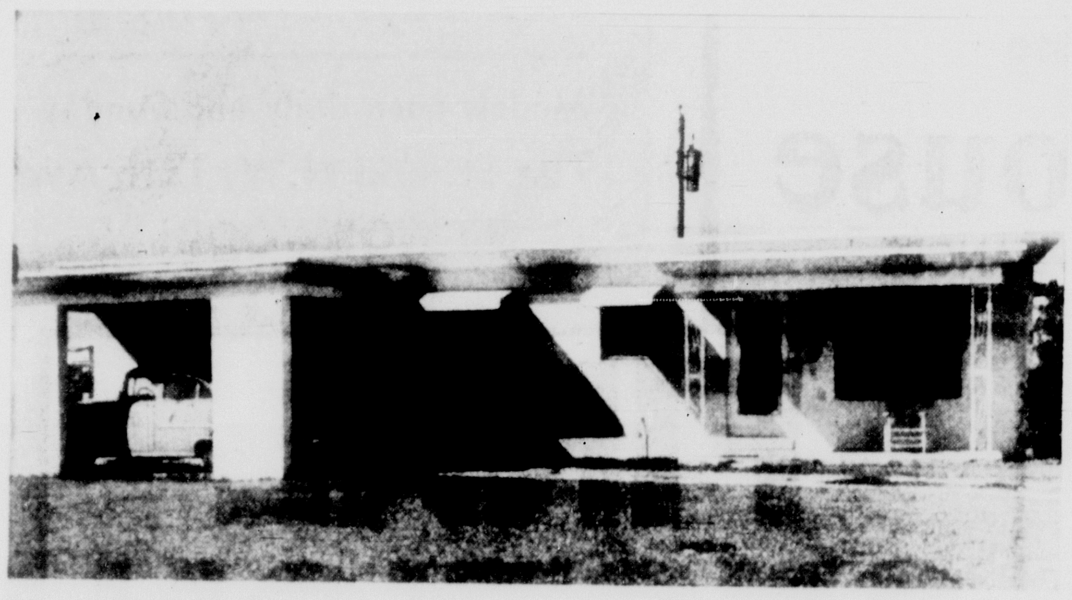
CORNER LOT LOCATION helped sell this home at 2784 SW 22nd Ave. to Mr. and Mrs. Lee Krause. They paid Mr. and Mrs. Frederick Montanari $17,900 for the dwelling. It has two bedrooms, one and a half baths. Genevieve Thompson of Thompson Real Estate negotiated the transfer of property.

CENTRAL HEATING was a sales feature when this home at 5955 SW 29th St. changed hands. Former West Virginians, the Charles Nelsons, purchased the property from Mrs. Thirza Fleischer for $21,200. The dwelling has two bedrooms, one and a half baths. Alton G. Murphy of the Keyes Co. sold it.

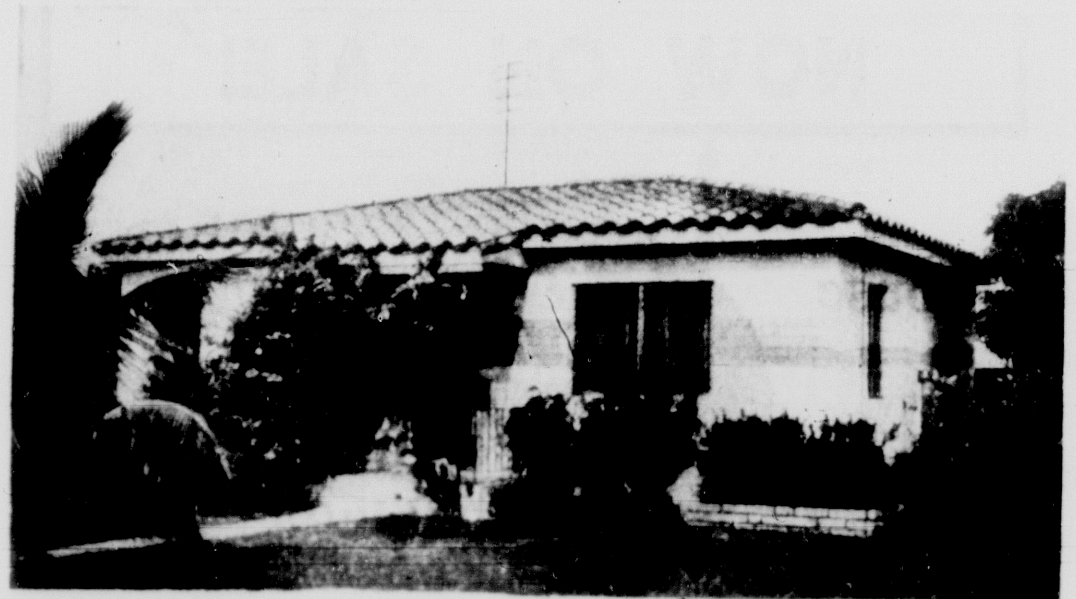
THREE-BEDROOM, one-bath home at 7335 SW 36th St. has been purchased by Mr. and Mrs. Robert A. Meister for $13,900. Price included kitchen equipment. Former owners are Mr. and Mrs. Jack R. Dorey. Wallace Johnson of Bill Eisnor's office sold it.



PRICE PAID for this two-bedroom, one-bath home when Mrs. Fay F. Evans purchased it from the E. L. Princes was $13,450. The dwelling is located at 3080 NW 2nd St. Lester R. Maxwell was the Realtor who handled the deal.



RANCH-TYPE HOME in Miami Springs has been purchased by Mrs. Myrtle Marsh for $13,500. Former owners of the two-bedroom, one-bath dwelling at 948 Raven Ave. are Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Garrett. Furnishings were included in the sale transacted by Robert Brinegar of Harry C. Blews' office.



COCONUT GROVE home on a corner lot at 3105 Day Ave. has been sold by Mr. and Mrs. H. J. Hayden to the J. P. Johnsons for $12,500. It is a two-bedroom, one-bath dwelling. Bavelle Fronk of George Fronk's office handled negotiations between the Haydens and Johnsons.

Title One Will Paint The House

Remember the magician's offer of new lamps for old in the story of Aladdin and the wonderful lamp? The FHA is perhaps not a magician, but does offer the possibility of transforming your old home into a fresh glowing new one. Their Title 1 property improvement program makes it financially possible for you to do that complete paint job your house needs inside and out. New paint makes all the difference in morale. Colors you like make all the difference in your inspiration and in your efficiency.

Loans insured under the FHA program may be used in innumerable repairs, alterations and improvements that effect a complete transformation of your home.

Loan representatives of local qualified lending institutions can tell you about the opportunities for home improvement that Title 1 provides.

THIS'LL FLOOR YA!!

FROM THE HERALD—JAN. 22nd

Condensation's to Blame For Your Damp Problem

No, lady, your floor hasn't sprung a leak, your house is not sinking, and you don't need water wings.

All this encouraging news came Wednesday from the Miami Weather Bureau.

It went to scores of puzzled, woebegone homeowners with damp "sweating" floors — terrazzo, concrete and tile.

The explanation: Condensation.

But troubled housewives were hard to convince. The Weather Bureau alone received about 25 calls.

James C. Fox, of 4051 E. 8th Ave., Hialeah, insisted the puddles were a half inch deep in spots. "I was about ready to sue the contractor," he said.

But the Weather Bureau's Martha Spector said: "That cold weather last weekend started the trouble."

"Those stone slabs got cold. They stayed cold, not warming up nearly as fast as the air. . .

"The humidity the past two days has been unusually high. The lowest Wednesday was only 77 per cent. And then with the abrupt change to warm temperatures (80 Wednesday) a film of moisture forms on some floors."

It happens infrequently, Miss Spector said, and goes away just as soon as the weather gets colder or drier.

The House Doctor Prescribes

By HERMAN BAUM

(Readers with questions on the maintenance and repair of the home may receive answers by addressing the House Doctor, care of The Miami Herald. Please limit letters to one question and enclose stamped, self-addressed envelope for reply.)

DEAR MR. BAUM:

The children use the large utility room in our house when they play indoors. The concrete floor is stained and dusty and impossible to clean. I would like to cover it without going to great expense. Is there some material that my husband could install that would make the area more attractive? Mrs. J. C.

MEASURE BORDER TILES THIS WAY FOR CUTTING

ANSWER — We suggest that he cover the floor with asphalt tile which is inexpensive and so easy to install that even the children can lend a hand. Importance is placed on accurately laying out the area for symmetrical installation of the tile.

The corners of rooms are seldom true right angles or opposite walls exactly the same length.

Measure the distance across two opposite walls and find the midpoint of each as illustrated at "A" and "B." Rub a piece of strong cord with chalk. Hold the ends of the cord at "A" and "B" and snap the cord to form the line "A-B." Find the middle of this line, "M." Measure any convenient distance — say three feet — from M to D and the same distance from M to C. Tie a nail to one end of a piece of string and a pencil to the other. Hold the nail at D and make pencil marks at E and F. Do the same with the nail held at C. Now, snap a chalk line from G to H through the crosses at E and F. Make marks on the walls at A, B, G and F.

Stains on a concrete floor are of no importance. The surface must be broom clean and free of all roughness.

If it should be rough, remove any high spots with a grinding stone and fill cracks and indentations with latex cement or the special leveling compound made by the tile manufacturer.

Should you have one of those floors that dusts badly, and most floors do, it should first be painted with a floor primer that penetrates the concrete and guarantees a firm bond between the tile cement and the concrete. The concrete must be completely dry before the primer is applied.

If, after 24 hours, the primer can be scraped off with a putty knife, the floor is too damp to receive tile and you should wait for a drier season. One coat of primer is usually sufficient but if grey spots appear, make a second application to these areas.

Asphalt tile mastic is applied with a serrated trowel that deposits exactly the right amount of mastic as you move across the floor. Apply this mastic to the entire room and allow it to dry for about 20 minutes or, until you can press your thumb against it without having the goo come up on your hand. You must now replace the chalk lines that you covered with the mastic. You will have to walk across the mastic to do this, but that does no harm.

Start laying the tiles at point M along lines M-B and M-G, being careful to have one tile abut squarely against the other. After three tiles have been placed along each line, you can fill in the center and proceed placing the tiles in diagonal rows.

When placing a tile, hold the edge against tile already in position and drop it into place. Avoid sliding the tile in place as this will push up mastic between the tiles. When the space between the last tile and the wall is less than one tile width, place the tile exactly on top of the tile that will abut it. Place another tile over this but pushed back to touch the wall and mark where it overlaps. By cutting along this line, you will get a perfect fit. A blowtorch is necessary at this point of the operation. Pass the tile several times through the flame to soften and cut with a knife. To finish roll with a linoleum roller.

DEAR MR. BAUM:

I am preparing to put up some large travel posters on the walls in my den. What would be the best material to use to affix the posters? S. M. C.

ANSWER — For temporary mounting, use wallpaper paste. For a more permanent installation, use fresh white shellac as an adhesive and then apply the shellac to the front of the posters also, to protect them from dirt and moisture.

Screen Keeps Out The Patio Peepers

NEW YORK—(Special)—One of the problems of outdoor living is privacy. Too many backyard barbecues and siestas on the patio have been spoiled by gawking neighbors or curious children.

The best answer is to build a fence that will let in both light and air, yet keep out unwanted stares. The drawing shows an example — a fence built of stock louver shutters combined with translucent plastic panels.

The shutters let air in and act as a windbreak. The plastic panels admit light, but keep curious gazes out.

Shutters of ponderosa pine are available from building material dealers in many widths and lengths. Plastic panels can be obtained from the same dealers in sheets which can be cut to size.

The fence—it's really a decorative outdoor screen—can be built by a home handyman with an average amount of skill. The shutters and panels can be arranged as shown, or in any number of attractive ways.

Wood Louvers and Plastic Panels

Your Rent Receipt Has No Value As Collector's Item

NEW YORK—Perhaps the most worthless collector's item of 1959 will be rent receipts.

Families who buy or build their homes next year will find that home owning pays cash dividends.

"'Mr. Renter' is fortunate," says Simpson, "if he can find a roomy, modern apartment for his family at $125 a month. 'Mr. Owner' can buy a home built of quality materials at monthly payments of $125. As each month rolls by 'Mr. Renter' acquires rent receipts while 'Mr. Owner' gains equity."

"With continued inflation in prospect," observes Simpson, 'Mr. Renter's' rental is certain to go up, but 'Mr. Owner's' mortgage payments stay the same — are even easier to pay, as dollars grow cheaper."

After 20 years, 'Renter,' even without increases may have paid $30,000 for mere shelter. He has a bushel of worthless rent receipts to show for this sum . . . and he must go on paying rent. "'Owner,' with the same expenditure, now owns — free and clear — a valuable home of his own choosing.

No Moving Parts in This Icebox

NEW YORK—(UPI)—Here's what's new around the house for 1959.

A thermoelectric refrigerator, which operates with no moving parts, has been designed for homes of tomorrow. It draws its cold directly from electricity, is styled like furniture with French doors and cabinet drawers, stands on legs, and has a 9-cubic foot capacity. The top is a usable work surface.

* * *

In the future, housewives will be able to wash dishes in an ultrasonic dishwasher that does the job with sound waves. The waves, invisible to the eye, attack and remove foreign particles attached to metal and ceramic items.

* * *

A dessert topping mix in powder form is reconstituted with ½ cup cold milk to make 2 full cups of creamy topping. It contains only 17 calories per tablespoon and is recommended as topping for hot and cold drinks, desserts, and as an ingredient for Bavarian pies, refrigerator desserts and salad dressing. It will store well in the refrigerator for 3 days after mixing and, before mixing, keeps well on the food shelf without refrigeration.

* * *

Hot ketchup, spicier than standard varieties, now comes as a condiment or ingredient in dips for shrimp, cheese, meatballs and other snacks.

* * *

A new corrugated box can be assembled and sealed by pressing pre-coated flaps together. A strong cohesive bond is formed when matching strips of the coating, called "Stik-Kwik," are pressed together, eliminating the need for stitching, gluing or taping. The boxes can be stored flat until needed.

Government to Blame?

WASHINGTON—(UPI)—The "Nation's Business," a magazine published by the U.S. Chamber of Commerce, charges that the Federal Government is restricting new home building.

The magazine says "unpublicized manipulation" of Veterans Administration (VA) and Federal Housing Administration (FHA) loans and banking operations are cutting building by about 200,000 to 300,000 new houses a year.

It adds that a Congressional investigation is planned to look into the matter but did not say what form the inquiry would take.

The article charges that housing minipulations by the government cause serious underbuilding, further inflation of building costs and other disruptions in the new-home building industry.

It ticks off the following "manipulations" by the government as the source of these ills:

—Raising of down payment requirements by the VA and FHA.

—Instructions to VA and FHA field offices to restrain federal underwriting of mortgages in selected areas.

—Action by the Federal Reserve Bank of New York to discourage commercial banks from carrying loans between the time they are written and the time they are accepted by permanent investors.

—Restrictions on borrowing imposed on savings and loans by the Federal Home Loan Bank.

Why Men Desert The Hearthside

NEW YORK —(UPI)— If you can't keep that man of yours around the house, maybe it's because there are too many posies in the wallpaper in the den.

That's the wallpaper industry's diagnosis of what ails menfolk who stray from the warmth of the place you both call home.

The cure: give the poor guy a chance to pick his own wallpaper, which now comes in two sexes.

The male kind is full of ships and sails, horses and knights, hounds and birds, sports cars and motor boats, soldiers and plumed hats.

Everything, in other words. Except pin-ups.

Don't Shake

Avoid shaking or stirring varnish before you use it. This practice tends to create bubbles that may remain in the dried varnish film.

Garden Now In Catalogs

By NIXON SMILEY
Herald Farm and Garden Editor

ALTHOUGH IN THE NORTH the frozen ground is covered by snow and every leafless twig is resting in a deep winter sleep, people are poring over seed catalogs in their warm houses and dreaming of the sunny months ahead when they can break the soil and plant and cultivate.

We know a little about what's going on up there in that "foreign" part of the world.

For we have received seed catalogs too—those brightly colored catalogs with their tempting red tomatoes, yellow carrots and golden marigolds.

Who can resist them? We know full well that not all Miamians will resist the temptation to make a spring garden. The urge will grow over the weeks ahead.

And when the time arrives for the snow to melt in Maine and the ground to thaw in Pennsylvania, the urge to dig in the soil and to sow seeds will become overwhelming.

* * *

THE NEWCOMERS will be the ones who mainly will be affected. They will remember spring in the North. The very symbol of spring as the "beginning" of things will have its effect.

But in time the newcomer becomes a veteran — after four or five years here — and former habits are dropped and the ways of South Florida accepted.

For here there is no special time of year that one can look upon as the "beginning" of things.

There's always some fruit ready for harvest, some tree, shrub or vine in full bloom.

So the newcomer will slowly lose the urge to plant annuals in the spring. Instead, he will begin to collect and plant crotons, acalyphas, poinsettias, and to fill his yard with citrus and flowering trees.

And, in time, he will learn that there also are other interesting ornamentals that may be planted.

If he plants annuals or vegetables he will do it in the fall or winter.

* * *

HE MAY LEARN — not all do — that there are plants that are interesting for other reasons than for their flowers or fruit; that there are plants that have interesting forms or have interesting foliage texture and color.

And the time will come when the total landscape of the garden becomes as important as the perpetual show of individual plants; that in South Florida one does well to plan for year-round living out of doors.

Changes in gardening tastes and habits come with experiences in living in South Florida. And experiences can be made more meaningful through reading about tropical gardening and tropical plants.

* * *

MANY BOOKS and bulletins are available which are helpful to the gardener—both the newcomer and the veteran.

The Agricultural Extension Service, University of Florida, Gainesville, has a long list of bulletins and leaflets on tropical fruits, ornamentals, ground covers, lawns and insect control.

These are free to Florida residents.

The State Department of Agriculture at Tallahassee also publishes bulletins of value to the gardener.

There also are numerous books on tropical gardening and tropical plants available in book stores. Public libraries have them for loan.

The Inquiring Gardener

Readers with queries should include a self-addressed stamped envelope. Limit queries to two or three. Complete specimens are required for identification, including a twig with foliage and flowers for fruit.

QUESTION — When is the best time to trim shrubs such as buckenville, etc.? — A Reader.

ANSWER — Trim shrubs in spring or early summer, after they have completed flowering. And that goes for "buckenville," which I assume you mean to be bougainvillea (pronounce it bo-gan-vil'-lee-ah.)

QUESTION — A neighbor told me it is time to trim back my poinsettias. However, the plants are still in bloom and very attractive. Why do I have to cut them back now? —Mr. See, Miami.

ANSWER — You don't have to cut back your poinsettias now. Wait until the bloom has passed. That may be in February or as late as March. We'll have an article on trimming poinsettias and rooting poinsettia before long.

QUESTION — Should I catch my grass clippings when I mow or should I let them lie on the lawn? I have heard so many pros and cons on this topic that I would like to hear your opinion. — Oscar Bay, North Miami Beach.

ANSWER — It is generally a good idea to catch clippings, especially in a lawn that is fertilized often and produces a great deal of lush growth.

Where clippings are left on the lawn, they accumulate so rapidly during the summer growing season that a dense thatch is built up, with grass runners running over layer after layer of clippings. Insect control is difficult in such lawns and it's difficult to top-dress such lawns with sand or topsoil because the material cannot penetrate the thatching.

QUESTION — Can you identify the enclosed specimen? A friend gave me a little tuber which he said was a "yam." I planted it and pretty soon I had this vine growing all over the place, even in the trees about my place.

It has turned out to be a pest. But recently I read in your paper that cortisone comes from yams. Maybe I've got a gold mine and didn't realize it.

I had always thought that a yam was a sweet potato. But all the sweet potatoes I ever saw produce their vines on the ground. I've never seen one climb. But my plant climbs, and how. — Daizey Yorks (?), Coconut Grove.

ANSWER — Your plant is a yam, all right. I would guess that it is the common one that grows about the Miami area, producing aerial tubers that fall to the ground and make new plants.

There is considerable difference between a true yam and a sweet potato. The yam is Dioscorea. The potato is a member of the morning glory genus and is known to botanists as Ipomoea batatas.

It is true that a chemical related to cortisone is derived from some yams, but not from the common local yam. If your yam is of any value it is not known at the present time. But it does become a serious weed, once the plant gets a little headway.

QUESTION — I was sold a Ficus benjamina three years ago that the nurseryman said was a dwarf variety. But it is growing very fast and I am worried about the possibility of the roots invading the septic tank drain. Is there really a dwarf ficus? — Mrs. E. S. Hawkins, Miami.

ANSWER — Never heard of a dwarf Ficus benjamina. About the only way to keep one dwarfed is to grow it in a pot.

QUESTION — My little girl was stung on the hand by a tiny wasp which she caught on a mango tree flower. Is there any chemical that I could put on the tree and flowers to keep insects off them? I notice this morning that there are literally hundreds of insects flying about the flowers. Do they damage the bloom? Maybe that's why we didn't get any fruit last year.

I think it's a shame that a child can't play on her own property without getting stung by these wasps. Isn't there something the health department could do, like spraying such as they do for mosquitoes? — Discontented Newcomer.

ANSWER — I hardly know what to say.

QUESTION — Please tell me how to get rid of dollar grass in my lawn. — Edwin Schmidt, Delray Beach.

ANSWER — It sure seems odd to get such questions when so many people are spending good money to grow "dollar grass."

Anyway, you can kill it by spraying with selective weed killer. But be careful. Follow directions to the letter. Otherwise you will kill your other grass.

QUESTION — I guess I pulled a real boo-boo. I sprayed my house plant with a household insecticide. The leaves are all wilted. Is there anything I can do to rejuvenate it?—Mrs. C.S.C., Miami.

ANSWER — I would buy a new plant.

QUESTION — My frangipani has lost all of its leaves. Is it dead? I didn't know that tropical plants shed their leaves. — Mrs. Clara Keen, Miami.

ANSWER — I doubt it. There's nothing abnormal about a frangipani shedding its leaves. A large number of tropical plants shed their leaves during some part of the year.

Cattle Import

During 1958, over a million head of cattle were imported into the United States — an amount of beef totaling eight per cent of U.S. production compared to the previous high record of six per cent in 1951.

Outdoor Living Room Practical

With the development of better gardens and patios, outdoor entertaining has become more popular in recent years than indoor entertaining.

Garden entertainment of guests is more natural and easier, even if one wishes to throw a big garden party.

Thus it is possible to entertain perhaps 15 guests out of doors as easy as it is to entertain half that many at a more formal dinner.

Many easily-prepared foods and beverages that one would not think of serving more formally indoors seem to taste better outside and are quite all right to serve.

For those who do considerable entertaining, the savings in costs outdoors over a period of time can even pay for a colorful "garden living" room.

First, you select the right location on your property. It preferably should be close to the kitchen, so foods and dishes will not have to be carried far, whether the actual cooking is done outside or inside the house.

People like to see steaks or hamburgers being charcoal grilled before their eyes, however.

A simple outdoor grill solves that problem. The "garden living" room may be located near the rear of the property if purely "picnic style" entertaining is done. Convenience is the answer to the right location.

Shade is all-important in garden living during the hot summer months. Trees should be planted to cast shade exactly where you wish it, remembering that entertaining usually is done during the afternoon and early evening when the sun is in the west.

The tree or trees for that reason should be west of the area to be shaded. If luncheon entertaining is done the tree foliage should be almost directly overhead, since the sun is highest in the sky at noon. It may require two or more sizeable shade trees to achieve the best results.

If one is planning a sizeable "garden living" room it will pay to have it planned by a good landscape nurseyman. Simpler rooms you can plant yourself if you just remember the ingredients: location, privacy, shade, flowers, lawn space.

There's Beauty in Nassau Spot

Don't Try Estate Plans on City Lot

IF I HAD TO pick out what I consider the outstanding tropical garden I have ever had the pleasure to visit, it would be the garden at the Erickson estate in Nassau.

For this not only is a rich garden, well designed and well maintained, but it is an example of what can be accomplished with tropical plants.

This garden can be more or less duplicated any where in South Florida. Perhaps not on so large a scale, since this one must cover more than an acre.

But certainly the same richness in foliage and design can be duplicated here, since just about every plant growing in the Erickson garden also thrives in Miami.

If there is any secret to the success of the Erickson garden it is the mixing of trees and palms along the borders of the property, with ample open space left in the center.

The Erickson garden is a "walker's garden." It isn't a garden in which you are satisfied to sit and to look. The urge to walk and to explore seizes you. The casually laid out walks are irresistible.

* * *

IN 18th AND 19th Century English and European gardens landscape designers created surprises for the stroller.

In some instances they went so far as to build fountains that would burst forth as the stroller approached them, sending jets of water into the air.

But more often the surprises came in the form of vistas that one suddenly found himself gazing into after being tolled into the right position by a carefully laid out walk.

These surprises are no less in the Erickson garden. And, although they can't be compared with the magnificent surprises found in an English earl's garden, they are pleasant and interesting nevertheless.

* * *

FOR THE GARDEN is not made so that you can see the entire garden merely by standing in the center and pivoting the head.

The plantings are laid out in such a way that the garden is really of several parts, to be enjoyed part by part as you stroll from one area to another.

The plants are not uncommon ones. There are cecropia, clusia and rubber trees, all of which grow well in Miami. And there are the same palms and pandanus that thrive here.

The ground covers are rhoeo, begonia and several kinds of the common foliage plants that people grow indoors.

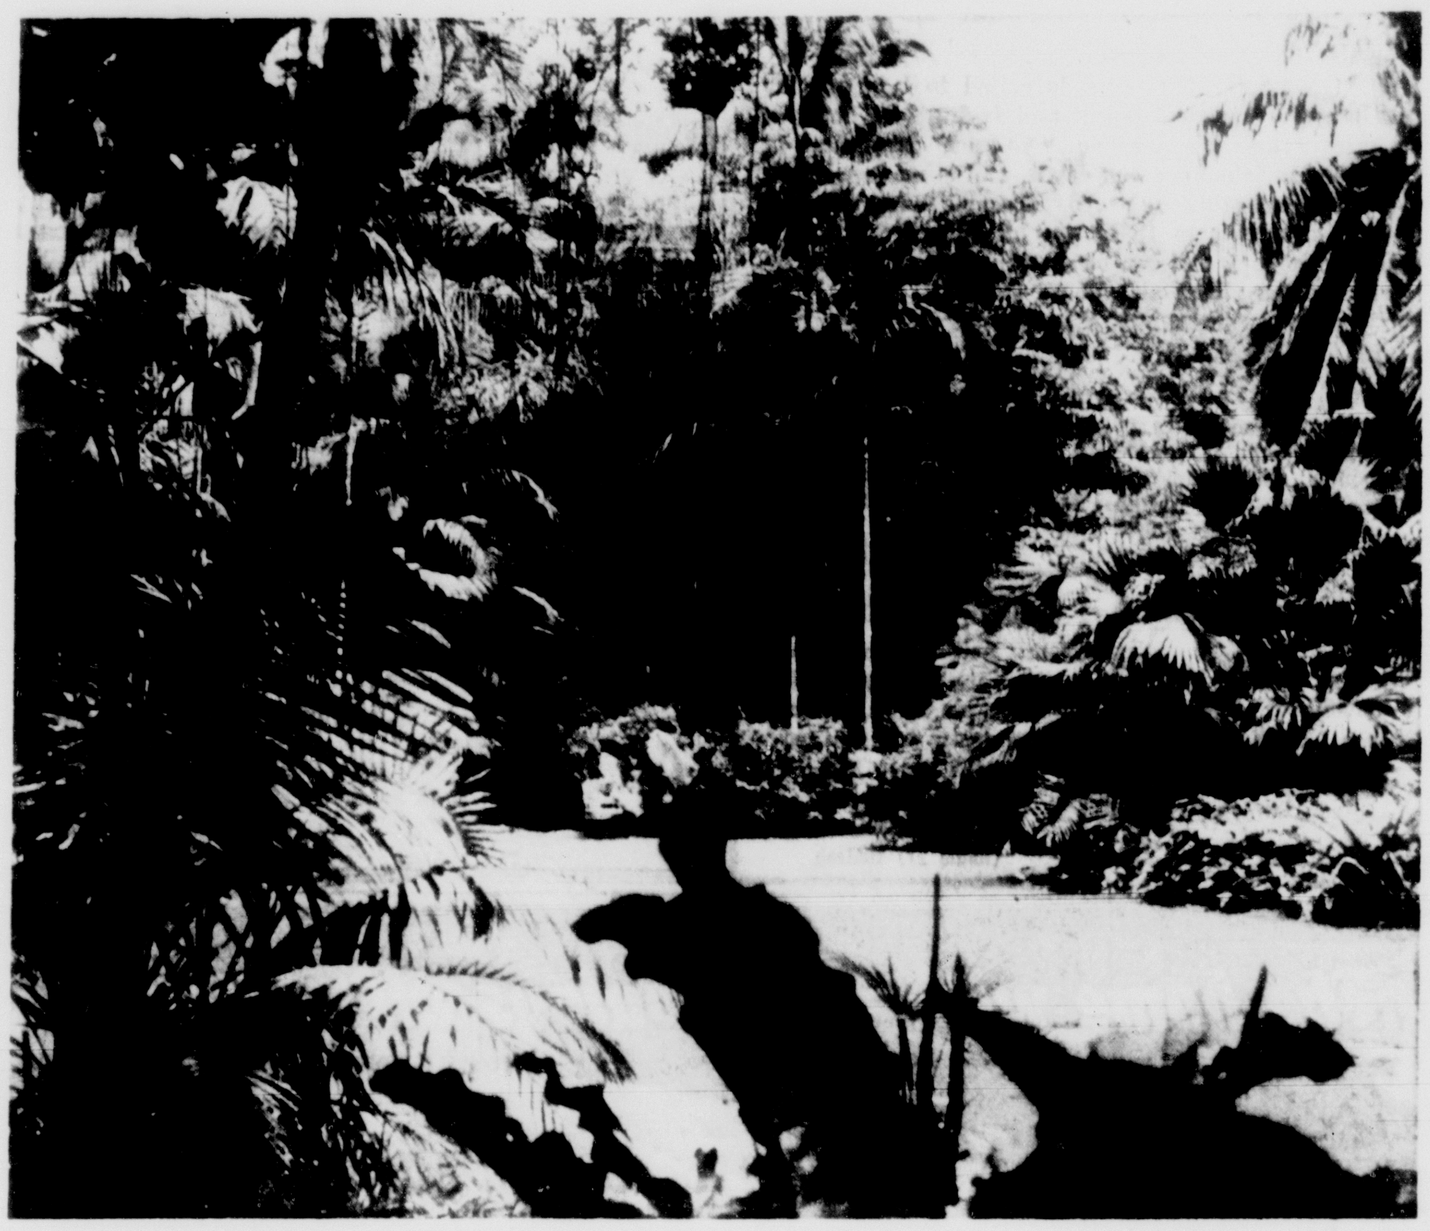
Thus it is not the rarity of the plant collection that makes this garden, but the interesting use of the common things.

The generous use of slender single-trunk palms is especially good. For these palms provide a canopy of shade where shade-preferring ground covers and shrubs may be grown, yet there is open space between the trunks through which you are able to see and to enjoy the foliage texture of the shrubs and trees that make up the background planting.

I would not be quick to suggest that everyone try to duplicate the Erickson garden in Miami.

Most lots are too small. Yet, a lesson can be learned here.

The border of the property is the area to build plant collections. The center should be kept open, so that you have space in which to walk and to view the plantings on the border, as you would use the openness of a room in a museum to view the pictures on the walls.



TROPICAL EFFECT of the Erickson garden in Nassau can be duplicated in Miami. All of the plants in this scene grow outdoors in South Florida. Note how the center is open, with plantings confined to border.

Kaplan Installed By Spraymen

Other officers are W. A. McAllister, vice president; H. Hale, treasurer, and G. Daye, secretary. Named to the board of directors were C. P. Johnson, R. Kuester, John Page, H. Petri and R. Prince.

Circular Stepping Stones Can Be Used to Advantage

Circular stepping stones can be striking in the well landscaped garden. But their design should be such that they are useful as well as ornamental.

Haven't you seen stepping stones laid in such a way that to get from one to another is like railroad crosstie hopping?

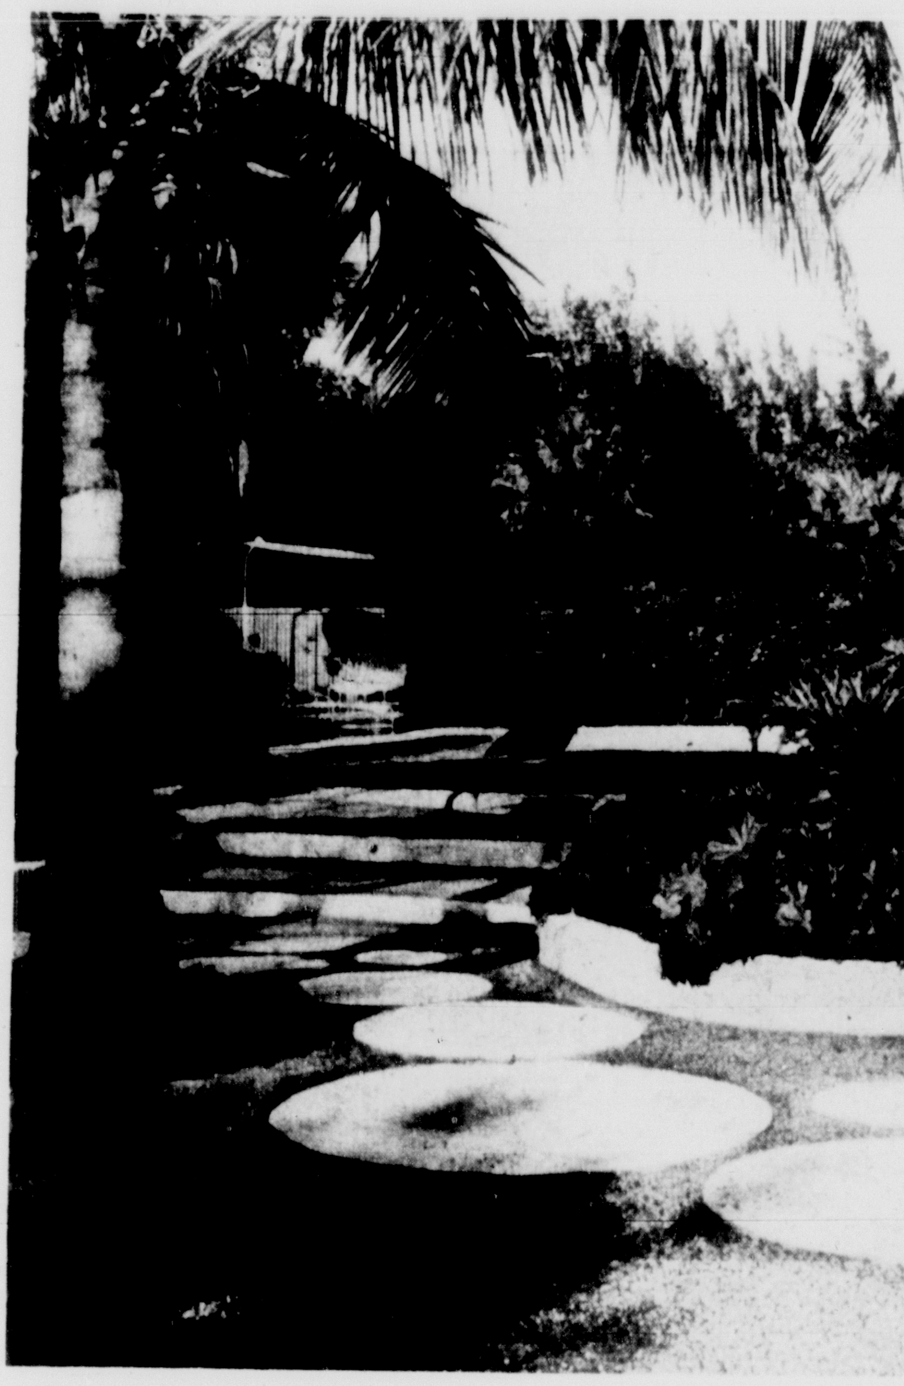
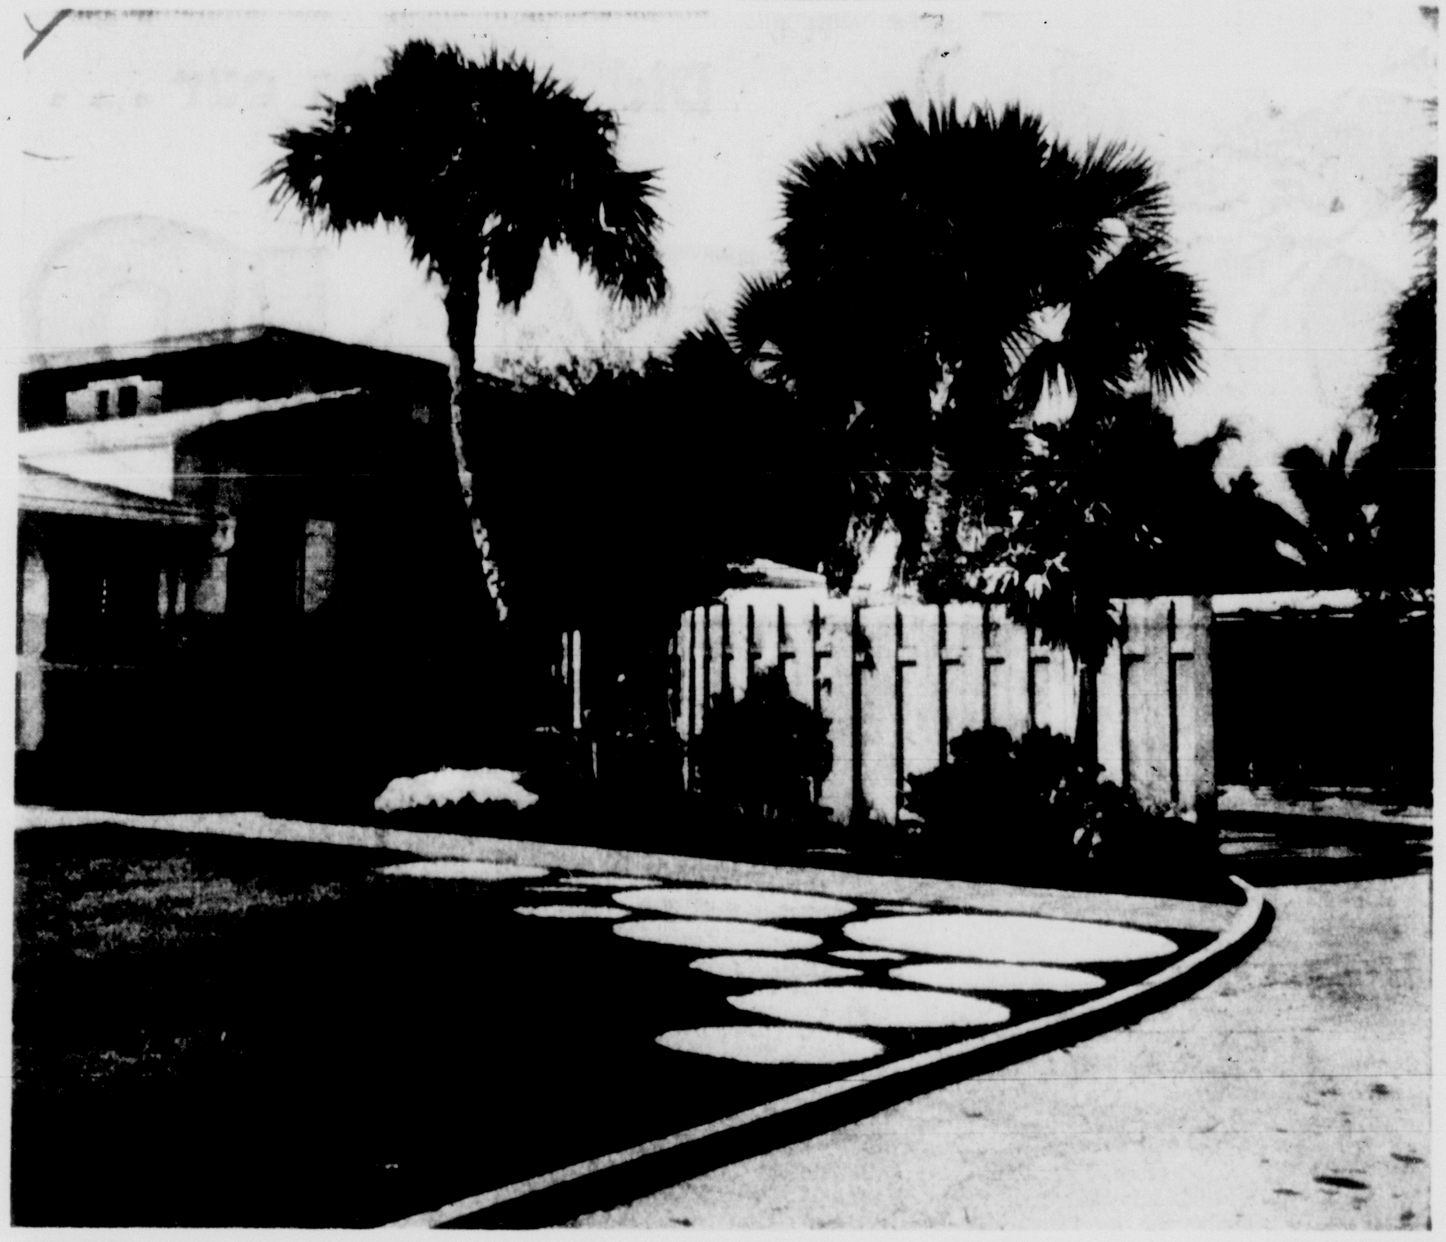
Frederic Stresau, Fort Lauderdale landscape architect, has solved the circular stepping stone problem about as well as we have seen anywhere. His use of circular stepping stones are practical. And yet the design is always good.

Perhaps there's a lot of truth to the architectural rule which forbids the embellishment of anything that is nonfunctional.



WELL DESIGNED stepping stones are these at the home of Mr. and Mrs. W. A. McElfresh in Fort Lauderdale. Frederic Stresau did this and the other job illustrated on this page. Here the stepping stones are set in gravel.



STRIKING USE of circular stepping stones here, isn't it? But what is the practical use? Simple, my dear Watson. When alighting from a car one may walk across the stepping stones to the sidewalk without getting feet wet—if the grass is moist. Sure, people could take the main walk to avoid the grass, but they won't.

Improved Fungicide Reported

You probably won't be able to find it for awhile yet in garden stores, but the chemical industry has come out with a new fungicide which is reported to be the "most widely effective fungicide yet developed."

Its name is Phaltan. According to Dr. R. Milton Carleton of Chicago, research director for a large garden supply firm, the new fungicide has been given to top rating "by all plant pathologists who have used it."

According to Carleton, Phaltan gives better control of blackspot disease on roses than any other fungicide he has tried.

It gives control of both downy and powdery mildew.

"It does a better job than sulphur," Carleton reported, "yet does not burn."

Malathion Effective On Worms

If you've been having trouble with wormy peaches you don't have to.

James Brogdon, of the Agricultural Extension Service at Gainesville, tells us that preventive spraying will keep the worms in check.

He recommends a malathion spray covering the trees thoroughly, including the trunk and branches.

Apply the first application when most of the petals have fallen, the second 10 days later and the third two weeks after the second spraying.

Some of the late ripening peaches may need a protective spray about two or three weeks before ripening, says Brogdon.

To make the malathion spray, mix 4 tablespoons of 25 per cent wettable powder per gallon of water, or 2 teaspoons of 50 per cent emulsifiable malathion concentrate per gallon of water.

Side Effects Of Fire Ant Fight Eyed

Effects of the fire ant control program on wild life is being studied by the Agricultural Experiment Station at Gainesville.

W. C. Rhoades, entomologist in charge of the North Florida Experiment Station at Quincy, has charge of the program.

He will have cooperation of other insect specialists, as well as wild life specialists of the Fresh Water Fish and Game commission.

The project will measure the effects of insecticides applied on various insects, birds and other animals, as well as on the fire ant itself, over a period of several years.

Tender Breed

Can you breed a cow to be tender? The University of Florida Meats Laboratory has checked over 450 carcasses, and their answer is a tentative "yes," reports Dr. A. Z. Palmer who heads up the experiment.

LAWNS — Watering is very important during cold weather. When you hear that a cool spell is on its way, be sure to water the lawn well so that the soil will be moist when the northwest wind arrives. Grass turns brown quickly when the soil is permitted to dry out during cold spells.

PLANTING — Any major planting of vegetables or annuals for spring harvest should be done this month. Unless you are adept at growing plants from seed, it is a good idea to buy started plants from garden stores or from nurserymen.

CITRUS — Apply a mineral spray containing zinc and manganese this month. You can buy spray materials from garden stores. Follow directions for use.

MANGOS — These trees, some of which bloomed in early December, are getting ready to put out a major bloom. Be prepared to spray bloom with a copper fungicide to prevent fungus disease. Commercial growers apply nitrogen fertilizer, such as ammonium nitrate, when there is evidence that bloom is forming.

AVOCADOS — Rustiness of leaves, especially the undersides, may be a sign of mite damage. If there's any doubt, spray with a miticide.

TOMATOES — Blight has already "done in" many dooryard tomato "farms" because gardeners failed to spray. It's too late, usually, after the spores of the blight fungus have developed in the tissue of the tomato leaves. Spraying should be done as a preventive measure. Use zineb, nabam or maneb. These fungicides are sold by garden stores.

Planting Calendar

VEGETABLES — Beans, beets, broccoli, cabbage, Chinese cabbage, carrots, cauliflower, collards, corn, cucumbers, endive, garlic, kale, kohl rabi, leek, lettuce, mustard, onions, parsley, peppers, peas, radish, spinach, squash, tomatoes, turnips.

ANNUALS — Ageratum, alyssum, aster, balsam, blanket flower (gaillardia), calendula, celosia (cockscomb), cosmos, dahlia, delphinium, globe aramanth, lobelia, marigold, morning glory, nasturtium, petunia, portulaca, phlox, pinks (dianthus), salvia, snapdragon, statice, stock, torenia, verbena, zinnia.

New Fabric Helps Dairymen

Joint research by the rubber, trucking and dairy industries has resulted in a rubber fabric container for hauling milk, according to the Florida Farm Bureau.

The bag, which resembles a huge tooth-paste tube holds 3,800 gallons of milk and when empty, can be folded into a compact package.

"Such a bag for hauling could mean lower costs for dairy farmers," the bureau said, adding that the trucks could take a return load without major cleaning and drying as customary.

Dairymen who are charged for the two-way haul should save as much as 20 per cent or more the researchers claim.

It's Time for Lawn Fertilizing

LAWNS, SHRUBBERY and trees that need it should be fertilized between now and the end of February.

Don't get the idea that grass and other plants can be neglected just because it's wintertime. The roots of plants should have access to nitrogen and minerals at all times.

Avoid heavy applications of fertilizer now, however. Otherwise you will promote a great deal of succulent growth, with the possible result of severe injury from cold should a freeze strike Dade County.

Unless your lawn is in dire need of fertilizer, half the normal application should be sufficient now.

That means 15 pounds per 1,000 square feet rather than 30 pounds. A full application can be made in spring, after the danger of frost has passed.

★ ★ ★

IT MAY SEEM a bit contradictory to say that fertilized plants actually are less subject to frost damage than are plants that need fertilizer.

A citrus tree suffering from malnutrition, for instance, is likely to be seriously damaged by frost, whereas a healthy tree which has received its quota of fertilizer and mineral sprays is in fair condition to withstand weather as cold as Dade County could be expected ever to receive.

On the other hand, a tree that is gorged on fertilizer and is forced into a mass of new growth, is not very resistant to cold.

★ ★ ★

WHEN PLANTS are in healthy condition and receive their share of water, they are always likely to put out new growth during extended warm periods in winter. This can't be avoided.

There is always some risk involved in gardening anywhere, and one must be prepared to face it.

FERTILIZER

Well, it doesn't take much experience in Florida to know the answer to this question.

Grass loses its deep green color when it becomes hungry. So do shrubs and trees. So do palms and ground covers.

It doesn't take much experience to tell the difference between a healthy child and a child suffering from malnutrition. The same is true with plants.

★ ★ ★

WHEN APPLYING fertilizer, distribute it evenly over the soil and wash it into the soil with a garden hose.

Fertilizer should not be applied while the soil is extremely dry. Irrigate well the day before fertilizer is applied.

There is good reason for this. When the soil is extremely dry at the time of fertilizing, it is likely that the roots of plants will gorge themselves on chemicals when the fertilizer is dissolved and washed into the soil.

But if watering is done the day before fertilizing, the plants will have had a chance to distend their tissues by absorbing their fill of water.

Thus when fertilizer is applied the next day the roots won't be able to gorge themselves on chemicals.

Drug Drives Worms From Cattle Lungs

GAINESVILLE — A drug reported to be capable of removing worms from the lungs of infected cattle is being tested in Florida, according to Dr. L. E. Swanson, parasitologist with the Florida Agricultural Experiment Station.

The drug, cyanacethydrazide, is a product of the Imperial Chemical Industries, Limited, of Cheshire, England. It is being used for intensive research on lungworm diseases of cattle.

Although in experimentally infected animals, the drug has shown considerable activity in removing lungworms, Swanson says the result of treating animals under field conditions has often been disappointing.

Much of the drug's apparent ineffectiveness doubtless has been due to secondary bacterial infections, resulting in pneumonia. Another problem is the damage done to the invading worms. This lung damage remains after the worms have been removed.

With all these limitations, specialists feel that therapy with the drug has some beneficial effects when it is used early, although it does not appear to stop death losses in the more severely infected animals."

A. E. Wade, veterinary science department of the Experiment Station, is optimistic about the drug's future: "This is the first drug of this type to be formulated, and like most new drugs of a series, it needs improvement," he said. "Other drugs, similar to this one but having more potent worm removing power, will certainly be produced in the near future."

Cuba's Fidel Castro as He Spoke to 500,000 at Wednesday's Rally in Havana

Where Does He Go From Here?

Cuba Dances To Castro's Tune—Now

By GEORGE SOUTHWORTH
Herald Latin America Editor

HAVANA—He's got the whole Cuban world in his hands.

Will he squeeze his people for his personal gain—as many Cuban leaders have done in the past—or will he nurture them for a really better Cuba?

The handsome young revolutionary idol—Fidel Castro—convinced the world this week that he alone is running the show in Cuba.

He cast a spell over more than a half million Cubans at Wednesday's giant rally that topped anything this area has seen in a decade.

Seldom in the history of any country has one man gained such absolute popular support—and power—as that now enjoyed by the bearded man in the army fatigues.

* * *

HE'S GOT the whole world wondering and guessing what he'll do next.

His followers swear he is their savior, an idealist with no personal ambitions who has only a better way of life for Cubans as his mission.

His critics call him a fanatical radical—and compare his theatrical oratory to that of Adolf Hitler when he captured the imagination of his Nazi followers in Germany a quarter century ago.

The dictator Castro upset, Fulgencio Batista, also was acclaimed as the country's savior a quarter of a century ago. But instead of remaining the power behind the throne, Batista soon took a front seat and the throne became a hot seat.

Castro now—like Batista then—has great military strength that is likely to be converted into a strong political force with the power to make and break presidents. Already Castro has hand picked the provisional president.

History proves that any Cuban president is likely to find the going rough. The next time it really gets rough—the Cuban people will probably demand that Castro sit in the driver's seat, rather than behind it where he now sits.

* * *

CASTRO heads the 26th of July Association that won the civil war in Cuba. Let's take a look at some of the things his leaders have done and talked about since taking over 25 days ago.

SOUTHWORTH

They have taken a slap at Uncle Sam and his formr ambassador to Cuba Earl E. T. Smith, at every opportunity. Castro has said that the U.S. military mission to Cuba will be replaced by one from Venezuela.

Other revolutionary groups fought in the war against Batista, but Castro and his leaders haven't minced words in letting Cubans know who is running the big show in their country.

There has been talk of a campaign against the Catholic Church and talk of abolishing all political parties, leaving the 26th of July movement as the nucleus of a one-party state.

Even rebel leaders admit that a few of their big boys may have Communist leanings.

Castro's boys are taking over as mayors, governors, councilmen, police and military officials.

New Communes Abolish Family. Home. Money

Red China Shackles Its People

Communist China is trying to put its entire nation of 650 million people on the chain gang. The new "people's communes" of Red Boss Mao Tse-tung dumps everyone into military-style working brigades, feeds them in communal kitchens, abolishes ancestral worship and separates husbands, wives and children except for a few hours on weekends. This "pure communism" system is so radical that not even the Russians have tried it. Indeed, there are signs that they oppose it. Foreign Affairs Specialist R. H. Shackford gives you the full story of what he calls "one of the most fantastically evil efforts ever made to destroy a people."

By R. H. SHACKFORD
Special To The Herald

RED CHINA is in the midst of a crash program to transform 650 million Chinese into human insects — regimented for work and work only, down to the last detail of life from the womb to the tomb.

The plan calls for a people as highly organized as insect society in ant hills, beehives and termite colonies.

The Red campaign slogan reads: "Everyone a soldier" — that is for work, but also for war if it comes. More correct would be: "Everyone a forced laborer."

Mao Tse-tung calls it a system of "people's communes," and claims it is voluntary. But that is using a word with idealistic overtones to hide one of the most fantastically evil efforts ever made to destroy a whole people as people.

Past tyrants have converted large numbers of people into little more than animals — the Pharaohs and Stalin were experts on slave labor. But no one before Mao ever has condemned a whole nation to the chain gang.

The only exception will be the Communist Party functionaries — the Red elite — whose job it will be to drive the peasants and workers of China relentlessly.

* * *

Destroys Culture

IF SUCCESSFUL, Mao's project would destroy everything that has been known through the centuries as Chinese society and culture.

The commune program abolishes the family, the home, religion, money, leisure, graveyards — even the oldest concepts of village, town and city.

The regime claims it is the high road to "pure communism" — to be reached within five or six years. But the goals are ones that even Lenin, Stalin and Khrushchev never dared try — and probably already have turned Karl Marx over in his London grave.

The "people's commune" program:

DUMPS everyone into working brigades, organized like military units.

ASSIGNS "reliable" armed militiamen to each unit, chain gang style.

ABOLISHES and scoffs at ancestral worship and plans "houses of happiness" for the aged.

FEEDS the people in communal kitchens, thus freeing all women for manual labor in field and factory.

AIMS at the Communist goal of "to everyone according to his needs," but with Mao Tse-tung and his gang deciding that bare subsistence is enough.

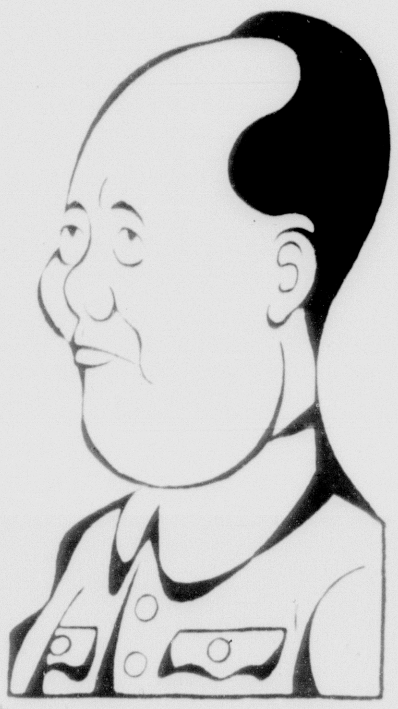
The regime directs every minute of the life of every man, woman and child so that every last ounce of energy is squeezed from each human being — not for his own improvement — but for strengthening the Chinese Communist state.

* * *

Program Speeded

THE PROGRAM has been under way for only a few months. But the paper reorganization is about completed on the farms and is rushing ahead in the factories, mines and cities.

In 1955 Mao Tse-tung took back the land he had given to the peasants in 1949-50 (in his role as "land reformer") and created some 750,000 collective farms, Soviet style. Last April he set up a prototype commune and called it "Sputnik" — merging 27 collective farms into one unit.



Mao Tse-tung
. . . 'everyone a soldier'

In September this was decreed to be national policy, with each township embracing many collectives merged into a commune which controls not only farming but industry, commerce, banking, culture, education and military affairs. The Reds claim about 25,000 communes already created.

* * *

Families Split Up

ABOLITION of the family is an avowed, primary sociological objective of the system.

Husbands and wives are being separated. Children are being raised by the state in institutions run by Communist Party functionaries. Grandparents are being herded into "Houses of Happiness" for the aged if they can't work.

Where communes are far advanced, segregation of husband and wife is aiming at near absoluteness. Often they are assigned to "regiments" in different areas.

When "together" in separate barracks, there are reports of an informal "Saturday night" system. All but one of the married women in a female barrack sleep elsewhere so that each week one wife may spend a night alone with her husband. If the barrack has 10, 20 or 30 inmates the length of time between turns for an evening alone with one's husband would be 10, 20 or 30 weeks.

* * *

Regime Stakes All

WHAT KIND of reception has this program had in China?

No one, not even Mao himself, knows how the average peasant reacts. Some reports from visitors indicate widespread approval — so far — among the poor peasants who constitute the bulk of China. But they had nothing, materially, to lose.

One Far Eastern expert cabled this appraisal:

"The widespread feeling here is that Mao Tse-tung's regime will stand or fall by the success or failure of this incredible movement to make brainless machines out of China's people.

"Already there are signs that Boss Mao may have moved too fast, too drastically and too much against the grain of a people traditionally self-centered and individualistic.

"It is a desperate gamble Mao is taking as a short cut to 'pure communism' as a means of gaining a much-needed increase in Red China's production and rigid control of discontent. If he fails, he will not have much leeway — the violent reaction will be as uniform as the system he is trying to impose.

"That is why the Far East is alerted as never before for signs of the big crash-through in Red China to formidable success or failure."

* * *

Satellites Uneasy

WHAT is the international significance of Mao Tse-tung's "chain gang" system of communes in Red China?

The answer — if anyone knew it — would be a major clue to the shape of the world to come in the last half of this 20th Century.

One of the fascinating long-range repercussions of Mao's plan is Moscow's reaction. It hasn't commented yet on a scheme that makes Soviet communism look like 19th century capitalism. Yugoslavia's Communist leader Tito has denounced Mao's communes as a return to feudalism.

There are signs of alarm in Russia's Eastern European satellite empire. By comparison, the Russian brand of communism looks good—so much so, tragically, that in places like Poland people are trying to joke about it by saying:

"Thank God the Soviet Union is between us and China!"

Wherever it is that Mao is leading China and the rest of the world, his commune movement raises this kind of fascination and spectacular speculation — for the long run:

Is it possible that Mao's chain gang empire will succeed sufficiently so that cold war tensions between the U.S. and Russia might diminish in the face of what might come to be considered a common Asiatic threat?

This is long-range crystal-ball gazing. There is no sign of such a break now, although the elements for such a situation are there.

THE EDITOR'S NOTEBOOK

Budget Can Be Balanced If We'll All Hold Line

Views On The News:

THE PRESIDENT believes the budget can be balanced at $77 billion.

And so it can—if the people and Congress are willing to hold the line on public spending.

KNIGHT

The new budget, which requests some $12 billion more than we were spending five years ago, is not an "austerity" budget.

It is filled with frills, projects and programs allegedly "demanded" by the people.

But the spenders are already in full cry. They find the budget grossly inadequate and charge Eisenhower with playing politics.

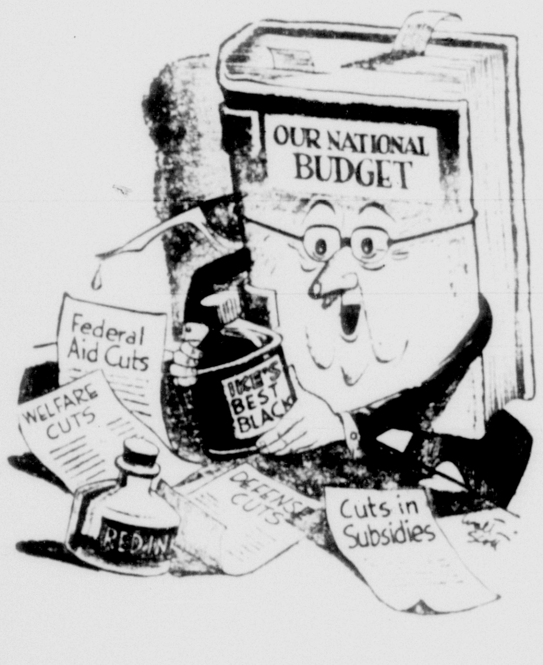
In turn, the President says that his critics are suffering from "budgetary schizophrenia" since they can't agree upon what they think is wrong with it.

* * *

Pressure Is Always On To Live Beyond Means

THE QUESTION is often asked: Why can't government—as with any well managed business—spend less than it takes in?

'My Word! Black Ink!'



The answer is painfully simple. Government, beginning with the administrative branch and extending through Congress, has succumbed to the pressures from all sides to live beyond its means.

More and more money is demanded for roads, schools, housing, farm supports, airports and a batch of measures lumped under the public welfare category.

One cannot argue that all of these activities are undesirable or unnecessary.

But instead of establishing priorities in order of need and importance, we attempt to do everything at once.

The result is that every pressure group is motivated by its own self interest, rather than by the public good.

So we get more spending, heavier taxation and the spiral of inflation continues to soar.

* * *

Eisenhower Did Pare It In Middle Of His Tenure

IN THE middle years of his administration, President Eisenhower managed to cut federal spending without sacrificing essential federal services.

With the cooperation of the responsible leaders in Congress, it can be done again.

If we continue to take the spending way, your dollars can only shrink in value.

Carefully planned insurance programs, bank savings and pension funds will no longer provide the protections for which they were designed.

* * *

Aid Programs Mounting Into Higher Billions

WE SHOULD think about this before running to the government for more and more money to support the projects in which we have a deep personal interest.

Federal aid is an imposing term. Actually, it consists of the dollars which the taxpayers have already sent to Washington, less the "freight."

Federal aid to local communities will reach $6 billion by 1960 if present commitments for future expenditures are honored.

Foreign aid, which began as a "temporary" measure, now takes about $3.5 billion of your tax dollars every year.

Interest on the public debt will reach $8 billion by 1960.

* * *

It Isn't Tight, But It Is A Genuine Challenge

THE PRESIDENT is to be commended for submitting what he calls a responsible, attainable budget which calls for a balance between revenue and expenditures.

Although it is by no means a tight budget, it challenges Congress to end deficit financing and deal responsibly with the people's money.

It can be done.

That Mikoyan Visit: Useful—Or Used?

MR. MIKOYAN has come and gone but the debate still rages.

Was his a useful visit?

Or did we demean ourselves, as my friend Fred Sparks insists, by "clasping hands with a ruthless barbarian?"

In Western Europe, newspaper reactions are divided. London's Daily Mail (Conservative) feels "a little queasy" about it all.

But The London Express, also Conservative, called Mikoyan's U.S. welcome "a spontaneous expression of a people's desire to end the cold war."

In Paris, the newspaper "Combat" says Americans "have permitted themselves to be conquered, with a smile, by Russia's secret weapon."

A left-wing London newspaper, The People, unsure as to whether Mikoyan is a "phony playboy or wily old fox," thought he did a splendid job—not for Russia but for peace.

* * *

One Thing's Certain: It Didn't Cause Rift

AS TO whether Mikoyan's junket was useful, I am willing to accept President Eisenhower's view that "a normal exchange of visits is all to the good."

The Russian deputy prime minister held fast to the Kremlin line, but he must have left the United States with a better understanding of our people.

If Mikoyan entertained any thought that the November elections had caused a rift with the administration on foreign policy, that misconception was certainly dispelled.

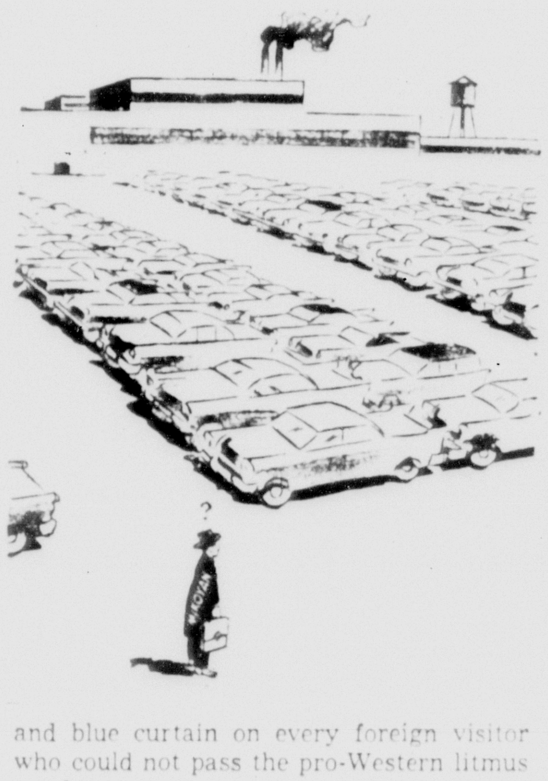
* * *

Criticism Of Business Leaders Is Undeserved

IN MY opinion, the criticism of American business leaders is wholly undeserved.

Why shouldn't Russia's second highest official address New York's Council on Foreign Relations?

'Decadent Capitalism'



Would it truly be a foreign relations study group if it rang down a red, white and blue curtain on every foreign visitor who could not pass the pro-Western litmus test?

William F. Buckley Jr., editor of the National Review, says that Mikoyan's object was to "soften up the Western businessmen and bankers, to convince them that the cold war is a racket of irresponsible politicians, soldiers and intellectuals, and that 'sensible men' on both sides can do business together."

Mr. Buckley adds: "Comrade Mikoyan was forming his cells not among sharecroppers, millhands, or obscure government clerks, but right in the middle of the board of directors."

Now really, Mr. Buckley.

I attended one of the Mikoyan luncheons, shook hands with Fred Sparks' "ruthless barbarian" and didn't get contaminated in the process.

Nor did the others. As Ike has said, Mikoyan is "able, clever and quick."

He provided an interesting two hours; more than satisfied our curiosity.

But it was strictly no sale.

* * *

Hear What Ike Said, Then Decide For Self

WAS Comrade Mikoyan's visit useful?

Read this statement by President Eisenhower and decide for yourself:

"Of one thing he must be sure, that America wants peace."

Return To The Gold Standard

Editor The Herald: I wonder who President Eisenhower thinks he is kidding when he rehashes his appeal to the people, all people and all groups, to be conservative in their indoor sport of charging all the traffic will bear, so as to hold prices at a stable level.

Doesn't he know that practically all humans make it a practise to get theirs while the getting is good, and let the devil take the hindmost?

Anyway there are all kinds of prices, high prices, monopolistic prices, credit inflationary prices, competitive prices, and cartel prices, none of which has anything to do with inflationary prices that result from the circulation of paper money that has in itself no intrinsic value.

The government can, by tying its paper money to gold, or by religiously operating on a balanced budget, stabilize prices that get out of control as a result of not operating on the gold standard.

Cloud Hanging Over Doctors?

Editor The Herald: Your editorial titled "The 10-year Miracle," was a well-deserved tribute to the medical profession. They have wrought miracles in aiding suffering humanity and in prolonging life at all ages, and they have yet other miracles to perform, because of clamor for socialized medicine. Unless or until the federal government subsidizes medical schools and medical education this clamor will continue to gain force and volume because of the shortage of doctors and their exorbitant fees.

Weighing Crimes In The Balance

Editor The Herald: It is early morning and you are driving to work. You are on a big parkway. You have driven it for 10 years, and you know the speed limit is 25 miles per hour, so you drive accordingly.

Then one morning you leave home early, not a car is in sight, so you drift along admiring the early dawn. Then you notice something is wrong, a red light is blinking behind you. Then you glance down, and there it is 35 miles per hour. You are given a ticket and told what a terrible thing you have done.

Meanwhile you naturally read The Herald, and you are following an article concerning a young lady who admits that she killed a man. She goes on trial and is set free.

It seems that sort of thing isn't nearly as bad a crime as driving at 35 miles per hour on a big open parkway. Makes you wonder.

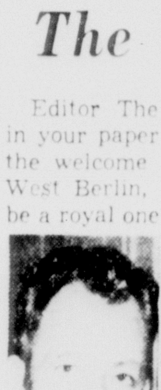
Can We Forget So Soon The German Barbarism?

Editor The Herald: I read in your paper an article about the welcome of the mayor of West Berlin, Willy Brandt, to be a royal one.



Brandt

I wonder if we Americans forgot what Germany has done since World War I to give the Russians an opportunity to create the regime which is confronting us today. Can we sidetrack instances that the Germans destroyed since 1939, 11 million innocent people in their gas chambers, concentration camps, etc.?

After we won the War II and lost the peace, it cost us American taxpayers over $6 billion to build up Germany. Yet we make such a big fuss about the royal welcome of a mayor whose country did the biggest barbarism in the world civilization.

I, for one, lost 21 of my nearest relatives due to their cruelty. Is it worthwhile to forget all those happenings which occurred during those years?

We are building a "New Germany." I sincerely hope we are in the right tracks and hope that no more Americans will sacrifice for that course.

I learned that they are not trustworthy, in spite of my education which I had in Germany. They are building up the future for the same purpose: "Deutschland uber alles."

Great Budget Debate: It's Bulls Vs. Bears

By WALTER LIPPMANN

Lippmann

IN THE DEBATE which has now begun on the President's budget the underlying issues turn on different theories about the rate at which the productive capacity of our economy can and should grow. In order to fix in mind the dimensions of the issue, we may note that over the past 50 years the average annual rate of growth has been 3 per cent. During the post-war period of 1947-1953 the rate was nearly 5 per cent. During the past six years it has been only, perhaps not quite, 2 per cent.

It is fair to say, I think, that the difference between the Administration and its critics is this. The Administration hopes to reach the 50 year average of about 3 per cent, and would not be happy if the average rate boomed up to 5 per cent.

The critics of the Administration, who include most of the Democrats as well as the liberal Republicans of the Nelson Rockefeller kind, believe that the economy can be induced to grow at an average rate of about 5 per cent, and that this rate is indispensable if we are to provide an adequate national defense and meet the needs of our rapidly growing and increasingly urbanized population.

* * *

IT IS misleading, indeed it is demagogic, to pretend that the issue between these two schools of thought is one between "spenders" and "savers" or between "radicals" and "conservatives." The real question is how much the American economy may produce. If it can produce more, the country will be able to afford a better defense and a better provision for the needs of its civilian population. If the economy can produce only at the current rate, the country cannot, within the existing tax structure, afford more than the present Eisenhower budget calls for.

The President's budget assumes that there will be some more recovery and that the amount of unemployment and the short use of plant capacity will diminish. But it does not assume, if I read it correctly, that we can or that we should work our way to a much higher rate of economic expansion.

* * *

AT THE CENTER of this debate between the two schools of thought lies the most difficult, and the most agonizing, question of a free and capitalistic economy. The President's economic advisors seem to be quite conscious of this question. It is whether it is possible to bring about a much higher rate of productivity without creating a boom which inflates all prices, including wage costs, faster than productivity increases. The opposition economists believe that a boom without inflation is possible. They believe that if the economy is expanded, the inflation can be kept small, slow, salutary, and under control.

The economists to whom the President has committed himself believe that an economy which has full employment and has full use of capacity, is bound to be inflationary. They have come, moreover, to wonder whether the orthodox devices against inflation—the restriction of credit and a balanced budget—can in fact prevent inflation in a booming economy. Therefore, they prefer a quieter tempo with a certain amount of unemployment to act as a brake on wages and a certain amount of excess plant capacity to act as a brake on prices.

* * *

THERE IS HERE, then, a debate on the grand scale between the bulls and the bears. The bulls will accept a certain amount of inflation because they regard deflation, which means unemployment and the restriction of public services, as the greater evil. The bears, on the contrary, think that inflation is the greatest of the economic evils and, to avoid it, they are reconciled to a certain amount of deflation.

There is here, in the true sense of the words, a great debate. Let us rise to its importance.

Merry-Go-Round

Abe's Birthday Party Has GOP In Swivet

By DREW PEARSON

Pearson

WASHINGTON — Republican leaders are trying to straighten out an embarrassing hitch in their plans for the 150th birthday of Abraham Lincoln. The problem involves a well-known law of physics that you can't be in two places at the same time, and was voiced in a closed-door meeting of House Republicans by Rep. Alvin Bentley of Michigan, whose grandfather founded General Motors.

Bentley reminded his GOP colleagues that they had helped adopt a resolution in the last Congress calling for a big televised celebration on the House floor this year, in which Carl Sandburg and other notables would honor Lincoln.

Simultaneously, GOP national Chairman Meade Alcorn has urged Senate and House Republicans to be out of town making speeches. Bentley wanted to know how many would be absent for the celebration in Washington.

About 80 per cent of his House GOP colleagues rose and grinned sheepishly at each other. Even House leader Charlie Halleck of Indiana admitted that he had speaking commitments out of town.

* * *

AMBASSADOR Earl Smith, a former Wall Street broker, and former U.S. envoy to Cuba, is now being made one of the sacrificial scapegoats of the Cuban revolution.

I have never met Ambassador Smith. But the fact is that when he first went to Cuba he traveled to Fidel Castro's area in Oriente province as a friendly observer, and immediately got bawled out by the State Department, the Batista Government, and by some of the Havana press.

Bohemia was then one of his critics for being friendly to Fidel Castro. This month Bohemia was vitrolic against him for being with Batista. And the American Club, now critical of Smith for being pro-Batista, at that time almost boycotted him.

* * *

SUBSEQUENTLY, the State Department, in cooperation with Smith, made a move certain to put Batista out of business. For nine long months, not a single shipment of arms was permitted to reach Batista from the U.S. government. Fidel Castro has been complaining about arms to Batista, but quite the opposite is true. When Cuban revolutionists were caught smuggling arms out of Florida or New York they were given light fines of around $250. Americans smuggling arms were given five to ten years in jail. Ex-President Carlos Prio Socarras, who was indicted for arms smuggling, never was punished and kept on shipping arms to Castro.

If the State Department had really cracked down on Cuban arms smugglers, Fidel Castro would not be getting the hosannas of Havana today. He would still be hiding out in the hills of Oriente.

However, someone had to be the goat, and Ambassador Earl Smith, a rather stiff, correct gentleman with no great diplomatic flair, was picked to walk up to the sacrificial altar.

* * *

THE TREASURY Department has quietly taken inventory of Cuban holdings in the United States. The rebel government will inherit $498 million in U.S. bonds, notes, currency, and gold. Of this $135 million is solid gold salted away at Fort Knox.

Dominican dictator Rafael Trujillo has launched a sudden, energetic campaign to woo American Negroes. He has invited Negro leaders, publishers, and reporters to visit the Dominican Republic at his expense. Thanks to the shooting of Haitians near the border in the past, his relations with the colored race have not been of the best. New York public relations man William Alexander is arranging the junkets . . . Fred Morrow, Negro representative on the White House staff, tried to set an example by turning down the invitation.

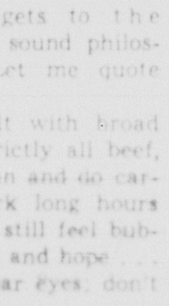
Drawing On Power Of Faith

By Norman Vincent Peale

NOT LONG AGO I had some correspondence with a woman who runs two weekly newspapers. She's a remarkable writer and I've enjoyed reading her letters and editorials from her newspapers.



Peale

She has the gift of economy of words. She knows how to select words and how to make each bea maximum weight. She's picturesque in her writing style. She gets to the point and has a sound philosophy as well. Let me quote from her letter:

"I am 43, built with broad shoulders and strictly all beef, which means I can and do carry a load. I work long hours without rest and still feel bubbling with energy and hope . . . I have bright, clear eyes; don't use glasses, although I read or write constantly; have no gray hair and feel young.

"I'm never sick simply because I cannot afford the time or the money. Both my mother and grandmother were crippled for years with arthritis, but the minute it hit me, I just simply stated to my hands that they would have to type whether it hurt them or not, and asked God to make it possible, and after a while the pain left and so did the stiffness.

"I rarely even get a cold, except if I get discouraged. My last illness was a day off when my sixth son was born one Monday night, but I was able to get the paper out on Thursday. This is just to tell you that I do draw on the power of faith."

* * *

WELL, YOU may say that's very interesting but it just doesn't work that way. What do you mean it doesn't work that way? It certainly does.

It is my certain opinion that we bring many of our troubles upon ourselves, including physical ones, simply because we are willing to accept them. In our negativism and defeatism we create a mental climate favorable to their development.

When you refuse to accept troubles, when you make every effort to overcome their crippling effects, when you draw upon the power of faith, and strongly believe that victory will be yours, then you have a very good chance of overcoming them.

* * *

OF COURSE, you cannot think your troubles away without a real, active follow-through. To gain victory over troubles you must think victory, believe in victory, and then effectively go about achieving it.

Start drawing on the power of your own faith and see what wonderful things you too can accomplish.

Subtle Insult for Mikoyan?

MIKOYAN

FOREIGN newsmen covering Soviet Deputy Premier Anastas I. Mikoyan's visit thought they detected a subtle insult in the Economic Club of New York arrangements for him. The Town Crier

BY Jack Bell

BELL

ARTHUR GODFREY, with Pat and Mrs. Boone, went on the telethon late Saturday night. As they left Beach auditorium Arthur, who was driving, noticed that a group of motorcyclists in uniforms, girls sitting behind the drivers, lined up as an escort.

"Now what's this?" Arthur growled to Boone. "Some bunch of crazy teenagers?"

But as they drove along the motorcycles kept perfect alignment. They did neat maneuvers, watched traffic and made "the best escort I ever had," Arthur says. When they reached the Kenilworth, Arthur asked them why they had formed the escort, complimenting them on their riding.

"It's because you've done so much for SAC (Strategic Air Command)" one said, "I'm in SAC."

Another said, "I've just come out of SAC," and a third said, "And I'm enlisting."

Arthur invited them into the lobby, about 2:30 a.m. He called Gen. Curtis LeMay, commander of SAC, routed him out of bed and said "Come on down and meet these boys." They all talked for 90 minutes. You'll see the riders on Godfrey's TV show here soon.

* * *

Frayed Scout

YOUR TOWN CRIER was in charge of talent for the telethon, ably assisted by Nancy Reed Canter. It was my first experience with telethon talent, and I'm a frayed but enlightened talent scout.

The number of people who beg to get on the telethon would amaze you. I expected these dancing school operators would heckle me, and wasn't disappointed. But my real worries came from two categories: church groups and former actors who returned with the death of vaudeville. You'd think they've had it, but . . .

One specialty act was a honey. This fellow wanted to put on a golf exhibition. It would wind up with him sitting in a chair blindfolded, swinging a rubber hose with which he'd knock a golf ball out of the mouth of his helper. We were to furnish the "helper."

The mostes' I got told off was by a woman, because I wouldn't use a 75-year-old roller skater, even if he could do a tap dance on the darned things.

Then there was the former ventriloquist, with her talking horse. She brought its head up to the office and demonstrated. She's a very nice woman I'm sure. But I just couldn't figure Dennis James interviewing a moth-eaten horse's head.

* * *

Out for $$

I FOUND OUT about actors, too. Y'see, Theater Authority tells us we may use headliner acts, either national or local, without paying them. If we use a performer who isn't listed as a headliner we must pay him, or her.

Well, counting the small musical groups which aren't included in the Theater Authority edict, plus real headliners, we can get plenty of talent. But if a star act fails to come, or is late, and we need entertainment, we have a few of these "standby" acts. They must be paid whether or not we use them.

You'd be amazed at the number of actors who wanted to "help out," knowing that if I said, "Come on over, though we might not use you," they'd get paid. Their ability to get past the check desk was pure genius. They came in with the sandwiches, tagged behind stars ("I'm with him"), crawled through back windows, crept out of the woodwork.

I had told several to come, trying to select local actors who've not been getting too much work. They were most cooperative. So were band members and headline actors who had to wait, because of electric power shortage stopping our show.

Looking back over it all, 'twas truly wonderful. I don't know any one group so eager to help a charity, as show people. You who watched, know how many stars we had.

Collins Keeps Wary Eye On Plan for Milk Czar

By JOHN L. BOYLES
Capitol Bureau Chief

BOYLES

TALLAHASSEE — Gov. LeRoy Collins has let it be known he is alert to a proposal in the recommendations for reorganization of the Department of Agriculture that could bring chaos to the milk market in Florida.

It would cause chaos unless the governor, his agricultural study committee and responsible legislators make sure that vicious price fixing power is not put in the hands of one man.

The committee has recommended a complete reorganization of the Department of Agriculture, and generally it has been appraised by the governor as an outstanding job.

The report recommends that the Florida Milk Commission — long a controversial agency — be abolished and its administrative powers transferred to the commissioner of agriculture.

The powerful milk distributors lobby approves but wants the milk price law retained, giving one man the price-fixing authority now exercised by a seven-man milk commission. He would be subjected to relentless pressure by all segments of the industry and the consumer would suffer.

The present Milk Commission headed by aggressive Brailey Odham of Sanford has suspended price controls to give free competitive enterprise a chance to thrive. It seems to be succeeding.

Collins indicates this policy will have to be considered in drafting any new legislation to revise milk industry regulations before he will approve it. And Sen. Tom Adams, chairman of the committee, has said the committee wants to gather a lot of information before it makes a definite recommendation to the Legislature.

HISTORY will be repeating itself if another battle rages in the 1959 legislative session over the proposed abolition of the practice of naturopathy in Florida.

Florida is the only state which allows the nature doctors to prescribe drugs, including narcotics, and one of only three states which licenses them.

Gov. Collins recommended they be prohibited from practicing two years ago after a special investigator charged that naturopaths were graduates of diploma mills and were not properly trained to prescribe drugs.

The Legislature passed a compromise measure putting most of them out of business and permitting only those who had been practicing for at least 15 years prior to Oct. 1, 1957, to prescribe drugs. The Supreme Court has knocked out the law on grounds it was discriminatory.

That fight two years ago was perhaps the most bitterly fought in the entire session. Several hundred spectators attended a committee hearing on the bill. The naturopaths reportedly had one of the biggest war chests among lobbies operating in the corridors.

Floridians, Take Note

By JOHN B. McDERMOTT
Herald Political Writer

Florida Politics

FLORIDA might do well to take note of Gov. Abraham A. Ribicoff's broad reorganization program of state government in Connecticut.

Ribicoff is out to ax 56 state bureaus—to reduce the number of budgeted agencies from 124 to 68.

Admittedly Florida is a state with perhaps more growth problems than the more stable Connecticut. Yet, the tendency in this state, like all others, long has been to create new departments, then expand them with every meeting of the legislature.

The cost of government on all levels is getting so great that expanding bureaucracy has become almost an accepted fact. One report is that of every five working people in this country, one is employed by a governmental agency. That makes government — taxes — a mighty expensive item.

Ribicoff's unprecedented reorganization program calls for state government to be put on a practical, business-like basis.

He advocates the replacement of Connecticut's 168 trial justice and municipal courts with a reconstituted common pleas court under state control.

McDERMOTT

On one phase of his reorganization he proposes a step which would never be acceptable to Florida politicians — at least not in the foreseeable future. He says county government has outlived its usefulness and that its functions should be assigned state agencies.

It should be interesting to watch Gov. Ribicoff's progress in this program. Apparently the people of Connecticut are for it. They reelected him overwhelmingly last November—and this reorganization was one of his main platform planks.

If he proves as successful in this far-reaching endeavor as he was in his drive to crackdown on highway accidents, more power to him. Connecticut is a classic example of how a "get tough" policy against drunk and reckless drivers can pay off in lives saved.

Odham May Run Again

BRAILEY ODHAM of Sanford, chairman of the Florida Milk Commission, may put on his campaign shoes again next year and run for governor. Although twice beaten in that quest, his political stature today is far greater than when he ran as a virtual unknown in 1952.

Odham could be a real factor. He is outspoken, for a politician. He drives to the core of a problem with a minimum of diplomacy. He has proven himself a successful businessman.

Furthermore, the years have matured him to a point where he has a better understanding and grasp of political and governmental problems than when he ran as a "talkathon" candidate against the late Gov. Dan McCarty and subsequently against the now incumbent Gov. LeRoy Collins in 1954.

I met Odham the other day in Tampa. He says he is not a candidate as of now but that he "might" get into the race. He feels the racial issue will be the vital one in the 1960 contest and he feels it would be a mistake for Florida to get a governor who is an extremist.

Odham is a Southerner and a believer in the South's traditional stand on segregation. "But somewhere there has to be a voice of reasonableness or moderation," he said. He feels the "moderate" stand of Gov. Collins is the right approach.

If it came to a showdown between either accepting limited integration or closing down of the schools, Odham says he would favor limited integration. "The most important thing for us is to ensure the education of our children," he commented.

Firm Segregation Stand

ANOTHER gubernatorial hopeful, former House Speaker C. Farris Bryant of Ocala, is taking a firm stand for preservation of segregation. He said in Miami that he feels the U.S. Supreme Court overstepped its authority and trampled on state's rights in its integration decisions.

Asked at a Miami Exchange Club luncheon what he thought would be the main issues in the 1960 race, he listed them in this order:

SEGREGATION—"It will be a concern whether it is an issue or not."

ECONOMY—Putting Florida's government on a sound, economical basis without stepping into the danger zone of too much spending . . . Seeing to it that state government is in step with the business growth and potential of the state.

Pitch for South Florida

REP. TOM BEASLEY of DeFuniak Springs, speaker-elect for this year's legislative session and another gubernatorial aspirant, is expected to make an important pitch for South Florida backing tonight. He will appear on Bill Bayer's Channel 10 television show "Important" at 6 p.m. He will be quizzed by newsmen on the problems facing the lawmakers.

Beasley, one of the ablest men in the Legislature and a leader of the rural, small-county bloc in Tallahassee, knows that unless he drums up support from heavily populated South Florida he will have little or no chance of winning.

Right now the odds are stacked against him. But as speaker and with the eyes of South Florida on him, he will be in position to wield a tremendous influence on legislation affecting not only this area but the state as a whole.

Wars Built an Empire for du Ponts

Aloof Clan Runs Industrial Barony Worth Millions

By STEWART HOLBROOK

FOR 150 YEARS the name of du Pont has been familiar in the U.S., and periodically notorious, in relation to explosives.

Since 1802, when the du Ponts erected a small powder mill on the Brandywine river, they have operated a closely held industrial barony, built it into a tightly held monopoly, made a good deal of money, lived like squires and, until about 1916, remained aloof from the mainstream of American capital.

In large part, too, the du Ponts have kept themselves socially isolated from other great industrialists. For well over a century du Ponts displayed a marked preference for marrying other du Ponts. Contrary to popular myths about the evils of inbreeding the family has been standing up remarkably well.

A company to make powder was far from the original idea of the head of the family, who was Pierre Samuel du Pont de Nemours, a Huguenot born at Paris in 1739, who arrived in America on the first day of 1800. What he had in mind was to found a Utopian colony to which Frenchmen might flee the anarchy of their own country.

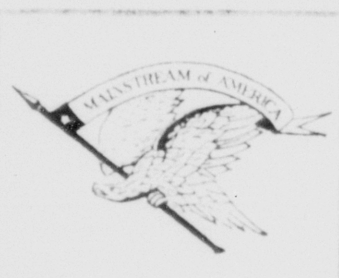
The colony never came into being. But Pierre's second son, Irenee, 30, surveyed gunpowder conditions in the U.S. and came to the conclusion that a small plant making a good product would return a profit of perhaps $10,000 annually. He returned to France, got machinery, and came back to open a powder factory. Two thirds of the capital required, which totaled $36,000, was subscribed by Pierre du Pont's colonization company.

* * *

Plant Started in 1802

CONSTRUCTION of the works was started on July 19, 1802. Early in 1804 the first du Pont powder went on sale.

The first year, 1804, du Pont made nearly 45,000 pounds of powder. By 1808 the annual output was 300,000 pounds. When the War of 1812 broke out, du Pont was the largest powder maker in America. By 1838 du Pont's annual production exceeded a million pounds, in peacetime. By then old Pierre, the founder, and his sons, Irenee and Victor, were dead.



This is another in a series of "Mainstream of America" articles taken from the Doubleday book, "The Age of the Moguls," by Stewart Holbrook.

The du Pont Company became a partnership of three American-born members of the family. These were Alfred, Henry, and Alexis du Pont.

There were no officers. Alfred, the eldest, was senior partner, a position much like that of the Old Man of tribal societies. All property was communal. The partners drew no salaries. Sums for personal needs were drawn from the cashbox. One clerk kept the books and paid the help.

Alfred retired in 1850. His son Irenee, of the third generation, was taken in as partner to work under Uncle Alexis, while Uncle Henry became boss, a job he held for 39 years.

* * *

Improved Gunpowder

INTO THE PARTNERSHIP soon went Lammot du Pont, recently a graduate in chemistry from the University of Pennsylvania. The first thing he did was to set up a laboratory.

He went to work on a substitute for saltpeter, and on May 19, 1857, the U.S. granted a patent to du Pont for "an improved gunpowder."

The company claimed that the new explosive was the first important change in the composition of black powder in at least six centuries.

The Civil War brought the du Ponts an amount of business incredible until then. The war demanded and got some four million pounds of du Pont explosives.

At war's end, the du Ponts, their employes, and their company found themselves attacked as scoundrels who had fattened on the blood of Shiloh and Antietam and grown wealthy from four million pounds of a product devoted to murder and destruction. Yet it should stand to the credit of the du Ponts, indeed to their lasting honor, that the charge of shoddy was never leveled at them.

In the first months of 1880, the du Ponts broke ground for a new plant to manufacture a new product, dynamite.

$30 Million Research Facility Was Built Next to Firm's Old Buildings on Brandywine Creek in Delaware

The older generation of du Ponts had wanted nothing to do with the new explosive, but Lammot had finally convinced them. Old Henry detested it, saying that nothing could take the place of good black powder. He would not even use its right name, but referred to it as "that blasting oil."

* * *

Organized Trust

DURING the years of old Henry's management, the du Ponts had been quietly buying up competitors. In 1872 they were active in forming the Gunpowder Trade Association. Its members came to be collectively known, and cursed, as the "powder trust."

By 1889 the trust controlled 95 per cent of the gunpowder and 90 per cent of the blasting powder made in the U.S. And there was little doubt as to who controlled the trust. It was du Pont.

Henry du Pont died in 1889 on his 77th birthday, the last of the grandsons of old Pierre Samuel, the founder. The company continued to be operated as a simple partnership until, in 1899, it was chartered as a Delaware corporation.

On Henry's death, Eugene, eldest of the third generation of cousins, became senior partner. Like many of his generation he had married a cousin. So had Eugene's cousin William, who was now in charge of the Repauno, N.J. works.

One of Eugene's first trials, as head of the house, was the first public discord in the family's hundred years in the United States. William divorced his wife. Eugene du Pont promptly announced that William had retired from the company. Later domestic discords of various du Ponts were not to be settled so easily.

* * *

Bought Firm on Cuff

EUGENE DU PONT died early in 1902, creating what official historians of the company declare was the greatest crisis in du Pont history. Just why the death of one du Pont should have so shaken the company is not at all clear. But a few months before the company's centennial, the directors voted to sell.

Just before the assembled clan were to vote on the doleful resolution to offer du Pont to Laflin & Rand for twelve million dollars, Alfred I. du Pont, aged 38, offered an amendment. "Why not," he asked, "sell to the highest bidder?"

Did he mean to buy the company? Cousin Francis asked him. Alfred replied yes, he did indeed plan to buy the company. He asked for one week to raise the money.

Alfred du Pont did not know where the twelve million dollars was to come from, but he believed that he and two of his first cousins, and especially Coleman du Pont, might be able to figure it out.

Both Coleman and Pierre, another cousin who was a partner in several of Coleman's enterprises, liked the proposition, and so did Pierre's private secretary, a short, stocky young man of 23 named John Jacob Raskob, who had a steeltrap mouth and mind.

Coleman's inventory of the du Pont powder business showed the company to be worth about $24 million dollars, or twice as much as the family had planned to ask for it. The big-hearted Coleman told du Pont stockholders that he would pay them $15,360,000 instead of $12 millions.

But not a dollar was to change hands from buyers to sellers. Everything was to be on the cuff, except for $2,100 which Coleman, Alfred, and Pierre would pay for twenty-one incorporators' shares in a new company formed to acquire the assets of the old one, which was to be dissolved.

The old-company du Ponts, possibly a little dazed, accepted Coleman's terms. On an investment of seven hundred dollars, or one third of what the three cousins paid for incorporation of the new concern, Coleman in less than a month, emerged as the president and largest stockholder of a big company with shares valued at $4,320,000 in his name. Not even Jay Gould had worked greater magic.

* * *

Coleman Builds Empire

WITHOUT A HITCH the three cousins took over. It was March 1, 1902. Before the end of that year, du Pont took over its greatest competitor, Laflin & Rand, for four million dollars, and for another two million got the Moosic Powder Co.

Three years after the three cousins took charge, the du Pont industrial empire had acquired more than 100 corporations. It was making 100 per cent of all military powders; and approximately 70 per cent of all other explosives consumed in the U.S. The net returns to the company in 1904 were four million dollars.

The devil himself, however, had been quietly mixing a brew of sore trouble for the du Ponts. In 1906, Alfred sued for a divorce from Bessie Gardner du Pont, whom he had married in 1887.

About the same time, Mrs. George A. Maddox, wife of Alfred's secretary, and a cousin to Alfred, was divorced from her husband. Two weeks later she and Cousin Alfred were married at the Plaza in New York City.

Marquis James says that Coleman du Pont told Alfred, "The family will never stand for this," and suggested Alfred sell all his du Pont stock to Coleman and get out of Delaware.

Alfred was never good at taking suggestions, so he and his new wife were given a treatment of social ostracism. Alfred fought back. The feud was played up by newspapers.

* * *

Trust Suit Hits du Ponts

THEN the U.S. government sued the du Ponts for violation of the Sherman Anti-Trust Act.

The government charged that for two generations the du Ponts had schemed to control explosives in the United States and that under Coleman du Pont the scheme had been realized. After the trial had droned on for four years, the Circuit Court of Appeals in the District of Delaware found for the government.

But except for bookkeeping, the four-year battle in the courts left everything right where it had been in the days before the ruling, due to technical considerations.

The four war years were golden. Du Pont's capacity expanded from 8,000,000 pounds to 500,000,000 pounds annually. Its workers grew from 5,300 to 47,914. They made 40 per cent of all explosives used by the Allies. They made, for du Pont stockholders, a net profit of $237,000,000, or dividends of 458 per cent on the par value of the stock.

At war's end, the du Pont treasury contained a surplus of somewhere around a hundred million dollars. It was up to the company's new treasurer, John J. Raskob, to find a suitable investment. Mr. Raskob came up with General Motors.

In 1918, the du Ponts bought stock to the value of twenty-five million dollars, and inside another year purchased an additional twenty-four million.

* * *

GM Paid Off Handsomely

THE DU PONT control of General Motors has from the beginning exhibited intelligence. Actual operation of GM was left and has remained in the hands of men who began their careers in automobiles, not in explosives. Fifteen years after du Pont's original investment in GM, the du Pont Company had received General Motors dividends of more than $250 million.

In 1909 du Pont men were working with synthetic fibers. They had already produced artificial leather, and followed it with various lacquers, plastics, and photographic film. Later, they produced glass, film, rayon, cellophane and Ethyl gasoline.

During dismal 1934 du Pont, along with American big business in general, was called before Congress in a frantic effort to place the blame for five years of depression where it belonged. Wall Street was the favorite villain, but the victims demanded specific villains, too. No better could be found that the du Pont family, and specifically, Irenee du Pont.

Either Sen. Gerald P. Nye, or some clever press agent, thought up a dandy epithet. It was "merchants of death," and with this on their flag the Nye Congressional committee charged headlong at the Brandywine powder-making family.

For the second World War, du Pont built, on U.S. account, 54 plants at a total cost exceeding one billion dollars. At the same time, du Pont was making smokeless powder at the rate of one ton a minute. It turned out 36 million yards of parachute yarn, made from a du Pont product called nylon, and which was to be a postwar sensation in the world of clothing.

* * *

Keep Up Feudalism

WHAT the massed members of the du Pont family are worth would be a task for a dedicated statistician to find out. Several hundred individuals made up the du Pont clan in midcentury.

Beginning with old Pierre Samuel (1739-1817) seven generations of the family have lived in Delaware. The family, by marriage and residence, has kept much of its primal feudalism. There has been no other clan in American industry to remind one even remotely of the du Ponts of Delaware.

Jordan's King Rides High

'Little Tiger' Defies Nasser

By TOM MASTERSON
Associated Press Staff Writer

AMMAN, Jordan — Just about every Arab ruler in the Middle East who has stood up to Egyptian President Gamal Abdel Nasser has gone down — with one notable exception.

One by one, even the mildly anti-Nasser premiers, presidents or royal rulers in Iraq, Lebanon, the Sudan, Saudi Arabia and Syria have fallen through ouster, assassination or loss of power in the past year.

The notable exception: King Hussein of Jordan.

Hussein was one of the first singled out for elimination by the seemingly invincible machine run from Cairo.

Month after month, inordinately vicious attacks were aimed at him personally. Cairo even tried to goad Hussein's own people into killing him. Self-styled seers regularly predicted his imminent assassination, abdication or dethronement.

Yet Hussein has stood steadfast.

He seems destined to thwart the machine and the seers. Right now he is more popular in Jordan than at any time since he became king six years ago. His people call him the "Little Tiger." Unable to budge him, Cairo has stopped its attack.

In fact, reliable informants in Amman, Damascus and Beirut say Nasser would welcome a return to cordial relations with Hussein. But Nasser was reported to have stipulated that Hussein must first liberalize his present, strongly anti-Nasser government.

* * *

AMONG the Jordanians, Hussein is immensely more popular than the government, headed by Pasha Samir Rifai. Perhaps in Hussein's own words, you can find why he has gained this popularity and his new nickname.

"I've never wavered," he told me, "from what I believe is best for my people and country.

"I fought communism from the start because I didn't think it was good for my people.

"I fought those who wanted to see my country die and I shall always fight them.

"All I have to give is my life."

* * *

HUSSEIN is an intense young man of 24. He leans forward when he speaks to you, eager to make you understand his thoughts.

Only two years ago, people were calling him "the playboy king" of the Middle East.

Since then, he has turned into a mature man long before his time. He is no longer jaunty. Instead, he is reserved. The boyish grin has been replaced by a thin-lipped smile. And the wide-eyed, surprised look has now become an intent and peering scrutiny. He appears calm, and the only trace of nervousness is the working of a muscle at the corner of his jaw.

As Hussein talked to me, the Communist menace in Iraq was worsening.

"We said this would happen," Hussein recalled, referring to the July revolution in Iraq in which his cousin, King Faisal, was murdered.

"We warned our friends. But they said 'No'," he said. "We were right. They disregarded our advice and they were wrong. But," he hastily added, "this is not the time for recriminations."

Hussein didn't elaborate on the advice or name the friends. But he apparently was referring to the U. S., Britain, Turkey, Iran and Pakistan — the Baghdad Pact powers.

* * *

IS IS CLEAR that Hussein is sad and bitter over his cousin's assassination. Close friends since childhood the cousins attended schools together. Still boys when they were kings, Hussein and Faisal often visited back and forth. In times of Hussein's worst troubles, Faisal came to his aid.

Hussein spoke scornfully of those Middle East rulers who have vacillated in the fight against communism.

He mentioned no names. But Nasser, for the first time, had just spoken out against the Communists in the Middle East. The UAR president's speech at Port Said set off a Communist purge in Syria.

"I hope," Hussein said, obviously referring to Nasser, "that the people won't be misled by those who accepted the support of the Communists and now claim they made a mistake."

The polite smile vanished. Contempt, and perhaps even hatred, was evident in his voice when he spoke of still another enemy — those who want to see his little country die.

These people spread the line that Jordan has no reason to exist as a separate state. Some American diplomats subscribe to this belief. They argue that Jordan was artificially created.

To survive, Jordan is financially dependent on outside help. Thus, they say, it should be dismembered or adjoined to a neighboring country.

THEY OVERLOOK one thing. To a good many Jordanians, this is their homeland and they are ready to die for it. Moreover, they want to be Jordanians, not Syrians, not Egyptians, not Iraqis.

Hussein knows that, at the ripe time, some of the neighboring Arab countries would pounce on the puny desert kingdom and slice it up. For two years, he has fought a desperate battle to keep them out.

The odds were stacked heavily against him. Beset by the worst economic conditions in the Middle East he has had to fight subversion from within and ward off attacks from without.

He seemed many times on the verge of defeat. But he never once wavered in his resolve to keep his country and his throne intact.

Perhaps this also explains Hussein's growing popularity. It has spread to the left bank of the Jordan, once part of Palestine. Palestinians never felt the love and loyalty for the Jordan king as do the Bedouins of former Transjordan.

But Hussein evidently has won their respect, even their admiration. Perhaps in time, a Palestinian said, "We might come to love him."

'I Was Bored Stiff . . . Everything Was Rotten'

What Drives a Man to Dope?

By PAUL BUIAR
Associated Press Staff Writer

NEW YORK — A slight, graying, 39-year-old singer is trying to pick up the fragments of a once-promising career marred by a long-playing police record.

In the process, David Allen, who hit the big time in the forties, is challenging the legality of New York police power to decide who may and who may not work in a night club.

But beyond this issue, now in the courts, is the story of human tragedy and waste—a story Allen, who says he's reformed, wants told candidly for the benefit of others.

Allen is an ex-convict and an ex-drug addict. (He's also a Purple Heart veteran of World War II.) He wants to make a living now the only way he knows how — by singing.

But Allen can't get work in the important New York clubs because police won't give him a cabaret identification card. They say Allen's record justifies their stand.

* * *

ALLEN is the first to agree that his record is bad.

His music career started in his teens, when he left high school for a singing job on radio station WTHT in Hartford. He sang with other local stations and local bands before joining Jack Teagarden's big-name outfit in 1940.

But the bigtime was short-lived for David Allen. He was drafted in 1941 and 15 months later he was hitting the beach in North Africa as part of a medical detachment.

* * *

IT WAS THEN that narcotics entered Allen's life.

"We were in a pocket, a hell hole," he recalls. "I wanted to live and I was the type that wanted to try at everything. I don't know why, but I took a shot of morphine.

"Maybe it calmed me. I don't know. Five days later, I was hurt. Concussion shattered my body."

After hospitalization, Allen was discharged in 1943, with a Purple Heart and a 60 per cent disability.

Allen's reach and easy baritone style brought him jobs with many top bands, including Van Alexander, Bob Chester, Henry Jerome, Freddie Slack and Boyd Raeburn. But he was restless; something bothered him.

Many times in music and jazz circles of New York and the West Coast Allen was offered marijuana and narcotics, he says, but he turned them down.

Then, in Hollywood in January 1947, an offer was made and he accepted.

* * *

"I DON'T KNOW why," he says. "Probably a feeling of insecurity.

"I was in an ever-tightening circle. I felt everyone misunderstood me. They didn't know what I was trying to do with my music. I eliminated one friend after another as untrustworthy until suddenly I was alone.

"I was pretty well shot, ready for anything; just not caring. I was beginning to lose my self respect. My sense of values had changed rapidly for the worst.

"In early spring, I started to see demons and I realized I had been hearing voices and seeing visions for some weeks."

He went to the Kinsbridge Veterans' Administration Hospital where he took insulin shock treatments. He was discharged in October 1947 and went to live in California with his sisters.

He avoided the music business, even turning down a job with Harry James' band. He worked in gas stations and factories and did house painting. It didn't last.

* * *

ONE NIGHT during the summer of 1948, a stranger approached him in a hamburger stand in El Monte, Calif., and asked him if he wanted to "get high."

"I said okay," Allen recalls. "I was bored stiff with life. A few weeks later, he gave me a package of heroin that lasted three weeks — just long enough to get me hooked.

"I began to run into people I knew existed but had never known — touts, hustlers, panderers, thieves, junkies, all the scum of the earth. I began to see the world as a bitter pill.

"I thought that maybe I should face the facts; that the world was really like this and that there was a lot going on that I didn't know about. Everything was rotten. It was all black; all no good."

It wasn't entirely black, though. He was back in music and got some good club dates and recording opportunities.

After a determined effort, Allen thought he had shaken the narcotics monkey from his back. Then came an engagement in a fancy Hollywood night club singing with the Page Cavanaugh trio.

"During the act," he recalls, "I could see a familiar silhouette at the bar. As I sang, I tried to think who it was. Then it came to me. My old narcotics contact.

"After the show, I went to say hello to my acquaintance. When he shook my hand, he put a half-grain of morphine spike in mine. I went downstairs to the dressing room.

"The next thing I knew, Page was yelling down for me. It was time for the next show. I was sitting with my head between my knees, the spike stuck in my arm, blood running down my arm, saliva drooling from my mouth."

* * *

SO IT WENT. On again. Off again. On again. The drift steadily downward. No music. No time for anything but dope. How to get the money for the stuff?

A friend offered him half of a small check if he could get it cashed in a hurry by countersigning it and presenting it to someone he knew. It was simple.

"Then he came around with more checks. It got around fast that I was a good paper hanger (fake check passer). I don't know how many checks I signed. It ran into thousands of dollars."

Allen was caught and sentenced in 1955 to a 2-3 year term for grand larceny in the second dergree. He went to prison.

"It was there that I found the lowest elements of humanity and I also found my identity. I knew I had talent. I looked around me and, seeing what I saw, I began to appreciate this great favor."

* * *

BY THE TIME he was paroled in May 1957 after 22½ months in jail, Allen "realized that I could actually do what I had started to do — become a big singer. I began to listen to the people I knew."

He also found that show business friends hadn't deserted him.

An old admirer, Richard Bock of World Pacific records, had him record an album of Jerome Kern tunes. The album did well and led to appearances on the Steve Allen and Jack Paar shows.

Show business cheered, including some people he had let down before: Frankie Laine ("he stacked me to a trip to the narcotics hospital in Kentucky but I walked out"); Peggy Lee ("she tried to talk Christian Science to me and booked me for a shot on her radio show; I took the advance and never showed up"); Sammy Davis Jr. ("he staked me to a $1,000 wardrobe but as soon as I got out of the shop with the clothes I pawned them"); Stan Kenton and others.

Late last summer, he signed to open a New York night club, but the police refused to issue Allen a cabaret identification card on the basis of his past. The issue is now in the courts.

Allen is convinced he will never slip again.

"I'd rather kill myself than use junk again," he says.

DOG BEHAVIOR

Be Patient, Firm In Housebreaking

By FRANCES OTTE

WHEN the weather is favorable, start teaching the young pup to go outside to relieve himself. The older dog should always go outside for this purpose. Do not turn either loose to wander at will. Take the dog to the same general place each time until he goes there himself as a matter of habit.

Find a convenient location with sand, gravel, ashes or short grass. Clean up droppings often to control odors and flies.

Enough scent remains to remind the dog why he is there. If your dog has not yet been taught to stay at home and is inclined to wander off, at these times keep him under control by using a long, lightweight clothesline or the like, held slack for complete freedom of movement.

Many dogs will not relieve themselves when restrained. Of course, if you have a pen or other enclosure, you may turn him loose there.

* * *

PAPER training a pup under four months: If, for any reason such as if you live above the first floor, you prefer to start training the puppy indoors, start him with paper training.

It is natural for the untrained pup to relieve himself regardless of where he may be, but as soon as he understands what you want him to do, he usually reacts willingly. Keep the instruction simple; be patient; be firm. Having covered the floor of the pups quarters with several thicknesses of newspaper, place him there, keep your eye on him from time to time and when you observe him relieve himself, pat and praise him liberally.

Remove the layer of soiled newspaper at once. After a week or two (maybe less) cover only part of the space fartherest from his bed. Then place him on the paper frequently, whether he needs to go or not.

When you take him out of his pen and have him elsewhere in the house under your observation, the instant he appears uneasy, giving an indication of his probable intentions, hustle him back to his papers. He won't wait long.

If he has an "accident," take him to the place, point to it and scold, saying "No, No," "Shame." Shake him a little and put him on his papers whether he needs to go or not.

* * *

REMEMBER: Never give the young pup or the older untrained dog the run of the house. When he is not in his quarters, allow him to be only where you can keep him under observation. At other times, use a light weight but strong chain leash just long enough so that he can turn around and lie down comfortably.

Do not use a rope or leather leash as he may chew through it. Do not keep him chained up at other times except for short, necessary intervals.

One secret of success is to keep the untrained dog in his quarters where you can keep your eye on him, put him on his papers often and praise him freely or scold him with your tone of voice.

If the soiled spot is not discovered until some time later, do not scold the pup. Keep a handy mop, a stiff whiskbroom, a dustpan, a bucket with any good disinfectant you like, and if his accident has occured on linoleum, tile, concrete or wood cover it with a handful of sawdust, which is absorbent, and makes the use of whiskbroom and dustpan effective.

It is very important to remove all trace of scent from the spot or the pup (or some other dog) may be inclined to go to the same place again. Mop up with chlorox or equal. For rug stains, we use a mixture of ¼ cup of salt in 2 pints of water, followed by a solution of one part household ammonia to 20 parts of water. Pet shops also have other preparations for this purpose.

* * *

AS the pup gains better control, gradually remove the newspapers or the puppy may form the habit of waiting until he returns to them.

Provide a place in the house the dog can call his own: Keep him there when he cannot be directly under your supervision. For a pup of the average size breed, if you have a baby pen not in use, use that; or you may fasten 1 inch by 2 inch welded wire 3 feet high to a sturdy, inexpensive frame approximately four feet long and two feet six inches wide.

Place this pen out of the way in the kitchen or any convenient corner where the pup can, if possible, see, hear and smell the activities of daily family life.

Keep the pen away from drafts, dampness and heated radiators; away from directly in front of doors and windows. A floor covered with linoleum is preferable. Place several thicknesses of newspaper over the floor of the enclosure, with the dog's bed at one end. A comfortable bed can be made from smooth lumber, nailed to 2x4's to raise it 4 inches from the floor to avoid drafts.

Put sides around the sleeping platform high enough so the pup will not fall out of bed, but keep it lower in front so the little fellow can jump in and out. A clean old rug or blanket or such makes a satisfactory sleeping pad. Add one or two hard rubber toys or a nice, clean shank bone for the pup to play with.

If you prefer an individual reply to your dog behavior or welfare question, state the facts briefly and mail with a long, stamped, addressed envelope and 10 cents for handling to Frances Otte The Miami Herald, Miami 30.

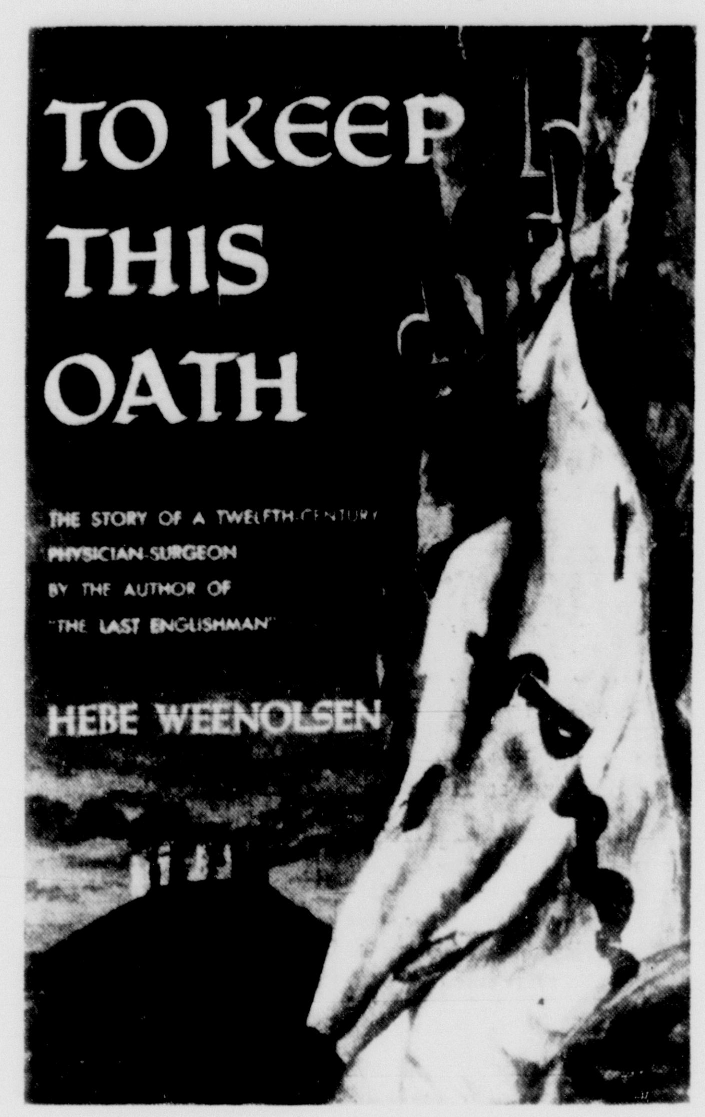
Henry II Gives England Law

TO KEEP THIS OATH, by Hebe Weenolsen, (Doubleday, $4.50)

Reviewed by Mike Morgan

The time is 12th century England when Henry Plantagenet, who ruled as Henry II, was a youth who fought for the crown of England.

But Henry's struggle is only one side of this absorbing, complex novel which explores a slice of history when the great barons controlled England and Norman hated Saxon.



TO KEEP THIS OATH
THE STORY OF A TWELFTH-CENTURY PHYSICIAN-SURGEON BY THE AUTHOR OF "THE LAST ENGLISHMAN"
HEBE WEENOLSEN

Story Depicts Turmoil of Feudal England
. . . a young king brings some order out of chaos

It brings brilliantly to life the story of medicine, law, and the way of life during that chaotic period. Author Hebe Weenolsen's six years of diligent research have given her material to construct a long novel that rings with authenticity and which one finds unwilling to put aside.

It is the story of Jesu Mari, second son of a Saxon nobleman who has little love for his son . . . a son who shirked bloodshed and cruelty in an era when cruelty was a natural order of living.

However, the father did rule his domain with justice toward all — a unique position when justice took strange forms and the law was based on myth and whim.

Jesu Mari, the boy who could not stand the sight of blood, eventually became a master surgeon.

Before he gained that eminence, and laid the foundations for a new respectability for surgery and medicine, Jesu was carried through a maze of adventure in which he assisted Henry to gain the throne.

The book gives lay readers a penetrating insight not only into the barbarous surgical practices of the day but to the gross inequities in the law. It was common practice, when a man was judged guilty of a crime, to bind his hands and knees, attach a plank to the rope, and toss him in the water.

If, after a short period he floated to the surface, he was judged guilty. And probably hanged. If he didn't come topside he was declared innocent. But by the time they pulled him out he generally had drowned.

It was Henry who opened the way toward eliminating these abuses and caused a national legal code to be written, stripping the barons of their arbitrary power over serfs and free men. The code became the common code—foundation of our law.

This is also a fascinating account of medical practices of the day; of the Silutes — a race of coal miners who lived unto themselves in the great forests mining coal and copper — and defying the king and his game wardens.

His Yarns Are Vivid

THE SLEEP OF BABY FILBERTSON AND OTHER STORES, by James Lee Herlihy (Dutton, $3.50)

These off-beat stories have been compared to Tennessee Williams or Carson McCullers. This isn't quite fair, really, for Herlihy's people are so far from the norm that they resemble escapees from a mental institution.

Baby Filbertson is the fat, spoiled son of a fat, spoiled mother and both exist in a maze of sleeping pills and recriminations. Wesley Stuart, inmate of a Pasadena boarding house, loved to be alone.

All Herlihy people are lonely and frustrated. Only his keen eye for the details of contemporary living gives them even a semblance of reality.

Re-Issue Cites Ideals

Ayn Rand's Life Still Absorbing

WE THE LIVING, by Ayn Rand, (Random House $4.95;.

Reviewed by Paula Clark

When Dr. Zhivago was just a gleam in Boris Pasternak's eye, Ayn Rand, author of the much-talked-about Atlas Shrugged had already penned this obituary of the individual doomed by a collective state.

Ayn Rand

Undoubtedly this new edition, re-issued two decades after its birth, will make a greater impact than it did 20 years ago, now that its author rests securely on the reputation created by The Fountainhead.

Written 20 years ago, We The Living is still as timely as Dr. Zhivago, recording the struggles of its heroine, the individualist Kira, against the implacable march of communism.

This is more than the story of beautiful, brilliant Kira and her battle for individuality. Kira, who believes that the state exists to serve the individual, is loved by two men — Leo, an aristocrat, and Andrei, a dedicated crusader of a Communist.

Although all inevitably meet tragic ends, their deaths prove the case of the author more than their living ever could.

Andrei kills himself, completely disillusioned with communism. Kira dies, as she had lived, struggling to escape. Leo dies spiritually but continues to ride the tumbrel of communism with the disenchanted but toujours gai attitude of sophisticated resignation.

Miss Rand says in a foreword that this book is as close to an autobiography as she will ever write.

"It is not an autobiography in the literal, but only in the intellectual sense . . . I was born in Russia; I was educated under the Soviets; I have seen the conditions of existence that I describe. The particulars of Kira's story were not mine . . . her ideas, her convictions, her values were and are."

"I am still a little astonished," she says, "that too many adult Americans do not understand the nature of the fight against communism as clearly as I understood it at the age of 12. They continue to believe that only Communist methods are evil, while Communist ideals are noble. All the victories of communism since 1917 are due to that particular belief among the men who are still free."

This novel is far from a dull political homily. The story line is absorbing and moving, the personalities painted with human detail, with a knowledge of behavior that comes from insight and experience.

How Rift Of Parents Affects Girl

YOUNG LOVE, by Johannes Allen, (Knopf $3.50)

Translated from the Danish, this clearly written little novel illustrates at least one thing: That the young generation of today is the same every where.

At 19 Helen is a cute blonde: "my hair is still fair and it gets fairer in the summer . . . my eyes are grayish with specks of brown in them . . . my waist is so small that my father can still put his hands around it . . . at 16 my face seemed to have stood still. My face had an unused look . . ."

Helen goes on to write of her various loves and romances, of her gradual development from an innocent girl to an experienced and disilusioned woman. It it cause or effect?

Her mother has a lover, her father is away on business. Ultimately they are divorced and this has a shattering effect on their daughter.

"It was the rift itself that was so unbearable," she says, "sitting at meals each day with just one of them and missing the other. It was like having half of oneself cut away."

But by this time Helen, daughter of a prosperous family, with no one to pay much attention to her except the maid, had had several lovers.

"It was one of those unforgettable summers when for weeks there isn't a cloud in the sky. And the days are soaked in sunshine and summer's own peculiar stillness." In the clear northern climate and by the Baltic sea Helen is first attracted to Francis, meets him on the sand dunes, finds it does not last.

Then there is Benny, the cornet player. He, too, tires of her and simultaneously her parents get a divorce.

It is not an unusual story, could happen anywhere. Written clearly and simply it has an impact that most youth novels lack. In fact, the author is a middle-aged novelist whose work is already well known in Denmark and who has had plays presented in Copenhagen.

His skill in writing transforms what might have been a commonplace story into a poignant and worthwhile one. Ably translated by Naomi Walford.

Tickets Needed For Wylie Talk

Because of a deluge of inquiries about Philip Wylie's appearance at the Miami Public Library on Thursday at 8:30 p.m. in the auditorium, tickets will be required for admission to this first of the spring series of Florida Author Nights.

Wylie's topic will be "Most Americans Don't Want Good Education." Mrs. Marjory Stoneman Douglas will be the chairman for the evening.

Tickets are free and will be available, for as long as they last, at 6 p.m. Monday at the Main Library. Tickets may also be obtained at your branch libraries by requesting them in advance.

Library Plans Children's Hours

Children's story hours and picture book hours are conducted at the Miami Public Library. The picture book hour for preschool children is at 10:30 a.m.; the story hour for 7-12-year-olds is at 2:30.

Tough Bolivian Miners Keep Trim as Soldiers
. . . '52 revolt 'most profound' in America since Mexico's of 1910, says author

Books In Review

by
Van Allen Bradley
Subbing for Beatrice Washburn

Two Astute Authors Eye Mexico, Bolivia

A 20-YEAR-OLD memory of my Mexican honeymoon led me to revisit that alluring country recently by means of Selden Rodman's new book Mexican Journal, (Devin-Adair, $6). That led me, in turn, to further Latin-American inquiries in the pages of Robert J. Alexander's The Bolivian National Revolution, (Rutgers University Press, $7.50) just published.

Each of these books has its own rewards: Rodman's as grand armchair adventure, spiced with cultural analysis and a capsule account of Mexican history, Alexander's as an illuminating report on certain political events of significance to all Americans.

Reading Rodman's perceptive interpretations of foreign land is always stimulating, as those familiar with his books know.

* * *

Why Distrust of U.S.?

IN THIS new work he shows us the Mexican character through intimate talks with peasants and intellectuals, among them the artist Rivera, the Marxist labor leader Lombardo Todedano and the architect Candela.

At a supper party of Mexican intellectuals he finds at least one answer to the American traveler's question: Why do Mexicans distrust us while they tolerate the Communists?

"Consider," says his informant, "Mexico's utter dependence on the United States today—the flood of American manufactured goods, advertising propaganda, moving pictures and so on. Or the devaluation of the peso . . . to attract tourism, at the cost of constantly rising prices for Mexicans.

"And then, on top of that, consider the scornful attitude of the average American tourist toward Mexican 'backwardness,' the constantly reiterated pride in 'American know-how,' the insularity of the American business colony here.

Is it any wonder that Mexicans, who are far too individualistic ever to become Communists themselves, are highly receptive to Communist propaganda, which skilfully plays upon American ruthlessness and cultural myopia?"

Through the crackling fire of these conversations there filters an impressionistic panorama of the brilliant and dramatic Mexican landscape.

There are 32 pages of photographs and a lively account—the first to be published for the layman—of the great new Maya archeological discoveries in the Chiapas jungles.

* * *

Foundation Being Laid

AND HOW is a book on Mexico to be related to Alexander's report on Bolivia?

In Alexander's words, the Bolivian national revolution, which began in 1952 when the present government seized power after being denied an apparent ballot-box victory, "is the most profound movement of social change in America since the beginning of the Mexican revolution of 1910."

An economics professor at Rutgers, the author approves the agrarian reforms and other achievements of the United States-supported revolutionary regime. Two points at which he boggles are the new government's suppression of opposition newspapers and its treatment of political prisoners.

Nevertheless, he sees in the National Revolutionary Movement "an attempt to lay a foundation for the development of a true political democracy."

He believes the United States, which has $80,000,000 invested in the Bolivian experiment, should continue to give it aid.

The reason it is of "key importance for the whole hemisphere": This type of home-grown revolution is the major "American alernative to communism." It is important that it shall succeed in order to demonstrate to other Latin-American countries that revolutionary change can be effected without following Moscow's path.

She Cried 'Wolf' to Detective

By ELEANOR G. SMITH
Herald Mystery Book Editor

THE GIRL WHO CRIED WOLF, by Hillary Waugh, (Crime Club, $2.95). Pat Merchant was so darned attractive that she had to shoo away the campus wolves who kept trying to date her.

But after she sat through a class lecture by dark-haired private detective Philip Macadam, she knew that he was the only date she wanted.

She thought that all she would have to do to see him again would be to pretend that she was in danger, and hire him to solve the case for her.

But there can be deadly danger for people who cry "Wolf," as Pat discovered. Quite a tale.

* * *

THE CASE AGAINST PAUL RAEBURN, by John Creasey, (Harper, $2.95). Paul Raeburn was a successful and seemingly legitimate business man. He had the utmost confidence in his ability to cope with any situation that confronted him. He spent money where it was needed, and people took care of matters he didn't care to handle himself.

But even a Raeburn can—albeit rarely—slip. When he does, many people, including Scotland Yard, are ready to pounce.

The chief pouncer in this case was our old friend, Inspector Roger West. Dealing with Raeburn could never be easy, and West vs. Raeburn was a well-matched battle.

It's a dandy to read about, but then John Creasey is one of our dandiest mystery writers.

* * *

TETHER'S END, by Margery Allingham, (Doubleday, $3.50). Few sights are as welcome as a new book by Margery Allingham. Here again, after far too long an absence, is Albert Campion.

For two years, a diabolical killer has baffled the London police. He prowls the dark, twisting streets, a man of cold cruelty. This is a gripping story of true suspense and one of Miss Allingham's best.

* * *

A GAME FOR THE LIVING, by Patricia Highsmith, (Harper, $3.50) Theodore Wolfgang Schieblehut, a resident of Mexico, had been on a painting expedition. On his return to Mexico City, he stopped by at a party, then left to visit his mistress, Lelia.

He knew that she would be delighted to see him, whatever the hour. (Aren't men conceited?)

But Lelia with her door locked didn't answer the bell, for the best of reasons, as Theodore Wolfgang discovered after he scrambled through the transom. Lelia was not only dead but mutilated.

Now Lelia had had another lover, a friend of Theodore's, one Ramon Otero. Ramon had wanted to marry Lelia, which our German-named character did not.

Well folks, there's the set-up for what the dusty jacket rightly proclaims to be a "compelling novel."

Why Not? Kiddies Will

In '65 Even Dogs'll Drive

WHAT HAS FOUR WINGS AND FLIES? by Douglass Wallop (Norton, $2.95)

Not since The Wind and the Willows has there been such a delicious story of animals and their efforts to become people. Wallop, author of The Day The Yankees Lost the Pennant was inspired by his own dog Harry who admittedly considered himself a member of the human race.

Well, why not? Why shouldn't dogs take over? If a 5-year-old child can drive a car why can't dogs? This is in 1965 when 5-year-old children ARE driving cars.

So Hank, Irish Setter, Copley, a wirehair, Al, a Doberman and Sid, whose pedigree is uncertain, all listen to their friend Hobbs, the bulldog who has been left a fortune. All order new cars and the worst drivers are Genghis the Chow and Charlie the Great Pyrenees.

They have special cars, steering wheels with crossed bars where one could wedge a paw; no foot pedals but protruding rods easily pressed. There are push buttons for acceleration.

The romance between Hank, whose ambition is 'to drive his mistress to market every day, and Ida, the snow white poodle, is a pretty thing. They lie on the grass together, roll over, paws in air, and look at the moon. Ida has never really had an owner. She is a New York dog, wears ribbons in her hair, is passed around from one actress to another.

"When they get a chance to go on tour the first thought is who will take care of Ida?"

Cars affect dogs just as they do men. They grow rude and selfish, begin speeding, running stop lights, having accidents. In short, it doesn't really work out.

But Wallop's fantasy does. For people with a sense of humor and a love of animals — they generally run together — it is to be highly recommended.

Historical Spirit Felt In Antigua

By NED AITCHISON
Herald Travel Writer

TOURISTS who travel down Antigua-way, the tropical British colony which lies as a bastion between the islands of the Greater Antilles and those of the Lesser Antilles which stretch like a string of pearls 500 miles south along the Caribbean to South America, find themselves on historic soil.

AITCHISON

For back in the 18th century, when the map of the western hemisphere was changing with kaleidoscopic frequency, England began setting up a Leeward Islands sea base at English Harbour in 1725.

That was in the period when Britain, Spain and France were moving aggressively to nail down their territorial claims in the fabulous Caribbean sea, realizing that their future economic greatness was dependent on their colonial success in the rich lands of the vast, still undeveloped area.

Antigua (prounced ann-Tee-gah) was doubly blessed. It had not only a protected harbor on its southern shore, but ships riding the trade winds down from Europe could be seen from the island, as also could the cargo-laden vessels beating their way homeward.

Today, of vital interest to tourists, is the British Navy establishment built up across from English Harbour. One of the Caribbean's most commanding landmarks, it is familiarly known as "Nelson's Dockyard" because the Empire's most famous naval hero was in command there during the formative years of his career.

* * *

Short Trip From Miami

VISITORS who fly in by Pan American clipper from Miami (flight time is 5¼ hours) are afforded a good view of the huge harbor where Admirals Rodney and Hood in 1781, took in 250 ships of various nations which they had seized as the vessels, with their vital cargoes, attempted to run through the British blockade to the then infant United States of America.

Peering out the window from their fast-flying airliners, the travelers can see the row of huge capstans used to careen naval frigates so their bottoms could be cleaned of toredo and barnacles and hulls could be caulked for sea duty.

With 25 to 30 men pushing at the spokes of each capstan, lines attached to the upper spars were drawn around the capstan drums, heeling the ships far over on their sides. For most of two centuries, English Harbour was the prime naval repair establishment for England's Atlantic colonial fleet.

Today, at the dock where Capt. Horatio Nelson once warped in his H.M.S. Boreas (a 124-foot, 617-ton frigate of 28 guns), a fine fleet of charter sailing yachts is moored.

And yachtsmen enjoying a tourist vacation in Antigua follow the same sea paths through the waters that Nelson sailed from island to island during his three years of patrol against French privateers and Spanish raiders. One Antiguan of early days reported to the king that enemy ships were "as thick as flies on a dinner sweet."

* * *

Big Harbor Protected

EVEN tropical storms failed to phase English Harbour. In 1723, a hurricane swept 35 English ships ashore in other Antiguan harbors, but H.M.S. Winchilsea and H.M.S. Hector rode out the storm safely in the doubly protected English Harbour.

The occasional hurricanes caused little damage to the vast shore installations — galley buildings, chandlery, cordage, rigging and sail lofts, powder and shot houses, shipwrights', joiners' and mast building shops—structures which had been built of fine English brick imported as ballast for the royal navy ships.

While the accurate early history of the island has been lost to posterity, it is known that the Tainos Indians lived there until they were driven out by more fierce tribes. First came the Lucayans, then the Arawaks and finally the war-like Caribs. Then the Spaniards wiped out the Caribs, and their only heritage to the present is the name of the beautiful sea of multi-colored waters.

Time has wrought few changes in the overall appearance of Nelson's Dockyard, but the ships now at the wharf on springlines are modern spic-and-span schooners and ketches, on which parties of two to 12 vacationers laze away their holidays under the tropical sun.

Winter and summer visitors breakfast on the verandas of a dozen or more fine hotels and clubs on the island, watching the brilliant black and yellow banana birds sweep down to steal sugar and jam from the plates of guests at the Half Moon Bay Hotel, the Antigua Beach, White Sands and Anchorage, as well as the exclusive Mill Reef Club.

In the evenings, under the light of the moon and the Southern Cross, descendants of the slaves of yesteryear sing their calypso-like ballad of the "Sly Mongoose," which was also sung for the officers and rank and file of the English navy in Nelson's day.

Dial ASK For Facts

Americans in England can now obtain up-to-date information about events of the day by dialing ASK 9211. This new service, known as Teletourist, also gives out weather reports.

Teletourist, operated by the General Post Office and BBC, functions daily between 7 p.m. and 11 a.m. in the London area.

Better Bargain

Since the opening last year of modern El Curacao Intercontinental Hotel in Willemstad, the picturebook capital of Curacao, tourist statistics have been rising. Although sightseeing and matchless bargain shopping have always been the Dutch island's chief attractions, Curacao is now offering visitors other distractions — sightseeing the harbor by boat, glassbottom boat trips and deepsea fishing. The latter costs $3 an hour, minimum three hours, and that rate includes bait and gear.

Tourists Find Pleasures In Mississippi Pilgrmages

Each Spring the nation's tourists turn Southward toward Mississippi Pilgrimages just as regularly as the swallows return to Capistrano.

The Southward trek of tourists coincides with the irrepressible burst of springtime in Dixie, where azaleas and camellias challenge hyacinths and jonquils for first place in garden beauty.

But Mississippi Pilgrimages are not built around gardens nearly so much as they are the palatial Old South mansions that unfold a magic spell of pre-Civil War History, splendor and glory.

This year's Pilgrimage season, like the eternal re-birth of each new Spring, is expected to be the most lavish of them all.

Tourists, travelers and visitors are expected to pour into the Magnolia State by the tens of thousands as the Southland opens its doors with gracious hospitality.

Civil War history is enjoying a sudden new interest throughout the nation and Mississippi is a focal point of some of the greatest and most historic battles of that struggle that occured a century ago.

Colorful events scheduled for the Pilgrimage season include the Natchez Pilgrimage, one of the nation's oldest and best known events of this type. Natchez, on the Mississippi, will present a colorful Confederate Pageant four nights each week during the Pilgrimage season, Feb. 28 to April 1.

Other Mississippi Pilgrimage towns and the dates of their shows this year include: Columbus, April 4-12, Holly Springs, April 24-26; Vicksburg, March 4-April 4; Port Gibson, March 1-31.

The Mississippi Gulf Coast area will have the combined strength and beauty of Seven Sister Cities of the Sea for a lavish garden Pilgrimage February 15-25. Semi-tropical gardens along the Gulf of Mexico will welcome visitors to Pascagoula, Biloxi, Gulfport, Long Beach, Pass Christian, Bay St. Louis and Waveland.

In addition to the profusion of color to be found in the azalea, camellia and dogwood gardens of the Gulf Coast, the Pilgrimage also includes visits to the famous Biloxi Lighthouse, historic shrine built in 1848 and still standing as a reminder of Biloxi's seafaring tradition.

Other Gulf Coast tourist attractions include "Beauvoir," the last home of Jefferson Davis, president of the Confederacy and the Church of the Redeemer at Biloxi, where a Confederate flag drapes the Jefferson Davis family pew.

Natchez alone is worth the trek to Dixie. Situated on the banks of the Mighty Mississippi on U.S. Highway 61 and 84, about 90 miles south of Vicksburg and 30 miles south of Port Gibson, Natchez is a modern, progressive city of 30,000 population.

Birds of a Feather Can Cut Plane Cost

By MORTON YARMON

NEW YORK — (WNS) — Want to fly to Europe for as little as $240 round trip — about half the regular price?

All you have to do is find 100 like-minded members of a bona fide group, and charter a plane.

This summer, according to estimates, as many as 50,000 men and women belonging to industrial, employe, fraternal, civic, religious, and other types of groups will get to Europe that way.

Actually it's not much more complicated than hiring a bus for your club's annual picnic.

First thing you do is discuss the idea with a group of which you are a member.

You are not permitted, incidentally, to set up a club just for the purpose of arranging such a trip.

The Civil Aeronautics Board, which supervises the operations of all airlines in the country, forbids this.

Obviously the larger the number who will make up the party, the lower the cost to each traveler, since the airline charges the same no matter how many go.

Once you have agreement among your members, the next step is to get in touch with the airlines. Of the major airlines in the charter field, Pan American, KLM (Royal Dutch), and TWA are doing the heaviest business.

If you plan to go to a major airline, it's wise to make your plans a year ahead. There's such a demand on their aircraft these days that they might not be able to accommodate your group.

Even if you don't go on a chartered plane, however, there are airline bargains these days for you and your family. Here are some of the plans offered by the lines:

1. 17-DAY excursion. This allows 15 days in Europe and two days for traveling across the Atlantic. Round-trip fare between New York and London under this plan amounts of $425. The regular tourist rate is $522.
2. FAMILY FARE plan. This plan, in effect between Nov. 1 and March 31, entitles dependents traveling with the head of the family to tourist-rate deductions of $200, first-class deductions of $300.

If a family were going from New York to London and return by tourist flight, Dad would pay the regular $522 fare, but Mom and each son and daughter between 12 and 26 would pay only $322 each.

3. STOP - OVER privileges. This procedure allows stops at many of the major cities for one round-trip fare.
4. GO NOW, pay later. This permits travel on the installment plan. You make a small deposit on leaving, have more than a year to pay the balance.

ARUBA Gold to Aloe to Oil And Now the Tourists

By HORACE SUTTON

SUTTON

ARUBA — This flat and arid isle 15 miles off the coast of Venezuela has been in the gold business, the cathartic business and oil. This spring it will go after tourists in a big way.

For tourists, Aruba has all the markings — gorgeous beaches, the same low prices that made Curacao famous, a brand new hotel opening in March, and a casino.

It also has eighty degree weather virtually the year round. It scarcely ever rains and the island is off the hurricane path.

With so much to offer, KLM has recently bestowed on the island the ultimate in awards: once a week direct air service to New York.

Of its previous lines of endeavor, only oil has paid off.

Gold was mined on several places on the island during the 19th century. There are still ruins of the mills at Balashi and Rooi Fluit and on the north coast at Bushiribana.

Gold was smelted up until 1913 when the war made it impossible to get chemicals.

An oft-told story claims an Aruban once found a nugget weighing 32 pounds. However, to keep the vein secret he stuffed it with rubble and later couldn't remember in which hole he found the gold.

* * *

Once Lucrative

THE CATHARTIC business had an ignominious ending too. It began in 1840 when the Curacao governor brought in a dozen aloe plants from Martinique.

During the 1920's the aloe crop, used in the manufacture of cathartics, was worth a million dollars a year.

However, as more and more trees were cut down to make room for aloe planting, the warm air from the island was released and rose, thinning out the passing clouds.

Now it rarely rains, and aloe rarely grows.

* * *

May Lose Refinery

THE BEST CROP has been oil which doesn't grow in Aruba but in nearby Venezuela. In 1928 an oil company which later became a subsidiary of Standard Oil of New Jersey set up a refinery.

It is now the largest in the world, producing almost half a million barrels a day, all of it brought by tanker from the Maracaibo oil fields 200 miles away.

But there may be a day when Venezuela decides to refine its own oil, and so Aruba is turning to the tourist.

A splendid broad highway has been built from the airport along the endless stretch of Palm Beach on the southern shore.

The young palms that border it have been boxed in with oil drums to protect them from the wind and the goat herds that wander wild all over the island.

* * *

Like Miami Beach

THE NEW Aruba Caribbean, which ought to be ready by March, will be eight stories high, just like a Miami Beach hotel, except that it will look out over miles and miles of unfettered sand.

The top six stories will contain 125 guest rooms each with a terrace and a sliding glass wall to mix the outside living with the inside air-conditioning. Although there will be a doorway, the hotel will have no front door.

A ramp will lead from the lobby to the dining room, a circular-domed extravaganza, half of it glass with a vista of the pastel blue-green sea and the bright white sand, the terraces, cabanas, and the gay, carefree, frolicking guests themselves.

At night the very same cast may be seen frolicking in the gaming casino which is being finished in Caribbean blue, money green, and deep midnight purple.

While those colors don't sound conducive to winning to me, who am I to question Morris Lapidus, the architect who was also responsible for the Fontainebleau, the Americans, and the Eden Roc in Miami Beach?

* * *

Hexes on Houses

THE COUNTRYSIDE of Aruba, called the Cunucu, is a good deal more primeval than the Miami mansion which the island has built by the sea.

Some of the houses still wear hex signs, and may grow living fences of cactus plants to keep out the goats.

There are so-called California Dunes on one end of the island, inhabited by tribes of goats, strange monoliths at Ayo, wild flocks of green parakeets at Canashito Hill, and Indian petrographs in the Quadririkiri Cave.

There may even be gold in the hills for those who have trouble mining it at the casino.

MOST PERFECT SWIMMING in all the Caribbean can be enjoyed at Pic Cap on the leeward coast of the tiny island of Aruba in the Netherlands Antilles.

Russia Wants Tourists

Herald Staff Writer John B. McDermott has just returned from a trip to Russia and satellite countries. Today's article was written at Brest, Russia.

McDERMOTT

The Russians have become just about the most public relations conscious nation in the world toward foreign visitors in their country.

It starts with the customs and immigration officials at the airport on arrival in Moscow. It was just the same here at Brest, near the Polish border, when I was leaving by train.

A uniformed, young Russian soldier was standing on the gangplank in the snow outside the door of the airliner which brought me to the Soviet Union.

"Welcome to Moscow. May I have your passport, please," he said, smiling politely.

The formalities there were simple and quick, in direct contrast to U. S. procedures for visitors arriving on American soil.

Officials asked if the bags contained anything other than the money declaration forms, then stamped the luggage without opening a single bag.

* * *

AT BREST, customs inspectors came aboard the train and made similar inquiries. One youthful soldier peered behind the cushions of our compartment and made a cursory check to see whether anything was concealed behind the luggage or under the bed.

But again, no effort was made to open bags of American travelers aboard the Berlin Express.

In Moscow treatment of U.S. visitors is on the same pattern of good public relations.

The Intourist representatives — Intourist is the official Soviet Travel Agency — lean over backwards to fulfill the requests and wishes of the visitors.

Admittedly the tourist is paying a flat rate of $30 per day to cover hotels, meals, transportation, guides, etc.

But comparable services in many other foreign lands I have visited have not been of the same high standard.

* * *

RUSSIA, TOO, offers the traveler the thrill of being at the hub of life behind the Iron Curtain, the magnificence of the Kremlin and Red Square in Moscow plus a variety of scenic beauty and climate unmatched any place in the world.

It has the snow and ice of the northland, the oasis of Central Asia, the pine forests of Siberia, the palm groves of the Black Sea and the towering mountains of the Caucasus.

The public relations atmosphere, directed primarily at foreigners, also is having its effect on the Russian citizen.

The Central Committee of the Communist Party, which runs the USSR, recently issued an order to all departments to desist in long established attitudes of "to hell with the public" and start trying to meet complaints from the populace.

The decree reflects concern over what the public is thinking, something new and different in the Communist scheme of things.

The party apparently is awakening to the fact that "democracy" has its merits even to a limited degree here.

Fiesta Starts Feb. 4

BARRANQUILLA — Carnival Week is just around the corner in this picturesque seaport, only four hours by air from Miami. The yearly fiesta will start Feb. 4 and run through Feb. 10.

Already, floats are being decorated to carry pretty girls vying for the court of Carnival Queen of Barranquilla, 19-year-old Marvel Luz Moreno.

Contestants will come from all parts of Colombia. They will ride through downtown streets on the floats under showers of flowers.

Besides the coronation of the queen, the program includes costume parades, folk dancing, art exhibits and a water show.

Yachts will cruise down the broad Magdalena River to dances at the Yacht Club and Fishing Club. All social clubs have teas, luncheons, cocktail parties and formal balls during the week.

Street dancing by natives in folk attire is a regular feature of Carnival Week. Musicians in colorful dress play for the dancers.

A mock funeral for Joe Carnival will be staged on the closing night of the festival.

Local Tourist Boats Pay Travel Tax, Too

Planes, trains and busses aren't the only public conveyances that are hooked by the 10 per cent tax on domestic travel, A. Arthur Pekelner, president and owner of the Intercoastal Boat Yard, Inc., 603 NW South River Dr., points out.

PEKELNER

Commenting on a recent Miami Herald article urging repeal of the federal levy, Pekelner said:

"You are so completely right in turning the spotlight on this inequitable tax which came into being almost 14 years ago as an emergency measure to discourage unnecessary travel.

"I operate a large boat yard and have as customers many sight-seeing and large fishing boats, thus I am intimately aware of some of their problems.

"I would like to pin-point a specific instance of a so-called glass-bottomed sight-seeing boat which makes two-hour trips just beyond Government Cut and as such must collect the 10 per cent travel tax.

"Wherein this can be classified as travel or transportation, I find it hard to understand particularly since there are party fishing boats of comparative size, leaving from the same docks, going into the same area, advertising 'fishing and sight-seeing' and paying no tax because they are licensed as fishing boats.

"I would like to point out further that a very large percentage of the usual $2.95 tax-included charge is paid to the various hotel employes who recommend and sell these trips to our visitors. Thus, in effect, the 10 per cent which is charged on the gross becomes almost 20 per cent when the net is figured.

"I applaud heartily your attempt to bring an end to this onerous levy. And I have written to our two congressional members (Sen. George Smathers and Rep. Dante Fascell) who are taking the lead in attempting to remove this law from the books during this session of Congress.

"You might suggest to your readers that they deluge Congress with their expressions of opinion, in this matter, thus doing a service to aid our tourist economy."

New Nassau Lodge Opens

Howard Johnson's new Nassau Beach lodge will open on schedule today, but the formal dedicatory ceremonies will not take place until Friday, Feb. 6, David D. Martin, promotion manager, announced Saturday. Some 400 guests are expected.

"Advance bookings," Martin reported during a visit to Miami, are "extremely good."

The William P. Wolfe Organization, 404 Pan American Bank Blvd., is handling local reservations for the lodge, which has 278 rooms and 28 suites.

Martin said 600 men employed on the project have practically completed the landscaping and finished the buildings.

The Howard Johnson restaurant, adjoining the lodge, already has opened its doors. And Martin said that the Lamplighter room will feature American and Bahamian foods, served by colorfully costumed waiters.

Liner Changes Its Schedule

Eastern Shipping Corporation announced it is shifting the destination of its weekend tour in the deluxe SS Yarmouth from Havana to Nassau.

Until further notice, the company said, the luxury liner will leave for Nassau each Friday at 6 p.m., returning to Miami at 8 a.m. the following Monday.

Increasing demand for Nassau accommodations, and decline in Cuban travel because of recent political events, caused the shift, the announcement said.

The Yarmouth's second weekly tour, leaving Miami each Monday night and returning Friday morning, will continue to touch at both Havana and Nassau.

Bon Vivants To Install

Bon Vivants of Greater Miami — travel and transportation group — will install officers at a dinner-dance Tuesday night in the Club Siam at the Carillon Hotel, Miami Beach. Members' wives will be special guests.

YARNELL

Ed Yarnell of Eastern Air Lines will succeed Ed Baskette as president. The annual meeting and installation will take place from 6:30 to 7 p.m., followed by a cocktail party from 7 to 8.

Lou Walters is to present his Ziegfeld Follies Revue, with the rest of the evening devoted to dancing.

Wives Guests Of Skalmen

Miami chapter of the Skal Club of North America will be host at an informal dinner at 7:15 p.m. Feb. 14 at the Key Bsicayne Hotel with wives of members as honor guests. A Hawaiian luau is being arranged for the party.

Skalmen are executives of local travel and transportation concerns.

Outsiders See Cuba Returning

HAVANA — A team of travel experts predicted Saturday that tourists will be coming back to Cuba in record numbers starting about Feb. 1.

After a survey of Havana tourist facilities since the revolution the two men, Robert Binner, manager of the American Automobile Association's Miami office, and William Traum, AAA public relations director in Washington, D.C., said tourism would make a fast comeback.

Binner predicted that the pre-revolution average of 75,000 to 100,000 annual visitors to Cuba would undoubtedly be exceeded during the 1959-60 season.

After interviewing managers of major hotels, restaurants, night clubs, tour operators and officials of the new Cuban government, the AAA experts reported that tourist operations have rapidly returned to normal.

They said their studies showed that all facilities are on a business-as-usual basis with the exception of gaming casinos, and larger night clubs operated by the gaming casinos.

Dr. Fidel Castro earlier told the AAA representatives that "Cuba wants and needs American tourists and they will receive a cordial welcome by our happy people.

"We are back to normal in Cuba," Dr. Castro said, "and there is liberty, peace and order."

While there has been no official date set by the new regime for the opening of casinos, the U.S. survey team said that hotel operators and others close to the situation feel confident that gaming will start again soon in the major tourist hotels. Castro has said he opposed "popular casinos which cater to the poor."

Meanwhile, bearded revolutionary troops congregated in front of the large, luxury resort hotels were providing camera-carrying tourists with a field day.

Camera stores reported a run on film supplies as tourists posed with the colorful soldiers.

The AAA team was high in its praise of Havana hotels for their handling of the tourist evacuation two weeks ago.

"Havana has some of the best managed hotels in the world," Binner said. "They are equipped to take excellent care of the record number of tourists who will visit Havana in the months and years to come."

Binner added that Havana could look forward to an increase in summer tourist business.

Gallic Goldmine

A free port has been inaugurated at Raizet Airport on French Guadeloupe. Among other good buys, the finest French perfumes and liquors sell at bargain prices. For example, a fine French brandy sells for $2 U.S., while a half ounce of "Arpege" costs $3 U.S.

Year of the Pig

For more than 4,000 years, the first day of the first new February moon has marked the start of the Chinese New Year. This year, the event falls on Feb. 8 and New York City's Chinatown, will welcome in their year 4657 in the ancient tradition of feasting and parades.

According to the Chinese lunar calendar, this is the "Year of the Pig." Festivities commence on New Year's Eve, Feb. 7.

There are more than 50,000 Chinese living in New York. Of these, approximately 7,000 live in Chinatown, a 30-acre area in lower Manhattan, bounded by Mulberry Street, the Bowery and Canal Street, with Pell, Mott and Doyer Streets composing the main colony.

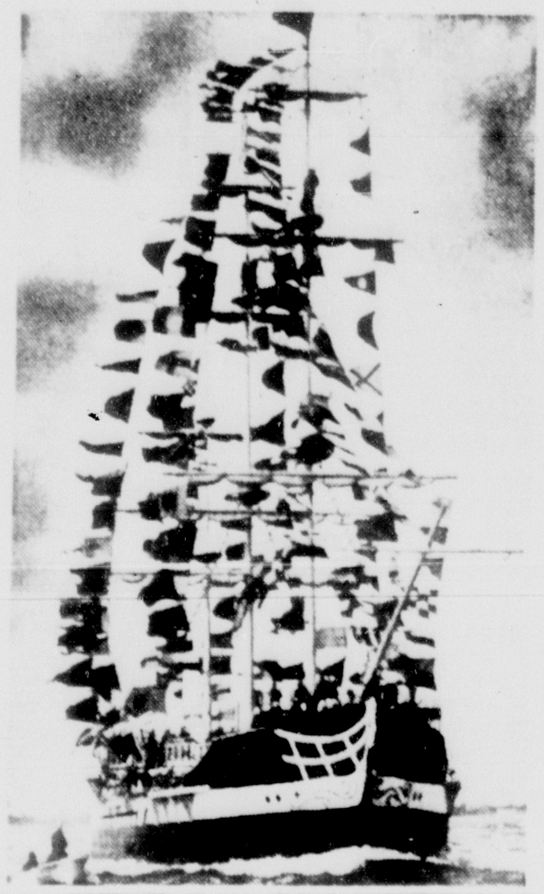
Gasparilla Fete Near

Jose Gasparilla's invasion of Tampa is scheduled for Feb. 9-14 this year and more than 600,000 fun seekers will crowd the city for the occasion.

Highlight of the carnival comes Feb. 9 when the famed pirate ship sails up Tampa Bay and disgorges its crew of pirates and their lovely companions.

The Florida State Fair will be going full blast during the same period at the Tampa Fairgrounds.

Hotel and Motel accommodations are at a premium during the twin affairs and visitors are advised to make their reservations well in advance or go to nearby cities.



Cattlemen Taking Off Here

U. S. cattlemen from several western and southwestern states will leave Feb. 5 on a specialized "Stockman's" 30-day tour of six Latin American countries.

The trip will include visits to eight of the most famous ranches in Argentina, Peru, Brazil, Chile, Uruguay and Panama.

Leaving from the Miami gateway on Braniff International Airways, the stockmen and their families will fly first to Lima, Peru.

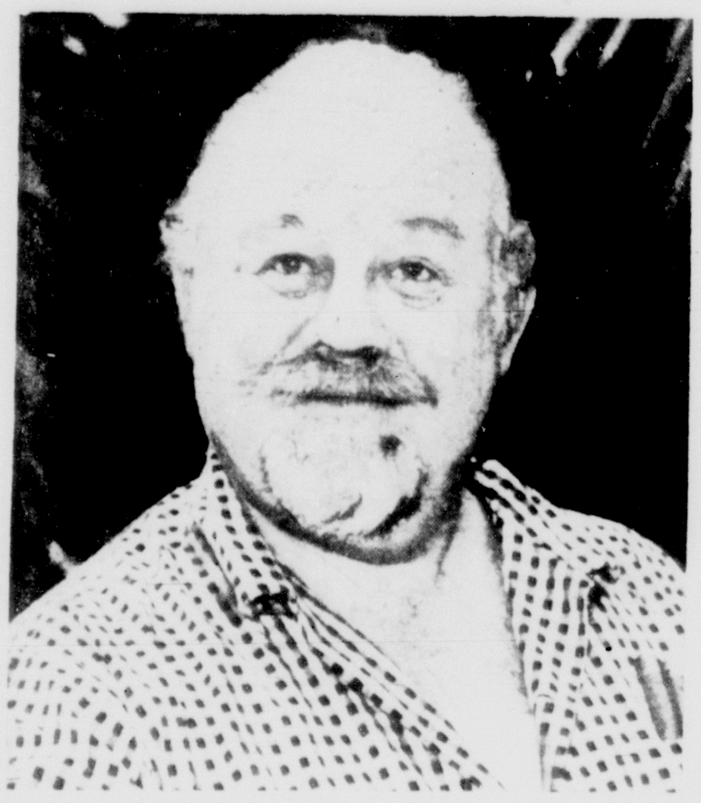
Most of the famous restaurants of Europe were on the itinerary of a Miami Beach man who literally ate his way around Europe while doing research aimed at opening his own restaurant.

Tony Sweet, well-known hotelman and amateur golfer here, sampled the fares at London's Savoy and Connaught's, Maxim's, Laperusse and Tour d'Argent in Paris, and spots in Vienna, Budapest and other European capitals.

He recently opened a dining place in Bay Harbor Island.

* * *

The "Upper Echelon Club," a private gold key club for members only, will open this month at the Saxony Hotel. Located on the hotel roof-top the glassed-in social club will offer private dining and cocktail facilities to its international membership. The hotel is celebrating its 10th anniversary.



ABACO LANDOWNER Burl Ives is a frequent visitor to the Bahamas. Here he rests at the Buena Vista in Nassau. He bought a giant straw hat from the native market but isn't wearing it. The famous actor and ballad singer spends much time in the islands.

M. Beach Outdone By Hole

A visitor to our town this weekend is Lester B. Dill, the man who parlayed a "hole in the ground" into a million dollar tourist attraction via his Meremac Caverns in Stanton, Mo.

It seems a bit incongruous that Dill is here looking over the very latest tourist attractions that this area boasts while his Caverns are said to be over 200,000,000 years old.

He must gain a great deal of delight in knowing that, while the Miami Beach hotel owners have poured millions of dollars into the creation and development of their attractions, Mother Nature had done the job very creditably for him.

Instead of the magnificent draperies which grace the local hosteiries, Dill can boast his own Stage Curtains, the largest single cavern formation in the world: 68 feet high, 47 feet wide and 27 feet thick.

The Grape Vineyard at Meremac might not require the care that is needed to foster the beautiful gardens found here but its formations look so lifelike that many a tourist has tried to pluck at the grapelike stone.

Other major formations about the cave which receive the tourist's wondering gaze as they also do with our skyline are the Onyx Mountain, the Jungle Room, Mirror Lake, Fountain of Youth, the Devil's Bathtub and Honeymoon Room.

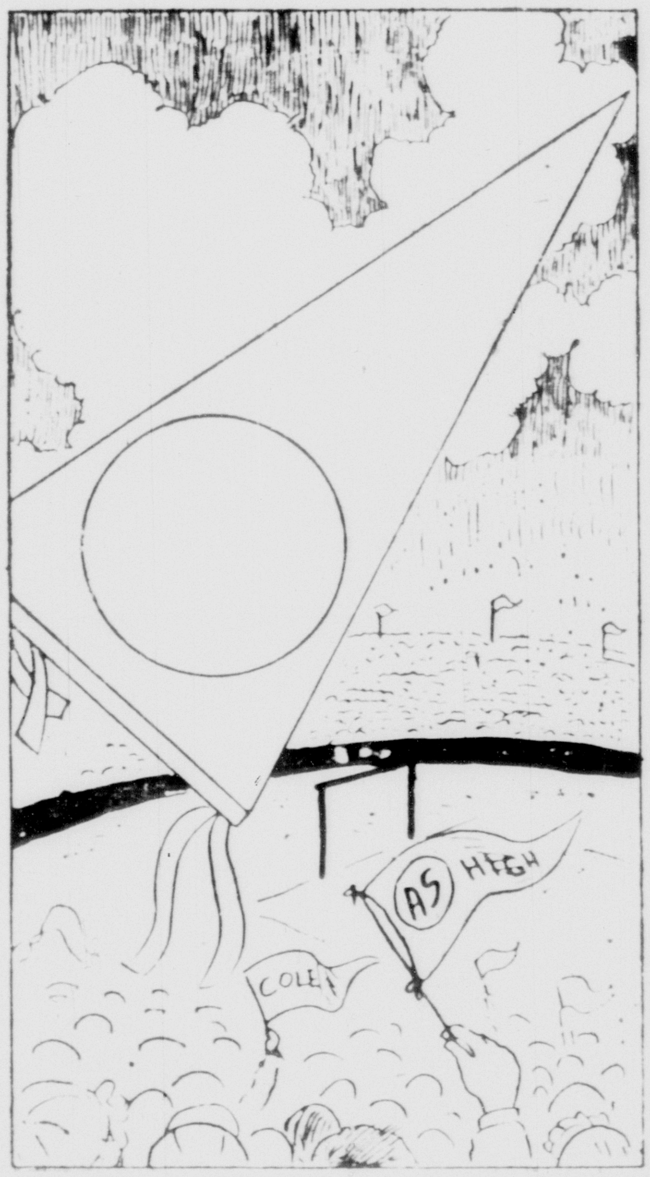
Here's Chance to Gain Some Real Good Luck



PRETEND IT'S YOUR TEAM
. . . then color pennant and monogram

By Cappy Dick

WANT TO OWN a real rabbit's foot? Here's your chance!

Ten rabbit feet, each equipped with a key chain, will be given away as the prizes in today's puzzle contest. One will be awarded to each boy or girl who sends in one of the 10 most neatly prepared contest entires.

The contest is a lot of fun to enter because it involves the colors of your school and your school's monogram.

In the above picture is the scene of a school stadium with a huge crowd watching a game. Pretend your school's team is one of those on the field.

Your task in entering this contest is to use your paints or crayons to color the pennant and to draw the monogram of your school in the circle at the wide end.

When you have completed the coloring, clip the picture out. Paste it on a sheet of paper. Beneath it print your name, age and address. Next, address your entry to Cappy Dick at the Miami Herald, Box 630, and mail it before midnight of day after tomorrow.

The contest judges will examine all the entries to find the 10 most neatly prepared. The rabbit feet will be awarded to the boys and girls who sent those 10. Names of the prize winners will be published here and they will receive their prizes by mail.

DID YOU EVER wonder how waiters and waitresses learn to swivel-hip across a restaurant with loaded trays without sloshing soup and spilling coffee? To say nothing of that trick of lining plates up the length of the arm and dealing them off at the various places without ever anointing a customer with gravy or having a lamb chop leap into someone's lap.

That fine careless ease they exhibit doesn't just happen. They have to go to school to learn the tricks of their art. At Lindsey Hopkins Vocational School, would-be waiters and waitresses spend a full month in the classroom before they graduate to working with sandbag-loaded trays and dummy food.

Mike Morgan visited this school and wrote the story that begins on page 3. He never could find out, though, whether being able to avoid catching a customer's eye is an art taught in the school or strictly post-graduate work.

JACK BELL feels so sorry for you poor darlings who count your money by the bale that he wants to help you cut down the sums that you have to give the income tax boys. Of course, any of you who enjoy paying taxes won't want to bother with his suggestions. All others should read what he has to say on page 26.

One thing about Jack that you can't help marveling over is how in the world he manages to get such accurate inside information. He knows—and tells— just exactly how much money you—yes, you—are going to leave when you die.

On the Cover

Probably no face in the nation less needs an identifying caption than Roy Rogers'. For lo! these many years the King of the Cowboys has been demonstrating that good always triumphs over evil to successive waves of youngsters as they reach the age to swap training pants for cap pistols.

And though he has not made any particular bid for adult viewers in movies or television, he has earned their affection too. And their gratitude. Parents know they never have to fret for fear a Rogers movie will give the kiddies nightmares or persuade them to go out and slug old ladies. Good and bad are clearly defined and never, never does a boy-girl situation set off a flurry of embarrassing questions from Junior.

Reporter Mike Morgan is as ardent a Roy fan as his seven-year-old-son — but for entirely different reasons. He tells why in his story on page 8 and also reveals some news that should prove very exciting to Florida children.

ORDER A plank steak from Maitre d' A.J.C. Landy and, brother, you get it! All plank, that is.

He presides over the only establishment in Dade County which serves up solid wood steaks.

At least, the only one which does so without arguing the fact.

Furthermore, he'll serve you the steak with some tasty wooden carrots, chipped beef of real wood chips, creamy wooden butter, plaster of paris fried eggs and a bewildering assortment of other culinary triumphs guaranteed to leave splinters in the stomach.

At least he'll have this unique cuisine served to you by some would-be waiters and waitresses who are taking a most unusual course in the art of dishing up the food with elegance and elan.

* * *

MR. LANDY has the first section of a class at Lindsey-Hopkins Vocational School designed to graduate skilled waiters and waitresses.

This is a two-month course which calls for a month of class-room instruction, and a month of "on-the-job, in-the-class table-waiting."

What, I asked myself when I read about the course, can one possibly study for a month in a classroom relative to being a waiter or waitress?

One can, I learned, study a surprising variety of matters.

Such as how to tote a laden tray without dumping it in the nearest lap.

How to set a table.

How to balance several dishes on one arm.

How to make out tickets for many people and see that the right food gets to the right person. (This is no small thing.)

The gentle art of serving a minimum of 10 people at three tables at the same time without going nuts.

Mr. Landy, who has been a Maitre d' in some excellent hotels and clubs, has been teaching the fine points of soup to nuts carrying for 23 years.

SUPERVISOR VICTORIA PLUNKETT WITH STUDENT INGE ELLWANGER

. . . Miss Ellwanger hopes to return to native Germany and open own restaurant

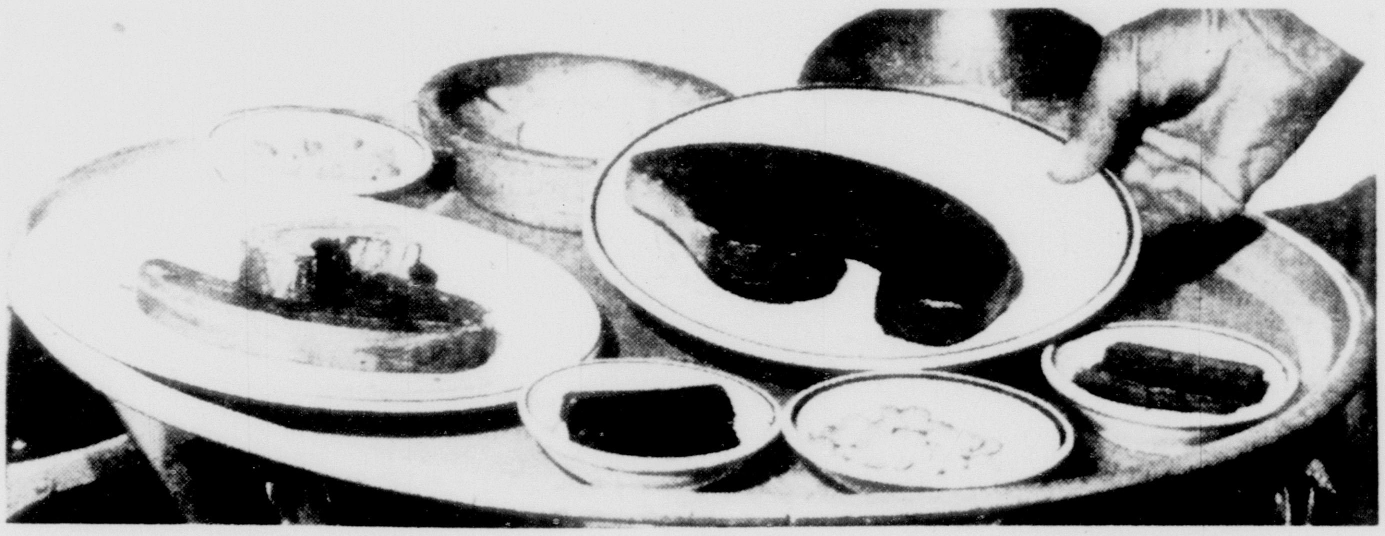
First thing the apprentices learn is how to tote that tray.

They start out by learning to balance trays loaded with seven-pound sandbags. Gradually the weight is increased until they can deftly trot in and out of tables with sandbag laden trays—and do so at no harm to the apprehensive "customers."

Next comes the science of slapping several dishes on one arm and dealing them off to the diner.

If you think this isn't a science, try it.

With heavy plates filled with food.



FOOD FOR THOUGHT ONLY: STEAKS ARE DUMMIES MADE OF WOOD

. . . carrots, potatoes and beans would be equally hard on the digestion

But try it with your plates and food.

Once they master the carrying business, they're taught how to set the table.

* * *

THEN COMES instruction in how the kitchen is organized, and how one picks up the most food around the kitchen in the least time.

Finished with basic instruction, the students go through regular routines including seating student customers, writing orders, going through the kitchen rigamarole serving the food, exactly as it's done for real.

All with the dummy food.

When Mr. Landy has drilled his novices in these preliminary stages they are sent on to Mrs. Victoria Plunkett who has charge of the advanced classroom.

The advanced classroom is a completely equipped kitchen and dining room where the students actually serve "live" food, and are given further instruction by Mrs. Plunkett, who is both hostess and teacher.

Incidentally, the dining room was built specifically for this purpose.

All its regular customers — school officials, instructors, and visitors — are aware of this. Painfully so, at times.

Especially when a freshly arrived contingent from Landy mans the stations.

That first week of actual serving for the new group is one of tension, frustration, and often tears.

The Toughest Steaks In Town Served Here

Every evening Mrs. Plunkett holds a session and reviews the errors of the day — sins of serving commission and omission.

Such as slumping against a wall, or scratching the head while serving. A practice discouraging to hearty eating.

She teaches them how to organize their work and ride herd on the average 50 courses required by 10 people having dinner and keep everyone happy.

Nor shall we forget an important element in the training—techniques of dealing with the oddball type customer.

Desiring to test her pressure under fire, I tossed down the menu and said:

"I don't want any of this. Get me a turkey

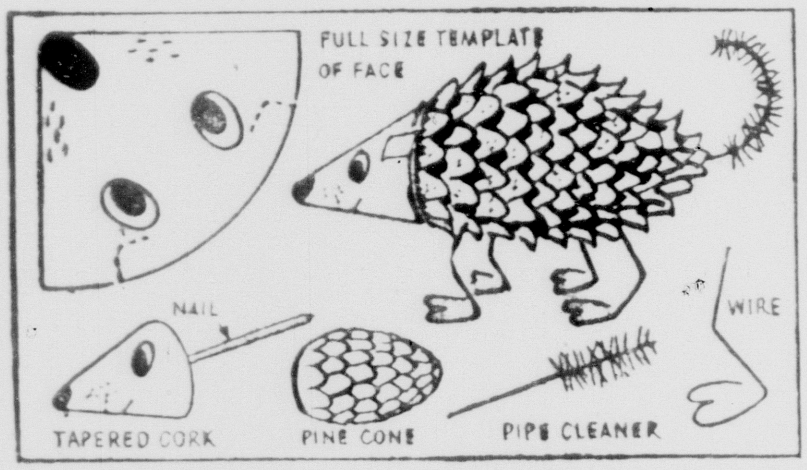
SCIENCE FUN

SWELL TIP TO WEATHER



NEXT time you run across or have access to some pine cones here's a thought to keep in mind. During periods of high humidity the cones will close; conversely, in dry weather, they will tend to open.

Thus, they can be useful to a degree as weather indicators, a novel adaptation of which is shown above.

The cone should be of a rather large size. Fashion a head from a piece of cork or wood, and nail or glue this to cone as indicated. A pipe cleaner will serve as a tail. Pieces of wire can be used for legs.

Clip and paste face above to cork. Dotted lines indicate ears.

Remember, during periods of high humidity when rain is likely, the cones will close; when open it is likely to be fair.

Use Numbers in Lieu of Letters

TO SOLVE this wits tester, proceed as in a crossword puzzle, using numbers instead of letters for answers. Insert a single digit in each square. The trick is to get answers that will function across and down.

Students Find There's Many a Slip Twixt Kitchen and Customer

SAL CARFI IS "CUSTOMER"
. . . Irma Preyer serves hickory steak sandwich with fried egg . . . on whole wheat with onion."

She gulped, looked helplessly at Hostess Plunkett, and made off for the kitchen after asking:

"Are you sure that's what you want?"

About 10 minutes later she returned. (There were two cases of apoplexy in the kitchen.)

"We don't have any eggs today."

"Give me a turkey and shrimp sandwich," was my compromise.

The gal was visibly shaken. But started bravely back.

Soon she returned, tight lipped.

"Are you sure that's what you want? The cook wants to know . . ."

I gravely assured her that a turkey and shrimp sandwich was what I wanted.

That's what I got.

"Cook says 'Make him eat it!' " she snapped.

I did.

. . . this has to happen once to everybody but head chef Jim Murphy never fails to get excited

After a month of working in this "classroom," the class can generally swing a tray deftly, tote up the bills, keep the customers happy—and not suffer nervous prostration.

Then they go out and do it for real.

In charge of the overall program is Patrick Hughes. He reports that there is an urgent demand for trained personnel, and all of the students get jobs.

Many are spoken for even before the class is completed.

Dining room managers, hotel operators, barroom operators, often call upon him to fill very special job requests.

LATIN RESTAURANTS want Latins because of the atmosphere. Customers don't expect red-haired gals, or blondes when they're ordering paella, or chicken cacciatore.

Steak houses prefer shapely, attractive waitresses.

Recently Hughes was asked for a "petite blonde who could play a piano, sing duets, and be a waitress . . ."

He filled the order.

You too can learn to balance a tray and serve food with distinction — all you need is willingness and ten bucks.

But the post graduate course you take on your own.

That's learning how to avoid the customer's eye; scrounging for the big tip; and other nuances of the profession.

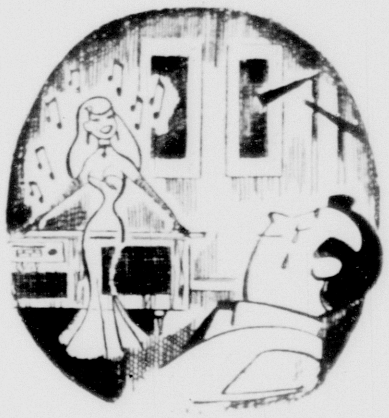
Wan Wailers Bring Back Flood of Tears

By Hugh Mulligan

IN AN ERA when nightclub business is slipping and New York after dark is as desolate as a suburban railroad platform when the last train has gone through, the blues singer is making an amazing comeback.



With no piano to perch on and no smoky rooms to filter her hushed sobs, this wan wailer of man's inhumanity to woman has found a ready audience at the nether end of the hi-fi set. The blues style, intimate and impassioned, is tailor made for living room Lohengrin's, who can cry their eyes out without worrying about how much to tip the head waiter or whether the evening's tab will approximate the national debt.

Among the best of the current crop of blues belters is Beverly Kelly, gifted with a fine voice, excellent jazz styling and first rate delivery. Teaming with the Pat Moran Trio on a new Audio Fidelity album, Beverly brings appealing freshness to such old standbys as "Lover Come Back to Me," "Sometimes I'm Happy," "Embraceable You" and "I Wish I Knew."

★ ★ ★

KEELY SMITH, a leader in the blues renaissance and one of the most versatile of the wailing sisterhood, gets sensitive, stylish backing from the Billy May orchestra in "Politely," her new Capitol album. Selections include "I Can't Get Started," "East of the Sun," "I'll Get By" and a bluesy version of "On the Sunny Side of the Street."

Jane Morgan, unrelated to the great Helen Morgan but a polished performer in her own right, covers a tremendous range in Kapp's "Great Songs from the Great Shows of the Century," going all the way from "Yankee Doodle Boy" to "Heart," the hit from "Damn Yankees." As in all attempts to turn a record album into a historical document, the selections fail to fulfill the title, ignoring many shows, composers and songs because of space limitations. But what's there is very good and Miss Morgan makes the most of it.

For those who have been wondering whatever became of Bonnie Baker, the girl with the voice like a whistling kettle, Warner Bros. has the answer in an album named, of course, "Oh Johnny." Bonnie Baker fans will be happy to know that she has not switched to baritone and can still bring pixie charm to such ditties as "Ma, He's Making Eyes at Me," "Charley, My Boy" and "How'ja Like to Love Me."

Also highly recommended among the female vocalists are Connie Stevens in the Warner Bros. album "Conchetta" and Bernadine Read in Epic's "Bernadine," a pair of talented blondes who can sing up a storm.

Jeri Southern, Peggy Lee

Albums Deal Pair of Queens

By Fred Sherman

IT TAKES QUEENS or better to open this week and Decca has a pair. Jeri Southern sings with the Dave Barbour trio in an album called Southern Hospitality (DL-8761) and Peggy Lee is backed by the Sy Oliver orchestra in a session titled Miss Wonderful (DL-8816).

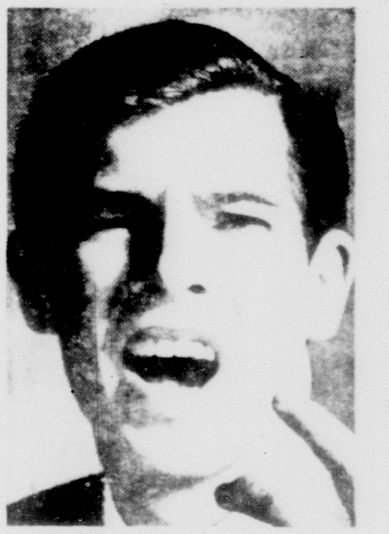
Both move well. The Southern session is probably from the files. Peggy sounds fresher.

Jeri will break you up with a bit called Miss Johnson Phoned Again Today. There's the usual dozen, each a three-minute spin. Same with the Peggy Lee set, except this one swings where the other sways. Peggy romps with Mister Wonderful for an opener, gets gutty with You Gotta See Mama Every Night and sentimental with Crazy in the Heart. It's the happiest record I can remember from Peggy since the Sunny Side of the Street days with Goodman.

For a listen at Jeri as she sings today, try a Roulette album called Jeri Southern Meets Johnny Smith (R-52016). He's the guitarist who played the Grate in Miami Beach couple months back and is supposed to be booked for return engagement. This is strictly a ballad set, with backing from Mousie Alexander (haven't heard from the drummer in years), bassist George Roumanis and pianist Bob Pancoast.

★ ★ ★

LIKE CASTRO'S REBELS coming out of the hills and tasting the heady wine of a new era, jazz buffs in Miami can hardly believe their ears. There's some music in this town. The Buddy Rich success at the Johnina last season was no fluke. He's back with a new group and on weekends you have trouble getting inside the door.



JOHNNIE RAY

. . . belting style

PEGGY LEE

. . . happiest record

The hip crowd is really falling by. After having it all to himself down on 23rd Street at the Grate, Teddy Goldstein and Joe Mooney are getting some competition from the Rocking MB on the other corner.

The honkers on the lunatic fringe of rock 'n roll have been tossed out by Bucky Gray. Dizzy Gillespie has been playing real jazz and there are bookings for Cozy Cole this week, followed by Earl Bostic.

Couple of concerts are on tap at Dade County Auditorium. Four Freshmen are due in next week and Dakota Staton is on deck. Her records leave me cold, but I'm curious to learn if her talent will come across footlights. The sponsor of the concerts is a brave soul. After that Ahmad Jamal horror, it will take some doing to convince Miamians to give up the price of a concert ticket.

★ ★ ★

JUST FOR THE RECORD, sample these next time you have a half hour to spend at the record store. RCA Victor finally came up with another album by Phineas Newborn Jr. It's immodestly called Fabulous Phineas (LPM-1873), but I like this piano player and his searching style. Producer by the name of Fred Reynolds was smart to hold the program to eight tunes, with fine balance between the ballad and the progressive.

An album called Reunion (Fantasy 3268) is Dave Brubeck together with David Van Kriedt of the Octet days. The sax man wrote and arranged the set to include Paul Desmond, one of the greatest alto men of them all. The Brubeck regulars, Norman Bates and Joe Morello, keep the rhythm steady.

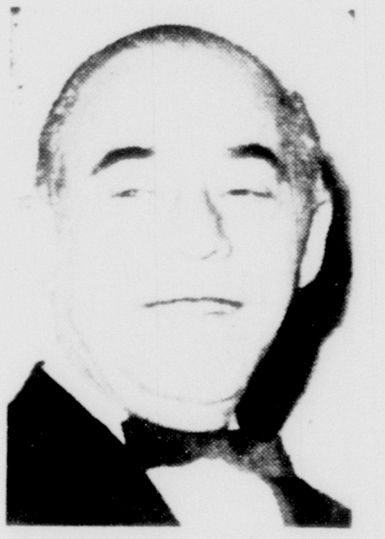
You've got to like Johnnie Ray (I do) to take a Columbia album called 'til Morning (CL-1225). It's in the belting style Ray has made famous from London to Sydney. What puts this in the jazz column is the backing from the Billy Taylor trio, plus Mundell Lowe on guitar. Edmund Thigpen is the drummer despite the album note credit for his bass playing. And it's Earl May standing at the big bass.

'Victory at Sea' Sails into Stereo and Scores Second Win

By L. J. Kramp

THE COLORFUL music of the famous "Victory at Sea" film series, which in 1952 began its seemingly inexhaustible career of repeat performances on television, has been a best selling record album for years. Now, in stereo, RCA Victor has brought out a Volume 2.

The musical description of the stirring World War II action is arranged and conducted by Robert Russell Bennett, from the score composed by Richard Rodgers. It is superb on the stereo disc, in a well annotated album. You probably never heard the music so well on your TV set, with its low-fi sound system.



RICHARD RODGERS

. . . scored victory

Sound fanciers also will be attracted to "Spain," an RCA Victor stereo disc by The Chicago Symphony under Fritz Reiner, with album notes by Vincent Sheehan, and selections from Albeniz and Falla.

Audio-Fidelity has issued fancy stereo disc albums, as well as unusually wide range sound and highly defined directionality. Most distinguished of the latest are "Al Melgard at the Chicago Stadium Pipe Organ," which will give the biggest and best speakers a real workout; and the "Pat/Moran Trio," a piano-bass-drums combo which produces some remarkable stereo in a subtle, sophisticated style of jazz.

★ ★ ★

TO SHOW OFF your new stereo phonograph, with laughs, you should try "Bob and Ray Throw A Stereo Spectacular," (RCA Victor), including songs by Julie Andrews, Lena Horne, Abbe Lane and the Belafonte Singers. Each of these are samples of full stereo dics newly issued by RCA Victor.

From Belafonte's group, singing whaling and frontier songs, you can switch the stereo to rousing "Drinking Songs Around the World," in several languages, by the Revelers (Urania), or another by the same title by the Blazers (ABC Paramount). The stereo sharply separates the tenor from the bass.

For amusing quartet oldies in stereo, there is "Crazy People," by Somethin' Smith and the Redheads (Epic).

For college and sentimental songs of the 20s, the old grad can tune his Christmas stereo set to "College Classics," by Bob Scobey's Frisco Jazz Band (RCA Victor). Or he can soak up stereo nostalgia in "Flames, Flappers and Flasks," a rollicking set by Joe Glover and his collegians.

Chorale singing in stereo is stunning, and for Sunday morning you can turn to "A Mighty Fortress," a collection of 13 Protestant hymns by the Robert Shaw Chorale (RCA Victor). Also in a religious vein is "Processional and Ceremonial Music," a splendid stereo version of 17th Century Catholic Church music, by the Choir and Orchestra of the Gabrieli Festival (Vanguard).

Here's Way to Dodge Taxes And Make Sound Investment

By Jack Bell

"HOW MUCH money are you going to leave behind when you die?"

The obvious and irrefutable answer is: "All of it."

When I ask Why is Mr. Millionaire Milton investing all that money on a hunk of barren island over yonder, I get a contemptuous answer: "Why, get hep, Stupid — tax dodge."

When I hear a guy who's so loaded he counts it by the bale say, "I gave up to my allotted 15 per cent; I can't give any more," I ask "Why"?

"Stupid," he replies. "Because I can't write it off."

So he's being generous to charity because if he isn't he'll have to give it to the government; which in turn (after wasting a lot of it in the process) gives it back to charitable ventures.

Gov. LeRoy Collins, at recent budget hearings in Tallahassee, asked a cancer fighter a hypothetical question: "If Russia and the U.S. were to agree to stop building for war and put that money in cancer research, how soon would be the scourge be wiped out?"

All of which brings us back to the fact that it's only money and we can't take it with us. We might as well put it to work helping our fellow Americans.

* * *

DR. MODE L. STONE made a tour of nearly every high school in Florida about eight years ago, speaking about college education as a foundation for career effort. In school after school the students he had impressed crowded around him. The basic question was: "How much does a college education cost?"

Dr. Stone, now dean of the School of Education at Florida State University, found

DR. MODE L. STONE
. . . FSU educator

these youngsters to be class leaders, brilliant students — and usually flat broke when they were graduated from high school. He went back to Tallahassee and began telling his story.

One evening a group met, headed by Velma J. Keen, vice president of the Florida State Bar Association and formed a corporation: the Southern Scholarship and Research Foundation. It's nonprofit, tax-exempt, providing housing and employment opportunities for exceptional but financially poor students. And I might add, for the benefit of the tax-conscious, it's "deductible."

* * *

THERE'S only one way to set up such a program: give money. For if you're going to offer housing you've got to buy it. You've got to guarantee tuition, books, lab fees — get the student started right. Then you've got to get him a job so he can pay for most of his expenses.

The foundation started business in a barracks in 1949 with eight male students. The next year a house was bought, accommodating 15 students. The program has expanded until this school year there are 36 men and 50 women getting the education they want more than anything. And eight of them are from Dade county, where we have a good university and could be doing the same thing for South Florida students.

Of course, this means cooperation between the school and the people ready to invest their money in the education of youngsters who want it, and have the ability to learn what leadership means. The foundation and FSU tell us a student paying all the way at Tallahassee needs at least $3,950 for four years. By using community housing (which really is dormitory style) and getting a few breaks offered by the school, a scholarship student will need about $2,000, most of which he can earn.

Southern Scholarship and Research Foundation invests about $1,500 in each four-year student. The guaranteed job and community housing are the chief money-savers. They're getting money from individuals, clubs, memorial gifts such as the Selby Foundation Scholarship House, by the William and Mary Selby Foundation."

There may be slight differences in costs at different Florida colleges and universities. But the same sound investment is possible anywhere. And there are 20 times the 86 at FSU who want to go to college, should go — but haven't the money.

So think it over. When you invest as a tax dodge, who's kiddin' whom? Your money isn't helping you or anybody else. When you give to charity up to that 15 per cent limit "and not another cent," what good is the remaining 85 per cent doing your fellow Americans or yourself?

IT'S EASY to see how this Mercedes-Benz got the name "Gullwing." It isn't so easy to buy, being up in $9,600 category, a price that does not include pretty model, Jill Brothers. If Jill were not almost completely under the wing you could see that she is wearing a Chinese red linen sheath with white piping.

EVEN IF YOU'RE DRIVING a smart little Austin-Healy Sprite you can't get by with parking that close to a fire plug. But if you look like Jane Shepherd, you might. And if you look like Jane and also wear a two-piece black and white knit swimsuit with matching top, you're bound to do o.k. The swimsuit was designed by Rudi Gernrich.

Photos by Bill Sanders

IT ISN'T ENOUGH just to have a foreign car these days. The thing is to wear clothes to match.

The two — cars and clothes — are paired in the International Foreign and Sports Car Show opening today at Dinner Key for a one-week exhibit.

Making the auto exhibit a sex-cylinder attraction will be daily fashion shows with Burdine's models showing costumes by foreign designers.

Two hundred cars representing 42 foreign manufacturers will be shown. Countries represented include Great Britain — whose motor imports to this country now rank first, ahead even of the previous leader, Scotch whisky — France, Germany; Italy, Czechoslovakia, Sweden and Japan.

Foreign car price tags are as varied as their national origins. Some will appeal to that largest group of import buyer, the economy-minded motorist who revels in a lot of mileage per gallon.

At the other extreme is the luxury buyer who is more attracted to a $15,000 limousine with a famous name.

In a class all to themselves are the true sports car and racing enthusiasts who covet a European racing model and don't cringe at a price tag that soars into the $20,000 bracket.

Two Japanese imports are listed in the show — the Datsun and the three-wheeled Daihatsu, the latter making its first American appearance with both passenger and commercial vehicles.

Latest trends in styling as evidenced by models in the show are to brighter colors, more interior room and greater use of safety glass. The U.S. craze for station wagons has crossed the sea apparently since British and French manufacturers are putting emphasis on them now..

Imported car dealers report that Miami is recognized as one of the leading markets for imported motorcars, second only to California. Locally owned imports comprise more than 20 per cent of 1958's new car registrations in Dade County.

NISSAN MOTORS of Yokohama is getting a foothold in the rich U.S. market with its neat little Datsun 1000. A very Oriental Jill Brothers matches the mood with a pure silk floral costume.

Need an Overhaul? Here's How to Tell

By John Bohannan

THE MODERN MARINE engine is a beautifully designed piece of machinery, and with reasonable care it will endure for years. But when the time comes for a major overhaul, the skipper will find this cheaper than buying a new power plant.

How can you tell when the time has arrived?

Increased oil consumption, blue smoke in the exhaust and a tendency to foul plugs are indications that the oil rings are not holding.

On the other hand, you may get falling tachometer readings with normal oil consumption, and unless the bottom is fouled this could be a hint that the expanding gases on the power stroke are blowing past the compression rings, even though the slotted and vented oil rings are still good.

Now what? Better pull into the dock at your favorite marina and have the mechanic check each cylinder with his compression gauge to compare the readings with the standards as listed by the manufacturer. If the blow-by is significant, you'll need an overhaul.

★ ★ ★

ONCE THE ENGINE is completely torn down, its exact condition can be determined. For example, cylinder walls have a tendency to wear to a taper, wide at the top. This will show up when checked with an inside micrometer or dial indicator. If the wear is not more than 10 thousandths of an inch on smaller engines or possibly up to 14 thousandths on a larger engine, you probably can get by with just a ring job.

If it's more than this, especially if cylinder walls are scored, they'll have to be bored for oversize pistons. Whether this can be done will depend on how much metal is left.

If scoring is deep, such as can happen when a wrist pin lock comes loose, the cylinder may have to be sleeved. This is a tricky job, and the outcome can be uncertain.

Connecting rod and main bearing surfaces on the crankshaft should be checked to see if they are still smooth and true. Crank journals have a tendency to wear egg-shaped, with more wear on top and bottom. These can be turned down, taking off 10 thousandths at a time until they are true, and new bushings installed. The same goes for the main bearings.

New wrist pins should be installed at the same time. If there is any play at all in them, it would show up with the added compression and power of an overhaul.

The usual job is valve grinding, and new rings, bearings and wrist pins.

Your motor will be stiff after an overhaul. Keep the r.p.m.'s down while you're breaking it in, and the battery well charged to take care of the extra starting load.

If You Chose Carefully, Let Seas Rock 'n Roll

WHEN SELECTING an outboard motor boat for use where the water gets choppy, you'll need a non-pounding dry hull, combining strength of construction with high stability. At the same time, it should be easily driven.

This may sound like a tall order, but there are a number of craft today meeting these requirements in fine fashion.

One of the best types is the familiar round-bilge lapstrake boat which evolved from the yacht tender and rowboat, grew bigger over the years with wider transoms to handle the torque of larger and larger outboard engines.

From the earlier rowing version, the lines also changed, maintaining the easy entrance, but flattening out aft to provide planing surfaces.

This hull has extremely soft action and can be driven a good speed into head seas without noticeable pounding. The fairly straight sheer rises on an angle with the waterline, providing high freeboard forward to help keep her dry.

I have seen boats of this design riding out severe squalls, both at anchor and throttled down.

★ ★ ★

ANOTHER VARIETY of hull apparently capable of taking quite a beating is a husky V-bottom craft with plenty of freeboard and a chine sweeping high forward to offer a fine entrance combined with a spray rail effect. The concave V at the bow levels the spray.

The V flattens out gradually aft, with the result that these boats approach the round-bilges in softness of action, providing they are kept reasonably level at planing speeds.

When the bow is allowed to rise too high through faulty outboard bracket adjustment, the bottom will present a flat aspect to oncoming seas and pounding will result. Adjust the bracket angle carefully when there's some chop running until best performance is obtained.

If the bow is too high, move the propeller closer to the transom; if she buries her nose, move the prop away from the stern.

When you go shopping for a boat to use in open water, it will pay to study the action of various designs and makes under adverse weather conditons. You'll find that the light, fast runabout with low freeboard — a stellar performer in protected waters — must throttle down to keep from shipping water when the going gets rugged, but the types mentioned earlier can keep moving.

Good News for the Cap Pistol Set

Roy Rogers Is Coming to Florida

By Mike Morgan

THE PHONE rang in our house early one evening and my seven-year-old unguided missile picked up the receiver.

"It's for you, Daddy," he said. "She said it was long distance."

"Go ahead, you answer for me. See who it is."

He asked who it was. Suddenly his face twisted into a pattern of incredulity. "Aw, you're just foolin' " he said into the mouthpiece.

Then he looked at me. "The man says it's Roy Rogers. Does he mean the Trigger horse Roy Rogers?" The question was weighted with incredulity.

"Ask him," I answered.

He did—and listened to a rather lengthy reply.

Apparently the boy recognized the voice because a huge grin busted his face wide open — and heaven shone from his eyes.

It was Roy who was calling me by prearranged plan to give some information for this story about his upcoming visit to the Florida State Fair in Tampa—and the possibility he may build a tourist attraction near the Miami area.

There is a tragic denouement to the incident.

Nobody, absolutely nobody, in my youngster's class, or any of his other playmates believes him, that he talked to Roy Rogers from his ranch in California.

★ ★ ★

I SUSPECT over the past years no other man has so captured the hearts and imaginations of youngsters around the world as has this Cincinnati-born personality whose first ambition was to be a dentist.

In this swiftly moving age of ephemeral reputations, when yesterday's headliner is today's "who is he?", Rogers and his equally fabulous wife, Dale Evans, continue to gain in stature. Continue to win the hearts of the little people.

And also the affections of adults.

Substantiating this is the fact that Roy and his wife (and not ignoring Trigger) continue to smash all kinds of attendance records wherever they go.

Rogers and Dale will bring their entire troupe of stars to the Florida State Fair in Tampa which runs Feb. 3 through Feb. 14. They'll also bring two of their youngsters.

And officials in Tampa anticipate a deluge of the cap pistol set (plus moms and pops) such as they have never seen before at a Florida State Fair attraction.

Even Trigger Has To Laugh At Questions Kids Ask Roy

NOT TOO LONG ago, Roy Rogers was subjected to cross-examination by a batch of youngsters, ages 6 through 12.

Here are some of the uninhibited questions tossed at the King of the Cowboys:

Q. Do cowboys mind taking a bath?

A. Certainly not. Cowboys like to take baths and get cleaned up after riding the range.

Q. Do cowboys ever rope their sisters?

A. No — it's too dangerous. They don't rope their sisters, brothers, aunts, uncles or playmates. And never their dad unless they warn him first.

Q. Do cowboys go to bed early?

A. They surely do. Sleepy cowboys can't ride the range sleeping on a horse.

Q. Do cowboys go to church or Sunday School?

A. I should say so! That's one reason why the good cowboys can catch the bad guys.

Q. Do cowboys ever wet the bed?

A. No siree!

show which includes Trigger, Trigger Jr., Sons of the Pioneers, and all the other stars who accompany him on his TV spectaculars and State Fair appearances.

ROGERS IS interested in coming to Florida for another reason, and he will probably visit Miami before leaving the state.

Incidentally, he said he has never been in Miami.

He is exploring the possibility of building a multi-million dollar "Frontier Town" between Miami and Orlando. A site has not been selected.

The cowboy hero envisions a complete tourist attraction which would authentically portray a town of the Old West.

Virtually everything in it would be the real thing.

He has available the finest collection of frontier times things ever assembled.

The collection includes 45 freight car loads ranging from old trains, stage coaches, authentic buildings, furniture, equipment sufficient to build a full scale town.

"I'd like to work out the plans to put all of this in a honest-to-gosh frontier town tourist attraction — maybe around Miami, but someplace in South Florida.

"Something where the kids can learn what it really was like in those days," he said.

* * *

This is a feeling which stems from genuine, deep-rooted convictions and sincerity.

The world knows about his adopted family of eight youngsters —three now married. One a Korean child, one a Choctaw child.

Tiny things in the life of the Rogers' which few know about illuminate the soul of this family with the intense light of compassion.

Admittedly, I am more than partisan when it comes to Roy and his wife. This is why:

Several years ago they flew to Tampa to award a safety prize to an elementary school. I covered the story.

They visited Tampa only for the day with every minute planned in a crowded schedule.

During lunch we talked about the many things they were doing for handicapped children.

I happened to mention a heartbreaking case of an 11-year-old girl who lay in a Tampa hospital dying of cancer.

This little girl didn't know, of course, of her plight.

I told them about the fact she never had a "kind-of-formal" dress —something she had wanted more than anything else—a yellow one.

Someone bought the dress and it delighted her.

But she would never get to wear it while alive.

Tears came to Dale's eyes. She turned to Roy. "We must go see that girl."

They did. They smashed that schedule to bits and went to the hospital — spent more than an hour with her in the hospital room.

Two weeks later the girl died and was buried in her yellow dress.

But her two weeks of remaining life were filled with the memory of that marvelous visit.

That incident made me a lifelong Roy Rogers-Dale Evans booster.

* * *

DURING the telephone interview I asked Roy if he ever watched TV Westerns other than his own.

"Sure do," he laughed. "I want to see what's going on. Watch about a whole evening of it once a week. Most of them are too brutal, those adult westerns. Otherwise they're like mine.

Oddly enough, as it is in all homes, Roy is no particular hero to his young children. They're proud of their famous pop, of course.

"But I don't impress them too much around the house. Dale and I can get someone else's kids to wash their hands and face quicker than we can get our own."

OUR FAMILY GROUP WAS IN FRONT OF THE CHRISTMAS TREE.. EVELLEN MADE FACES- MIRIAM WOULDN'T SIT UP STRAIGHT AND CARL SMIRKED AND ALMOST LOST HIS PANTS..
BUT LEFT MUMBLING

By Lawrence Thompson

WHEN WE VISITED my parents last summer, we noticed that they had pictures of many of their grandchildren scattered about the house in prominent positions, but none of our children.

Somewhat testily, I told my parents that I hadn't realized before that they favored their other grandchildren over the ones I had produced for them, but that their display of pictures made this very obvious.

"We have been asking you for pictures of your children ever since they were born," my mother said, glad I had brought the subject up. On hearing this old subject being revived, I wondered what had caused me to be so dumb.

"Our daughters send us plenty of pictures of their children," my father said. "Every time one of them has a birthday, we get a new picture. And family groups on Christmas."

"No matter how many times we ask, we never get any pictures from you," said my mother. "We had decided you were ashamed of your children. It was a relief to see them and discover that they are perfectly normal."

★ ★ ★

I QUICKLY changed the subject, since I had no valid defense. I have been very delinquent about taking pictures of my youngsters, and the pictures I have taken of them turned out so awful I wouldn't send them to anyone. I manage to get out of focus, or the kids move just as I click the shutter, or I find I've pointed the camera wrong and cut off their heads.

But ever since coming back from our visit, I've been determined to get a good family portrait.

Since he has children of his own, I guess Bob knew what he was letting himself in for, although I have a slight suspicion that our children may be sub-normal in deportment. I do know that when he finally made his escape, Bob was glassy eyed and mumbling to himself.

We decided to use the Christmas tree for background. For posing, Bob had my wife sit on the floor with the 4-year-old twins standing beside her, while I sat in the rocking chair holding the 3-year-old girl on one knee.

That sounded simple enough, but Miriam decided that if the others could stand up beside Mommy that she should do the same. I finally captured her and plumped her on a knee, but this resulted in a very unhappy expression on her face.

★ ★ ★

EVELLEN, the older girl, decided that posing was great fun and began to make faces. Carl decided that he would follow Bob's instructions about smiling, but he turned on an automatic, phoney grin that looked like it had been cut on a mask.

"Miriam!" I said. "Stop scowling and smile! Carl! Wipe that silly grin off your face and smile right! Evellen, put your tongue in your mouth!"

"Look at the camera, Evellen," said my wife. "Carl, pull your pants up. Lawrence, can't you get Miriam to sit up straight? Her head is almost behind your back."

"If you would take care of Carl and Evellen better," I said, "I might be able to take better care of Miriam. After all, I can't do everything myself."

"Please!" said Bob. "If the parents will just look at the camera and be quiet, I'll take care of the children."

"You see," I said to my wife.

"He said for you to be quiet," said my wife.

We both turned and smiled into the camera.

"Evellen, honey, would you mind taking your thumb out of your mouth?" Bob pleaded. "There's a girl. Mrs. Thompson, please don't look at her. Now, we're all ready if Miriam will turn her head this way. No, Larry, I didn't say you. If you hadn't moved when I took the picture — I got the back of your neck, I'm afraid. Now let's try again. Now, don't make faces like that, Evellen. Mrs. Thompson, please! Okay, everyone smile. Larry, you turned again! I'd better get some more film. That's only 12 I've tried so far. All right, now, everyone. Mrs. Thompson, please! Larry! Okay, let's try again—."

I hope our relatives appreciate those pictures when they get them.

LORETTA YOUNG STARS IN HER OWN SUNDAY NIGHT NBC SHOW

Hope's Moscow Show Repeated

In response to many requests, NBC is repeating Bob Hope's celebrated show from Moscow at 4 this afternoon on WCKT (Ch. 7).

The show was first aired on the network last April 5 and featured some of Russia's foremost entertainment figures and artists.

The film was made during Hope's trip to Russia last March as a cultural emissary of the U.S. State Department. Some film was obtained from the Russian government.

Among the highlights of the show are Hope's monologue delivered during a show in Spasso House, the American embassy; violinist David Oistrakh, prima ballerina Galina Ulanov; Oleg Popov, the clown; Arkadi Raikin, comedian; Uri Barov's animal act; the Ukraine States dancers and a group of Soviet movie stars.

Other features include a Moscow department fashion show and a visit to a Russian circus. There are also shots of Hope visiting Moscow streets.

WITH APOLOGIES to Uncle Remus writers, living and dead:

It was a fine moonlit Florida night. You all know the kind of night that is. That's the kind of night that induces one of those wildlife forums so controversial that it's nothing for verbatim reports to make the newspaper columns regularly.

Tonight another of these convocations is going strong. Above the background babble of crickets hiccuping and alligators belching can be heard the cracker accented voices of Mssrs. Wildcat, Possum and Skunk.

ANDERSON

The boys are feeling nice and mellow. Somewhere Mr. Possum latched on to a jug of fine Georgia shine. As it passes from one set of paws to another the conversation gets livelier and livelier. Whole hush puppies of wit are whizzing through the air.

★ ★ ★

NOW NORMALLY Mssrs. Wildat, Possum and Skunk thrash out local, national and international affairs. But tonight, feeling frivolous, they're talking about the frivolous. They're discussing television.

"Heavens to Betsy!" says Mr. Wildcat, twanging a whisker. "They're doin' the stoopidest things on television this season."

"Like what again?" murmurs Mr. Possum, munching on the remains of a Cornish Rock hen filched from a passing Borge show.

"Like not leaving a program on the TV screen long enough for a body to find it and start to like it," says Mr. Wildcat.

"It's plain to see you cats don't know nothin' about ratings," snorts Mr. Skunk as he spits a chunk of charcoal from the shine jug into the crick. "Television program are like them fryers you and Possie here are always on the make for. They ain't goin' to stay around waitin' 'til you develop an appetite for 'em."

★ ★ ★

MR. POSSUM lifts a chicken bone for attention. "I think the point this crazy kitten is tryin' to make friend, is that there was a feller named Ed Wynn on TV about a month ago. He had a fair to middlin' comedy show that everybody was startin' to cotton to. Then 'fore ya could say Steve Trumbull's-got-a-gun they sprung the trapdoor on poor ole Wynn and the friends he was beginning' to make.'

"My point, exactly, Possie," says Mr. Wildcat, toweling his kisser with the back of his paw. "Those ratings are makin' them so nervous they're not only not countin' their chickens before they hatch, they ain't even lettin' 'em hatch half the time."

Suddenly a scream rends the night air. Mr. Wildcat and Mr. Possum spiral into the air with fright. Then they realize the scream has come from Mr. Skunk who stands bolt upright, his peepers popping with excitement.

"Why you polecat!" says Mr. Wildcat furiously. "What do you think you're doin'?"

"Y'all know what we are?" asks Mr. Skunk.

"Animals, of course, goon boy," replies Mr. Possum.

"And what are we doin?" persists Mr. Skunk.

"We're talkin," answers Mr. Wildcat, "you craz---"

"Well, if we're animals and we're talkin," shouts Mr Skunk, "what are we sittin' around here for like a bunch of damfools. Let's get on the Ed Sullivan Show!"

Wynn and Berle Call Off Their 30-Year Feud

ONE OF THE LONGEST and quietest feuds in show business ended officially last Wednesday night when Ed Wynn guested on Milton Berle's NBC show. It's not only the first time these two comics have worked together. Until last fall they hadn't even spoken to each other for over 30 years.

Now that the two funnymen have buried the hatchet, neither of them cares to discuss in any detail how their cold war got started. It's probably just as well. That kind of discussion could set off another feud over what started the first one.

I certainly don't want to be the one to foul up the truce, yet I think a little daylight should be shed on the subject. If it does nothing else, this feud proves something which some of you may have been skeptical about — the fact that being funny is a very serious business.

ED WOULDN'T SPEAK TO MILTIE

. . . now all has been forgiven

During Berle's formative years as a comic he became a fan of Wynn's, observing him studiously.

"He stuck around me all the time," says Ed, "and the next thing I knew he was doing my act in night clubs. I had eight Russians I did an act with. Berle got the Ben Yost singers and did the same thing. He even tried to get some of the same acts I had employed."

This was a type of treason that Wynn couldn't countenance. In fact, he was damned mad. From that time on nobody who knew Wynn ever mentioned the name of Berle in his presence.

Producer Hal Kanter Finally Brought About Reconciliation of Comedy Pair

IN 1953 WYNN'S Beverly Hills home was robbed. The next day Berle saw Wynn's son, Keenan, on the street and shouted, "Tell your old man I didn't do it!"

Last September NBC hauled in all of its stars to do a special closed-circuit telecast heralding the new TV season. Wynn and Berle, who both had new shows starting, were waiting in the studio wings and both pretending the other one didn't exist.

Hal Kanter, producer of Berle's show this season, and who produced Wynn's first TV shows in 1951, felt saddened at the sight of these two great comedians ignoring each other. Like the arbitrator in a schoolyard fight, Hal got them to shake hands and forget.

A few weeks ago Wynn's situation comedy series was cancelled by the sponsor. The first person to call Wynn afterward and offer him a guest shot on his show was Berle.

Stick With Your Horse . . .

Gleason

THE QUICK decline and fall of the "new" Jackie Gleason this season gives the second-guessers enough pablum for pondering to last for a couple of years.

But for our life savings, the best analysis was delivered by the not-so-zany Ritz Brothers BEFORE the corpulent clown tossed in the crying towel.

"If you have a winner under you," said Harry, who has a penchant for bangtail banter, "stick with your horse. The homestretch is no place to experiment with transfers. Give the old nag his head and go to the whip."

As translated from the original Santa Anitan by Jimmy, that simply means:

"Nobody has a long enough lifetime in entertainment to build more than one basic comedy personality, although of course there's certainly room for changes of mood."

Or as the less voluble Al put it:

"You can't change yourself. You've gotta do what you know."

Audrey's Not Irked . . .

Totter

AUDREY TOTTER shrugs off rumbles that she and John Smith are irked over the emphasis on George Montgomery in the "Cimarron City" series, which was supposed to be a three-star epic.

The idea from the beginning was to focus 13 shows on each of them, she says, and it just happens that they started with George.

"Frankly I'm glad and very relieved," says Audrey, "because I had most of the summer off. So far I've done four of my big shows, and the rest come up starting n January.

"It was planned this way originally so we could each work a few months consecutively and then have long vacations."

Libby Easing Out? . . .

Liberace

LIBERACE HEADS for England shortly to press his long pending libel suit against The London Daily Mirror, and the sponsors of his ABC daytimer are something less than grief-stricken at the parting.

Matter of fact, Lib's ratings have been so mediocre that the trip may be just a polite way of easing out of the show.

Apparently the ladies just don't want old smiley coming to call when they have their hair up in curlers.

Janis Paige Set For Second Try At Video Series

BY LAW, EVERYONE is entitled to his own opinion, which is all very democratic unless the topic of conversation happens to be your future. Then it's like being brainwashed with a detergent of utter confusion.

JANIS PAIGE

. . . to be 'Maisie'

Janis Paige, for instance, is getting outfitted for her second TV series cruise as "Maisie," the brittle blonde made famous in flickers by Ann Sothern back when the only living room pictures hung motionless on the walls.

Having experienced the sinking feeling of having her first video vessel, "It's Always Jan," torpedoed after only 26 weeks on the channels three years ago, Janis admits to a certain understandable coolness of the pedal extremities anyway.

But if she tuned in on all the opinions being broadcast about "Maisie," her temperature would be doing the scale from frost to frenzy every five seconds.

"I've closed my ears to any more opinions," she said fervently, shutting her eyes tightly and wagging her head like the anchor man in a "hear no evil, speak no evil, see no evil" trio. "Constructive criticism, okay. But no more opinions.

"You know," she explained, lifting the flaps on her large, lustrous orbs again, "everything seems to be either black or white with this show. There's no in between. Everyone thinks it's either going to be a big hit, or a big flop.

What Bothers Janis Is That They're Always Comparing Her to Other Stars

"THE THING most of them come up with is that I'm going to be compared with Ann. Sure I am, and I say so what? If I did a Lucy-type show, I'd be compared with Lucy, and if I did a 'Father Knows Best' type of domestic comedy, I'd be compared with that.

"No matter what you do, you've got to be compared with SOMEBODY."

Janis, who has a more or less straight role in "Chez Rouge" for the Feb. 16 Desilu-Westinghouse Playhouse by way of preparation, added that if there's one thing to be scorned more than pre-production opinionating, it's post-production punditry, more commonly known as second-guessing. It's what's in between that counts.

"Anybody can be a second-guesser," she scoffed with the bitterness of experience. "If anyone has any really good ideas for a show, let him come up with them when it's going and they'll do some good.

She Loved Her Old Show and Fought To Keep Network From Dropping It

"WHEN OUR FIRST show was dropped," it sort of broke my heart. I loved it, and I talked —oh, how I talked —trying to save it. I knew our Saturday night time slot was wrong for a situation comedy like ours, but no one would listen to me.

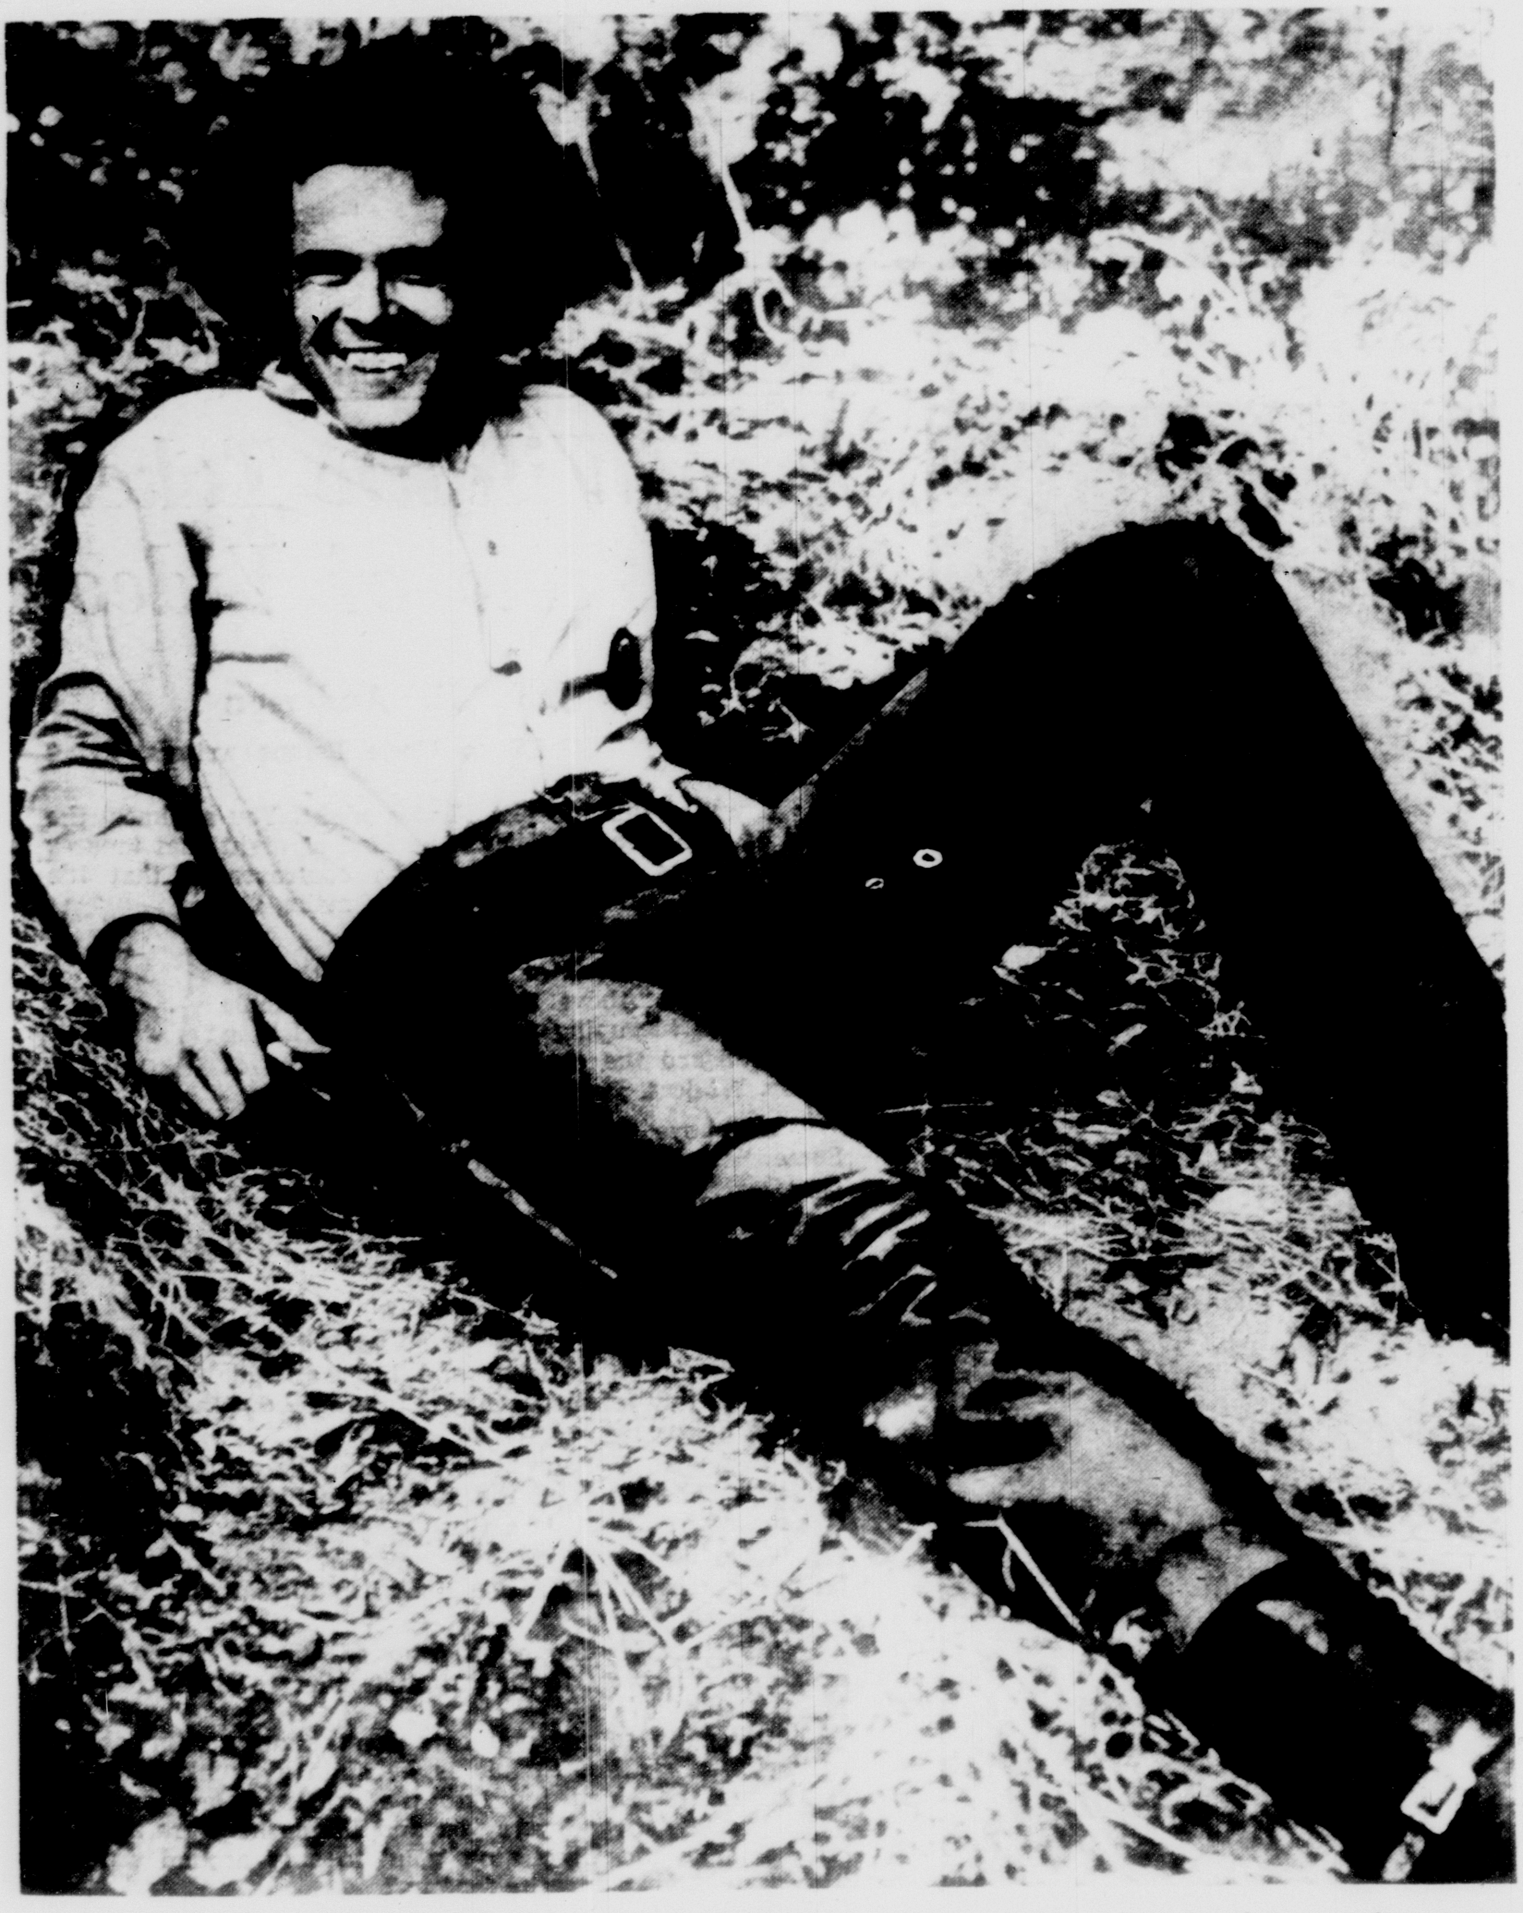
"So they took us off and put Jeannie Carson on, and she couldn't make it either. Now they know."

"Now I'm getting scared," she breathed. "I just may not do this thing all all."

Grandfather Knew Best

TV Star Robert Culp Putting to Good Use Lessons He Learned From Mom's Father During his Boyhood

By Ed Misurell



SIX-FOOTER STAR of CBS' Trackdown, Bob Culp, has found that much of the outdoor lore he learned from his beloved grandfather has been helpful in making his role as Hoby Gilman a believable one. Culp was a first-rate athlete during his college days.

Little boys usually have two consistently big heroes in their lives—Dad and Gramp. Because Dad is, among other things, the administrant of discipline, he never quite achieves the same position in Junior's heart that Gramp does.

The latter, mellowed by the years, is inclined to overlook most his grandson's cutting-up. To junior, he is all love, affection, and frequently, a spinner of wonderful tales.

Rugged Robert Culp will readily attest to this and more. Not only was his grandfather typical of most gramps when Bob was a little fellow, but he is the prototype of Hoby Gilman, the video character portrayed so stirringly these days by Culp in CBS-TV's teleseries Trackdown.

"My grandfather WAS Hoby Gilman," says Culp. "The character that I have developed for Hoby Gilman is based on the philosophy, ideals, and experiences of my mother's father, Joe Collins. Joseph Melbourne Collins was not a Texas Ranger as is Hoby Gilman, but grandpa grew up in the same western milieu.

"Many boys have idols," he continued, "but not every guy has the opportunity to reenact his idol's adventures. As a little boy I spent a great deal of time with my grandfather.

"I grew up idolizing him for his honesty, integrity and manliness. I listened eagerly to his stories of his days in Texas, California and the northwest in the era in which the Trackdown stories are set. All that my grandfather told me and taught me — how to hunt, fish, observe nature — I use now as Hoby Gilman."

According to Culp, his grandfather was born in 1870 in the Smoky Mountains of Tennessee and moved to Kansas with his family when he was eight. At 19, Joe Collins and a friend built a wagon, bought a mule and headed west.

Along the line he became a carpenter, bricklayer, buffalo hunter for a Texas railroad, professional trapper who helped to get rid of otter and beaver that were destroying crops in Idaho and a gold prospector in California and Oregon.

"He never gave up his search for gold," added Culp, "and was filing claims up until 1937."

A good number of the adventurous tales told to Bob by his grandfather have been utilized by Trackdown writers with some changes, naturally, to fit Hoby's role as a Texas Ranger.

In one episode, for example, Hoby is forced into a gun duel with a 16-year-old "thief," only to learn that the youngster was protecting the real culprit, his father.

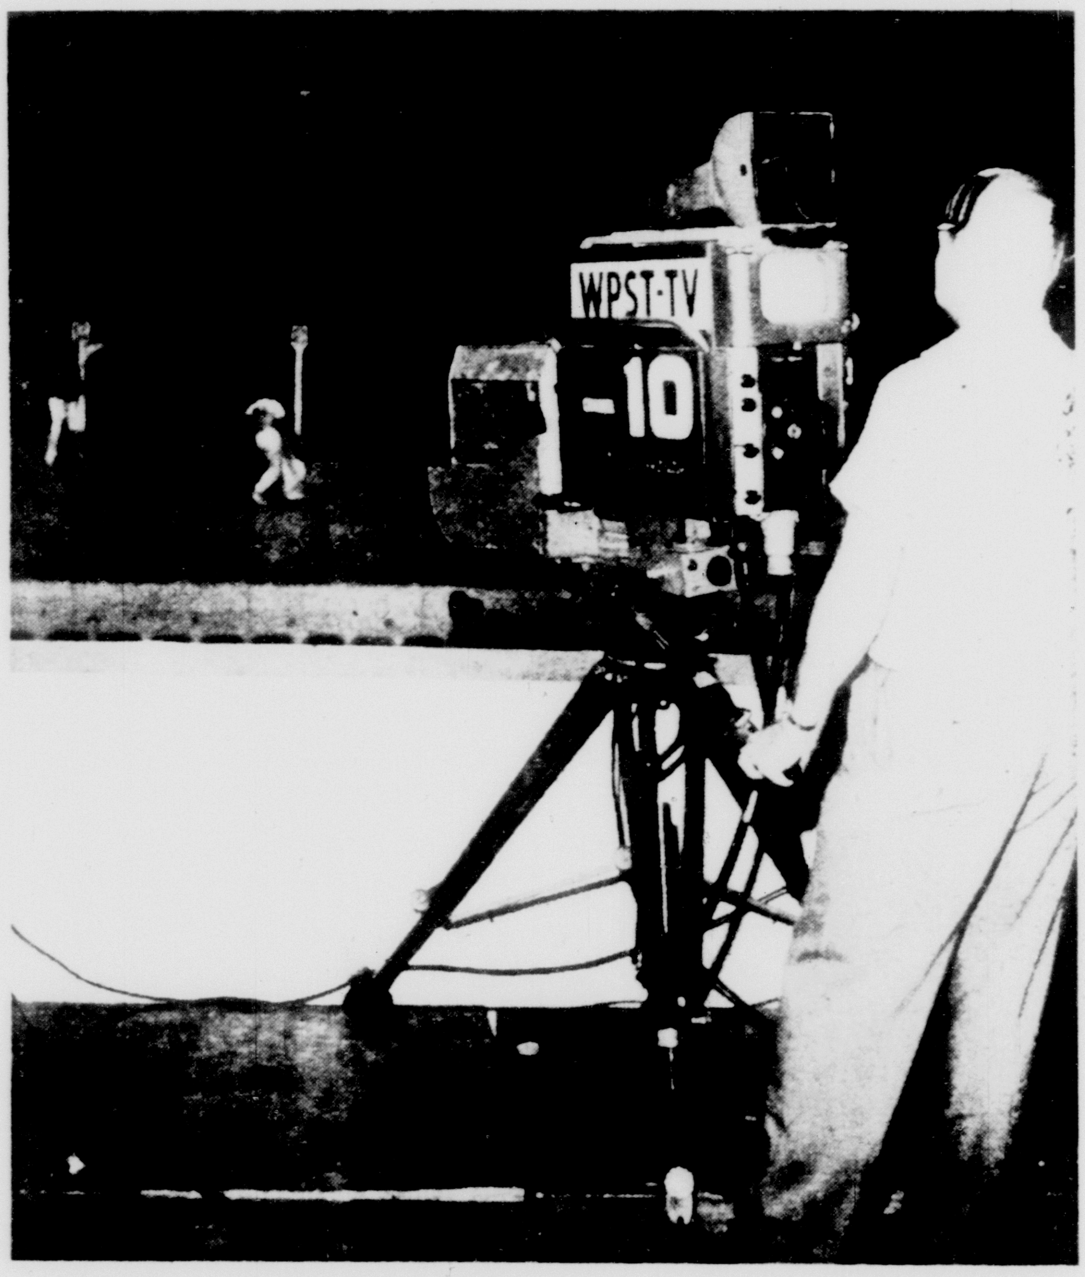
This story line is based on Joe Collins' account of how a father-and-son team of thieves terrorized a gold-prospector's camp for a long time.

"The most important facet of my grandfather's personality affecting my interpretation of Hoby," says Culp, "is his rural attitude toward people. My grandfather, who is now 91 and living in Berkeley, Calif., has a deep distrust of strangers. Nevertheless he gives them every opportunity to prove themselves. In particular, he distrusts the sophisticate or what he calls 'the city slicker.'

"Along this line, a script recently called for me, as Hoby, to turn my back on someone in a saloon. I couldn't play it that way because Joe Collins with his general distrust of people would never turn his back on anyone. So I talked the writers into changing the script."

Camera Eye on the Pelota

Miami's Jai-Alai Fronton and Channel 10 Solve Problem of TV Coverage of the Spanish Game, One of the Most Difficult Sports for Video



LONG RANGE CAMERA COVERS MID-COURT ACTION

TELEVISION, which long ago mastered the screening of such difficult sports as baseball, football and powerboat racing, has a problem with the thorniest of them all, jai alai.

Four weeks ago the Miami Jai Alai Fronton — eager to make new fans and totally unafraid of the supposed crowd-killing power of the electronic marvel — and Miami's Channel 10 collaborated on the problem.

The immediate case on hand was the fronton's plan to televise locally each Thursday a "partido" — or lengthy match game contest — between two outstanding doubles teams.

The problems were something more than manifold.

The jai alai court itself was 176 feet long and action continually covered the entire length of the playing surface.

The "pelota" or jai alai ball moved at speeds up to and exceeding 150 miles per hour.

Both front and back-court players handled the ball on innumerable occasions.

Channel 10 and the fronton huddled and came up with a totally unique three-camera system. One was placed at the front wall, slightly to the side and behind protective screening. A second went into the players bench area, protected by inch-thick shatterproof plastic.

A third — equipped with Zoomar lens — was situated on the mezzanine of the arena area.

The speed of the pelota — and the game itself — pretty much fooled everyone concerned the first time around. But, making excellent use of the Zoomar camera in covering the trick "rebote" — or rear wall, the Channel 10 crew had the problem in hand by the next week.

The technique still requires skillful handling of the three-camera setup, but jai alai, fastest game of them all, has apparently joined the lengthy list of games conquered by TV, and ingenuity.

Buddy Berenson, Fronton assistant general manager and one of the world's real authorities on the sport, sticks the whole production together with excellent narration.

SAFELY SCREENED, CAMERA COVERS FRONT COURT

THESE WERE HIS OWN DISCOVERY

The Trackdown star, 28, who is a lean six feet, two inches tall and weighs 180 pounds is well fitted for the rigorous role he portrays.

As a student at Berkeley High School and later at Stockton Junior College, Calif., he was a track and pole vault star. At 17, he was soaring over the 13-foot mark, topping the prep records in the state.

From Stockton, Bob went to the University of Washington where he majored in drama. He auditioned on a broadcast tape in a national contest aimed at unearthing promising college actors and won a trip to New York where he enrolled in the Uta Hagen-Herbert Berghof drama school.

Since actors, like everyone else, have to eat, Culp worked nights in a bank punching an IBM machine.

He was getting pretty discouraged with making the rounds of producers' offices, working nights and studying, when he landed a small part in "The Prescott Proposals," a Katharine Cornell play.

"That was my big break," recalls Bob. "It got me started in New York."

This opened the door to other parts in which he wound up as a co-star with such well known performers as Kim Stanley and Roddy McDowall.

He also appeared on such TV programs as U.S. Steel Hour, Alfred Hitchcock Presents, and Dick Powell's Zane Grey Theater.

This latter show, in which he co-starrred with Gary Merrill, served as the pilot film for the Trackdown series.

Bob, because of the training he had received from his grandfather, finds the role of Hoby Gilman a stimulating and natural one.

His expert horsemanship and handling of guns is apparent in every episode of the teleseries in which he is starred.

"Speaking of guns," says Bob, "Grandfather recently gave me his old .30-.30 and a .22 Winchester that he bought in 1898. I consider them among my most prized material possessions. But I value above these the lessons he taught me in being a decent human being. I like to think they are not only extended as far as my characterization of Hoby Gilman."

Learning to Laugh Struggle for Carole

CAROLE MATTHEWS

. . . she's changed

"Learning to laugh was the most painful thing that's ever happened to me."

This admission comes from Carole Matthews who is seen regularly on NBC-TV Network's "The Californians."

Carole, the product of a broken home, set out on her own when she was 17.

"I intended to become a nun or a schoolteacher but I became an actress instead after winning a beauty contest," the attractive, honey-blonde actress recalls.

Her very first role called for laughter, but strange as it may seem, Carole was incapable of it.

"I was a very quiet, solemn person and life just didn't seem amusing to me. I didn't see anything to laugh about. In fact, I had to take laughing lessons so I could do this role," Carole said.

Coaches Helped

SHE attributes her eventual change in outlook to two dramatic coaches, Nina Moise of Hollywood and Ella Gerber of New York.

"Learning how to laugh was the most painful exercise I'd ever done, physically and psychologically—it was like tearing flesh off my body," she said. "I knew how to call forth other emotions, such as sorrow, because everyone can think of something sad and bring forth tears. But I'd never known happiness and I couldn't think of anything funny or amusing."

Her reserve soon got her typed to play hard-boiled roles. She commented: "I used to say that producers just would 'Dial M (Mathews) for Murder' every time they wanted a female 'heavy'."

As a result, Carole usually portrayed tough gals with a kind heart underneath.

Not So Grim

WHILE HER screen and TV personality stayed pretty static, her own personality, on the other hand, underwent some significant changes.

"I discovered that life wasn't really as grim as I thought it was and that there was much that was wonderful and good," she explained. "I found out that laughter is really a very healthy and necessary thing and that the answer is to laugh WITH life, not AT life."

Once she accepted this, Carole discovered a new pleasure in living.

"It was like discovering a new facet to my personality," she continued. "It was like growing in a new direction. The wonderful thing about being a human being is that you can change your thinking and that, in turn, can change your life."

Prop Man's World Like Huge Store

It's like working in a department store, only you never ring up any sales.

That's how Claude Venon describes his job as supervisor of props at NBC-TV.

"We stock everything from an abacus to zebra hides," he explained, "not to mention carnival tents, lighting fixtures, foliage, park benches, soda fountains, circus posters, furniture, cars, and everything that might hang on a wall — from a moose head to a barometer."

Venon, a native New Yorker, is 34. He has headed the Prop Department since February, 1958, when he quit his job as cost analyst and budget supervisor at Owens-Corning Fiberglas.

"I had always been interested in design and furniture-making," he said. "The new job gave me a chance to combine my knowledge of business and my interest in furniture." He added, "Most of our props are furniture."

Ch. 2 Sets Historical Drama

The story of the growth of the United States will be chronicled in a new dramatic series, Inside America, to be launched at 8 Tuesday night on WTHS-TV (Ch. 2), Miami's educational station.

It's a nine-part series which is being presented by Channel 2 in cooperation with the Florida Power and Light Co.

The nine films were originally produced separate from each other by various American industries. They were coordinated into a single, continuous series by the American Economic Federation from whom the power company obtained their use for local viewing.

The films trace this country's economic, and political history from pioneer days to the present time, with emphasis on how a free economy has made the nation one of the most powerful history.

Timothy J. Sullivan, director of Community Development for the power company said each Monday night's film segment will be followed by a live segment in which representative citizens of the area will comment on and discuss the evening's drama.

When the series has run its nine-week course, Sullivan said, one or more of the films will be available to schools and organizations which may want to view them again for further study.

WHO'S HURTING WHOM? might be the question to ask here. Neither Donna Reed as mother nor Paul Peterson as son, Jeff, seem to be minding the spanking for one of Donna Reed's ABC shows at 9 Wednesday nights on Channel 10.

Even Akim In Sagebrush

Everybody's going western. Even Russian-born Akim Tamiroff donned levis and six-shooters for an appearance in Chuck Connors' new ABC series, The Rifleman, on Ch. 10.

Rust Was Navy Pilot

PAUL RUST
. . . he's news director

PAUL RUST, news director WQAM and who keeps the station's listeners on top of currents events daily from 7 a.m. to 1 p.m., has been obsessed with things electronic since childhood. His first tinkering with dials and tubes took place in Beverly, Mass., his native city. As the years went by his interest shifted from the technical to the broadcasting side of the business. After two years as a Navy pilot in the South Pacific, he attended the University of Miami, majoring in radio and television and getting practical experience on the side on the night shift of another Miami station. From 1954 to 1956, Rust free-lanced his services. Then when the Storz organization acquired WQAM he joined its staff permanently to build its outstanding local news coverage.

ARTIST'S SKETCH of acress Siobhan McKenna garbed for her role as Maggie Wylie in Sir James Barrie's comedy, "What Every Woman Knows," on CBS' Show of the Month at 9:30 Wednesday night on WTVJ (Ch. 4).

Barrie Play on Ch.4

Sir James Barrie's celebrated comedy, "What Every Woman Knows," will be presented as CBS' Show of the Month at 9:30 Wednesday night on WTVJ (Ch. 4).

Siobhan McKenna portrays the plain but clever Maggie Wylie in the play and James Donald has the role of her husband. Martita Hunt, John Williams, Cyril Cusack and Liam Redmon are others in the cast.

Barrie's play is the story of an ambitious young Scot who mistakenly believes he has made his mark in the world without the help of his wife.

THE LIFE OF composer Peter Tchaikovsky and the achievement of his great triumph in the "Sleeping Beauty" ballet will be told on ABC's Walt Disney Presents at 8 Friday night on WPST-TV (Ch. 10).

Tchaikovsky Story on Ch.10

A new wide-screen visual effect for television will be introduced by Walt Disney with the "Peter Tchaikovsky Story" at 8 tonight on WPST-TV (Ch. 10).

The ABC radio and TV networks are collaborating on a stereophonic sound presentation, too, but the necessary station book-up could not be arranged here. It will be ordinary sound.

The damara will tell the story of composer Tchaikovsky from his boyhood to his great artistic triumph with "Sleeping Beauty" ballet.

Batista: That Fidel's a Barbaric Dictator

First Interview

BEEBE

A stream of newspaper wire service reporters has been flowing into Ciudad Trujillo for three weeks, seeking the first full length interview with Fulgencio Batista since he was forced from the Cuban presidency by Fidel Castro's rebels.

He talked briefly to two reporters, refused admittance to all others.

Herald Managing Editor George Beebe finally cracked the barrier with a three-hour interview. His first stories appear today. Beebe, who has been in the Caribbean for a week, also has an up-to-the-minute report on Haiti's program from President Francois Duvalier.

CIUDAD TRUJILLO, Dominican Republic — Fulgencio Batista, Cuba's fallen dictator, broke his silence here Saturday to call current activities in Cuba the work of a "barbaric and sadistic" upstart—Fidel Castro.

Angered and bitter after reading news accounts of trials and executions masterminded by Castro, Batista leveled a blast at the new Cuban man of the hour.

"Castro said he wanted to be nothing in the new Cuban government. His only title is delegate of the president to the armed forces. What does this mean?

"He is not chief of the army, the navy and air force. He is neither prime minister nor president.

"Yet he dictates all policies, says who should be executed—but has no official position.

"Is this democracy? Or is it dictatorship and tyranny?"

Despite his bitterness over activities of the Castro regime, Batista wants the world to know he has no intention of organizing an invasion force to combat Castro.

"I gave up the presidency to avoid further killing of my people. I have no desire to build a force that could only mean more bloodshed and unhappiness to my country," he said from his Hotel Jaragua apartment where he has taken temporary asylum.

Batista said that if some of his followers have moved into Castro's old stronghold in the Sierra Maestra mountains, it is without his knowledge.

As you might well imagine, Batista thinks Castro is a bum.

He didn't exactly use that word in describing the young upstart who so rudely unseated him as his term was running out.

But he did pull out a collection of such unflattering words as "tyrant, sadist, murderer and liar" in condemning the tactics of Cuba's bearded hero of the hour.

He implied he could have used the word "ingrate."

"I saved Fidel Castro from death back in 1953 when he killed six soldiers during a July 26 uprising in Santiago. Now he is ordering the execution of the leaders of my government."

Batista said that Castro must be held responsible for "weakening of Cuba's economy through destruction of bridges and highways, the burning of sugar cane fields and mills and with driving tourists from the island."

How about the atrocities that are being charged against him—with published pictures to prove it?

Batista bristled. "I have seen some of these pictures and I think they are the work of Castro, and not my men. If they did take place, it was without my sanction.

"I gave the order to suppress the rebel activity. Both sides have played rough these last two years."

Obviously smarting under condemnation of the American press, Batista was quick to pull out what he termed a

Cuban People Laugh Again

Where does Castro go from here? 1H

Herald Staff Writer James Buchanan, who lived with the rebels during Cuba's rugged mountain campaign, returned to Havana to cover their victory celebration and war crimes trials. He found a new and different city. This is his portrait of Havana today.

Herald Staff Writer

BUCHANAN

HAVANA — Cuba's face has been lifted.

She looks and acts like a young girl today, and not the haggard, fearful thing of less than a month ago.

Change is apparent everywhere in the island and in every walk of life. There's happiness, and gaiety and most of all — hope.

"I walk looking up," a shopkeeper says. "The sun is on my face, not here," and he pats the back of his neck.

The rejuvenation lies in the revolution.

How long will it last?

The young rebel government says, "Forever."

The seasoned businessman shrugs his shoulders and answers, "Who knows?"

But like the others, the businessmen of Cuba have hope.

Ask an insurance company executive whether he believes the Urrutia administration's pledge of "clean and honest government" and he'll say:

"We'll have to see if they keep their promises any more than the others. Human nature, you understand? Maybe Cuban human nature.

"For awhile, maybe three, maybe five years, I believe things will be good. Then will come the test of goodness and honesty when the officials are solidly in."

Right now Cuba is vibrant and excited and most important it is speaking.

On every street corner, in every cantina, at every coffee counter, Cubans are telling each other what they think the government should do.

For years they have been afraid to say more than "Good Morning" to even a fellow Cuban. And to voice a complaint against the government, the army or the national police could result in imprisonment.

Today, it takes more than a word to bring about "instant

Castro To Push 2 Trials

HAVANA — (AP) — Havana's revolutionary tribunal, with thousands of Cubans looking on, is going ahead with plans to resume action in the city's big Sports Stadium Monday despite worldwide criticism of the carnival-like proceedings.

The tribunal will then call to trial Capt. Pedro Morejon on charges of assassination, homicide and robbery.

A five-man appeal court was expected to rule soon on the death sentence of Maj. Jesus Sosa Blanco, the first man to be tried in the arena.

One Havana newspaper said Sosa Blanco's execution by firing squad was expected momentarily.

After Morejon, Lt. Col. Ricardo Luis Grao is to face the court, but his trial is expected to be the last in public in Havana. About 1,000 other prisoners accused of war crimes by the revolutionary regime are expected to go before tribunals in La Cabana fortress or elsewhere.

Reports persisted that Fidel Castro, the revolutionary army chieftain who is now in Caracas to celebrate the anniversary of the overthrow of the Venezuelan dictatorship of Marcos Perez Jimenez, had suggested that radio and television broadcasts of the trials be banned henceforth.

However, the commandant at La Cabana, where the accused are held, said he had not received any such instruction.

Roof Collapses; 3 Killed, 8 Hurt

HUNTSVILLE, Ont. — (AP) — Three persons—a married couple and a 13-year-old boy—were killed Saturday when the roof of a curling rink at nearby Britannia Lodge collapsed. Eight other persons were injured.

Eleven persons were is the building about noon when the roof caved in under the weight of snow and a heavy wind.

Authorities identified the dead as Mr. and Mrs. Eric Chudleigh of Dixie, near Toronto, and John Canfield of Woodstock, Ont.

Flood Misery Mounts

Damage Tops $100 Million

COLUMBUS, Ohio — (AP) — Fires and biting cold aggravated the woes of thousands of residents of flood-stricken communities Saturday.

Flood losses mounted beyond the 100-million-dollar mark. More than 11,000 were homeless and hundreds of others shivered in unheated houses.

Ohio bore the heaviest burden and was placed in a state of emergency. Gov. Michael DiSalle estimated damage in the state at 83 million dollars or more and figured the death toll may reach 25 or 30.

Ohio had 14 known dead. Other flood deaths included Indiana three, New York five and Pennsylvania one. The total stood at 23.

Fire destroyed three businesses and damaged four others in the heart of Zanesville's commercial district. Flames damaged a heating plant and gymnasium at Wilmington College.

Firemen stood by helplessly while flames raced through a warehouse in flooded Meadville, Pa. Hydrants were frozen and under water.

More than 2,000 persons homeless in Meadville. Two huge ice gorges in French Creek backed up water over 10 per cent of the city of 25,000 population.

The Scioto River began to recede slowly in Chillicothe, Ohio. Icy waters broke over a sandbag embankment Friday and forced about 8,000 residents out of their houses.

Three hundred families were ready to abandon their dwellings in Marietta if an overflow occurs.

Pomeroy, downstream from Marietta, expects the flood crest about noon today. Some business people already were moving out.

Other U.S. Leaders Drop

Herald Gain in Ads Is Gain for You, Too

The Miami Herald is the only newspaper among America's top 10 in total advertising that showed a gain in 1958, Media Records reported Saturday.

For the second straight year The Herald is in second place.

While some of the national leaders were recording losses exceeding four million lines, The Herald gained 574,903 lines of advertising.

Such progress means a better paper for readers.

In addition to giving you a wider shopping choice, more advertising makes possible more news space to keep you abreast of what's going on in this busy world.

The continued growth in advertising and circulation of The Herald reflects the exciting expansion all along Florida's famed Gold Coast. More than 70,000 families are moving into this area each year.

Calls Again for Berlin Talks

Americans Are Ripe For Peace—Mikoyan

40 Planes Stacked Up In Overcast

By CHARLES TAYLOR
Herald Staff Writer

Thick overcast clogged Miami's skies and delayed incoming airliners for the second day in a row Saturday.

More than 40 airplanes were circling at once in "hold" areas around the city during the rush hours late Saturday afternoon.

Some planes had to wait up to an hour for landing instructions, the control tower at the airport reported. There was no delay in outgoing planes.

But the Miami Weather Bureau said a break in the cloudy, drizzly weather should come Sunday afternoon.

Forecaster Gil Clark said gray skies should start breaking up when stiff northeast winds that roughed up fishing waters Saturday shift to the east and southeast.

But he said the change to sunny weather will be "gradual."

Brightest spot in the weather outlook was that no more cold is in sight, Clark said. Temperatures in the mid-70s were predicted for South Florida Sunday. Sunday night should be warm, too, the Weather Bureau added.

At Miami International Airport, landing delays were not as long as delays Friday, when planes waited up to two and a half hours to be guided through leaden skies by instruments to the landing strip.

An airplane was circling at every 1,000 feet above the 6,000-foot level at some 10 or 12 "holding" areas around Miami.

No planes were diverted to other airports, however. During Friday's long wait to land, several planes ran low on fuel and had to land at Tampa, West Palm Beach or Nassau.

"Sleeping Beauty," Walt Disney's biggest, richest film, will open here Feb. 10 in a Lend-a-Hand premier that will be a fairy tale come true for 600 underprivileged kids.

Proceeds of the Hollywood-style opening of the $6,000,000 full-length cartoon feature will go toward sending 600 Dade boys and girls to The Herald's Lend-a-Hand summer camp.

Twenty years in the planning, six years in the making, "Sleeping Beauty" will have an exclusive unlimited engagement at Miami Beach's Sheridan Theater.

'Murdered' Man's on Way Home to Family in Miami

By MIKE MORGAN
Herald Staff Writer

A 32-year-old Miamian, for the last three months believed murdered, was on his way home to his overjoyed family late Saturday.

James E. Harrison, allegedly an amnesia victim, said he recovered his memory while walking the streets of Phoenix, Ariz., Friday night, unaware police were looking for his body in Jacksonville.

He said he was unaware what had happened to him since Oct. 7. He thought it was Oct. 8, 1958 when he found himself in Phoenix, his wife said Saturday.

Harrison's wife and two children are staying with her mother-in-law, Mrs. Norman J. Weaver of 283 NW 53rd St.

The Harrisons own a home here at 1022 SW 34th St. But the slender, attractive Mrs. Harrison had sold the furniture and rented the house.

Until a week ago his wife, Jeanne, still hoped her husband still lived. But she became convinced of his death when a convict "confessed" to murdering him in Jacksonville just a week ago.

The convict, Roy V. Olson, recited details which brought her to the reluctant conclusion her husband was murdered by the hitchiker-robber.

Olson, serving a murder sentence at Vacavilla, Calif., typed out a confession that he and James E. Leach, 21, hitchhiked a ride with Harrison the day Harrison disappeared from Titusville.

Harrison had moved there from Miami and established a window manufacturing company for Cocoa.

Olson said he robbed Harrison of $500 and stabbed him to death.

Olson also implicated Leach, who was arrested Saturday by the FBI in Knoxville. Leach denied he ever killed anyone but told Duval County officers he could show them where a body is buried.

Harrison said he stopped his car for a traffic light in Cocoa Beach and a man entered and forced him to drive to Jacksonville.

The last thing he remembered, he said, was the man telling him to pull into a parking lot at Jacksonville. He was slugged — next thing he remembered was walking the streets of Phoenix.

Now authorities are wondering if someone else first robbed and slugged Harrison — someone who was carrying Harrison's identification papers and later was murdered by Olson.

The bizarre puzzle has police in several states working to solve it.

Saturday Mrs. Harrison told The Herald she had hoped and prayed her husband was alive.

But she virtually abandoned hope when told about the murder "confession" a week ago—a confession bolstered with apparently irrefutable details.

Her family, she said, was

No. 2 Red Reports At Home

MOSCOW —(UPI)— Soviet Deputy Premier Anastas I. Mikoyan, reporting that he found the American people ripe for a cold war settlement, Saturday called again for East-West talks to head off a Berlin impasse May 30.

The Armenian-born Russian trade chief repeated previous Soviet statements that the Kremlin might suspend its May 30 deadline for turning over its occupation powers in Berlin to the East Germans provided the U.S., Britian and France agreed to negotiate the Berlin question before that time.

"The main thing is not the deadline but to have talks," he said.

He discussed his 17-day, coast-to-coast American tour at a news conference in which he touched on a wide range of topics. He said he found anti-Russian "prejudice" in the U.S. but also an increasing American conviction — not shared by Washington — that the time had come to end the cold war.

The mustached Mikoyan said he was impressed by the "cordial" reception accorded him by President Eisenhower and other officials as well as by such capitalists as Henry Ford and ordinary American citizens.

He said any top American leaders who wanted to visit Russia would receive an equally warm welcome. But he did not say whether any planned to come.

His "general impression" of Americans, he said, was this:

"There is a growing conviction that despite the evidence of the cold war and the existence of many prejudices in the U.S.A. against the U.S.S.R. and its attitude, the atmosphere generally is now favorable for steps toward peace."

He pointed out that in his meetings with American "capitalists" the businessmen had shown great interest in prospects of closer economic ties with Russia.

They "frankly stated that we must normalize our relations," said the Communist leader who dined on Wall Street.

He reported that his meeting with American labor leaders, unlike those with businessmen, was "sharp to the end."

He and Walter Reuther tangled verbally over Berlin and Hungary, he said.

"Reuther thought he crushed me, but I gave him back plenty," Mikoyan said through his interpreter, Oleg Troyanovsky.

"But the talks ended in a friendly manner and he (Reuther) said that the talks were considered useful."

Russia Blocks Agreement On A-Tests, U.S. Charges

Inspection Veto Called Obstacle

WASHINGTON —(AP)— The U.S. accused Russia Saturday of blocking an East-West agreement to end nuclear weapons tests by demanding a veto over any inspection system.

At the same time, the State Department vigorously denied Russia's claim that the U.S. is seeking an excuse to torpedo negotiations now under way in Geneva for a test ban.

"This is not so," the State Department said. "The fact that the Soviet Union has chosen this moment, when the negotiations are under way at Geneva on central issues of effective controls, to make such unfounded charges, raises questions as to their (Soviet) intentions."

American negotiators, the department said, will persevere in their efforts to write a satisfactory agreement for halting all further nuclear weapons explosions.

"Success in the negotiations in Geneva is squarely up to the Soviet Union," the department added. "If the Soviet Union is willing to agree to a control organization and can operate effectively it will be possible to achieve agreement on the cessation of nuclear testing."

The department said these three major issues remain in the way of East-West agreements:

1. — Will the Soviet Union be able to veto and obstruct every action of the control commission as it now demands, or will it be possible for the control organization to act without this obstacle?

The U.S. believes that any control system which could be frustrated in its day-to-day operations by the veto power in the hands of a single party would be worse than useless.

2 — Will the control post be manned by an international staff? Or as the Soviets demands, will it be manned by nationals of the government on whose territory the control posts are located, with only one or two outside "observers?"

The Soviet position would amount to self-inspection and as such cannot be the basis for an agreement in which all parties can have confidence, the department said.

3—Will international inspection groups be organized and ready to move quickly to the site of an event which could be suspected of being an explosion? Or will sending of such a group be subject to weeks of debate and a veto?

The Soviet approach would entangle this key provision in miles of red tape, the department said.

Exile Rankles Embittered Batista; Tempers Flare Easily in Hotel Haven

By GEORGE BEEBE
Herald Managing Editor

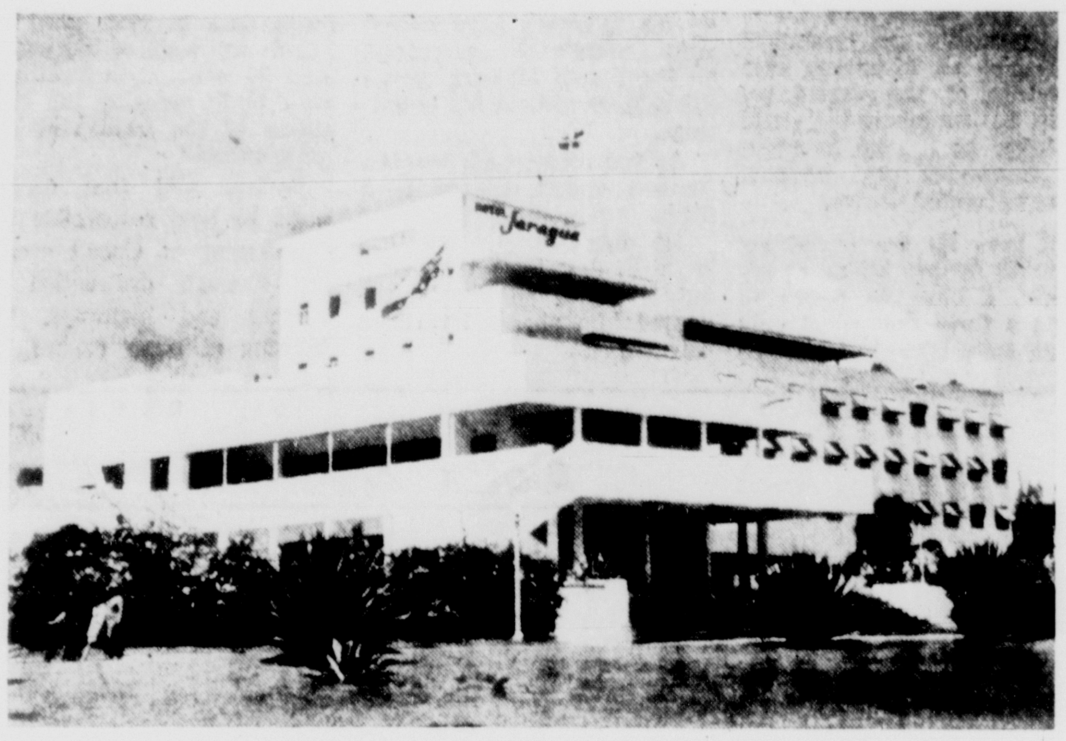
Miami Herald Publishing Co.

CIUDAD TRUJILLO, Dominican Republic — Fulgencio Batista in exile is restless and embittered. He has not taken defeat easily.



Deposed Dictator Fulgencio Batista Lives Here
. . . finds haven in the plush Hotel Jaragua at Ciudad Trujillo

He is a rich man financially, but his satisfaction has come from political power rather than monetary gains.

Now he gropes for a new and active life that will consume the burning energy that made him Cuba's Strong Man for more than 20 years.

On the surface, Batista is his same charming and confident self. I've interviewed the former Cuban leader five times in the 10 years I have known him.

He is unchanged in appearance and manners. A dynamic personality still rides his hard-set frame.

For reasons of health, Batista and the more than 50 Cuban leaders who fled with him New Year's eve, rarely leave the Hotel Jaragua's third floor — which has become exile headquarters.

It is obvious they are getting on each other's nerves. The weather is hot. Tempers flare easily. Their bungling of the recent crisis still bothers them.

Focal point of a government in exile is Batista's Suite B, an unexciting apartment whose one redeeming feature is a balcony with a veiw of the Atlantic a block away.

Batista is not the type of man who can accept confinement, so he keeps a schedule much the same as in Havana's Presidential Palace — from noon until 3 or 4 a.m.

Two secretaries bustle about arranging conferences. His Cuban companions beat a steady path to his door.

Batista long has been a canasta enthusiast. A card table, with a cover specially designed for the game, holds a prominent spot in the living room.

This provides one of his few diversions. He has taken several rides about Cuidad Trujillo and occasionally walks in the far reaches of the hotel grounds — away from eyes of the other guests.

The Hotel Jaragua has taken a back seat to the new El Embajador, but it still ranks as one of the finer resort hotels in the Caribbean.

It is a rambling, four-story affair with its choicest rooms looking over a swimming pool, a spacious lawn and across a malecon drive to the pounding surf of the Atlantic against a rocky seawall.

Day or night, there is no evidence on the grounds or in the lobby, dining room or gambling casino, that the hotel is now headquarters for the man Fidel Castro has placed as No. 1 on his obit parade.

The arrival of the Batista party on New Year's eve, came as a complete surprise to the city. There were 47 on the plane. Other political refugees have arrived here since.

Dominicans generally would like to see them go, as they would Juan Peron of Argentina, also. They don't like the unfavorable publicity which the asylum of two dictators brings.

Not unhappy are the operators of the Jaragua and the Paz (Peron's headquarters). The tourist business has not been good and the exiles are making up for it.

Although the Cubans are restless, none have applied for visas to go elsewhere. They arrived heavily laden with Cuban pesos, which don't give them much long-range security.

I asked Batista what his hurried departure caused him to leave behind that he cherished most.

He squinted his black eyes a moment in thought and replied: "My country and my people, of course. My friends, my home and my library."

His library is heavy with books about Abraham Lincoln, the man Batista most admires in history.

One incident Batista related may have a bearing on his plans for the future.

His son had come from school and asked: "Father, are you an old man? Some of the boys said you were."

Batista laughed heartily at the remark, but through the broad smile I could detect a note of awareness that perhaps time is running out on the only life he ever has known — dominance of his people and the fight to attain that dominance. He is 59.

Former Dictator Breaks Silence, Calls Castro Barbaric, Sadistic

"typical example of Castro terrorism."

He said that high ranking aides had reported to him how Castro's men took a father of four children near Bayamo and ordered him to sabotage communication lines by cutting down utility poles.

When asked by police why he did it, the man said he had to. A neighbor had refused to cut the poles and was hanged. He didn't want same fate," Batista explained.

The heavy-set, dark-browed ex-president said he has waited until the Castro government took shape before commenting on Cuba's future. He thinks it looks extremely dark.

"The new government just doesn't make sense," Batista says.

"For instance, Castro said his main mission in life was to free Cuba of the Batista regime. But now he has placed himself in a unique superstructure over President Manuel Urrutia.

"I was called a dictator by many, yet within the government I maintained the three constitutional divisions — executive, legislative and judicial. They all functioned independently. Evidently Fidel Castro doesn't like this form of government."

Batista, who reads every newspaper he can get his hands on, is obviously shaken by stories of the war crime trials of some of his trusted aides who failed to get the signal New Year's Eve that the leading men were leaving the act.

"When I was president, the courts were composed of judges named for the most part by previous presidents, and we respected their decisions," said the onetime dictator.

"Now Castro destroys the powers provided by the constitution and has appointed men not qualified for judgeships to conduct trials throughout the island and pronounce death sentences."

He had read that the Havana "Sports City" Coliseum — which he helped construct — was being used for several major war crime trials.

"This takes us back to the days of the Roman circus," said Batista defiantly, "when men were fed to the beasts with approval of the crowd.

"How can a judge give a fair trial with 30,000 people screaming to hang the defendants? This is indeed a primitive approach Castro has introduced."

Batista seemed fully aware that should he ever be forced to return to Cuba, something larger than the sports arena would be needed for his trial.

NEXT: Batista's last hours in Cuba and his plans for the future.

Laughter Is Heard In Cuba

convictions." No man fears he'll be pointed out as an informer or "chivato" merely through the spite of a neighbor.

The new government and new Army is demanding proof to go with the accusations.

Never before were more than two people ever permitted to stop and talk together on the streets.

The new freedoms are most evident in Old Havana, and especially on The Prado which stretches its tree-lined magnificence from Central Park to the sea.

There, where this reporter once could count no more than six people hurrying along the marble walks at night, now there are hundreds promenading until all hours of the morning.

Arm-in-arm with their girls, young men walk and stop and talk and you hear laughter that only a month ago was like a foreign language here.

Is prosperity, or at least decent living, to come from the new government to a country that is financially flat on its back?

Most businessmen say "It must, we have no other direction to go!"

Big businessmen look for an influx of new capital brought on by a stabilized government. "At least," they say, "we aren't going to have talk of revolution and a change of government all the time"

Little businessmen look for the tourists and the money that will help them pay their long overdue bills as it seeps down through the economy.

And tourists, when they begin coming again, will find a different, happier atmosphere than they have seen in the country before.

A coffee vendor offers you a tiny paper cup of cafe solo in a small park near the Capitol and you ask him, "How are things for you these days?"

And he sets the thermos on a bench to pound his chest with both hands and say, "I am free!"

Cuba's face has been lifted. It shines bright with hope.

Odds High, But Pot Is Higher

By SUNNY FORTUNE
Herald Puzzle Editor

Nine people came close, but nobody won last week's Sunny Fortune Puzzle, so there's a $400 pot awaiting some lucky reader.

SUNNY

He'll have to be darned lucky too, according to Puzzle Fan Norman Drysdale, who writes from Marathon:

"As I see it, the game has ceased to be one of skill and is now a lottery with the odds of picking by blind chance the correct combination more than a million to one."

The odds are high, but not that high, Mr. Drysdale. If you figure a 50-50 chance on each of 16 letters, the odds of any one entry winning work out to 65,536 to one.

With the number of entries running around 37,000 for each contest, you can see why a winner can't be expected every time. But that's what makes a puzzle puzzling and keeps the pots building up.

Other fans writing in last week agree that there was more skill involved in the old style puzzles. Phyllis Pinard of San Juan, Puerto Rico, puts it pretty well:

"Let's please go back to the old style," she writes. "It was so much more interesting to lose that way."

Old style, new style, let's turn to 8-B and take a whack at this week's $400.

even readying arrangements for a funeral service.

But at 1:50 a.m. Saturday the shrill ringing of the telephone got Mrs. Weaver, her mother-in-law, out of bed.

It was the Phoenix police.

"They said they had tried to get my daughter-in-law in Titusville," said Mrs. Weaver. "They learned she had moved back to Miami.

"Then they told me James was alive and had amnesia.

"I didn't believe it at first."

When Mrs. Harrison talked to the police she didn't believe it either. "See if there's a scar on his back," she asked.

There was—just where she said.

She talked to her husband—but he was in half shock and incoherent.

"It was hard for him to believe it wasn't Oct. 8," she said. "About all he could say when he vaguely realized what happened was, 'Oh mama—mama, we've missed Christmas.'

"He couldn't understand why I wasn't in Titusville—and asked just a little about the youngsters.

"I couldn't believe he was living.

"It's a miracle—just a miracle; that's what I keep telling everyone. I can't imagine what brought him out of it. It's just God's way . . ."

Eight-year-old Jamey Harrison sat next to his mother. His eyes shone and he said excitedly: "It will be just like Christmas when Daddy gets home. The biggest Christmas present I ever got."

And seven-year-old son, Mike, seriously added:

"My daddy had magnesia . . . I'll sure be glad to see him."

Suspects Arrested

Metro Sheriff Tom Kelly's vice raiders snapped up three bookie suspects in two morning forays Saturday.

Arrested at Stop and Shop Curb Market, 31 NW 36th St., were Eddie Davidson, 61, of 136 NW 32nd Ave., and Hugh Slaton, 42, of 2350 Okeechobee Rd.

The third suspect, Casey Paul Allen, 49, of 252 NE 32nd St., was picked up in a parking lot at NW Second Ave., and 59th St.

Davidson was charged with bookmaking and conspiracy to violate gambling laws and held in lieu of $3,000 bond. Slaton was released on $3,500 bond, charged with bookmaking, conspiracy and possession of lottery tickets.

Statistics

MIAMI READINGS AT 5 P.M. SATURDAY — Sky, cloudy; air temperature 70 degrees; wind from the northeast at 17 m.p.h.; barometer 30.24 inches and relative humidity 80 per cent.

National Summary

Disturbances moving across the northern states coupled with a continuing flow of very cold air from Canada led to snowfall in Montana and from Minnesota into New York and Pennsylvania Saturday afternoon.

Temperatures ranged from zero to a bit below at mid-day along the northern border of the Plains states and were in the teens or lower through the lakes region into New England. Miles City, Mont., registered a three inch increase in snow cover during the morning while four of the seven inches on the ground at Green Bay, Wis. collected during the forenoon.

Elsewhere east of the continental divide a substantial warming trend pushed temperatures to the 40's in SW South Dakota compared to readings in the teens in the northeast corner of the state and 40's reached from the mid Mississippi and Ohio Valleys into Virginia and Maryland by mid-day.

High pressure preserved a predominantly sunny pattern except for some cloudiness and occasional rain in south Florida and Texas, however considerable cloudiness will accompany a slow rise in temperatures across the Gulf States through the balance of the weekend.

'Potamophilous' Trumbull Loves His Rivers

By STEVE TRUMBULL
Herald Staff Writer

STUART—Ernie Lyons, editor here and high on my list of favorite fishing companions, called me an old philopotomous.

Then, before I could recover from being smacked with a two dollar word like that, he also said I was potamophilous.

We were both cold sober at the time. No harsh words had been exchanged, and I've always said nice things about Ernie. So I didn't take offense. Instead I went to the dictionary—despite the insistence of some that I never cracked that book in my life.

"Potamophilous" was there, listed as a rare adjective. It means "river loving." "Philopotomous" didn't show. But a copy boy who had studied Greek (today's copy boys being far better educated than the reporters of my time) said it means about the same thing.

It's a noun, he said, meaning "river loving man."

The Lyons reputation for truth and versality is unsullied. I guess I am those things.

I'm positively batty about rivers — particularly Florida rivers. As some men spend their spare time collecting postage stamps, and other men spend all their time collecting blondes, I "collect" Florida rivers.

And I feel pretty sorry for those other admirers of this state whose view of our back country is limited to our billboard cluttered and juke joint infested highways.

Of course, some few of our rivers are becoming slightly loused with the things they call "developments." Others have become contaminated by industrial wastes. But many, some not too distant from our cities, still retain the charm and majesty the Creator gave them.

Drive any highway once and you have had it. A year later it's just the same, except maybe a few more billboards and motels.

But take a boat up and down these rivers and they change by the hour. The sunrise paints the live oaks, the cabbage palms and the cypress with one set of colors. They change subtly as the sun climbs higher.

At sunset the Master Painter comes up with an entirely different color scheme. From sundown to darkness the colors change by the minute.

There's one river near here, the North fork of the St. Lucie, where some of us potamophilous people (now he has me using that word) travel every time we get in the area. The view is as inspiring today as it was the first time we traveled it some 15 years ago.

When we take friends there who never have seen this river we go upstream just before sunset. We drift back as the light fades into darkness. If they are sufficiently hardy, we rout them out to repeat that performance with the sunrise. They then have seen four rivers.

Let other people paste stamps in books. I'll paste memories of rivers in mine.

Some of those memories can never be dimmed. There was the weird blanket of mist one morning before sun-up on the Oklawaha River, east of Ocala. It was so dense and low-lying that when two companions drifted past in a canoe it gave the appearance of two disembodied heads floating past, riding on the mist blanket.

There was the big eagle that sat beside its nest, entirely fearless, at the mouth of the Broad River, around on Florida's southeast coast. There was the day the magnificient 10-point buck deer almost splashed water in our boat on the Myakka River, in Sarasota county.

There is the memory of a not-too-comfortable night's camp on the upper reaches of the Suwannee, and the discovery next morning that by rounding just one more bend we would have come to a good restaurant and comfortable motel.

There is the memory of the big, red breasted bream we fried beside the Crooked River, over in West Florida. There was the night we rigged portable lights to go down the fast-running Ochlockonee River, in that same area, to find two lost companions.

OFFBEAT

MIAMI

There are other pages in the book — scores of them. The collecting will go on until the fool-killer steps in.

In our home in Miami the most prized single possession is an A. E. Backus painting that hangs over the fireplace. It is a picture of a river. When we get too old to collect more rivers we plan to sit in an easy chair and make mental fly casts at a particularly inviting spot on that picture.

The outside of the house could have done with a new paint job this year. We are also a little overdue for a new car.

Guess what's new in the car port instead? A new trailer, boat and outboard motor. We'll paint the house and get the new car next year — we keep telling the woman who puts up with our foolishness.

A philopotomous? Who? Me?

Steve's Off Again

And away he goes — The Herald's Steve Trumbull is off on another backcountry hunt for provocative, offbeat stories of Florida people, places and things.

As "Mr. Florida," Steve has a fanatical following of rural cronies with rich stores of stories. And Steve, who's a fishing gypsy at heart, is on intimate terms with picturesque rivers which he will travel.

This new trek — by both boat and car, this time — will carry Steve from one Florida coast to the other, and then hit little-traveled roads for points now even unknown to him.

Income Increases

Our Turnpike Is Grown Up

By DUANE JONES
Herald Staff Writer

FORT LAUDERDALE — Florida's turnpike is two years old today.

And indications are it'll grow up to be an unqualified business success.

Many East Coast towns that feared financial disaster when bypassed by the turnpike are now, with few exceptions, singing its praises.

The reactions of most is that the sooner the turnpike is extended to the Georgia line the better.

How's the turnpike doing toll-wise?

In 1957 it took in $3,519,000. In 1958 revenues jumped to $3,669,000.

"A tremendous success" is what T. M. Ervin, turnpike administrative assistant calls the toll road.

"We'd start on an extension immediately if we had the money. An unfavorable bond market is the only thing holding us back," he said.

* * *

Ervin and other officials believe the existing 40-year bond issue can be retired in 30.

Toll collections this year are expected to hit four million dollars.

Turnpike officials are in agreement that most East Coast towns bypassed by the toll road have been helped by the turnpike, but they also agree that in some cases motels, restaurants and gift shops have been hurt.

Support of the turnpike depends mainly on what area you live in.

The Fort Lauderdale to West Palm Beach area is almost unanimous in in support of the turnpike.

From Palm Beach north to Fort Pierce, however, opinion is split.

Of 18 business and civic leaders polled between Fort Pierce and Fort Lauderdale a total of 12 said the turnpike had been beneficial. Five said it had hurt their towns.

* * *

Lynn F. Myers, acting mayor of Lake Worth said he would like to withhold judgment until "the proposed Lake Worth interchange is completed."

"So far, "he said, "it hasn't been a boon from the business standpoint."

Other comments:

Marvin H. Rowell of Stuart, chairman of the Martin County Commission: "The turnpike has devaluated real estate and has hurt all business on U.S. 1, from Fort Pierce to West Palm Beach."

William Weiss, president of Jensen Beach Chamber of Commerce: "The turnpike has helped our entire community, and it's going to be better once the road is extended."

Charles Leighton, a Martin County commissioner: "The turnpike has 'made' Palm City. Land values have risen, more subdivions have been built, and our population has doubled."

* * *

R. V. Johnson, former president of Stuart Chamber of Commerce: "There is no doubt that business along U.S. 1 has taken a beating. It's had the same effect on other businesses in Stuart, too."

Alvin Moreland, manager of Fort Pierce Chamber of Commerce: "Motels, restaurants and gas stations have been hurt. But there have been times this winter when motels were filled."

J. W. Sneed Jr., Fort Pierce car salesman: "The turnpike has put Fort Pierce on the map—and in big letters."

Horace S. Miller, mayor West Palm Beach: "The turnpike has been a wonderful thing for us. It should be extended to Georgia."

Claude Reese, mayor of Palm Beach: "It's most beneficial. I hope they extend it to North Florida line."

* * *

B. Fox Griffin, mayor of Riviera Beach: "It's necessary and essential. It's hurt U.S. 1 business, but we have all the traffic on it we can control."

Lynn F. Myers, acting mayor of Lake Worth: "It will be hard to say until the proposed Lake Worth interchange is completed. So far it hasn't been a boon from the business standpoint."

Don Plummer, director of Palm Beach County Motel Association: "It has definitely hurt motel owners who deal with overnight or transient customers."

Lyle Weaver, manager Pompano Beach Chamber of Commerce: "It's been a definite boon, in many ways, to Pompano Beach. If it has hurt business on U.S. 1, it hasn't been to any great degree."

$450,000 Price Tag Is Put On Naples Courthouse-Jail

By TOM MORGAN
Naples Bureau Chief

NAPLES — A county courthouse and jail on the Gallahue site in Naples will cost $450,000 but perhaps 60 per cent of the cost — $290,000 — could be met through gift and funds already planned for additions to the present site in Everglades.

These are conclusions from figures prepared by a fact-finding committee of the Naples Civic Association to aid those who need facts before deciding on "the proposed moving of the county seat from Everglades to Naples."

The group report was made public today by Chairman W. T. (Tom) Truesdale. It has no conclusion because, Truesdale said, they might be controversial and the only aim is to inform.

Petitions seeking a vote on relocating the county seat are now being circulated by Naples Jaycees. Dudley R. Gallahue, Indianapolis millionaire, has offered a site and a [illegible]000 branch building on Ninth Avenue South which could be expended to a full courthouse and jail.

The building would be rented to the county for 10 years at 10 per cent of the annual construction cost and then would become county property.

Gallahue's architect William G. Tracy was said to have prepared complete plans for a courthouse and jail to cost $450,000 and have parking for 50 cars. Additional parking on four lots across Ninth Avenue is offered.

A counter gift offer of 10 acres of land on the Immokalee-Naples highway in east Naples has been made by B. W. Morris Jr. provided the entire county seat facilities are located on his tract. The report says Morris has now doubled the offer to total 20 acres adjoining the swamp buggy grounds.

Gallahue's site is valued at $50,000 and is about an acre and a quarter. Morris' 20-acre tract is valued at $40,000 and is about three miles from town.

Gallahue's jail would have 10,800 square feet of space compared with the present 6,980 square foot one which is to be expanded at Everglades at a cost of $175,000.

His courthouse with 9,950 square feet will compare with the present 10,285 square foot one for which additional space must be rested in Everglades and Naples.

Gallahue's county seat unit at $450,000 could have credited against it the $175,000 which would then not have to be spent on a jail addition at Everglades, $25,000 needed for plumbing repair there, $25,000 in steel cells which could be salvaged from the present jail, and the $65,000 gift here.

This would leave the net cost for Naples jail and courthouse at $160,000 over what is already to be spent or what could be saved.

The report notes $253,599 in annual county salaries, fees and commissions in the last budget, plus $105,575 in jail expenses, material and truck costs, much of which would probably move with the courthouse.

The present courthouse and jail are estimated to have cost $390,000 and $8,870 annual rent is paid on other facilities here and in Everglades.

$124,431 Said Missing

'I'm Innocent,' Says Suspected Embezzler

By PETER LAINE
Herald Staff Writer

FORT LAUDERDALE — The prospect of momentary arrest failed to dismay embezzlement suspect Allan S. Fowler at his home here Saturday.

The smart-looking 69-year-old father of two children, nine and 10, said: "I just don't know what it's all about. Of course I'm innocent."

A warrant, issued Friday in Detroit, where Fowler managed a telephone employes' credit union for 18 years, alleged he took $2,382.47 in two months. Total shortage in the credit union accounts is $124,431.63.

The sheriff's department here is waiting for the warrant to arrive to pick Fowler up.

Fowler said he bought his well-kept $20,000 home at 4761 NE Fifth Ave. a year ago. He moved in August, after retiring.

The 12,000-member union gave him a farewell dinner and a full year's salary of $9,000 as a parting gift. A month later a complaint led to an audit of the seven-and-a-half million dollar credit union.

Treasurer John P. Lenhardt said someone had been recording deposits on account cards, then removing both the deposit and the card.

Fowler said he won't fight extradition. "I'll go voluntarily to clear it up just as soon as someone asks me," he declared. "All I've heard is from the papers.

"The credit union hasn't told me a thing," he added. "That's what makes me so mad."

Hearing Due On FEC Plan

JACKSONVILLE — (UPI) — A government hearing will be held here Monday to consider a plan for returning the Florida East Coast railway to private operation.

The session before Federal Judge Bryan Simpson will be a major step in the lengthy legal and administrative process which must precede completion of the reorganization.

Judge Simpson, after the hearing, will write an opinion on the plan which must be returned to the Interstate Commerce Commission.

The new plan was approved by the ICC on Nov. 12, 1958 and gives control to the St. Joe Paper Co., owned by the Alfred I. du Pont estate. It marks the end of a long battle for control of the railway which began when the line went into bankruptcy in 1931.

The present plan is the seventh to be approved by the ICC, six having been thrown out by the courts.

Sailor Believed Lost Trying to Swim River

Herald Bureau

FORT LAUDERDALE — Hope was abandoned Saturday for a sailor from the USS Newport News, heavy cruiser, visiting Port Everglades, who tried to swim across New River early Saturday.

S1C Alexander C. Lowry, 25, disappeared in midstream, near the SE Ninth Ave. bridge, about 1:30 a.m. despite the efforts of three buddies to save him. His body has not been recovered.

Police Sgt. Jack Cunningham said four sailors were walking to the port when they came upon the U.S. 1 detour bridge, left open for boat traffic at night. Lowry said, I'll just swim across," and jumped in. Halfway across, he got into difficulty.

His three companions — Donald Sarkisian, William White, and David Holtzman — dived in to help him. Sarkisian and Holtzman reached Lowry, but lost him when White also called for help, Cunningham said.

The other sailors said Lowry was not a good swimmer. Police and shore patrol searched the river, and started dragging operations.

Former Deputy Tells of Lying To Grand Jury

King Trial Hears Admitted Perjurer

BARTOW —(UPI)— A former deputy sheriff repudiated his earlier Grand Jury testimony Saturday and denied he was a part of an alleged plan by former State Sen. Harry King to trap former State Rep. Boone Tillett Jr. in a $10,000 extortion attempt.

The testimony came from an admitted perjurer, James Busbee, on the fifth day of King's second trial on charges he planned a perjury scheme to prevent being indicted for paying Tillett $10,000 not to run against him for the state Senate in 1956.

King's earlier conviction was thrown out on technicalities.

Following Busbee's testimony the jury adjourned until 9 a.m. Monday.

Busbee had testified to the grand jury that he and former deputy Rollie Arnold were assigned by former sheriff Pat Gordon to work with King to catch Tillett. But he and Arnold both pleaded guilty last week and are now under a presentence investigation.

Busbee testified Saturday he never even heard of the payoff until he heard news reports of it.

He testified that it was Feb. 28, 1956, before Gordon called him in and he agreed to go along with the plan and release a statement to a Lake Wales newspaper describing the fictitious case.

Early the next day, Feb. 29, he said, he, Arnold and King went to the scene of the payoff made Feb. 4 in a lemon grove near Babson Park.

There, he said, King told them details of the payoff so they would know what to tell the grand jury. Busbee said later that afternoon he gave his testimony to W. T. Hopkins of Tallahassee, then a special state attorney and now a special prosecutor in the King trial.

He said King telephoned him "from time to time" following his interview with Hopkins.

Busbee also admitted that he was picking up some prisoners from the highway patrol and booking them in the county jail about the same time the payoff occurred, which would make it impossible for him to have been at the payoff scene.

He also admitted taking certain records indicating he was at the sheriff's office at the time of the payoff and changing them to remove the conflict in times.

Tie Taxes To Growth --Bailey

TALLAHASSEE — (UPI) — State School Superintendent Thomas D. Bailey Saturday called for a study of Florida's whole tax structure to determine if revenue is increasing proportionately with population.

If it is not, Bailey said, changes should be made to guarantee that it will.

He said any sound tax base must be such that revenue, under normal conditions, will increase at both the state and local level consistent with population growth.

Otherwise, the legislature faces the fearsome alternative of increasing taxes every two years to provide for phenomenal population growth.

Bailey discussed the whole financial problem as the Cabinet Budget Commission prepared to meet next Wednesday and Thursday to grapple with government operation and capital outlay requests that exceed anticipated revenue by 140 million dollars.

As school superintendent and a member of the budget commission, Bailey faces the two-fold problem of fighting for huge increases in school appropriations and, at the same time, helping to frame a balanced budget that will not require new taxes.

One solution to the long-range problem, he said, would be a permanent building fund, supported by other than general revenue appropriations every two years.

He said no private business would think of financing big building expansions over a two-year period. But that is what Florida has been doing.

The last legislature voted a larger two-year building program than had ever been attempted before in a five-year period. Much of it could not be financed and the next legislature faces the problem of this backlog plus millions of dollars in new needs.

Atty. Gen. Richard Ervin has tried unsuccessfully for the past four years to get legislative approval of an amendment to the constitution setting up a permanent building fund. He said he will try again in April.

Bailey said higher real estate assessments would also help the problem by providing more money for local financing of programs now dependent upon state aid.

Many counties have already done a good job along this line, he said, using Brevard as an example where millage was reduced from 20 to seven mills following property reevaluations. The county got as much or more money from the lower millage.

Confessed Ax Slayer Said Sane

BONIFAY — (AP) — Frank Peterson, Negro ex-convict adjudged legally sane Friday, will be arraigned Monday on murder charges in the ax deaths of a white farmer and his daughter.

The trial date for Peterson, 27, will probably be set at the 2 p.m. arraignment.

Circuit Judge E. Clay Lewis of Panama City ruled Peterson was mentally competent to stant trial after two state psychiatrists said they concluded he was legally sane. Peterson himself told the court that he had "decided to play crazy" because he was scared.

Lewis told him he had no reason to be afraid, that he would receive a fair and just trial.

Peterson is charged in the ax slayings of a 27-year-old farmer and his daughter, 2, in their farm home near here June 11. He also was indicted on a charge he raped the victim's 22-year-old wife.

Naples Boy, 4, Hit, Has Skull Fractures

Herald Bureau

NAPLES — A four year old boy who ran in front of a car here Friday is in good condition at Naples Community Hospital despite a double skull fracture.

Police Capt. Orran P. Coates said the boy is David P. Welch Jr., who was knocked down when he ran in front of a car at 11th Ave., South, and First St. The car was driven by Mrs. Louise K. Amidon, E. Hartford, Conn.

No charges were placed by officer Ralph Cox, the investigator, who said the car was moving slowly and the child dashed in front of it too quickly to be avoided.

These Two Navy Officers Run Navy's OSR system
. . . Lts. A. T. Buckmaster and H. W. Albers

They Help Guide Ships To Speedier Atlantic Trips

A new aid to navigation has only been in use a few months but already it has speeded up ocean transportation and saved more than a million dollars. It's called the Optimum Ship Routing system.

The OSR system is aimed at overcoming the ancient bugaboo of the seas—changeable currents and weather conditions which often result in reduced speed and heavy ship damage.

NORFOLK, Va. —P— Two lieutenants in a tiny, cluttered office at the Norfolk Naval Air Station exchanged pleased grins when the message came in.

"Fastest trip ever. Thanks."

It was just one of many similar messages sweated out by Lieutenants Albert T. Buckmaster and Hugh W. Albers. It meant the Atlantic Fleet Service Force ship Antares had crossed from Norfolk to Gibraltar in record time using a route plotted daily by Buckmaster and Albers in their cubbyhole.

Since September, when they opened their office, the two lieutenants have shepherded 100 Navy and Military Sea Transportation Service ships across the Atlantic. By next July they expect to handle all Atlantic traffic for MSTS and a major portion of the Atlantic Fleet's business.

They run the Navy's Optimum Ship Routing system. Based on the research of Dr. Richard W. James of the Navy's hydrographic office, the system seeks to overcome the ancient bugaboo of the seas — changeable currents and weather conditions which often result in reduced speed and heavy ship damage.

In the few months of its operation, the OSR system has improved speed of ocean transportation and saved more than one million dollars in hard cash.

The program holds exciting implications for commercial shipping, where the cold facts of economy are vital.

During fiscal 1957, American shippers lost $2,665,441 in foundered and damaged ships, and $432,730 in cargo damage. During the period 1952-56, a total of $12,766,132 was recorded in ship losses and cargo damage was set at $952,020.

These are commercial figures. There is no available record of monetary losses to naval vessels during the same periods.

Some shipping companies reportedly have begun providing OSR service for their own operations in an effort to reduce weather damage costs and speed schedules.

Stated simply, the James-Navy concept provides willing ship masters (or naval captains) with constant and controlled guidance through the potential treachery of oceanic weather.

Armed with Dr. James' published thesis, Buckmaster and Albers labor long hours every day herding ships across the tricky Atlantic — ships they are not likely ever to see.

As explained by Buckmaster, OSR is "a matter of improved forecasting machinery, close communications and confidence . . . and a spot of luck." Perhaps a recent episode will serve better to explain the technical features of the system, and its end product.

On Sept. 15, 1957, the Military Sea Transportation Service ship USNS Buckner weighed anchor in New York harbor. Eight days later she dropped her hook at Bremerhaven, Germany. From start to finish Buckmaster and Albers called the shots.

Two days before Buckner was due to depart, the two lieutenants armed themselves with a series of five-day weather prognostications ("progs") they call them. Hunching over their charting table in Fleet Weather Facility, Norfolk, they started the project.

A set of five progs gave them a fairly clear picture of the predictable weather the Buckner would face cruising eastward. The lieutenants laid out a series of first-day course legs, selected the best from all angles and passed it on to the ship, with projected tentative headings for successive days.

Capt. K. C. Towne, skipper of the Buckner and a man with 40 years' sea-going experience, was on his way with what the lieutenants considered to be his quickest and safest routing to Bremerhaven.

But something happened on the second day to alter the script. The OSR team noted an alarming shift in weather when new progs developed. To the north a storm was moving down, and would lay a heavy hand on Buckner if she plied her original course pattern.

Buckmaster and Albers reworked their chart and decided to send the ship more to the south, giving her a heading to skirt the storm line. So painstaking and accurate was their work that on her final leg Buckner picked up a heavy following sea that booted her neatly home at high speed.

Veteran seafarer Towne was amazed. He conceded that at first he was "a bit skeptical" about the whole thing. Since that first passage the lieutenants have ushered him across five times more.

"Well, we have 60 nails up there and I guess we can drive in a few more," he said. He noted that at the time 13 ships were under surveillance and six more were preparing to depart for Europe.

Requiring only that ships give them 48 hours notice, Buckmaster says he and Albers "keep in touch with them all the way . . . and sweat them out." Every 24 hours a ship gives a position report and a summary of weather conditions.

Dr. James wrote in his thesis in 1956:

"The inevitable result of the successful accomplishment of this task will be improved maritime economy, and progress to date strongly indicates that a reasonable solution to the problem may soon be realized."

At Korean Conference Meetings

U.N. Chief Plays Propaganda Tune as Reds Burn

Miami Herald-Chicago News Wire

PANMUNJOM, Korea — A seagoing lawyer has introduced a cozy family atmosphere to the otherwise rigidly formal meetings of the U.N. Military Armistice Commission.

Smartly dressed American embassy wives peered through the open windows of the conference hall as Rear Adm. Ira H. Nunn, chief U.N. forces delegate, exchanged unpleasantries with his North Korean Communist counterpart.

Nunn wanted to know what happened to more than 2,000 U.N. prisoners including 452 Americans the Reds have not accounted for.

The Communists, in turn, demanded an accounting for 98,000 of their prisoners.

Neither side expected anything from the other except propaganda and nobody was disappointed. However, visitors, including the embassy wives, had a pleasant outing.

"I like to have women up here because they talk a lot and write letters," said Nunn, 48, softspoken Southerner and veteran of the Navy's Judge Advocate General's office.

"Since no decisions are made here — there is no judge or jury — we might as well get what propaganda we can out of these meetings."

Nunn, the 13th chief delegate since the Armistice Commission was set up five years ago, has had the Seoul Rotary Club and American teenagers attend meetings as his guests.

"The kids got a big kick out of it and I think they learned something," said Nunn, who, in the 2½ months he's been here, has called four out of six commission meetings. This reversed the usual procedure since the U.N. side generally has let the Communists have the initiative.

As a lawyer Nunn deplores the cut and dried procedure of the meetings in which one side reads a prepared statement and the other side replies in kind. He has tried to draw the Communists into give and take discussions but without success.

"It's like trying to play a cornstalk fiddle with a shoestring bow," he sighed.

The Communists haven't objected to visitors. However, they are still complaining because Nunn installed a microphone and amplifying system which carries conference proceedings to other buildings, including the press hut.

The microphone sits in the middle of the conference table, half in U.N. territory, half in Communist territory. The Reds refuse to recognize the existence of the microphone but don't dare chuck it out.

The reason is long ago the Communists agreed to let the U.N. be responsible for housekeeping chores. Nunn contends the installation of an amplifying system was only a household improvement.

"We offered to install loudspeakers in the Communist building but they refused," Nunn said. "That's their tough luck."

Younk Demo Leader Due

Nelson Lancione, president of the Young Democratic Clubs of America, will arrive in Miami this afternoon for two days of conferences with party leaders here.

His visit is to discuss plans for the April convention at the Roney Plaza Hotel, Miami Beach, of the Young Democrats' National Executive Committee.

Lancione will meet Miami Democratic leaders at a reception this afternoon at the home of Joseph Murphy, 701 Alcazar Ave., Coral Gables. He also will be guest of honor at a dinner party tonight at the Roney Plaza.

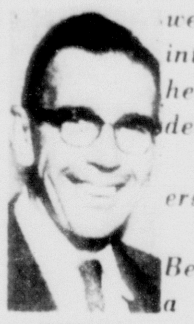
Batista: That Fidel's a Barbaric Dictator

EXCLUSIVE



BEEBE

A stream of newspaper wire service reporters has been flowing into Ciudad Trujillo for three weeks, seeking the first full length interview with Fulgencio Batista since he was forced from the Cuban presidency by Fidel Castro's rebels.

He talked briefly to two reporters, refused admittance to all others.

Herald Managing Editor George Beebe finally cracked the barrier with a three-hour interview. His first stories appear today.

CIUDAD TRUJILLO, Dominican Republic — Fulgencio Batista, Cuba's fallen dictator, broke his silence here Saturday to call current activities in Cuba the work of a "barbaric and sadistic" upstart—Fidel Castro.

Angered and bitter after reading news accounts of trials and executions masterminded by Castro, Batista leveled a blast at the new Cuban man of the hour.

"Castro said he wanted to be nothing in the new Cuban government. His only title is delegate of the president to the armed forces. What does this mean?

"He is not chief of the army, the navy and air force. He is neither prime minister nor president.

"Yet he dictates all policies, says who should be executed—but has no official position.

"Is this democracy? Or is it dictatorship and tyranny?"

Despite his bitterness over activities of the Castro regime, Batista wants the world to know he has no intention of organizing an invasion force to combat Castro.

"I gave up the presidency to avoid further killing of my people. I have no desire to build a force that could only mean more bloodshed and unhappiness to my country," he said from his Hotel Jaragua apartment where he has taken temporary asylum.

Batista said that if some of his followers have moved into Castro's old stronghold in the Sierra Maestra mountains, it is without his knowledge.

As you might well imagine, Batista thinks Castro is a bum.

He didn't exactly use that word in describing the young upstart who so rudely unseated him as his term was running out.

But he did pull out a collection of such unflattering words as "tyrant, sadist, murderer and liar" in condemning the tactics of Cuba's bearded hero of the hour.

He implied he could have used the word "ingrate."

"I saved Fidel Castro from death back in 1953 when he killed six soldiers during a July 26 uprising in Santiago. Now he is ordering the execution of the leaders of my government."

Batista said that Castro must be held responsible for "weakening of Cuba's economy" through destruction of bridges and highways, the burning of sugar cane fields and mills and with driving tourists from the island."

How about the atrocities that are being charged against him—with published pictures to prove it?

Batista bristled. "I have seen some of these pictures and I think they are the work of Castro, and not my men. If they did take place, it was without my sanction.

"I gave the order to suppress the rebel activity. Both sides have played rough these last two years."

Obviously smarting under condemnation of the American press, Batista was quick to pull out what he termed a "typical example of Castro terrorism."

He said that high-ranking aides had reported to him how Castro's men took a father of four children near Bayamo

'Like a Young Girl'

Cuban People Laugh Again

Where does Castro go from here? 1H

Herald Staff Writer James Buchanan, who lived with the rebels during Cuba's rugged mountain campaign, returned to Havana to cover their victory celebration and war crimes trials. He found a new and different city. This is his portrait of Havana today.

By JAMES BUCHANAN
Herald Staff Writer

HAVANA — Cuba's face has been lifted.

She looks and acts like a young girl today, and not the haggard, fearful thing of less than a month ago.

BUCHANAN

Change is apparent everywhere in the island and in every walk of life. There's happiness, and gaiety and most of all — hope.

"I walk looking up," a shopkeeper says. "The sun is on my face, not here," and he pats the back of his neck.

The rejuvenation lies in the revolution.

How long will it last?

The young rebel government says, "Forever."

The seasoned businessman shrugs his shoulders and answers, "Who knows?"

But like the others, the businessmen of Cuba have hope.

Ask an insurance company executive whether he believes the Urrutia administration's pledge of "clean and honest government" and he'll say:

"We'll have to see if they keep their promises any more than the others. Human nature, you understand? Maybe Cuban human nature.

"For awhile, maybe three, maybe five years, I believe things will be good. Then will come the test of goodness and honesty when the officials are solidly in."

Right now Cuba is vibrant and excited and most important it is speaking.

On every street corner, in every cantina, at every coffee counter, Cubans are telling each other what they think the government should do.

For years they have been afraid to say more than "Good Morning" to even a fellow Cuban. And to voice a complaint against the government, the army or the national police could result in imprisonment.

Today,, it takes more than a word to bring about "instant

Castro To Push 2 Trials

HAVANA — (AP) — Havana's revolutionary tribunal, with thousands of Cubans looking on, is going ahead with plans to resume action in the city's big Sports Stadium Monday despite worldwide criticism of the carnival-like proceedings.

The tribunal will then call to trial Capt. Pedro Morejon on charges of assassination, homicide and robbery.

A five-man appeal court was expected to rule soon on the death sentence of Maj. Jesus Sosa Blanco, the first man to be tried in the arena.

One Havana newspaper said Sosa Blanco's execution by firing squad was expected momentarily.

After Morejon, Lt. Col. Ricardo Luis Grao is to face the court, but his trial is expected to be the last in public in Havana. About 1,000 other prisoners accused of war crimes by the revolutionary regime are expected to go before tribunals in La Cabana fortress or elsewhere.

Reports persisted that Fidel Castro, the revolutionary army chieftain who is now in Caracas to celebrate the anniversary of the overthrow of the Venezuelan dictatorship of Marcos Perez Jimenez, had suggested that radio and television broadcasts of the trials be banned henceforth.

However, the commandant at La Cabana, where the accused are held, said he had not received any such instruction.

Roof Collapses; 3 Killed, 8 Hurt

HUNTSVILLE, Ont. —(AP)— Three persons—a married couple and a 13-year-old boy—were killed Saturday when the roof of a curling rink at nearby Britannia Lodge collapsed. Eight other persons were injured.

Eleven persons were in the building about noon when the roof caved in under the weight of snow and a heavy wind.

Authorities identified the dead as Mr. and Mrs. Eric Chudleigh of Dixie, near Toronto, and John Canfield of Woodstock, Ont.

Flood Misery Mounts

Damage Tops $100 Million

COLUMBUS, Ohio — (AP) — Fires and biting cold aggravated the woes of thousands of residents of flood-stricken communities Saturday.

Flood losses mounted beyond the 100-million-dollar mark. More than 11,000 were homeless and hundreds of others shivered in unheated houses.

Ohio bore the heaviest burden and was placed in a state of emergency. Gov. Michael DiSalle estimated damage in the state at 83 million dollars or more and figured the death toll may reach 25 or 30.

Ohio had 14 known dead. Other flood deaths included Indiana three, New York five and Pennsylvania one. The total stood at 23.

Fire destroyed three businesses and damaged four others in the heart of Zanesville's commercial district. Flames damaged a heating plant and gymnasium at Wilmington College.

Firemen stood by helplessly while flames raced through a warehouse in flooded Meadville, Pa. Hydrants were frozen and under water.

More than 2,000 persons homeless in Meadville. Two huge ice gorges in French Creek backed up water over 10 per cent of the city of 25,000 population.

The Scioto River began to recede slowly in Chillicothe, Ohio. Icy waters broke over a sandbag embankment Friday and forced about 8,000 residents out of their houses.

Three hundred families were ready to abandon their dwellings in Marietta if an overflow occurs.

Pomeroy, downstream from Marietta, expects the flood crest about noon today. Some business people already were moving out.

40 Planes Stacked Up In Overcast

By CHARLES TAYLOR
Herald Staff Writer

More than 40 airplanes were circling at once in "hold" areas around the city during the rush hours late Saturday afternoon.

Some planes had to wait up to an hour for landing instructions, the control tower at the airport reported. There was no delay in outgoing planes.

But the Miami Weather Bureau said a break in the cloudy, drizzly weather should come Sunday afternoon.

Forecaster Gil Clark said gray skies should start breaking up when stiff northeast winds that roughed up fishing waters Saturday shift to the east and southeast.

But he said the change to sunny weather will be "gradual."

Brightest spot in the weather outlook was that no more cold is in sight, Clark said. Temperatures in the mid-70s were predicted for South Florida Sunday. Sunday night should be warm, too, the Weather Bureau added.

At Miami International Airport, landing delays were not as long as delays Friday, when planes waited up to two and a half hours to be guided through leaden skies by instruments to the landing strip.

An airplane was circling at every 1,000 feet above the 6,000-foot level at some 10 or 12 "holding" areas around Miami.

No planes were diverted to other airports, however. During Friday's long wait to land, several planes ran low on fuel and had to land at Tampa, West Palm Beach or Nassau.

Other U.S. Leaders Drop

Herald Gain in Ads Is Gain for You, Too

The Miami Herald is the only newspaper among America's top 10 in total advertising that showed a gain in 1958, Media Records reported Saturday.

For the second straight year The Herald is in second place.

While some of the national leaders were recording losses exceeding four million lines, The Herald gained 574,903 lines of advertising.

Such progress means a better paper for readers.

In addition to giving you a wider shopping choice, more advertising makes possible more news space to keep you abreast of what's going on in this busy world.

The continued growth in advertising and circulation of The Herald reflects the exciting expansion all along Florida's famed Gold Coast. More than 70,000 families are moving into this area each year.

'Murdered' Man's on Way Home to Family in Miami

By MIKE MORGAN
Herald Staff Writer

A 32-year-old Miamian, for the last three months believed murdered, was on his way home to his overjoyed family late Saturday.

James E. Harrison, allegedly an amnesia victim, said he recovered his memory while walking the streets of Phoenix, Ariz., Friday night, unaware police were looking for his body in Jacksonville.

He said he was unaware what had happened to him since Oct. 7. He thought it was Oct. 8, 1958 when he found himself in Phoenix, his wife said Saturday.

Harrison's wife and two children are staying with her mother-in-law, Mrs. Norman J. Weaver of 283 NW 53rd St.

The Harrisons own a home here at 1022 SW 34th St. But the slender, attractive Mrs. Harrison had sold the furniture and rented the house.

Until a week ago his wife, Jeanne, still hoped her husband still lived. But she became convinced of his death when a convict "confessed" to murdering him in Jacksonville just a week ago.

The convict, Roy V. Olson, recited details which brought her to the reluctant conclusion her husband was murdered by the hitchiker-robber.

Olson, serving a murder sentence at Vacaville, Calif., typed out a confession that he and James E. Leach, 21, hitchhiked a ride with Harrison the day Harrison disappeared from Titusville.

Harrison had moved there from Miami and established a window manufacturing company at Cocoa.

Olson said he robbed Harrison of $500 and stabbed him to death.

Olson also implicated Leach, who was arrested Saturday by the FBI in Knoxville. Leach denied he ever killed anyone but told Duval County officers he could show them where a body is buried.

Harrison said he stopped his car for a traffic light in Cocoa Beach and a man entered and forced him to drive to Jacksonville.

The last thing he remembered, he said, was the man telling him to pull into a parking lot at Jacksonville. He was slugged — next thing he remembered was walking the streets of Phoenix.

Now authorities are wondering if someone else first robbed and slugged Harrison — someone who was carrying Harrison's identification papers and later was murdered by Olson.

The bizarre puzzle has police in several states working to solve it.

Saturday Mrs. Harrison told The Herald she had hoped and prayed her husband was alive.

But she virtually abandoned hope when told about the murder "confession" a week ago—a confession bolstered with apparently irrefutable details.

Her family, she said, was even readying arrangements for a funeral service.

But at 1:50 a.m. Saturday

No. 2 Red Reports At Home

MOSCOW —(UPI)— Soviet Deputy Premier Anastas I. Mikoyan, reporting that he found the American people ripe for a cold war settlement, Saturday called again for East-West talks to head off a Berlin impasse May 30.

The Armenian-born Russian trade chief repeated previous Soviet statements that the Kremlin might suspend its May 30 deadline for turning over its occupation powers in Berlin to the East Germans provided the U.S., Britian and France agreed to negotiate the Berlin question before that time.

"The main thing is not the deadline but to have talks," he said.

He discussed his 17-day, coast-to-coast American tour at a news conference in which he touched on a wide range of topics. He said he found anti-Russian "prejudice" in the U.S. but also an increasing American conviction — not shared by Washington — that the time had come to end the cold war.

The mustached Mikoyan said he was impressed by the "cordial" reception accorded him by President Eisenhower and other officials as well as by such capitalists as Henry Ford and ordinary American citizens.

He said any top American leaders who wanted to visit Russia would receive an equally warm welcome. But he did not say whether any planned to come.

His "general impression" of Americans, he said, was this:

"There is a growing conviction that despite the evidence of the cold war and the existence of many prejudices in the U.S.A. against the U.S.S.R. and its attitude, the atmosphere generally is now favorable for steps toward peace."

He pointed out that in his meetings with American "capitalists" the businessmen had shown great interest in prospects of closer economic ties with Russia.

They "frankly stated that we must normalize our relations," said the Communist leader who dined on Wall Street.

He reported that his meeting with American labor leaders, unlike those with businessmen, was "sharp to the end."

He and Walter Reuther tangled verbally over Berlin and Hungary, he said.

"Reuther thought he crushed me, but I gave him back plenty," Mikoyan said through his interpreter, Oleg Troyanovsky.

"But the talks ended in a friendly manner and he (Reuther) said that the talks were considered useful."

Russia Blocks Agreement On A-Tests, U.S. Charges

Inspection Veto Called Obstacle

WASHINGTON —(AP)— The U.S. accused Russia Saturday of blocking an East-West agreement to end nuclear weapons tests by demanding a veto over any inspection system.

At the same time, the State Department vigorously denied Russia's claim that the U.S. is seeking an excuse to torpedo negotiations now under way in Geneva for a test ban.

"This is not so," the State Department said. "The fact that the Soviet Union has chosen this moment, when the negotiations are under way at Geneva on central issues of effective controls, to make such unfounded charges, raises questions as to their (Soviet) intentions."

American negotiators, the department said, will persevere in their efforts to write a satisfactory agreement for halting all further nuclear weapons explosions.

"Success in the negotiations in Geneva is squarely up to the Soviet Union," the department added. "If the Soviet Union is willing to agree to a control organization and can operate effectively it will be possible to achieve agreement on the cessation of nuclear testing."

The department said these three major issues remain in the way of East-West agreements:

1. — Will the Soviet Union be able to veto and obstruct every action of the control commission as it now demands, or will it be possible for the control organization to act without this obstacle?

The U.S. believes that any control system which could be frustrated in its day-to-day operations by the veto power in the hands of a single party would be worse than useless.

2 — Will the control post be manned by an international staff? Or as the Soviets demand, will it be manned by nationals of the government on whose territory the control posts are located, with only one or two outside "observers?"

The Soviet position would amount to self-inspection and as such cannot be the basis for an agreement in which all parties can have confidence, the department said.

3—Will international inspection groups be organized and ready to move quickly to the site of an event which could be suspected of being an explosion? Or will sending of such a group be subject to weeks of debate and a veto?

The Soviet approach would entangle this key provision in miles of red tape, the department said.

Exile Rankles Embittered Batista; Tempers Flare Easily in Hotel Haven

By GEORGE BEEBE
Herald Managing Editor
Copyright 1959,
Miami Herald Publishing Co.

CIUDAD TRUJILLO, Dominican Republic — Fulgencio Batista in exile is restless and embittered. He has not taken defeat easily.

He is a rich man financially, but his satisfaction has come from political power rather than monetary gains.

Now he gropes for a new and active life that will consume the burning energy that made him Cuba's Strong Man for more than 20 years.

On the surface, Batista is his same charming and confident self. I've interviewed the former Cuban leader five times in the 10 years I have known him.

He is unchanged in appearance and manners. A dynamic personality still rides his hard-set frame.

For reasons of health, Batista and the more than 50 Cuban leaders who fled with him New Year's eve, rarely leave the Hotel Jaragua's third floor — which has become exile headquarters.

It is obvious they are getting on each other's nerves. The weather is hot. Tempers flare easily. Their bungling of the recent crisis still bothers them.

Batista is not the type of man who can accept confinement, so he keeps a schedule much the same as in Havana's Presidential Palace — from noon until 3 or 4 a.m.

Two secretaries bustle about arranging conferences. His Cuban companions beat a steady path to his door.

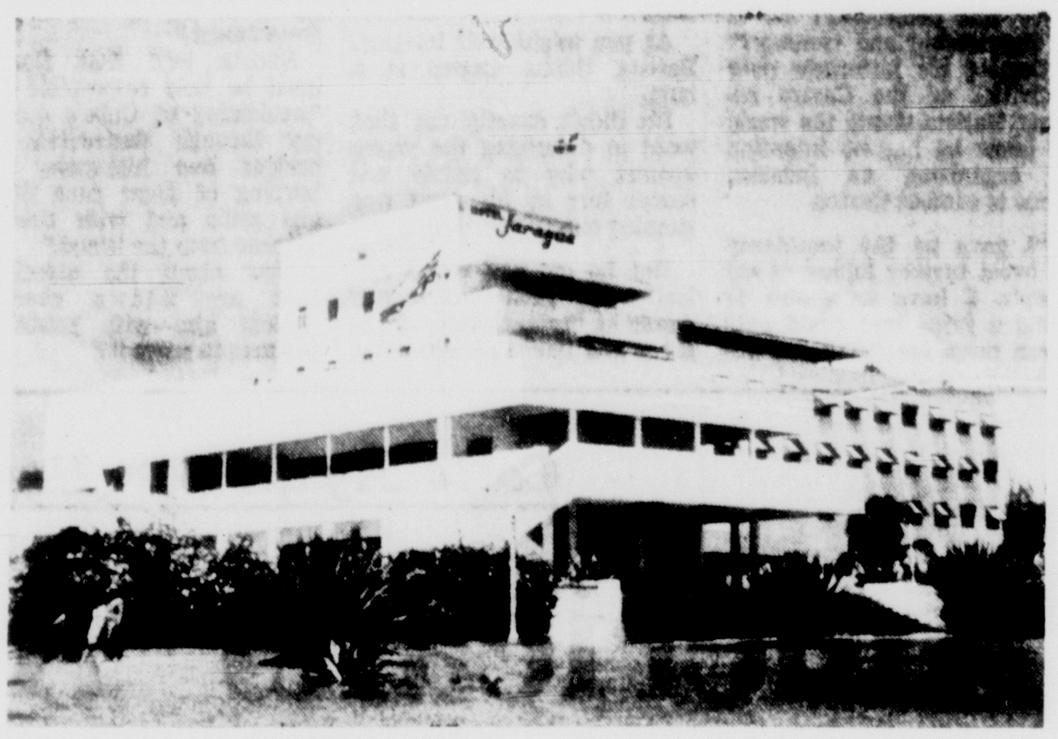
Batista long has been a canasta enthusiast. A card table, with a cover specially designed for the game, holds a prominent spot in the living room.

This provides one of his few diversions. He has taken several rides about Cuidad Trujillo and occasionally walks in the far reaches of the hotel grounds — away from eyes of the other guests.

The Hotel Jaragua has taken a back seat to the new El Embajador, but it still ranks as one of the finer resort hotels in the Caribbean.

It is a rambling, four-story affair with its choicest rooms looking over a swimming pool, a spacious lawn and across a malecon drive to the pounding surf of the Atlantic against a rocky seawall.

Day or night, there is no evidence on the grounds or in the lobby, dining room or gambling casino, that the hotel is now headquarters for the man Fidel Castro has placed as No. 1 on his obit parade.



Deposed Dictator Fulgencio Batista Lives Here
... finds haven in the plush Hotel Jaragua at Ciudad Trujillo

The arrival of the Batista party on New Year's Eve came as a complete surprise to the city. There were 47 on the plane. Other political refugees have arrived here since.

Dominicans generally would like to see them go, as they would Juan Peron of Argentina, also. They don't like the unfavorable publicity which the asylum of two dictators brings.

Not unhappy are the operators of the Jaragua and the Paz (Peron's headquarters). The tourist business has not been good and the exiles are making up for it.

Although the Cubans are restless, none have applied for visas to go elsewhere. They arrived heavily laden with Cuban pesos, which don't give them much long-range security.

I asked Batista what his hurried departure caused him to leave behind that he cherished most.

He squinted his black eyes a moment in thought and replied: "My country and my people, of course. My friends, my home and my library."

His library is heavy with books about Abraham Lincoln, the man Batista most admires in history.

One incident Batista related may have a bearing on his plans for the future.

His son had come from school and asked: "Father, are you an old man? Some of the boys said you were."

Batista laughed heartily at the remark, but through the broad smile I could detect a note of awareness that perhaps time is running out on the only life he ever has known — dominance of his people and the fight to attain that dominance. He is 59.

Former Dictator Breaks Silence, Calls Castro Barbaric, Sadistic

and ordered him to sabotage communication lines by cutting down utility poles.

When asked by police why he did it, the man said he had to. A neighbor had refused to cut the poles and was hanged. He didn't want the same fate," Batista explained.

The heavy-set, dark-browed ex-president said he has waited until the Castro government took shape before commenting on Cuba's future. He thinks it looks extremely dark.

"The new government just doesn't make sense," Batista says.

"For instance, Castro said his main mission in life was to free Cuba of the Batista regime. But now he has placed himself in a unique superstructure over President Manuel Urrutia.

"I was called a dictator by many, yet within the government I maintained the three constitutional divisions — executive, legislative and judicial. They all functioned independently. Evidently Fidel Castro doesn't like this form of government."

Batista, who reads every newspaper he can get his hands on, is obviously shaken by stories of the war crime trials of some of his trusted aides who failed to get the signal New Year's Eve that the leading men were leaving the act.

"When I was president, the courts were composed of judges named for the most part by previous presidents, and we respected their decisions," said the onetime dictator.

"Now Castro destroys the powers provided by the constitution and has appointed men not qualified for judgeships to conduct trials throughout the island and pronounce death sentences."

He had read that the Havana "Sports City" Coliseum — which he helped construct — was being used for several major war crime trials.

"This takes us back to the days of the Roman circus," said Batista defiantly, "when men were fed to the beasts with approval of the crowd.

"How can a judge give a fair trial with 30,000 people screaming to hang the defendants? This is indeed a primitive approach Castro has introduced."

Batista seemed fully aware that should he ever be forced to return to Cuba, something larger than the sports arena would be needed for his trial.

NEXT: Batista's last hours in Cuba and his plans for the future.

convictions." No man fears he'll be pointed out as an informer or "chivato" merely through the spite of a neighbor.

The new government and new Army are demanding proof to go with the accusations.

The new freedoms are most evident in Old Havana, and especially on The Prado, which stretches its tree-lined magnificence from Central Park to the sea.

There, where this reporter once could count no more than six people hurrying along the marble walks at night, now there are hundreds promenading until all hours of the morning.

Arm-in-arm with their girls, young men walk and stop and talk and you hear laughter that only a month ago was like a foreign language here.

Is prosperity, or at least decent living, to come from the new government to a country that is financially flat on its back?

Most businessmen say "It must, we have no other direction to go!"

Big businessmen look for an influx of new capital brought on by a stabilized government. "At least," they say, "we aren't going to have talk of revolution and a change of government all the time"

Little businessmen look for the tourists and the money that will help them pay their long overdue bills as it seeps down through the economy.

And tourists, when they begin coming again, will find a different, happier atmosphere than they have seen in the country before.

A coffee vendor offers you a tiny paper cup of cafe solo in a small park near the Capitol and you ask him, "How are things for you these days?"

And he sets the thermos on a bench to pound his chest with both hands and say, "I am free!"

Cuba's face has been lifted. It shines bright with hope.

Nine people came close, but nobody won last week's Sunny Fortune Puzzle, so there's a $400 pot awaiting some lucky reader.

SUNNY

He'll have to be darned lucky too, according to Puzzle Fan Norman Drysdale, who writes from Marathon:

"As I see it, the game has ceased to be one of skill and is now a lottery with the odds of picking by blind chance the correct combination more than a million to one."

The odds are high, but not that high, Mr. Drysdale. If you figure a 50-50 chance on each of 16 letters, the odds of any one entry winning work out to 65,536 to one.

With the number of entries running around 37,000 for each contest, you can see why a winner can't be expected every time. But that's what makes a puzzle puzzling and keeps the pots building up.

Other fans writing in last week agree that there was more skill involved in the old style puzzles. Phyllis Pinard of San Juan, Puerto Rico, puts it pretty well:

"Let's please go back to the old style," she writes. "It was so much more interesting to lose that way."

Old style, new style, let's turn to 12B and take a whack at this week's $400.

Amnesia Victim Shows Up

The shrill ringing of the telephone got Mrs. Weaver, her mother-in-law, out of bed.

It was the Phoenix police.

"They said they had tried to get my daughter-in-law in Titusville," said Mrs. Weaver. "They learned she had moved back to Miami.

"Then they told me James was alive and had amnesia.

"I didn't believe it at first."

When Mrs. Harrison talked to the police she didn't believe it either. "See if there's a scar on his back," she asked.

There was—just where she said.

She talked to her husband—but he was in half shock and incoherent.

"It was hard for him to believe it wasn't Oct. 8," she said. "About all he could say when he vaguely realized what happened was, 'Oh mama—mama, we've missed Christmas.'

"He couldn't understand why I wasn't in Titusville—and asked just a little about the youngsters.

"I couldn't believe he was living.

"It's a miracle—just a miracle: that's what I keep telling everyone. I can't imagine what brought him out of it. It's just God's way . . ."

Eight-year-old Jamey Harrison sat next to his mother. His eyes shone and he said excitedly: "It will be just like Christmas when Daddy gets home. The biggest Christmas present I ever got."

And seven-year-old son, Mike, seriously added:

"My daddy had magnesia . . . I'll sure be glad to see him."

Slow Rise in Temperature Seen For Gulf States; Tampa Records 70's

Forecasts For Today

KEYS AREA—Cloudy and windy with a few light showers followed by partial clearing late Sunday and Sunday night. Little change in temperatures. High Sunday in mid 70's, low Sunday night 68. Monday partly cloudy, slightly warmer. Small craft warnings displayed for northeast to east winds 20-30 miles per hour, slowly diminishing during Sunday and Sunday night.

INDIAN RIVER AREA—Considerable cloudiness and rather windy Sunday with little change in temperature. Partial clearing Sunday night and Monday. Warmer on Monday. High Sunday 70-74. Low Sunday night about 65. Northeast to east winds 15-25 miles per hour gradually diminishing.

FORT LAUDERDALE AND PALM BEACHES — Cloudy, some rain or drizzle this morning Sunday, partly cloudy and not as much change in termperature.

UPPER WEST COAST AND TALLAHASSEE AREA—Partly cloudy and a little warmer. Northeast to east winds at eight to 15 m.p.h. High, 66.

UPPER EAST COAST AND GAINESVILLE AREA—Considerable cloudiness and warmer. High, 66 to 70. Northeast to east winds at 10 to 20 m.p.h.

SMALL BOAT BULLETIN — Small craft warnings are displayed for northeast to east winds at 20 to 35 m.p.h. slowly diminishing during the day. Seas will be rough and inland waters will be choppy.

MARINE — Jacksonville through the Florida Straits — Small craft warnings are displayed for Vero Beach southward for northeast to east winds at 20 to 35 m.p.h. Over the north position there will be northeast to east winds at 15 to 25 m.p.h. slowly diminishing during the day. Considerable cloudiness. A few showers in the south portion and 15 to 30 m.p.h. portion are likely.

National Summary

Disturbances moving across the northern states coupled with a continuing flow of very cold air from Canada led to snowfall in Montana and from Minnesota into New York and Pennsylvania Saturday afternoon.

Temperatures ranged from zero to a bit below at mid-day along the northern border of the Plains states and were in the teens or lower through the lakes region into New England. Miles City, Mont., registered a three inch increase in snow cover during the morning, while four of the seven inches on the ground at Green Bay, Wis. collected during the forenoon.

Elsewhere east of the continental divide a substantial warming trend pushed temperatures to the 40's in SW South Dakota compared to readings in the teens in the northeast corner of the state and 40's reached from the mid Mississippi and Ohio Valleys into Virginia and Maryland by mid-day.

High pressure preserved a predominantly sunny pattern except for some cloudiness and occasional rain in south Florida and Texas, however considerable cloudiness will accompany a slow rise in temperatures across the Gulf States through the balance of the weekend.

Hearing Due On FEC Plan

JACKSONVILLE — (UPI) — A government hearing will be held here Monday to consider a plan for returning the Florida East Coast railway to private operation.

The session before Federal Judge Bryan Simpson will be a major step in the lengthy legal and administrative process which must precede completion of the reorganization.

Judge Simpson, after the hearing, will write an opinion on the plan which must be returned to the Interstate Commerce Commission.

The new plan was approved by the ICC on Nov. 12, 1958 and gives control to the St. Joe Paper Co., owned by the Alfred I. du Pont estate. It marks the end of a long battle for control of the railway which began when the line went into bankruptcy in 1931.

The present plan is the seventh to be approved by the ICC, six having been thrown out by the courts.

All Night Wait Gets A Verdict

Herald Service

FORT PIERCE — A Circuit Court jury, which deliberated from 10:15 P.M. Friday until 5:30 a.m. Saturday, awarded $124,689 in land payments and attorney's fees, in right-of-way condemnation hearing.

The jury set prices and fees on 55 parcels of land, condemned for widening Okeechobee Rd. from 13th St., to Hartman Rd. The suit started Monday.

County Attorney Ralph Wilson said the land represented about half the property involved in the road widening. The remainder was acquired without condemnation.

Largest single award went to Elvin King, whose grocery store is in the route of the widened road. He received $17,389. Judge John McCarty and a weary group of lawyers waited in the court room all night for the verdict.

Vero Beach Gets Funds For Sewers

Herald Service

VERO BEACH — Federal aid of $199,500 has been approved for the Vero Beach sanitary sewer system, Eugene Lyon, city manager, was notified Friday.

The notice came from Sens. Spessard Holland and George Smathers and Rep. Paul Rogers. Approval was granted by the Department of Health, Education, and Welfare.

The aid funds will be applied on the treatment plant and lift stations. Total cost of the sewerage system and plant is $750,000.

Tie Taxes To Growth --Bailey

TALLAHASSEE — (UPI) — State School Superintendent Thomas D. Bailey Saturday called for a study of Florida's whole tax structure to determine if revenue is increasing proportionately with population.

If it is not, Bailey said, changes should be made to guarantee that it will.

He said any sound tax base must be such that revenue, under normal conditions, will increase at both the state and local level consistent with population growth.

Otherwise, the legislature faces the fearsome alternative of increasing taxes every two years to provide for phenomenal population growth.

Bailey discussed the whole financial problem as the Cabinet Budget Commission prepared to meet next Wednesday and Thursday to grapple with government operation and capital outlay requests that exceed anticipated revenue by 140 million dollars.

As school superintendent and a member of the budget commission, Bailey faces the two-fold problem of fighting for huge increases in school appropriations and, at the same time, helping to frame a balanced budget that will not require new taxes.

One solution to the long-range problem, he said, would be a permanent building fund, supported by other than general revenue appropriations every two years.

He said no private business would think of financing big building expansions over a two-year period. But that is what Florida has been doing.

The last legislature voted a larger two-year building program than had ever been attempted before in a five-year period. Much of it could not be financed and the next legislature faces the problem of this backlog plus millions of dollars in new needs.

Atty. Gen. Richard Ervin has tried unsuccessfully for the past four years to get legislative approval of an amendment to the constitution setting up a permanent building fund. He said he will try again in April.

Bailey said higher real estate assessments would also help the problem by providing more money for local financing of programs now dependent upon state aid.

Many counties have already done a good job along this line, he said, using Brevard as an example where millage was reduced from 20 to seven mills following property reevaluations. The county got as much or more money from the lower millage.

$124,431 Said Missing

'I'm Innocent,' Says Suspected Embezzler

By PETER LAINE
Herald Staff Writer

FORT LAUDERDALE — The prospect of momentary arrest failed to dismay embezzlement suspect Allan S. Fowler at his home here Saturday.

The smart-looking 69-year-old father of two children, nine and 10, said: "I just don't know what it's all about. Of course I'm innocent."

A warrant, issued Friday in Detroit, where Fowler managed a telephone employes' credit union for 18 years, alleged he took $2,382.47 in two months. Total shortage in the credit union accounts is $124,431.63.

The sheriff's department here is waiting for the warrant to arrive to pick Fowler up.

Fowler said he bought his well-kept $20,000 home at 4761 NE Fifth Ave. a year ago. He moved in August, after retiring.

The 12,000-member union gave him a farewell dinner and a full year's salary of $9,000 as a parting gift. A month later a complaint led to an audit of the seven-and-a-half million dollar credit union.

Treasurer John P. Lenhardt said someone had been recording deposits on account cards, then removing both the deposit and the card.

Fowler said he won't fight extradition. "I'll go voluntarily to clear it up just as soon as someone asks me," he declared. "All I've heard is from the papers.

"The credit union hasn't told me a thing," he added. "That's what makes me so mad."

Fowler's children and a dog played around the three-bedroom, two and one-half bath home as he talked. The scene was one of suburban respectability.

"I've been coming here every winter for years," Fowler said. "I'm tied up in church work and was just elected president of the Hammond Organ Society," he continued.

Nancy Sindon Takes Honors

FORT PIERCE — Nancy Sindon, senior at Dan McCarty High School, was named winner of the Jaycee-sponsored "My True Security" contest.

She received a $25 U. S. savings bond, and her recorded talk will be entered in the district finals.

Runners-up were Frank Corso of St. Anastasia's parochial school, and Lonnie Blocker of Lincoln Park Academy.

'Lied To Grand Jury' Ex-Deputy Testifies

King Trial Hears Admitted Perjurer

BARTOW —(UPI)— A former deputy sheriff repudiated his earlier Grand Jury testimony Saturday and denied he was a part of an alleged plan by former State Sen. Harry King to trap former State Rep. Boone Tillett Jr. in a $10,000 extortion attempt.

The testimony came from an admitted perjurer, James Busbee, on the fifth day of King's second trial on charges he planned a perjury scheme to prevent being indicted for paying Tillett $10,000 not to run against him for the state Senate in 1956.

King's earlier conviction was thrown out on technicalities.

Following Busbee's testimony the jury adjourned until 9 a.m. Monday.

Busbee had testified to the grand jury that he and former deputy Rollie Arnold were assigned by former sheriff Pat Gordon to work with King to catch Tillett. But he and Arnold both pleaded guilty last week and are now under a presentence investigation.

Busbee testified Saturday he never even heard of the payoff until he heard news reports of it.

He testified that it was Feb. 28, 1956, before Gordon called him in and he agreed to go along with the plan and release a statement to a Lake Wales newspaper describing the fictitious case.

Early the next day, Feb. 29, he said, he, Arnold and King went to the scene of the payoff made Feb. 4 in a lemon grove near Babson Park.

There, he said, King told them details of the payoff so they would know what to tell the grand jury. Busbee said later that afternoon he gave his testimony to W. T. Hopkins of Tallahassee, then a special state attorney and now a special prosecutor in the King trial.

He said King telephoned him "from time to time" following his interview with Hopkins.

Busbee also admitted that he was picking up some prisoners from the highway patrol and booking them in the county jail about the same time the payoff occurred, which would make it impossible for him to have been at the payoff scene.

He also admitted taking certain records indicating he was at the sheriff's office at the time of the payoff and changing them to remove the conflict in times.

Rites Will Dedicate New Clinic

By ANNE WILDER
Herald Correspondent

FORT PIERCE — The Indian River Mental Health Clinic, at Ave. C and 10th St., will be dedicated at 2 p.m. today by Mayor James L. Howe. An open house will be held until 4 p.m.

The Mental Health Clinic is a project of the Fort Pierce Soroptomist Club, which has spearheaded the campaingn for the clinic for a number of years.

The city donated land, and the building was purchased by the Indian River Mental Health Association. Dr. Neill Miller, St. Lucie County Health officer, is director of the clinic.

The staff includes Dr. Andrew Mathis, psychologist; Esther Smith, psychiatric case worker, and Mrs. Jeannette McMasters, clerk.

Two psychiatrists from the University of Miami visit the clinic once a week.

While the formal dedication is today, the clinic has been in operation since early December. Dr. Miller reports the all-purpose clinic has handled a heavy work load since it began operation.

It serves St. Lucie, Indian River, Okeechobee, and Martin Counties, and has the support of the Tri-County Medical Society.

Extension Opposed

POMPANO BEACH — The Pompano Beach Taxpayers Association has gone on record Friday as opposing any extension of the Port Everglades district limits.

A shift in the port boundary from Oakland Park Beach Blvd. to the north county line is under consideration in current charter changes. It was suggested that the port might take over Hillsboro inlet maintenance.

The association argued that the inlet tax district was formed for a maximum five-year period pending federal aid. It is authorized to levy a half-mill tax.

Fall Injury Proves Fatal For Marine

Herald Service

FORT PIERCE — Injuries, received in an accidental fall at St. Thomas, Virgin Island, were fatal early Saturday to Marine Corps Capt. John M. Crawford, 29. He was stationed at Camp LeJeune, N. C., and was at St. Thomas on maneuvers.

Capt. Crawford, the son of Dewey Crawford, Fort Pierce attorney, was a graduate of Fort Pierce High School and the University of Florida and took aviation training at the Pensacola Naval Air Station.

He is survived by his wife and two sons, of Camp LeJeune, in addition to his parents.

Miss Tina Rufli Top Woman Official

By DOUG SILVER
Herald Correspondent

FORT PIERCE — A little lady with a big budget, County Finance Director Tina Rufli helps guide the destiny of St. Lucie County with a gentle but firm hand.

As the top woman in local government "Miss Tina," as she's affectionately (and respectfully) known, cocks a knowing eye at matters ranging all the way from road and bridge funds to the paper clips for the county offices.

Commissioners come and go but Miss Tina has been handling county business for 14 years.

They decide policies but she's the one who understands all the details that make the wheels go 'round.

Although she takes the minutes of the weekly board meetings, her main work is in the money department.

She pays the county's household bills and — just like a good housewife — sees to it that the county lives within its income.

Once a year, come July and August, she sits down with the county fathers and helps them draft a budget. That's the hardest work of all.

Just like most families, the county needs a lot of things and doesn't quite know where all the money is coming from.

Many commissioners have said that without Miss Tina's help they don't see how they ever could make out a workable budget.

In private life she really isn't Miss Tina at all—she's Mrs. Herman Rufli, has been married 32 years, all of them spent right here in St. Lucie County.

Her household budget? "I let my husband manage that," she smiled. "In my time off I just can't face any more check stubs."

Sailor Believed Lost Trying to Swim River

Herald Bureau

FORT LAUDERDALE — Hope was abandoned Saturday for a sailor from the USS Newport News, heavy cruiser, visiting Port Everglades, who tried to swim across New River early Saturday.

S1C Alexander C. Lowry, 25, disappeared in midstream, near the SE Ninth Ave. bridge, about 1:30 a.m. despite the efforts of three buddies to save him. His body has not been recovered.

Police Sgt. Jack Cunningham said four sailors were walking to the port when they came upon the U.S. 1 detour bridge, left open for boat traffic at night. Lowry said, "I'll just swim across," and jumped in. Halfway across, he got into difficulty.

His three companions — Donald Sarkisian, William White, and David Holtzman — dived in to help him. Sarkisian and Holtzman reached Lowry, but lost him when White also called for help, Cunningham said.

The other sailors said Lowry was not a good swimmer. Police and shore patrol searched the river, and started dragging operations.

These Two Navy Officers Run Navy's OSR system . . . Lts. A. T. Buckmaster and H. W. Albers

They Help Guide Ships To Speedier Atlantic Trips

A new aid to navigation has only been in use a few months but already it has speeded up ocean transportation and saved more than a million dollars. It's called the Optimum Ship Routing system.

The OSR system is aimed at overcoming the ancient bugaboo of the seas—changeable currents and weather conditions which often result in reduced speed and heavy ship damage.

NORFOLK, Va. —(AP)— Two lieutenants in a tiny, cluttered office at the Norfolk Naval Air Station exchanged pleased grins when the message came in:

"Fastest trip ever. Thanks."

It was just one of many similar messages sweated out by Lieutenants Albert T. Buckmaster and Hugh W. Albers. It meant the Atlantic Fleet Service Force ship Antares had crossed from Norfolk to Gibralter in record time using a route plotted daily by Buckmaster and Albers in their cubbyhole.

Since September, when they opened their office, the two lieutenants have shepherded 100 Navy and Military Sea Transportation Service ships across the Atlantic. By next July they expect to handle all Atlantic traffic for MSTS and a major portion of the Atlantic Fleet's business.

They run the Navy's Optimum Ship Routing system. Based on the research of Dr. Richard W. James of the Navy's hydrographic office, the system seeks to overcome the ancient bugaboo of the seas — changeable currents and weather conditions which often result in reduced speed and heavy ship damage.

In the few months of its operation, the OSR system has improved speed of ocean transportation and saved more than one million dollars in hard cash.

The program holds exciting implications for commercial shipping, where the cold facts of economy are vital.

During fiscal 1957, American shippers lost $2,665,441 in foundered and damaged ships, and $433,730 in cargo damage. During the period 1952-56, a total of $12,766,132 was recorded in ship losses and cargo damage was set at $952,020.

These are commercial figures. There is no available record of monetary losses to naval vessels during the same periods.

Some shipping companies reportedly have begun providing OSR service for their own operations in an effort to reduce weather damage costs and speed schedules.

Stated simply, the James-Navy concept provides willing ship masters (or naval captains) with constant and controlled guidance through the potential treachery of oceanic weather.

Armed with Dr. James' published thesis, Buckmaster and Albers labor long hours every day herding ships across the tricky Atlantic — ships they are not likely ever to see.

As explained by Buckmaster, OSR is "a matter of improved forecasting machinery, close communications and confidence . . . and a spot of luck." Perhaps a recent episode will serve better to explain the technical features of the system, and its end product.

On Sept. 15, 1957, the Military Sea Transportation Service ship USNS Buckner weighed anchor in New York harbor. Eight days later she dropped her hook at Bremerhaven, Germany. From start to finish Buckmaster and Albers called the shots.

Two days before Buckner was due to depart, the two lieutenants armed themselves with a series of five-day weather prognostications ("progs") they call them. Hunching over their charting table in Fleet Weather Facility, Norfolk, they started the project.

A set of five progs gave them a fairly clear picture of the predictable weather the Buckner would face cruising eastward. The lieutenants laid out a series of first-day course legs, selected the best from all angles and passed it on to the ship, with projected tentative headings for successive days.

Capt. K. C. Towne, skipper of the Buckner and a man with 40 years' sea-going experience, was on his way with what the lieutenants considered to be his quickest and safest routing to Bremerhaven.

But something happened on the second day to alter the script. The OSR team noted an alarming shift in weather when new progs developed. To the north a storm was moving down, and would lay a heavy hand on Buckner if she plied her original course pattern.

Buckmaster and Albers reworked their chart and decided to send the ship more to the south, giving her a heading to skirt the storm line. So painstaking and accurate was their work that on her final leg Buckner picked up a heavy following sea that booted her neatly home at high speed.

Veteran seafarer Towne was amazed. He conceded that at first he was "a bit skeptical" about the whole thing. Since that first passage the lieutenants have ushered him across five times more.

"Well, we have 60 nails up there and I guess we can drive in a few more," he said. He noted that at the time 13 ships were under surveillance and six more were preparing to depart for Europe.

Requiring only that ships give them 48 hours notice, Buckmaster says he and Albers "keep in touch with them all the way . . . and sweat them out." Every 24 hours a ship gives a position report and a summary of weather conditions.

Dr. James wrote in his thesis in 1956:

"The inevitable result of the successful accomplishment of this task will be improved maritime economy, and progress to date strongly indicates that a reasonable solution to the problem may soon be realized."

At Korean Conference Meetings

U.N. Chief Plays Propaganda Tune as Reds Burn

Miami Herald-Chicago News Wire

PANMUNJOM, Korea — A seagoing lawyer has introduced a cozy family atmosphere to the otherwise rigidly formal meetings of the U.N. Military Armistice Commission.

Smartly dressed American embassy wives peered through the open windows of the conference hall as Rear Adm. Ira H. Nunn, chief U.N. forces delegate, exchanged unpleasantries with his North Korean Communist counterpart.

Nunn wanted to know what happened to more than 2,000 U.N. prisoners including 452 Americans the Reds have not accounted for.

The Communists, in turn, demanded an accounting for 98,000 of their prisoners.

Neither side expected anything from the other except propaganda and nobody was disappointed. However, visitors, including the embassy wives, had a pleasant outing.

"I like to have women up here because they talk a lot and write letters," said Nunn, 48, softspoken Southerner and veteran of the Navy's Judge Advocate General's office.

"Since no decisions are made here — there is no judge or jury — we might as well get what propaganda we can out of these meetings."

Nunn, the 13th chief delegate since the Armistice Commission was set up five years ago, has had the Seoul Rotary Club and American teenagers attend meetings as his guests.

"The kids got a big kick out of it and I think they learned something," said Nunn, who, in the 2½ months he's been here, has called four out of six commission meetings. This reversed the usual procedure since the U.N. side generally has let the Communists have the initiative.

As a lawyer Nunn deplores the cut and dried procedure of the meetings in which one side reads a prepared statement and the other side replies in kind. He has tried to draw the Communists into give and take discussions but without success.

"It's like trying to play a cornstalk fiddle with a shoestring bow," he sighed.

The Communists haven't objected to visitors. However, they are still complaining because Nunn installed a microphone and amplifying system which carries conference proceedings to other buildings, including the press hut.

The microphone sits in the middle of the conference table, half in U.N. territory, half in Communist territory. The Reds refuse to recognize the existence of the microphone but don't dare chuck it out.

The reason is long ago the Communists agreed to let the U.N. be responsible for housekeeping chores. Nunn contends the installation of an amplifying system was only a household improvement.

"We offered to install loudspeakers in the Communist building but they refused," Nunn said. "That's their tough luck."

Younk Demo Leader Due

Nelson Lancione, president of the Young Democratic Clubs of America, will arrive in Miami this afternoon for two days of conferences with party leaders here.

His visit is to discuss plans for the April convention at the Roney Plaza Hotel, Miami Beach, of the Young Demcrats' National Executive Committee.

Lancione will meet Miami Democratic leaders at a reception this afternoon at the home of Joseph Murphy, 701 Alcazar Ave., Coral Gables. He also will be guest of honor at a dinner party tonight at the Roney Plaza.

BAXTER TURNS BULLISH ON GOLD SHARES

Noted monetary expert sees sharp boom

A widespread boom in gold stocks is about ready to explode, according to economist William J. Baxter's latest Bulletin entitled "The Flight From The Dollar."

In this startling Bulletin Baxter shows that there is a worldwide rush to get out of dollars and into gold. He points out that last year alone the United States lost two billion dollars in that precious metal. He shows why the politicians will inevitably force a rise in the fixed price of gold.

Which gold stocks will profit most? Which will have the sharpest rise? Which low priced issues can be bought for potentially large gains? Get this Bulletin for the answers, and for Baxter's convincing reasons for forecasting an explosive gold boom. It is available at $2. Use the coupon below.

The Duchess Will Pay Social Call on Latin America

Another royal misson calling for tact and charm is in store for the beautiful and intelligent Duchess of Kent. She will soon set off on a month-long goodwill tour of Mexico, Peru, Chile and Brazil — and no one doubts that the Latins will find her an excellent spokesman for Great Britain.

Her selection to make polite social calls on the Latin countries is another indication of the diplomatic use Great Britain is making of its attractive royal women — the Queen Mother, Princess Margaret and the Duchess of Kent's own 21-year-old daughter, Princess Alexandra.

The Duchess of Kent

. . . for goodwill

LONDON — (AP) — The Svelte Duchess of Kent is about to set off on another royal mission.

Around the middle of February the 51-year-old duchess, a classic beauty of keen intelligence, will start on a month-long journey by air to Mexico, Peru, Chile and Brazil. Her goodwill tour will call for tact, gracious conduct and a friendly smile — and no one doubts the duchess will carry off the assignment with finesse.

Her selection to make polite social calls on the Latin American countries is another indication of the great use Great Britain is making of its attractive royal women. Four of them, having no exacting family obligations, are now available to give the deft royal touch to British relationships with foreign lands and colonies. They are Queen Elizabeth, the queen mother, Princess Margaret, the Duchess of Kent and, just coming into her own, the duchess' 21-year-old daughter, Princess Alexandra.

The Foreign Office lays stress on promoting friendly associations with South American countries and Mexico. The duchess was regarded a more suitable person to send on a Latin American mission than technical experts or swarms of salesmen.

Official journeys which the duchess has made to Hong Kong, Singapore and Malaya were regarded as highly successful. In Ghana, where she opened that new nation's first independent parliament, her cordial meetings with Kwame Nkrumah gave a lift to British prestige in colonies of colored peoples. The duchess, said the political analysts at home, has the flair for getting along with folks. They recalled with new appreciation what France's former President Auriol said of her:

"She would have made a magnificent diplomat."

Widow of Prince George, who was killed in a plane crash in 1942, the duchess was fully occupied for some years rearing her three children. But they require less of a mother's attention now, and the duchess' name is appearing more often on royalty's duty roster.

Britain became acquainted with the duchess as Marina, glamor princess, daughter of a Russian Grand duke. She came here in 1934 to be the bride of the fourth son of King George V, Prince George.

She touched off a Marina vogue and fad. Hundreds of 24 and 25-year-old girls in Britain today are called Marina, because it became the fashionable name for girl babies.

The sapphire became the correct gem for an engagement ring, because a sapphire was chosen by Marina.

The princess, who had been living in exile in Paris, on that day in 1934 brought to England such a hat as had never been seen in the United Kingdom. Some called it a "pork-pie" creation, and others thought it resembled a pill box. But the women of England regarded it as "smashing." The Marina hat became a rage, giving milliners frantic occupation for many weeks.

Then there was a new twist which a chemist gave to a color for cloth, and Marina fancied it. So it became "Marina blue," recognized and established in London fashion houses down to this moment.

It was inevitable that the slender, brown-haired princess with the husky voice should have become a leader of fashion in Britain. It was a role she didn't like, but one which came to her naturally. She has the figure to do justice to a pretty dress and the artistic sense to choose colors and designs well.

At her wedding in Westminster Abbey, Nov. 29, 1934, Princess Elizabeth, then an eight-year-old girl and now Queen Elizabeth II, was a train bearer. The wedding was the smartest social occasion of a decade. It was the first service ever broadcast from the historic abbey. As a wedding gift Prince George was created a duke, and Marina became a duchess.

She became quickly a real influence in the royal houses. Until then Britain's royal women were not great travelers, Scotland being about as far as they ventured. But the Duchess of Kent who had lived, sometimes precariously, as an exile in Greece, Switzerland and for a long time in Paris, introduced a continental note.

She was admired, and in many ways emulated, by the present queen when she was a princess, and by Princess Margaret. Three kings, George V, Edward VIII and George VI listened with respect when she spoke of the trend of European events.

The trend was toward war and personal tragedies. Her first two children were born early in her married life, Prince Edward, now the Duke of Kent, in 1935, and Princess Alexandra on Christmas Day in 1936.

The duchess served in the war as a nurse in casualty wards of the University College Hospital in London, and in Iver and Denham hospitals. These activities were interrupted by the birth of her youngest son, Prince Michael, now 16.

During the war her husband, an air commodore, was killed in a plane crash in Scotland. From the tragedy she recovered very slowly under the ministrations of the late Queen Mary.

There followed years of comparative seclusion in her two homes — Coppins, by royal standards a modest country place in Buckinghamshire, and a "grace and favor" flat in London's Kensington Palace. Grace and favor properties are at the disposal of the queen, who assigns them to deserving persons and institutions. Kensington Palace has a sentimental place in the esteem of the royal family as the birthplace of Queen Victoria.

The duchess, encouraged by her lively children, is emerging from the seclusion. In Hong Kong and London she has laid cornerstones. She has lately launched a tanker and renewed her interest in tennis. Cambridge University made her an honorary doctor of laws.

Now she is increasingly available for royal duties such as the good will tour of Latin America, that call for a lady's charm and diplomacy.

Shovelers Get The Snow Back

CHICAGO — (AP) — Workmen at a gas station near the Loop worked twice as hard as they planned in removing snow from their property.

They first shoveled the snow into the street and when two city buses got stuck, the Chicago Transit Authority called police. Police ordered a city snowplow. It shoved the snow right back into the gas station driveway.

'OKLAHOMA!' FOR INSTANCE

Musicarnival Founder Likes Themes on American History

By HELEN VAN HOY SMITH
Herald Staff Writer

John L. Price
. . . show biz veteran

WEST PALM BEACH — John L. Price of Musicarnival fame is beating the drums for American opera.

"Why should we have our prima donnas singing about girls dying in Paris garrets, flower girls, Italian Romeos, and Norwegian goddesses.

"America has a hearty history that lends itself to story and song. That's one reason I enjoyed producing "Oklahoma!" last year. It was taken from the pages of American history.

"What we must do in this country is to lose our inferiority complex about American culture. It's true that in the past we had to go to Europe for study. Now Europe is coming to us."

John Price, who started the Musicarnival last year, is founder and producer of the Musicarnival in Cleveland, Ohio. A show business veteran, less than 40 years old, he has been active in the theater for almost 20 years as actor, writer, director, and producer. On network radio and TV he has appeared with the Bob Hope Show, the Gene Autry Show and Duffy's Tavern.

Musicarnival season starts here Feb. 10 with "The King and I." Price and his associate are praying that the weatherman will be in a kinder mood than last year.

He thinks it's fine for the Norton Players to produce Hamlet. Sure, he admits they may be wading beyond their depth, but what a privilege it is to the players and the audience to get even a small taste of Shakespere.

John Price admits that the stage on a ring theater puts the performers really "on the spot." There are no wings from which to receive promptings. If anything goes wrong you can't beat a hasty retreat. You are there and the audience is all around you. "You've got to give."

All actors run—not walk—down the darkened ramps to the stage. They must be agile and strong.

"All our performers are first class stock actors and actresses. Their voices are the best in road show business. The people last year liked the Musicarnival. We hope they'll like it this year."

Price is the smiling, intense, young man who came out after every performance last year and bade the audience good night. Then he left for the parking lot and waved the motorists au revoir.

'59 March of Dimes Campaign Drawn Up

By ROSA NASH
Herald Correspondent

BELLE GLADE — Mrs. R. V. Allison, Glades area chairman for the 1959 March of Dimes Campaign, has announced the complete program for the area from Lake Harbor to Canal Point. Assisting Mrs. Allison with the drive are Mrs. John L. Evans, Lake Harbor and Bean City; Mrs. Ray Sullivan, South Bay; Mrs. Mendel J. Luce, Belle Glade; Mrs. Phillip White and Mrs. Ray Hatton, Pahokee and Canal Point.

At Mrs. Allison's request, Police Chiefs Charles Goodlett of Belle Glade and Leon Guthrie of Pahokee, will supervise handling of donation cans throughout the campaign.

An unusual feature this year will be plane rides provided by local pilots from Pahokee Airport from noon today until 5 p.m. This had originally been planned for last Sunday and changed at the last moment.

Ted Roman, Belle Glade pilot, announced that the 15-minute rides in the lake region will be available in return for a small donation to the fund.

Fuel for the rides will be donated and pilots donating the use of their planes and time are Frank Belk, Sam Belk, Allen Zale, Edgar Wilder, of Pahokee and Canal Point; Roman, Dr. Roy Brown, George Crews, Francis L. Harris, Harry Hunter, L. E. Griffin, Lawrence Altman and Paul Cold, of Belle Glade and South Bay.

The annual Mother's March will take place Jan. 29, in conjunction with the County March, and will be spearheaded by Beta Sigma Phi Chapters in Belle Glade and Pahokee.

Mrs. Allison also expects to have tag day set up in business houses to accept donations, and will spearhead a drive to collect in the various grammar and high schools in the area. These donations are expected to be small, and from the allowances of children — not from their parents.

Mrs. Allison pointed out that the cost of case work in this area far exceeded donations taken up in the past, and therefore she is making a special effort to make this year's collections far exceed those of previous years. Donations by check, she said, may be mailed to her at Belle Glade, and she particularly wanted to stress the tax exemption gained.

Museum Board Elects Officers

WEST PALM BEACH — Mrs. Daniel E. Taylor has been elected president of the Junior Museum Board of Trustees. Other officers are Willis F. Woods, vice president; B. D. Cole Jr., treasurer; and Mrs. J. K. Siebrecht, secretary. Offices are to run for a three-month period.

Mrs. Taylor has announced the following committee chairmen: James Y. Arnold, building and grounds; Robert Murphy, publicity; Mrs. Frank A. Taylor, membership.

Next meeting of the board will be Monday at the Palm Beach Biltmore Hotel.

Dance Pupils To Perform

LAKE WORTH — Pupils of Mary's Dance Studios will give exhibitions of both ballroom and square dancing at the meeting of the Lake Worth Women's Club Wednesday at 2 p.m.

New club members will also be honored that day. Mrs. J. Arnold Johnson is program chairman and Mrs. Geraldine Harrison, hostess chairman.

The Women's Club will sponsor a dessert card party in the club house Friday to which the public is invited. Mrs. Robert Brown and Mrs. C. W. Schwabe are chairmen.

Fall on Stairs Fatal to Woman

WEST PALM BEACH — A 68-year-old woman was found dead at the foot of the stairs of her apartment at 120 Churchill Rd. Friday night.

Police said Mrs. Priscilla Perkins apparently fell down the stairs this morning on the way to get her newspaper. Her body was discovered by Dr. Joseph West. The woman had been dead for several hours.

She lived alone. Police Friday night were attempting to locate survivors. A dog found in her apartment was turned over to the Animal Rescue League.

These Burglars Aren't Alarmed

TRENTO, Italy — (UPI) — After two burglaries, a local grocery and general store installed a burglar alarm.

Then the thieves got in again, stole food and cigarets, dismantled the alarm and took it with them.

Polk Man Jailed in Alabama

MONTGOMERY, Ala. — (AP) — A perennial candidate for political office in Florida is in jail here on a federal warrant charging him with driving a stolen car across state lines.

James Blewett of Lakeland, who escaped from a mental institution at Arcadia, was sent to jail in lieu of $1,500 bond following his arraignment before U. S. Commissioner Ralph Hughes here Tuesday.

Two city detectives arrested Blewett Monday on a charge of stealing an auto from a used car lot at Punta Gorda. Detective Capt. E. P. Brown said he admitted the charge.

Blewett, who has made frequent campaigns for the state senate in Polk County, was turned over to federal authorities after his arrest.

Reward Raised In Shooting

TALLAHASSEE — (AP) — The reward for information leading to the arrest of the night hunter who wounded a state game warden here rose to $600 Saturday when the Northeast Florida Sportsmen's Club of Nassau County added $100.

Previously the State Game Commission and the Leon County Sheriff's office had each offered $250. The wildlife officer, Harry Chapin, was shot but not seriously wounded Dec. 20 while attempting to arrest a person illegally hunting at night.

Engine Hums, Car Is Still

SAN CARLOS, Calif. — (UPI) — John H. Beeger got behind the wheel of his sports car, released the brake, started the engine, stepped on the gas and went nowhere fast.

Someone had stolen the drive shaft.

$450,000 Price Tag Is Put On Naples Courthouse-Jail

By TOM MORGAN
Naples Bureau Chief

NAPLES — A county courthouse and jail on the Gallahue site in Naples will cost $450,000 but perhaps 60 per cent of the cost — $290,000 — could be met through gifts and funds already planned for additions to the present site in Everglades.

These are conclusions from figures prepared by a fact-finding committee of the Naples Civic Association to aid those who need facts before deciding on "the proposed moving of the county seat from Everglades to Naples."

The group report was made public today by Chairman W. T. (Tom) Truesdale. It has no conclusion because, Truesdale said, they might be controversial and the only aim is to inform.

Petitions seeking a vote on relocating the county seat are now being circulated by Naples Jaycees. Dudley R. Gallahue, Indianapolis millionaire, has offered a site and a $65,000 branch building on Ninth Avenue South which could be expended to a full courthouse and jail.

The building would be rented to the county for 10 years at 10 per cent of the annual construction cost and then would become county property.

Gallahue's architect William G. Tracy was said to have prepared complete plans for a courthouse and jail to cost $450,000 and have parking for 50 cars. Additional parking on four lots across Ninth Avenue is offered.

A counter gift offer of 10 acres of land on the Immokalee-Naples highway in east Naples has been made by B. W. Morris Jr. provided the entire county seat facilities are located on his tract. The report says Morris has now doubled the offer to total 20 acres adjoining the swamp buggy grounds.

Gallahue's site is valued at $50,000 and is about an acre and a quarter. Morris' 20-acre tract is valued at $40,000 and is about three miles from town.

Gallahue's jail would have 10,800 square feet of space compared with the present 6,980 square foot one which is to be expanded at Everglades at a cost of $175,000.

His courthouse with 9,950 square feet will compare with the present 10,285 square foot one for which additional space must be rested in Everglades and Naples.

Gallahue's county seat unit at $450,000 could have credited against it the $175,000 which would then not have to be spent on a jail addition at Everglades, $25,000 needed for plumbing repair there, $25,000 in steel cells which could be salvaged from the present jail, and the $65,000 gift here.

This would leave the net cost for Naples jail and courthouse at $160,000 over what is already to be spent or what could be saved.

The report notes $253,599 in annual county salaries, fees and commissions in the last budget, plus $105,575 in jail expenses, material and truck costs, much of which would probably move with the courthouse.

The present courthouse and jail are estimated to have cost $390,090 and $8,870 annual rent is paid on other facilities here and in Everglades.

Farm Tax Issue Still Unsolved

TALLAHASSEE — (AP) — Does a farm remain a farm when it is engulfed by an expanding urban area?

This question is proving one of the most troublesome facets of Florida's tax structure, both to assessors in counties of rapid urban growth and to farmers themselves.

The 1957 Legislature enacted a law which provides agricultural land, even though within an area platted for development, shall be assessed on an acreage basis as farmland.

The 1957 act was sponsored by the Dade County legislative delegation. Sen. Joe Eaton of Miami said, at the time, many Dade County farms had suddenly found themselves surrounded by housing developments as Miami suburbs mushroomed.

The Dade County tax assessor was assessing these "captured" farms on the basis of the value of the land for subdivision development rather than for its value as a producer of crops, Eaton said.

But it has developed that the 1957 law did not solve any problem.

Some assessors claim the 1957 act is unconstitutional because it violates both the requirement for a uniform and equal rate of taxation, and the full value law.

They contend that when, because of expansion of a metropolitan area, a farm actually becomes a part of the urban area it must be assessed at value for residential or commercial use, even though still used for crops.

Farmers, however, claim that, if they are making their livelihood off the land by raising crops or livestock, it should be valued as any other farm, even though engulfed by urban development.

A suit is now pending in Broward County Circuit Court, testing the constitutionality of the 1957 law.

James Ervin, state attorney general, said there was no question the farmer who lives on his farm and tills the soil has justification to complain when his farm is taxed as urban property for no reason except a city has grown to meet it.

But the assessor has his side of the story too, Ervin said.

He said there appears nothing to prevent a land developer from buying land and plat it for development, then, until he is ready to start selling, plant it, or turn out a few steers, and claim agricultural use for tax purposes.

Ervin said many assessors feel that, under the full value law, they must assess property they know has a high value as a potential subdivision, at urban levels rather than at a low-agricultural acreage rates, even though it actually is producing cabbages or grazing hogs.

Batista: That Fidel's a Barbaric Dictator

EXCLUSIVE

BEEBE

A stream of newspaper wire service reporters has been flowing into Ciudad Trujillo for three weeks, seeking the first full length interview with Fulgencio Batista since he was forced from the Cuban presidency by Fidel Castro's rebels.

He talked briefly to two reporters, refused admittance to all others.

Herald Managing Editor George Beebe finally cracked the barrier with a three-hour interview. His first stories appear today.

CIUDAD TRUJILLO, Dominican Republic — Fulgencio Batista, Cuba's fallen dictator, broke his silence here Saturday to call current activities in Cuba the work of a "barbaric and sadistic" upstart—Fidel Castro.

Angered and bitter after reading news accounts of trials and executions masterminded by Castro, Batista leveled a blast at the new Cuban man of the hour.

"Castro said he wanted to be nothing in the new Cuban government. His only title is delegate of the president to the armed forces. What does this mean?

"He is not chief of the army, the navy and air force. He is neither prime minister nor president.

"Yet he dictates all policies, says who should be executed—but has no official position.

"Is this democracy? Or is it dictatorship and tyranny?"

Despite his bitterness over activities of the Castro regime, Batista wants the world to know he has no intention of organizing an invasion force to combat Castro.

"I gave up the presidency to avoid further killing of my people. I have no desire to build a force that could only mean more bloodshed and unhappiness to my country," he said from his Hotel Jaragua apartment where he has taken temporary asylum.

Batista said that if some of his followers have moved into Castro's old stronghold in the Sierra Maestra mountains, it is without his knowledge.

As you might well imagine, Batista thinks Castro is a bum.

He didn't exactly use that word in describing the young upstart who so rudely unseated him as his term was running out.

But he did pull out a collection of such unflattering words as "tyrant, sadist, murderer and liar" in condemning the tactics of Cuba's bearded hero of the hour.

He implied he could have used the word "ingrate."

"I saved Fidel Castro from death back in 1953 when he killed six soldiers during a July 26 uprising in Santiago. Now he is ordering the execution of the leaders of my government."

Batista said that Castro must be held responsible for "weakening of Cuba's economy through destruction of bridges and highways, the burning of sugar cane fields and mills and with driving tourists from the island."

How about the atrocities that are being charged against him—with published pictures to prove it?

Batista bristled. "I have seen some of these pictures and I think they are the work of Castro, and not my men. If they did take place, it was without my sanction.

"I gave the order to suppress the rebel activity. Both sides have played rough these last two years."

Obviously smarting under condemnation of the American press, Batista was quick to pull out what he termed a "typical example of Castro terrorism."

He said that high-ranking aides had reported to him how Castro's men took a father of four children near Bayamo

'Like a Young Girl'

Cuban People Laugh Again

Where does Castro go from here? 1H

Herald Staff Writer James Buchanan, who lived with the rebels during Cuba's rugged mountain campaign, returned to Havana to cover their victory celebration and war crimes trials. He found a new and different city. This is his portrait of Havana today.

By JAMES BUCHANAN
Herald Staff Writer

BUCHANAN

HAVANA — Cuba's face has been lifted.

She looks and acts like a young girl today, and not the haggard, fearful thing of less than a month ago.

Change is apparent everywhere in the island and in every walk of life. There's happiness, and gaiety and most of all — hope.

"I walk looking up," a shopkeeper says. "The sun is on my face, not here," and he pats the back of his neck.

The rejuvenation lies in the revolution.

How long will it last?

The young rebel government says, "Forever."

The seasoned businessman shrugs his shoulders and answers, "Who knows?"

But like the others, the businessmen of Cuba have hope.

Ask an insurance company executive whether he believes the Urrutia administration's pledge of "clean and honest government" and he'll say:

"We'll have to see if they keep their promises any more than the others. Human nature, you understand? Maybe Cuban human nature.

"For awhile, maybe three, maybe five years, I believe things will be good. Then will come the test of goodness and honesty when the officials are solidly in."

Right now Cuba is vibrant and excited and most important it is speaking.

On every street corner, in every cantina, at every coffee counter, Cubans are telling each other what they think the government should do.

For years they have been afraid to say more than "Good Morning" to even a fellow Cuban. And to voice a complaint against the government, the army or the national police could result in imprisonment.

Today, it takes more than a word to bring about "instant

Castro To Push 2 Trials

HAVANA — (AP) — Havana's revolutionary tribunal, with thousands of Cubans looking on, is going ahead with plans to resume action in the city's big Sports Stadium Monday despite worldwide criticism of the carnival-like proceedings.

The tribunal will then call to trial Capt. Pedro Morejon on charges of assassination, homicide and robbery.

A five-man appeal court was expected to rule soon on the death sentence of Maj. Jesus Sosa Blanco, the first man to be tried in the arena.

One Havana newspaper said Sosa Blanco's execution by firing squad was expected momentarily.

After Morejon, Lt. Col. Ricardo Luis Grao is to face the court, but his trial is expected to be the last in public in Havana. About 1,000 other prisoners accused of war crimes by the revolutionary regime are expected to go before tribunals in La Cabana fortress or elsewhere.

Reports persisted that Fidel Castro, the revolutionary army chieftain who is now in Caracas to celebrate the anniversary of the overthrow of the Venezuelan dictatorship of Marcos Perez Jimenez, had suggested that radio and television broadcasts of the trials be banned henceforth.

However, the commandant at La Cabana, where the accused are held, said he had not received any such instruction.

Roof Collapses: 3 Killed, 8 Hurt

HUNTSVILLE, Ont. —(AP)— Three persons—a married couple and a 13-year-old boy—were killed Saturday when the roof of a curling rink at nearby Britannia Lodge collapsed. Eight other persons were injured.

Eleven persons were in the building about noon when the roof caved in under the weight of snow and a heavy wind.

Authorities identified the dead as Mr. and Mrs. Eric Chudleigh of Dixie, near Toronto, and John Canfield of Woodstock, Ont.

Flood Misery Mounts

Damage Tops $100 Million

COLUMBUS, Ohio — (AP) — Fires and biting cold aggravated the woes of thousands of residents of flood-stricken communities Saturday.

Flood losses mounted beyond the 100-million-dollar mark. More than 11,000 were homeless and hundreds of others shivered in unheated houses.

Ohio bore the heaviest burden and was placed in a state of emergency. Gov. Michael DiSalle estimated damage in the state at 83 million dollars or more and figured the death toll may reach 25 or 30.

Ohio had 14 known dead. Other flood deaths included Indiana three, New York five and Pennsylvania one. The total stood at 23.

Fire destroyed three businesses and damaged four others in the heart of Zanesville's commercial district. Flames damaged a heating plant and gymnasium at Wilmington College.

Firemen stood by helplessly while flames raced through a warehouse in flooded Meadville, Pa. Hydrants were frozen and under water.

More than 2,000 persons homeless in Meadville. Two huge ice gorges in French Creek backed up water over 10 per cent of the city of 25,000 population.

The Scioto River began to recede slowly in Chillicothe, Ohio. Icy waters broke over a sandbag embankment Friday and forced about 8,000 residents out of their houses.

Three hundred families were ready to abandon their dwellings in Marietta if an overflow occurs.

Pomeroy, downstream from Marietta, expects the flood crest about noon today. Some business people already were moving out.

Other U.S. Leaders Drop

Herald Gain in Ads Is Gain for You, Too

The Miami Herald is the only newspaper among America's top 10 in total advertising that showed a gain in 1958, Media Records reported Saturday.

For the second straight year The Herald is in second place.

While some of the national leaders were recording losses exceeding four million lines, The Herald gained 574,903 lines of advertising.

Such progress means a better paper for readers.

In addition to giving you a wider shopping choice, more advertising makes possible more news space to keep you abreast of what's going on in this busy world.

The continued growth in advertising and circulation of The Herald reflects the exciting expansion all along Florida's famed Gold Coast. More than 70,000 families are moving into this area each year.

Americans Are Ripe For Peace—Mikoyan

40 Planes Stacked Up In Overcast

By CHARLES TAYLOR
Herald Staff Writer

More than 40 airplanes were circling at once in "hold" areas around the city during the rush hours late Saturday afternoon.

Some planes had to wait up to an hour for landing instructions, the control tower at the airport reported. There was no delay in outgoing planes.

But the Miami Weather Bureau said a break in the cloudy, drizzly weather should come Sunday afternoon.

Forecaster Gil Clark said gray skies should start breaking up when stiff northeast winds that roughed up fishing waters Saturday shift to the east and southeast.

But he said the change to sunny weather will be "gradual."

Brightest spot in the weather outlook was that no more cold is in sight, Clark said. Temperatures in the mid-70s were predicted for South Florida Sunday. Sunday night should be warm, too, the Weather Bureau added.

At Miami International Airport, landing delays were not as long as delays Friday, when planes waited up to two and a half hours to be guided through leaden skies by instruments to the landing strip.

An airplane was circling at every 1,000 feet above the 6,000-foot level at some 10 or 12 "holding" areas around Miami.

No planes were diverted to other airports, however. During Friday's long wait to land, several planes ran low on fuel and had to land at Tampa, West Palm Beach or Nassau.

Fairy Tale About to Come True

Bourke Previews a Preview, 6F

"Sleeping Beauty," Walt Disney's biggest, richest film, will open here Feb. 10 in a Lend-a-Hand premiere that will be a fairy tale come true for 600 underprivileged kids.

Proceeds of the Hollywood-style opening of the six-million-dollar full-length cartoon feature will go toward sending 600 Dade boys and girls to The Herald's Lend-a-Hand summer camp.

Twenty years in the planning, six years in the making, "Sleeping Beauty" will have an exclusive, unlimited engagement at Miami Beach's Sheridan Theater.

'Murdered' Man's on Way Home to Family in Miami

By MIKE MORGAN
Herald Staff Writer

A 32-year-old Miamian, for the last three months believed murdered, was on his way home to his overjoyed family late Saturday.

James E. Harrison, allegedly an amnesia victim, said he recovered his memory while walking the streets of Phoenix, Ariz., Friday night, unaware police were looking for his body in Jacksonville.

He said he was unaware what had happened to him since Oct. 7. He thought it was Oct. 8, 1958 when he found himself in Phoenix, his wife said Saturday.

Harrison's wife and two children are staying with her mother-in-law, Mrs. Norman J. Weaver of 283 NW 53rd St.

The Harrisons own a home here at 1022 SW 34th St. But the slender, attractive Mrs. Harrison had sold the furniture and rented the house.

Until a week ago his wife, Jeanne, still hoped her husband still lived. But she became convinced of his death when a convict "confessed" to murdering him in Jacksonville just a week ago.

The convict, Roy V. Olson, recited details which brought her to the reluctant conclusion her husband was murdered by the hitchiker-robber.

Olson, serving a murder sentence at Vacaville, Calif., typed out a confession that he and James E. Leach, 21, hitchhiked a ride with Harrison the day Harrison disappeared from Titusville.

Harrison had moved there from Miami and established a window manufacturing company at Cocoa.

Olson said he robbed Harrison of $500 and stabbed him to death.

Olson also implicated Leach, who was arrested Saturday by the FBI in Knoxville. Leach denied he ever killed anyone but told Duval County officers he could show them where a body is buried.

Harrison said he stopped his car for a traffic light in Cocoa Beach and a man entered and forced him to drive to Jacksonville.

The last thing he remembered, he said, was the man telling him to pull into a parking lot at Jacksonville. He was slugged — next thing he remembered was walking the streets of Phoenix.

Now authorities are wondering if someone else first robbed and slugged Harrison — someone who was carrying Harrison's identification papers and later was murdered by Olson.

The bizarre puzzle has police in several states working to solve it.

Saturday Mrs. Harrison told The Herald she had hoped and prayed her husband was alive.

But she virtually abandoned hope when told about the murder "confession" a week ago—a confession bolstered with apparently irrefutable details.

Her family, she said, was even readying arrangements for a funeral service.

But at 1:50 a.m. Saturday

No. 2 Red Reports At Home

MOSCOW —(UPI)— Soviet Deputy Premier Anastas I. Mikoyan, reporting that he found the American people ripe for a cold war settlement, Saturday called again for East-West talks to head off a Berlin impasse May 30.

The Armenian-born Russian trade chief repeated previous Soviet statements that the Kremlin might suspend its May 30 deadline for turning over its occupation powers in Berlin to the East Germans provided the U.S., Britian and France agreed to negotiate the Berlin question before that time.

"The main thing is not the deadline but to have talks," he said.

He discussed his 17-day, coast-to-coast American tour at a news conference in which he touched on a wide range of topics. He said he found anti-Russian "prejudice" in the U.S. but also an increasing American conviction — not shared by Washington — that the time had come to end the cold war.

The mustached Mikoyan said he was impressed by the "cordial" reception accorded him by President Eisenhower and other officials as well as by such capitalists as Henry Ford and ordinary American citizens.

He said any top American leaders who wanted to visit Russia would receive an equally warm welcome. But he did not say whether any planned to come.

His "general impression" of Americans, he said, was this:

"There is a growing conviction that despite the evidence of the cold war and the existence of many prejudices in the U.S.A. against the U.S.S.R. and its attitude, the atmosphere generally is now favorable for steps toward peace."

He pointed out that in his meetings with American "capitalists" the businessmen had shown great interest in prospects of closer economic ties with Russia.

They "frankly stated that we must normalize our relations," said the Communist leader who dined on Wall Street.

He reported that his meeting with American labor leaders, unlike those with businessmen, was "sharp to the end."

He and Walter Reuther tangled verbally over Berlin and Hungary, he said.

"Reuther thought he crushed me, but I gave him back plenty," Mikoyan said through his interpreter, Oleg Troyanovsky.

"But the talks ended in a friendly manner and he (Reuther) said that the talks were considered useful."

Russia Blocks Agreement On A-Tests, U.S. Charges

Inspection Veto Called Obstacle

WASHINGTON —(AP)— The U.S. accused Russia Saturday of blocking an East-West agreement to end nuclear weapons tests by demanding a veto over any inspection system.

At the same time, the State Department vigorously denied Russia's claim that the U.S. is seeking an excuse to torpedo negotiations now under way in Geneva for a test ban.

"This is not so," the State Department said. "The fact that the Soviet Union has chosen this moment, when the negotiations are under way at Geneva on central issues of effective controls, to make such unfounded charges, raises questions as to their (Soviet) intentions."

American negotiators, the department said, will persevere in their efforts to write a satisfactory agreement for halting all further nuclear weapons explosions.

"Success in the negotiations in Geneva is squarely up to the Soviet Union," the department added. "If the Soviet Union is willing to agree to a control organization and can operate effectively it will be possible to achieve agreement on the cessation of nuclear testing."

The department said these three major issues remain in the way of East-West agreements:

1. — Will the Soviet Union be able to veto and obstruct every action of the control commission as it now demands, or will it be possible for the control organization to act without this obstacle?

The U.S. believes that any control system which could be frustrated in its day-to-day operations by the veto power in the hands of a single party would be worse than useless.

2 — Will the control post be manned by an international staff? Or as the Soviets demand, will it be manned by nationals of the government on whose territory the control posts are located, with only one or two outside "observers?"

The Soviet position would amount to self-inspection and as such cannot be the basis for an agreement in which all parties can have confidence, the department said.

3—Will international inspection groups be organized and ready to move quickly to the site of an event which could be suspected of being an explosion? Or will sending of such a group be subject to weeks of debate and a veto?

The Soviet approach would entangle this key provision in miles of red tape, the department said.

Exile Rankles Embittered Batista; Tempers Flare Easily in Hotel Haven

By GEORGE BEEBE
Herald Managing Editor
Copyright 1959,
Miami Herald Publishing Co.

CIUDAD TRUJILLO, Dominican Republic — Fulgencio Batista in exile is restless and embittered. He has not taken defeat easily.

He is a rich man financially, but his satisfaction has come from political power rather than monetary gains.

Now he gropes for a new and active life that will consume the burning energy that made him Cuba's Strong Man for more than 20 years.

On the surface, Batista is his same charming and confident self. I've interviewed the former Cuban leader five times in the 10 years I have known him.

He is unchanged in appearance and manners. A dynamic personality still rides his hard-set frame.

For reasons of health, Batista and the more than 50 Cuban leaders who fled with him New Year's eve, rarely leave the Hotel Jaragua's third floor — which has become exile headquarters.

It is obvious they are getting on each other's nerves. The weather is hot. Tempers flare easily. Their bungling of the recent crisis still bothers them.

Batista is not the type of man who can accept confinement, so he keeps a schedule much the same as in Havana's Presidential Palace — from noon until 3 or 4 a.m.

Two secretaries bustle about arranging conferences. His Cuban companions beat a steady path to his door.

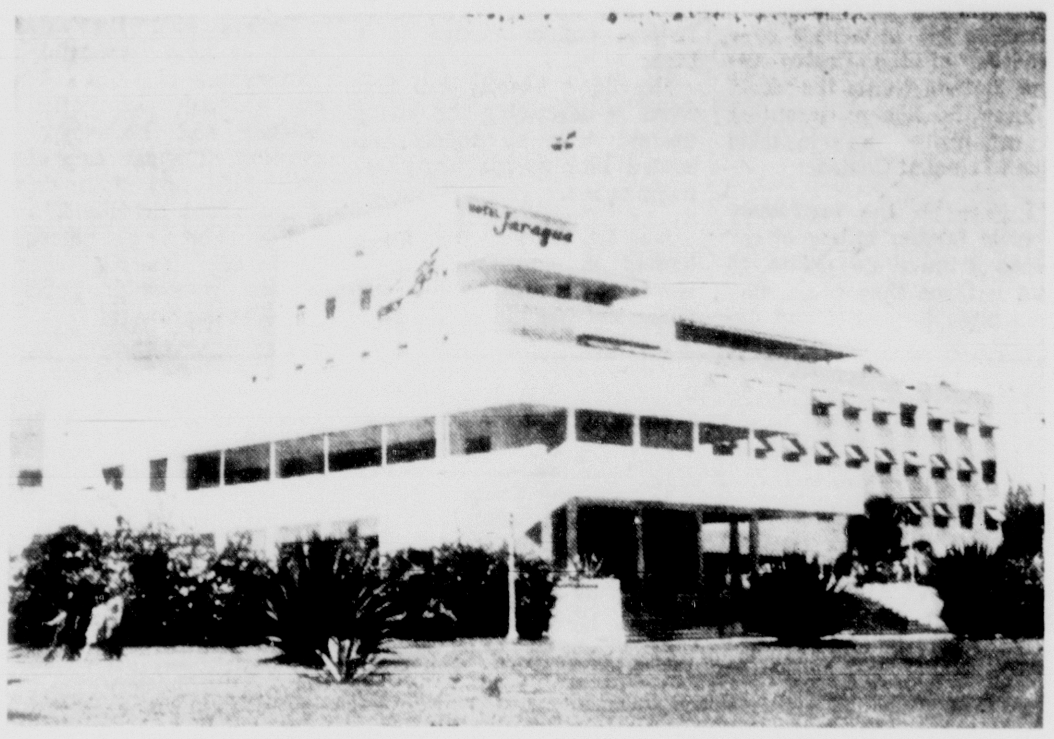
Batista long has been a canasta enthusiast. A card table, with a cover specially designed for the game, holds a prominent spot in the living room.

This provides one of his few diversions. He has taken several rides about Cuidad Trujillo and occasionally walks in the far reaches of the hotel grounds — away from eyes of the other guests.

The Hotel Jaragua has taken a back seat to the new El Embajador, but it still ranks as one of the finer resort hotels in the Caribbean.

It is a rambling, four-story affair with its choicest rooms looking over a swimming pool, a spacious lawn and across a malecon drive to the pounding surf of the Atlantic against a rocky seawall.

Day or night, there is no evidence on the grounds or in the lobby, dining room or gambling casino, that the hotel is now headquarters for the man Fidel Castro has placed as No. 1 on his obit parade.



Deposed Dictator Fulgencio Batista Lives Here
. . . finds haven in the plush Hotel Jaragua at Ciudad Trujillo

The arrival of the Batista party on New Year's Eve came as a complete surprise to the city. There were 47 on the plane. Other political refugees have arrived here since.

Dominicans generally would like to see them go, as they would Juan Peron of Argentina, also. They don't like the unfavorable publicity which the asylum of two dictators brings.

Not unhappy are the operators of the Jaragua and the Paz (Peron's headquarters). The tourist business has not been good and the exiles are making up for it.

Although the Cubans are restless, none have applied for visas to go elsewhere. They arrived heavily laden with Cuban pesos, which don't give them much long-range security.

I asked Batista what his hurried departure caused him to leave behind that he cherished most.

He squinted his black eyes a moment in thought and replied: "My country and my people, of course. My friends, my home and my library."

His library is heavy with books about Abraham Lincoln, the man Batista most admires in history.

One incident Batista related may have a bearing on his plans for the future.

His son had come from school and asked: "Father, are you an old man? Some of the boys said you were."

Batista laughed heartily at the remark, but through the broad smile I could detect a note of awareness that perhaps time is running out on the only life he ever has known — dominance of his people and the fight to attain that dominance. He is 59.

When asked by police why he did it, the man said he had to. A neighbor had refused to cut the poles and was hanged. He didn't want the same fate," Batista explained.

The heavy-set, dark-browed ex-president said he has waited until the Castro government took shape before commenting on Cuba's future. He thinks it looks extremely dark.

"The new government just doesn't make sense," Batista says.

"For instance, Castro said his main mission in life was to free Cuba of the Batista regime. But now he has placed himself in a unique superstructure over President Manuel Urrutia.

"I was called a dictator by many, yet within the government I maintained the three constitutional divisions — executive, legislative and judicial. They all functioned independently. Evidently Fidel Castro doesn't like this form of government."

Batista, who reads every newspaper he can get his hands on, is obviously shaken by stories of the war crime trials of some of his trusted aides who failed to get the signal New Year's Eve that the leading men were leaving the act.

"When I was president, the courts were composed of judges named for the most part by previous presidents, and we respected their decisions," said the onetime dictator.

"Now Castro destroys the powers provided by the constitution and has appointed men not qualified for judgeships to conduct trials throughout the island and pronounce death sentences."

He had read that the Havana "Sports City" Coliseum — which he helped construct — was being used for several major war crime trials.

"This takes us back to the days of the Roman circus," said Batista defiantly, "when men were fed to the beasts with approval of the crowd.

"How can a judge give a fair trial with 30,000 people screaming to hang the defendants? This is indeed a primitive approach Castro has introduced."

Batista seemed fully aware that should he ever be forced to return to Cuba, something larger than the sports arena would be needed for his trial.

NEXT: Batista's last hours in Cuba and his plans for the future.

Laughter Is Heard In Cuba

convictions." No man fears he'll be pointed out as an informer or "chivato" merely through the spite of a neighbor.

The new government and new Army are demanding proof to go with the accusations.

The new freedoms are most evident in Old Havana, and especially on The Prado, which stretches its tree-lined magnificence from Central Park to the sea.

There, where this reporter once could count no more than six people hurrying along the marble walks at night, now there are hundreds promenading until all hours of the morning.

Arm-in-arm with their girls, young men walk and stop and talk and you hear laughter that only a month ago was like a foreign language here.

Is prosperity, or at least decent living, to come from the new government to a country that is financially flat on its back?

Most businessmen say "It must, we have no other direction to go!"

Big businessmen look for an influx of new capital brought on by a stabilized government. "At least," they say, "we aren't going to have talk of revolution and a change of government all the time"

Little businessmen look for the tourists and the money that will help them pay their long overdue bills as it seeps down through the economy.

And tourists, when they begin coming again, will find a different, happier atmosphere than they have seen in the country before.

A coffee vendor offers you a tiny paper cup of cafe solo in a small park near the Capitol and you ask him, "How are things for you these days?"

And he sets the thermos on a bench to pound his chest with both hands and say, "I am free!"

Cuba's face has been lifted. It shines bright with hope.

Odds High, But Pot Is Higher

By SUNNY FORTUNE
Herald Puzzle Editor

Nine people came close, but nobody won last week's Sunny Fortune Puzzle, so there's a $400 pot awaiting some lucky reader.

SUNNY

He'll have to be darned lucky too, according to Puzzle Fan Norman Drysdale, who writes from Marathon:

"As I see it, the game has ceased to be one of skill and is now a lottery with the odds of picking by blind chance the correct combination more than a million to one."

The odds are high, but not that high, Mr. Drysdale. If you figure a 50-50 chance on each of 16 letters, the odds of any one entry winning work out to 65,536 to one.

With the number of entries running around 37,000 for each contest, you can see why a winner can't be expected every time. But that's what makes a puzzle puzzling and keeps the pots building up.

Other fans writing in last week agree that there was more skill involved in the old style puzzles. Phyllis Pinard of San Juan, Puerto Rico, puts it pretty well:

"Let's please go back to the old style," she writes. "It was so much more interesting to lose that way."

Old style, new style, let's turn to 12B and take a whack at this week's $400.

the shrill ringing of the telephone got Mrs. Weaver, her mother-in-law, out of bed.

It was the Phoenix police.

"They said they had tried to get my daughter-in-law in Titusville," said Mrs. Weaver. "They learned she had moved back to Miami.

"Then they told me James was alive and had amnesia.

"I didn't believe it at first."

When Mrs. Harrison talked to the police she didn't believe it either. "See if there's a scar on his back," she asked.

There was—just where she said.

She talked to her husband—but he was in half shock and incoherent.

"It was hard for him to believe it wasn't Oct. 8," she said. "About all he could say when he vaguely realized what happened was, 'Oh mama—mama, we've missed Christmas.'

"He couldn't understand why I wasn't in Titusville—and asked just a little about the youngsters.

"I couldn't believe he was living.

"It's a miracle—just a miracle; that's what I keep telling everyone. I can't imagine what brought him out of it. It's just God's way . . ."

Eight-year-old Jamey Harrison sat next to his mother. His eyes shone and he said excitedly: "It will be just like Christmas when Daddy gets home. The biggest Christmas present I ever got."

And seven-year-old son, Mike, seriously added:

"My daddy had magnesia . . . I'll sure be glad to see him."

Over the north portion there will be northeast to east winds at 15 to 25 m.p.h. slowly diminishing during the day. Considerable cloudiness. A few showers in the south portion and 15 to 30 m.p.h. portion are likely.

National Summary

Disturbances moving across the northern states coupled with a continuing flow of very cold air from Canada led to snowfall in Montana and from Minnesota into New York and Pennsylvania Saturday afternoon.

Temperatures ranged from zero to a bit below at mid-day along the northern border of the Plains states and were in the teens or lower through the lakes region into New England. Miles City, Mont., registered a three inch increase in snow cover during the morning, while four of the seven inches on the ground at Green Bay, Wis. collected during the forenoon.

Elsewhere east of the continental divide a substantial warming trend pushed temperatures to the 40's in SW South Dakota compared to readings in the teens in the northeast corner of the state and 40's reached from the mid Mississippi and Ohio Valleys into Virginia and Maryland by mid-day.

High pressure preserved a predominantly sunny pattern except for some cloudiness and occasional rain in south Florida and Texas, however considerable cloudiness will accompany a slow rise in temperatures across the Gulf States through the balance of the weekend.

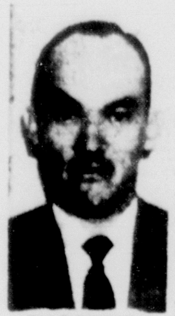
Is Navy Soon To Expand?

By HARRY CAICEDO
Key West Bureau Chief

KEY WEST — The delegation talked and the Secretary of the Navy listened politely. But after the 90-minute conference, Key West was still scheduled to lose those 10 ships.



CAICEDO

However, despite the appearance of failure of the delegation, it accomplished two important and worthwhile objectives.

First, it showed top Navy brass Key West is a Navy town, and wants to remain a Navy town.

Second, it got confirmation, of sorts, that something is afoot which probably will more than make up for the anticipated loss of the 10 ships, 1,600 men and their families, and a five million dollar payroll.

Unofficially, some of the delegates picked up hints of this move. And reliable Naval sources, outside of Key West, have disclosed that all the fuss about the ship transfers was unnecessary. In the long run, they've implied, Key West will gain.

Naval sources here, of course, have nothing to say about the reports. Information of this nature usually is made public at the Washington level.

But perhaps the official silence here is an excellent sign. Silence also answered questions of the ship transfer when it was first rumored. As it turned out, the rumor was true.

Weed Cut Law

THE CITY Commission has instructed the city attorney to come up with a legal weapon to crack down on cemetery land owners who neglect to weed their plots and also prevent the city from doing it.

Many complaints have been voiced about the unsightly appearance of the cemetery. As one commissioner pointed out, it does no good to clean up the city-owned section of the graveyard while other areas remain overgrown.

It seems, however, that while the city is looking for means to make recalcitrant citizens tidy up their plots, they might also apply the same law to owners of vacant lots throughout the city.

The tropical jungle which florishes in many blocks of the Casa Marina section, for example might make a fine setting for a Tarzan movie.

But it's as sloppy as overturned garbage bins in a residential district cheek by jowl with the motel strip, where hundreds of visitors stay.

If the wild growth is unsightly to the hometown eye, what an impression it must make on the visitor.

Case Closed

Deputy Sheriff Bobby Brown has cracked that rowboat case we wrote about last Sunday.

The boat laid, unclaimed, at the Naval Station since Jan. 1, when it drifted into the area with its sole occupant, a young Australian. He admitted stealing the boat at Garrison Bight to row to Cuba to join Castro.

Brown got the license number of the boat and sent it to the Florida Sheriffs Bureau in Tallahassee. The answer came back that the boat was registered in the name of Gabriel Cabanas of 528 Olivia St.

Navy Slates Surplus Sale

KEY WEST — A sale of surplus Navy property, valued at $208,202 has been scheduled at the Naval Station here. Bids on the items for sale will be opened at 1:30 p.m. Thursday.

It includes two aircraft rescue boats, six 1½-ton trucks, a sedan, two marine engines, laundry equipment, helicopter rotor blades, and automotive spare parts.

Talks To Planner

Governor Seeks To Aid Key West

By HARRY CAICEDO
Key West Bureau Chief

KEY WEST — Gov. LeRoy Collins has been reported as "promising his cooperation and that of his associates in every reasonable way possible" to help Key West with its economic problems.

In a letter to Mayor Delio Cobo, Joseph F. McSweeney, a planning consultant from Virginia, said he had discussed the Key West situation with the governor, who "expressed the hope that something of real value could be done in the Key West area . . ."

McSweeney spent two days here earlier this month. He toured the island and met informally with members of the City Commission. He is an expert on industrial relocation.

After leaving here he met with Collins and officials of the State development and industrial commissions.

In his letter to Cobo, McSweeney says these men "were very much interested in my visit and reactions to conditions in Key West."

McSweeney quoted the governor as saying he has followed with "particular interest" the Navy's ship transfers, because his son is aboard one of the vessels affected by the change.

McSweeney praised the city's proposed improvement program, but made no reference to the method of financing, which has stirred up much opposition.

"Unquestionably the improvement program you have developed . . . is not only a vitally necessary but very valuable step in advancing Key West's qualifications for sincere consideration of responsible corporation representing manufacturers and business interests," McSweeney wrote.

He reiterated his comments made while here that Key West has an industrial potential.

"I believe under proper organization and planned effort much can be done for Key West that could make it independment of any one specific industry," the planning consultant declared.

Drug Case Results In Heavy Fine

Herald Bureau

KEY WEST — A 45-year-old cafe worker pleaded guilty to two counts of narcotics law violations in Criminal Court here Saturday and got a $1,000 fine plus a five-year probation.

Edward Garcia, an employe of Pepe's Cafe, 202 Duval St., admitted possession of amphetamine and unlawful delivery of the drug.

The two officers, posing as "customers" last Dec. 11 at the cafe, made a purchase of the drug from Garcia.

SERVICE aboard the USS Essex, an aircraft carrier, in the Korean war resulted in the award of the Navy Unit Commendation ribbon in Key West Saturday to Lt. Cmdr. William Miller of Lincoln Neb. Cmdr. Miller is now stationed at the Fleet Sonar School. The award was for actions of the Essex from August, 1951, to March, 1952.

Three Sailors Get Pay Award

KEY WEST — Three sailors from the destroyer escort, USS Huse, based here have been designated to receive the coveted Navy proficiency pay.

The three are Shirley A. Robbins, signalman 1c; George R. Turner, personnelman 3c; and Robert J. Wagner, sonarman, 2c.

The recognition — and extra income — are rewards for outstanding performance in their respective specialties.

'Lied To Grand Jury' Ex-Deputy Testifies

King Trial Listens To Denial

BARTOW — (UPI) — A former deputy sheriff repudiated his earlier Grand Jury testimony Saturday and denied he was a part of an alleged plan by former State Sen. Harry King to trap former State Rep. Boone Tillett Jr. in a $10,000 extortion attempt.

The testimony came from an admitted perjurer, James Busbee, on the fifth day of King's second trial on charges he planned a perjury scheme to prevent being indicted for paying Tillett $10,000 not to run against him for the state Senate in 1956.

King's earlier conviction was thrown out on technicalities.

Following Busbee's testimony the jury adjourned until 9 a.m. Monday.

Busbee had testified to the grand jury that he and former deputy Rollie Arnold were assigned by former sheriff Pat Gordon to work with King to catch Tillett. But he and Arnold both pleaded guilty last week and are now under a presentence investigation.

Busbee testified Saturday he never even heard of the payoff until he heard news reports of it.

He testified that it was Feb. 28, 1956, before Gordon called him in and he agreed to go along with the plan and release a statement to a Lake Wales newspaper describing the fictitious case.

Early the next day, Feb. 29, he said, he, Arnold and King went to the scene of the payoff made Feb. 4 in a lemon grove near Babson Park.

There, he said, King told them details of the payoff so they would know what to tell the grand jury. Busbee said later that afternoon he gave his testimony to W. T. Hopkins of Tallahassee, then a special state attorney and now a special prosecutor in the King trial.

He said King telephoned him "from time to time" following his interview with Hopkins.

Busbee also admitted that he was picking up some prisoners from the highway patrol and booking them in the county jail about the same time the payoff occurred, which would make it impossible for him to have been at the payoff scene.

He also admitted taking certain records indicating he was at the sheriff's office at the time of the payoff and changing them to remove the conflict in times.

Tie Taxes To Growth --Bailey

TALLAHASSEE — (UPI) — State School Superintendent Thomas D. Bailey Saturday called for a study of Florida's whole tax structure to determine if revenue is increasing proportionately with population.

If it is not, Bailey said, changes should be made to guarantee that it will.

He said any sound tax base must be such that revenue, under normal conditions, will increase at both the state and local level consistent with population growth.

Otherwise, the legislature faces the fearsome alternative of increasing taxes every two years to provide for phenomenal population growth.

Bailey discussed the whole financial problem as the Cabinet Budget Commission prepared to meet next Wednesday and Thursday to grapple with government operation and capital outlay requests that exceed anticipated revenue by 140 million dollars.

As school superintendent and a member of the budget commission, Bailey faces the two-fold problem of fighting for huge increases in school appropriations and, at the same time, helping to frame a balanced budget that will not require new taxes.

One solution to the long-range problem, he said, would be a permanent building fund, supported by other than general revenue appropriations every two years.

He said no private business would think of financing big building expansions over a two-year period. But that is what Florida has been doing.

The last legislature voted a larger two-year building program than had ever been attempted before in a five-year period. Much of it could not be financed and the next legislature faces the problem of this backlog plus millions of dollars in new needs.

Atty. Gen. Richard Ervin has tried unsuccessfully for the past four years to get legislative approval of an amendment to the constitution setting up a permanent building fund. He said he will try again in April.

Bailey said higher real estate assessments would also help the problem by providing more money for local financing of programs now dependent upon state aid.

Many counties have already done a good job along this line, he said, using Brevard as an example where millage was reduced from 20 to seven mills following property reevaluations. The county got as much or more money from the lower millage.

Rites Will Dedicate New Clinic

By ANNE WILDER
Herald Correspondent

FORT PIERCE — The Indian River Mental Health Clinic, at Ave. C and 10th St., will be dedicated at 2 p.m. today by Mayor James L. Howe. An open house will be held until 4 p.m.

The Mental Health Clinic is a project of the Fort Pierce Soroptomist Club, which has spearheaded the campaingn for the clinic for a number of years.

The city donated land, and the building was purchased by the Indian River Mental Health Association. Dr. Neill Miller, St. Lucie County Health officer, is director of the clinic.

The staff includes Dr. Andrew Mathis, psychologist; Esther Smith, psychiatric case worker, and Mrs. Jeannette McMasters, clerk.

Two psychiatrists from the University of Miami visit the clinic once a week.

While the formal dedication is today, the clinic has been in operation since early December. Dr. Miller reports the all-purpose clinic has handled a heavy work load since it began operation.

It serves St. Lucie, Indian River, Okeechobee, and Martin Counties, and has the support of the Tri-County Medical Society.

Gloom Reigns Despite Raises

LOS ANGELES — (UPI) — County pay checks just issued included a new 5½ per cent pay increase but the 2,000 pay check recipients still were unhappy.

The checks were unsigned.

Sailor Believed Lost Trying to Swim River

Herald Bureau

FORT LAUDERDALE — Hope was abandoned Saturday for a sailor from the USS Newport News, heavy cruiser, visiting Port Everglades, who tried to swim across New River early Saturday.

S1C Alexander C. Lowry, 25, disappeared in midstream, near the SE Ninth Ave. bridge, about 1:30 a.m. despite the efforts of three buddies to save him. His body has not been recovered.

Police Sgt. Jack Cunningham said four sailors were walking to the port when they came upon the U.S. 1 detour bridge, left open for boat traffic at night. Lowry said, "I'll just swim across," and jumped in. Halfway across, he got into difficulty.

His three companions — Donald Sarkisian, William White, and David Holtzman — dived in to help him. Sarkisian and Holtzman reached Lowry, but lost him when White also called for help, Cunningham said.

The other sailors said Lowry was not a good swimmer. Police and shore patrol searched the river, and started dragging operations.

$124,000 Is Missing

'I'm Innocent,' Suspect States

By PETER LAINE
Herald Staff Writer

FORT LAUDERDALE — The prospect of momentary arrest failed to dismay embezzlement suspect Allan S. Fowler at his home here Saturday.

The smart-looking 69-year-old father of two children, nine and 10, said: "I just don't know what it's all about. Of course I'm innocent."

A warrant, issued Friday in Detroit, where Fowler managed a telephone employes' credit union for 18 years, alleged he took $2,382.47 in two months. Total shortage in the credit union accounts is $124,431.63.

The sheriff's department here is waiting for the warrant to arrive to pick Fowler up.

Fowler said he bought his well-kept $20,000 home at 4761 NE Fifth Ave. a year ago. He moved in August, after retiring.

The 12,000-member union gave him a farewell dinner and a full year's salary of $9,000 as a parting gift. A month later a complaint led to an audit of the seven-and-a-half million dollar credit union.

Treasurer John P. Lenhardt said someone had been recording deposits on account cards, then removing both the deposit and the card.

Fowler said he won't fight extradition. "I'll go voluntarily to clear it up just as soon as someone asks me," he declared. "All I've heard is from the papers.

"The credit union hasn't told me a thing," he added. "That's what makes me so mad."

Fowler's children and a dog played around the three-bedroom, two and one-half bath home as he talked. The scene was one of suburban respectability.

"I've been coming here every winter for years," Fowler said. "I'm tied up in church work and was just elected president of the Hammond Organ Society," he continued.

Confessed Ax Slayer Said Sane

BONIFAY — (AP) — Frank Peterson, Negro ex-convict adjudged legally sane Friday, will be arraigned Monday on murder charges in the ax deaths of a white farmer and his daughter.

The trial date for Peterson, 27, will probably be set at the 2 p.m. arraignment.

Circuit Judge E. Clay Lewis of Panama City ruled Peterson was mentally competent to stant trial after two state psychiatrists said they concluded he was legally sane. Peterson himself told the court that he had "decided to play crazy" because he was scared.

Lewis told him he had no reason to be afraid, that he would receive a fair and just trial.

Peterson is charged in the ax slayings of a 27-year-old farmer and his daughter, 2, in their farm home near here June 11. He also was indicted on a charge he raped the victim's 22-year-old wife.

Fall Injury Proves Fatal For Marine

Herald Service

FORT PIERCE — Injuries received in an accidental fall at St. Thomas, Virgin Island, were fatal early Saturday to Marine Corps Capt. John M. Crawford, 29. He was stationed at Camp LeJeune, N. C., and was at St. Thomas on maneuvers.

Capt Crawford, the son of Dewey Crawford, Fort Pierce attorney, was a graduate of Fort Pierce High School and the University of Florida and took aviation training at the Pensacola Naval Air Station.

He is survived by his wife and two sons, of Camp LeJeune, in addition to his parents.

Extension Opposed

POMPANO BEACH — The Pompano Beach Taxpayers Association has gone on record Friday as opposing any extension of the Port Everglades district limits.

A shift in the port boundary from Oakland Park Beach Blvd. to the north county line is under consideration in current charter changes. It was suggested that the port might take over Hillsboro inlet maintenance.

The association argued that the inlet tax district was formed for a maximum five-year period pending federal aid. It is authorized to levy a half-mill tax.

SIAGON — (AP) — Ten truck loads of American arms and ammunitions were turned recently over to the Royal Laotian government, an official source said Saturday. The military aid is to help maintain stability and increase security, the source added.

Hearing Due On FEC Plan

JACKSONVILLE — (UPI) — A government hearing will be held here Monday to consider a plan for returning the Florida East Coast railway to private operation.

The session before Federal Judge Bryan Simpson will be a major step in the lengthy legal and administrative process which must precede completion of the reorganization.

Judge Simpson, after the hearing, will write an opinion on the plan which must be returned to the Interstate Commerce Commission.

The new plan was approved by the ICC on Nov. 12, 1958 and gives control to the St. Joe Paper Co., owned by the Alfred I. du Pont estate. It marks the end of a long battle for control of the railway which began when the line went into bankruptcy in 1931.

The present plan is the seventh to be approved by the ICC, six having been thrown out by the courts.

These Two Navy Officers Run Navy's OSR system
. . Lts. A. T. Buckmaster and H. W. Albers

They Help Guide Ships To Speedier Atlantic Trips

A new aid to navigation has only been in use a few months but already it has speeded up ocean transportation and saved more than a million dollars. It's called the Optimum Ship Routing system.

The OSR system is aimed at overcoming the ancient bugaboo of the seas—changeable currents and weather conditions which often result in reduced speed and heavy ship damage.

NORFOLK, Va. —(AP)— Two lieutenants in a tiny, cluttered office at the Norfolk Naval Air Station exchanged pleased grins when the message came in:

"Fastest trip ever. Thanks."

It was just one of many similar messages sweated out by Lieutenants Albert T. Buckmaster and Hugh W. Albers. It meant the Atlantic Fleet Service Force ship Antares had crossed from Norfolk to Gibralter in record time using a route plotted daily by Buckmaster and Albers in their cubbyhole.

Since September, when they opened their office, the two lieutenants have shepherded 100 Navy and Military Sea Transportation Service ships across the Atlantic. By next July they expect to handle all Atlantic traffic for MSTS and a major portion of the Atlantic Fleet's business.

They run the Navy's Optimum Ship Routing system. Based on the research of Dr. Richard W. James of the Navy's hydrographic office, the system seeks to overcome the ancient bugaboo of the seas — changeable currents and weather conditions which often result in reduced speed and heavy ship damage.

In the few months of its operation, the OSR system has improved speed of ocean transportation and saved more than one million dollars in hard cash.

The program holds exciting implications for commercial shipping, where the cold facts of economy are vital.

During fiscal 1957, American shippers lost $2,665,441 in foundered and damaged ships, and $433,730 in cargo damage. During the period 1952-56, a total of $12,766,132 was recorded in ship losses and cargo damage was set at $952,020.

These are commercial figures. There is no available record of monetary losses to naval vessels during the same periods.

Some shipping companies reportedly have begun providing OSR service for their own operations in an effort to reduce weather damage costs and speed schedules.

Stated simply, the James-Navy concept provides willing ship masters (or naval captains) with constant and controlled guidance through the potential treachery of oceanic weather.

Armed with Dr. James' published thesis, Buckmaster and Albers labor long hours every day herding ships across the tricky Atlantic — ships they are not likely ever to see.

As explained by Buckmaster, OSR is "a matter of improved forecasting machinery, close communications and confidence . . . and a spot of luck." Perhaps a recent episode will serve better to explain the technical features of the system, and its end product.

On Sept. 15, 1957, the Military Sea Transportation Service ship USNS Buckner weighed anchor in New York harbor. Eight days later she dropped her hook at Bremerhaven, Germany. From start to finish Buckmaster and Albers called the shots.

Two days before Buckner was due to depart, the two lieutenants armed themselves with a series of five-day weather prognostications ("progs") they call them. Hunching over their charting table in Fleet Weather Facility, Norfolk, they started the project.

A set of five progs gave them a fairly clear picture of the predictable weather the Buckner would face cruising eastward. The lieutenants laid out a series of first-day course legs, selected the best from all angles and passed it on to the ship, with projected tentative headings for successive days.

Capt. K. C. Towne, skipper of the Buckner and a man with 40 years' sea-going experience, was on his way with what the lieutenants considered to be his quickest and safest routing to Bremerhaven.

But something happened on the second day to alter the script. The OSR team noted an alarming shift in weather when new progs developed. To the north a storm was moving down, and would lay a heavy hand on Buckner if she plied her original course pattern.

Buckmaster and Albers reworked their chart and decided to send the ship more to the south, giving her a heading to skirt the storm line. So painstaking and accurate was their work that on her final leg Buckner picked up a heavy following sea that booted her neatly home at high speed.

Veteran seafarer Towne was amazed. He conceded that at first he was "a bit skeptical" about the whole thing. Since that first passage the lieutenants have ushered him across five times more.

"Well, we have 60 nails up there and I guess we can drive in a few more," he said. He noted that at the time 13 ships were under surveillance and six more were preparing to depart for Europe.

Requiring only that ships give them 48 hours notice, Buckmaster says he and Albers "keep in touch with them all the way . . . and sweat them out." Every 24 hours a ship gives a position report and a summary of weather conditions.

Dr. James wrote in his thesis in 1956:

"The inevitable result of the successful accomplishment of this task will be improved maritime economy, and progress to date strongly indicates that a reasonable solution to the problem may soon be realized."

At Korean Conference Meetings

U.N. Chief Plays Propaganda Tune as Reds Burn

Miami Herald-Chicago News Wire

PANMUNJOM, Korea — A seagoing lawyer has introduced a cozy family atmosphere to the otherwise rigidly formal meetings of the U.N. Military Armistice Commission.

Smartly dressed American embassy wives peered through the open windows of the conference hall as Rear Adm. Ira H. Nunn, chief U.N. forces delegate, exchanged unpleasantries with his North Korean Communist counterpart.

Nunn wanted to know what happened to more than 2,000 U.N. prisoners including 452 Americans the Reds have not accounted for.

The Communists, in turn, demanded an accounting for 98,000 of their prisoners.

Neither side expected anything from the other except propaganda and nobody was disappointed. However, visitors, including the embassy wives, had a pleasant outing.

"I like to have women up here because they talk a lot and write letters," said Nunn, 48, softspoken Southerner and veteran of the Navy's Judge Advocate General's office.

"Since no decisions are made here — there is no judge or jury — we might as well get what propaganda we can out of these meetings."

Nunn, the 13th chief delegate since the Armistice Commission was set up five years ago, has had the Seoul Rotary Club and American teenagers attend meetings as his guests.

"The kids got a big kick out of it and I think they learned something," said Nunn, who, in the 2½ months he's been here, has called four out of six commission meetings. This reversed the usual procedure since the U.N. side generally has let the Communists have the initiative.

As a lawyer Nunn deplores the cut and dried procedure of the meetings in which one side reads a prepared statement and the other side replies in kind. He has tried to draw the Communists into give and take discussions but without success.

"It's like trying to play a cornstalk fiddle with a shoestring bow," he sighed.

The Communists haven't objected to visitors. However, they are still complaining because Nunn installed a microphone and amplifying system which carries conference proceedings to other buildings, including the press hut.

The microphone sits in the middle of the conference table, half in U.N. territory, half in Communist territory. The Reds refuse to recognize the existence of the microphone but don't dare chuck it out.

The reason is long ago the Communists agreed to let the U.N. be responsible for housekeeping chores. Nunn contends the installation of an amplifying system was only a household improvement.

"We offered to install loudspeakers in the Communist building but they refused," Nunn said. "That's their tough luck."

Younk Demo Leader Due

Nelson Lancione, president of the Young Democratic Clubs of America, will arrive in Miami this afternoon for two days of conferences with party leaders here.

His visit is to discuss plans for the April convention at the Roney Plaza Hotel, Miami Beach, of the Young Demcrats' National Executive Committee.

Lancione will meet Miami Democratic leaders at a reception this afternoon at the home of Joseph Murphy, 701 Alcazar Ave., Coral Gables. He also will be guest of honor at a dinner party tonight at the Roney Plaza.

Batista: That Fidel's a Barbaric Dictator

EXCLUSIVE

BEEBE

A stream of newspaper wire service reporters has been flowing into Ciudad Trujillo for three weeks, seeking the first full length interview with Fulgencio Batista since he was forced from the Cuban presidency by Fidel Castro's rebels.

He talked briefly to two reporters, refused admittance to all others.

Herald Managing Editor George Beebe finally cracked the barrier with a three-hour interview. His first stories appear today.

CIUDAD TRUJILLO, Dominican Republic — Fulgencio Batista, Cuba's fallen dictator, broke his silence here Saturday to call current activities in Cuba the work of a "barbaric and sadistic" upstart—Fidel Castro.

Angered and bitter after reading news accounts of trials and executions masterminded by Castro, Batista leveled a blast at the new Cuban man of the hour.

"Castro said he wanted to be nothing in the new Cuban government. His only title is delegate of the president to the armed forces. What does this mean?

"He is not chief of the army, the navy and air force. He is neither prime minister nor president.

"Yet he dictates all policies, says who should be executed—but has no official position.

"Is this democracy? Or is it dictatorship and tyranny?"

Despite his bitterness over activities of the Castro regime, Batista wants the world to know he has no intention of organizing an invasion force to combat Castro.

"I gave up the presidency to avoid further killing of my people. I have no desire to build a force that could only mean more bloodshed and unhappiness to my country," he said from his Hotel Jaragua apartment where he has taken temporary asylum.

Batista said that if some of his followers have moved into Castro's old stronghold in the Sierra Maestra mountains, it is without his knowledge.

As you might well imagine, Batista thinks Castro is a bum.

He didn't exactly use that word in describing the rebel rouser who so rudely unseated him as his term was running out.

But he did pull out a collection of such unflattering words as "tyrant, sadist, murderer and liar" in condemning the tactics of Cuba's bearded hero of the hour.

He implied he could have used the word "ingrate."

"I saved Fidel Castro from death back in 1953 when he killed six soldiers during a July 26 uprising in Santiago. Now he is ordering the execution of the leaders of my government."

Batista said that Castro must be held responsible for "weakening of Cuba's economy through destruction of bridges and highways, the burning of sugar cane fields and mills and with driving tourists from the island."

How about the atrocities that are being charged against him—with published pictures to prove it?

Batista bristled. "I have seen some of these pictures and I think they are the work of Castro, and not my men. If they did take place, it was without my sanction.

"I gave the order to suppress the rebel activity. Both sides have played rough these last two years."

Obviously smarting under condemnation of the American press, Batista was quick to pull out what he termed a "typical example of Castro terrorism."

He said that high-ranking aides had reported to him how Castro's men took a father of four children near Bayamo

'Like a Young Girl'

Cuban People Laugh Again

Where does Castro go from here? 1H

Herald Staff Writer James Buchanan, who lived with the rebels during Cuba's rugged mountain campaign, returned to Havana to cover their victory celebration and war crimes trials. He found a new and different city. This is his portrait of Havana today.

By JAMES BUCHANAN

BUCHANAN

HAVANA — Cuba's face has been lifted.

She looks and acts like a young girl today, and not the haggard, fearful thing of less than a month ago.

Change is apparent everywhere in the island and in every walk of life. There's happiness, and gaiety and most of all — hope.

"I walk looking up," a shopkeeper says. "The sun is on my face, not here," and he pats the back of his neck.

The rejuvenation lies in the revolution.

How long will it last?

The young rebel government says, "Forever."

The seasoned businessman shrugs his shoulders and answers, "Who knows?"

But like the others, the businessmen of Cuba have hope.

Ask an insurance company executive whether he believes the Urrutia administration's pledge of "clean and honest government" and he'll say:

"We'll have to see if they keep their promises any more than the others. Human nature, you understand? Maybe Cuban human nature.

"For awhile, maybe three, maybe five years, I believe things will be good. Then will come the test of goodness and honesty when the officials are solidly in."

Right now Cuba is vibrant and excited and most important it is speaking.

On every street corner, in every cantina, at every coffee counter, Cubans are telling each other what they think the government should do.

For years they have been afraid to say more than "Good Morning" to even a fellow Cuban. And to voice a complaint against the government, the army or the national police could result in imprisonment.

Today, it takes more than a word to bring about "instant

Castro To Push 2 Trials

HAVANA — (AP) — Havana's revolutionary tribunal, with thousands of Cubans looking on, is going ahead with plans to resume action in the city's big Sports Stadium Monday despite worldwide criticism of the carnival-like proceedings.

The tribunal will then call to trial Capt. Pedro Morejon on charges of assassination, homicide and robbery.

A five-man appeal court was expected to rule soon on the death sentence of Maj. Jesus Sosa Blanco, the first man to be tried in the arena.

One Havana newspaper said Sosa Blanco's execution by firing squad was expected momentarily.

After Morejon, Lt. Col. Ricardo Luis Grao is to face the court, but his trial is expected to be the last in public in Havana. About 1,000 other prisoners accused of war crimes by the revolutionary regime are expected to go before tribunals in La Cabana fortress or elsewhere.

Reports persisted that Fidel Castro, the revolutionary army chieftain who is now in Caracas to celebrate the anniversary of the overthrow of the Venezuelan dictatorship of Marcos Perez Jimenez, had suggested that radio and television broadcasts of the trials be banned henceforth.

However, the commandant at La Cabana, where the accused are held, said he had not received any such instruction.

Flooded Sections Guarded

2 States Still Being Battered

COLUMBUS, Ohio — (UPI) — Mid-winter floods still battered several Ohio and Pennsylvania towns Saturday night, and officials took drastic action to protect homes and property from water destruction and looters.

A "cordon of guards" sealed off a flood-ravaged area of downtown Fremont, Ohio, where the ice-filled Sandusky River rolled over its banks and reached a crest of 17 feet.

At Meadville, Pa., dynamite was delivered by helicopter to authorities who hoped to relieve pressure on the water-soaked community by blasting an ice jam on French Creek.

Some streams and rivers were receding. But at Chillicothe, Ohio, a third of the city was inundated and still closed by the floodwaters of the Scioto River. A danger of street cave-ins posted a new threat as water drained out of the area.

At Lafayette, Ind., a bridge over the Wabash River was threatened by ice jams, and authorities prepared to evacuate patients from a sanitarium if the river continued to rise.

Still other towns faced additional dangers from the rampaging streams in Ohio and Pennsylvania, where flood waters forced at least 25,000 persons from their homes and caused damage well above 100-million dollars.

Red Cross headquarters in Washington said preliminary reports indicated at least 3,500 homes were destroyed or damaged by floods from Indiana to New York.

At least 115 deaths were attributed to floods, traffic, exhaustion, exposure and tornadoes.

In Pennsylvania the Shenango River was receding, easing the pressure on both Sharon and New Castle. But an ice blanket covered the business district of Sharon, where damage might total four million dollars.

40 Planes Stacked Up In Overcast

By CHARLES TAYLOR
Herald Staff Writer

More than 40 airplanes were circling at once in "hold" areas around the city during the rush hours late Saturday afternoon.

Some planes had to wait up to an hour for landing instructions, the control tower at the airport reported. There was no delay in outgoing planes.

But the Miami Weather Bureau said a break in the cloudy, drizzly weather should come Sunday afternoon.

Forecaster Gil Clark said gray skies should start breaking up when stiff northeast winds that roughed up fishing waters Saturday shift to the east and southeast.

But he said the change to sunny weather will be "gradual."

Brightest spot in the weather outlook was that no more cold is in sight, Clark said. Temperatures in the mid-70s were predicted for South Florida Sunday. Sunday night should be warm, too, the Weather Bureau added.

At Miami International Airport, landing delays were not as long as delays Friday, when planes waited up to two and a half hours to be guided through leaden skies by instruments to the landing strip.

An airplane was circling at every 1,000 feet above the 6,000-foot level at some 10 or 12 "holding" areas around Miami.

No planes were diverted to other airports, however. During Friday's long wait to land, several planes ran low on fuel and had to land at Tampa, West Palm Beach or Nassau.

Other U.S. Leaders Drop

Herald Gain in Ads Is Gain for You, Too

The Miami Herald is the only newspaper among America's top 10 in total advertising that showed a gain in 1958, Media Records reported Saturday.

For the second straight year The Herald is in second place.

While some of the national leaders were recording losses exceeding four million lines, The Herald gained 574,903 lines of advertising.

Such progress means a better paper for readers.

In addition to giving you a wider shopping choice, more advertising makes possible more news space to keep you abreast of what's going on in this busy world.

The continued growth in advertising and circulation of The Herald reflects the exciting expansion all along Florida's famed Gold Coast. More than 70,000 families are moving into this area each year.

Calls Again for Berlin Talks

Americans Are Ripe For Peace—Mikoyan

No. 2 Red Reports At Home

MOSCOW —(UPI)— Soviet Deputy Premier Anastas I. Mikoyan, reporting that he found the American people ripe for a cold war settlement, Saturday called again for East-West talks to head off a Berlin impasse May 30.

The Armenian-born Russian trade chief repeated previous Soviet statements that the Kremlin might suspend its May 30 deadline for turning over its occupation powers in Berlin to the East Germans provided the U.S., Britian and France agreed to negotiate the Berlin question before that time.

"The main thing is not the deadline but to have talks," he said.

He discussed his 17-day, coast-to-coast American tour at a news conference in which he touched on a wide range of topics. He said he found anti-Russian "prejudice" in the U.S. but also an increasing American conviction — not shared by Washington — that the time had come to end the cold war.

The mustached Mikoyan said he was impressed by the "cordial" reception accorded him by President Eisenhower and other officials as well as by such capitalists as Henry Ford and ordinary American citizens.

He said any top American leaders who wanted to visit Russia would receive an equally warm welcome. But he did not say whether any planned to come.

His "general impression" of Americans, he said, was this:

"There is a growing conviction that despite the evidence of the cold war and the existence of many prejudices in the U.S.A. against the U.S.S.R. and its attitude, the atmosphere generally is now favorable for steps toward peace."

He pointed out that in his meetings with American "capitalists" the businessmen had shown great interest in prospects of closer economic ties with Russia.

They "frankly stated that we must normalize our relations," said the Communist leader who dined on Wall Street.

He reported that his meeting with American labor leaders, unlike those with businessmen, was "sharp to the end."

He and Walter Reuther tangled verbally over Berlin and Hungary, he said.

"Reuther thought he crushed me, but I gave him back plenty," Mikoyan said through his interpreter, Oleg Troyanovsky.

"But the talks ended in a friendly manner and he (Reuther) said that the talks were considered useful."

'Murdered' Man's on Way Home to Family in Miami

By MIKE MORGAN
Herald Staff Writer

A 32-year-old Miamian, for the last three months believed murdered, was on his way home to his overjoyed family late Saturday.

James E. Harrison, allegedly an amnesia victim, said he recovered his memory while walking the streets of Phoenix, Ariz., Friday night, unaware police were looking for his body in Jacksonville.

He said he was unaware what had happened to him since Oct. 7. He thought it was Oct. 8, 1958 when he found himself in Phoenix, his wife said Saturday.

Harrison's wife and two children are staying with her mother-in-law, Mrs. Norman J. Weaver of 283 NW 53rd St.

The Harrisons own a home here at 1022 SW 34th St. But the slender, attractive Mrs. Harrison had sold the furniture and rented the house.

Until a week ago his wife, Jeanne, still hoped her husband still lived. But she became convinced of his death when a convict "confessed" to murdering him in Jacksonville just a week ago.

The convict, Roy V. Olson, recited details which brought her to the reluctant conclusion her husband was murdered by the hitchiker-robber.

Olson, serving a murder sentence at Vacaville, Calif., typed out a confession that he and James E. Leach, 21, hitchhiked a ride with Harrison the day Harrison disappeared from Titusville.

Harrison had moved there from Miami and established a window manufacturing company at Cocoa.

Olson said he robbed Harrison of $500 and stabbed him to death.

Olson also implicated Leach, who was arrested Saturday by the FBI in Knoxville. Leach denied he ever killed anyone but told Duval County officers he could show them where a body is buried.

Harrison said he stopped his car for a traffic light in Cocoa Beach and a man entered and forced him to drive to Jacksonville.

The last thing he remembered, he said, was the man telling him to pull into a parking lot at Jacksonville. He was slugged — next thing he remembered was walking the streets of Phoenix.

Now authorities are wondering if someone else first robbed and slugged Harrison — someone who was carrying Harrison's identification papers and later was murdered by Olson.

The bizarre puzzle has police in several states working to solve it.

Saturday Mrs. Harrison told The Herald she had hoped and prayed her husband was alive.

But she virtually abandoned hope when told about the murder "confession" a week ago—a confession bolstered with apparently irrefutable details.

Her family, she said, was even readying arrangements for a funeral service.

But at 1:50 a.m. Saturday

Russia Blocks Agreement On A-Tests, U.S. Charges

Inspection Veto Called Obstacle

WASHINGTON —(AP)— The U.S. accused Russia Saturday of blocking an East-West agreement to end nuclear weapons tests by demanding a veto over any inspection system.

At the same time, the State Department vigorously denied Russia's claim that the U.S. is seeking an excuse to torpedo negotiations now under way in Geneva for a test ban.

"This is not so," the State Department said. "The fact that the Soviet Union has chosen this moment, when the negotiations are under way at Geneva on central issues of effective controls, to make such unfounded charges, raises questions as to their (Soviet) intentions."

American negotiators, the department said, will persevere in their efforts to write a satisfactory agreement for halting all further nuclear weapons explosions.

"Success in the negotiations in Geneva is squarely up to the Soviet Union," the department added. "If the Soviet Union is willing to agree to a control organization and can operate effectively it will be possible to achieve agreement on the cessation of nuclear testing."

The department said these three major issues remain in the way of East-West agreements:

1. — Will the Soviet Union be able to veto and obstruct every action of the control commission as it now demands, or will it be possible for the control organization to act without this obstacle?

The U.S. believes that any control system which could be frustrated in its day-to-day operations by the veto power in the hands of a single party would be worse than useless.

2 — Will the control post be manned by an international staff? Or as the Soviets demand, will it be manned by nationals of the government on whose territory the control posts are located, with only one or two outside "observers?"

The Soviet position would amount to self-inspection and as such cannot be the basis for an agreement in which all parties can have confidence, the department said.

3—Will international inspection groups be organized and ready to move quickly to the site of an event which could be suspected of being an explosion? Or will sending of such a group be subject to weeks of debate and a veto?

The Soviet approach would entangle this key provision in miles of red tape, the department said.

Restless Batista Rankled by Exile; Tempers Flare Easily in Hotel Haven

By GEORGE BEEBE
Herald Managing Editor

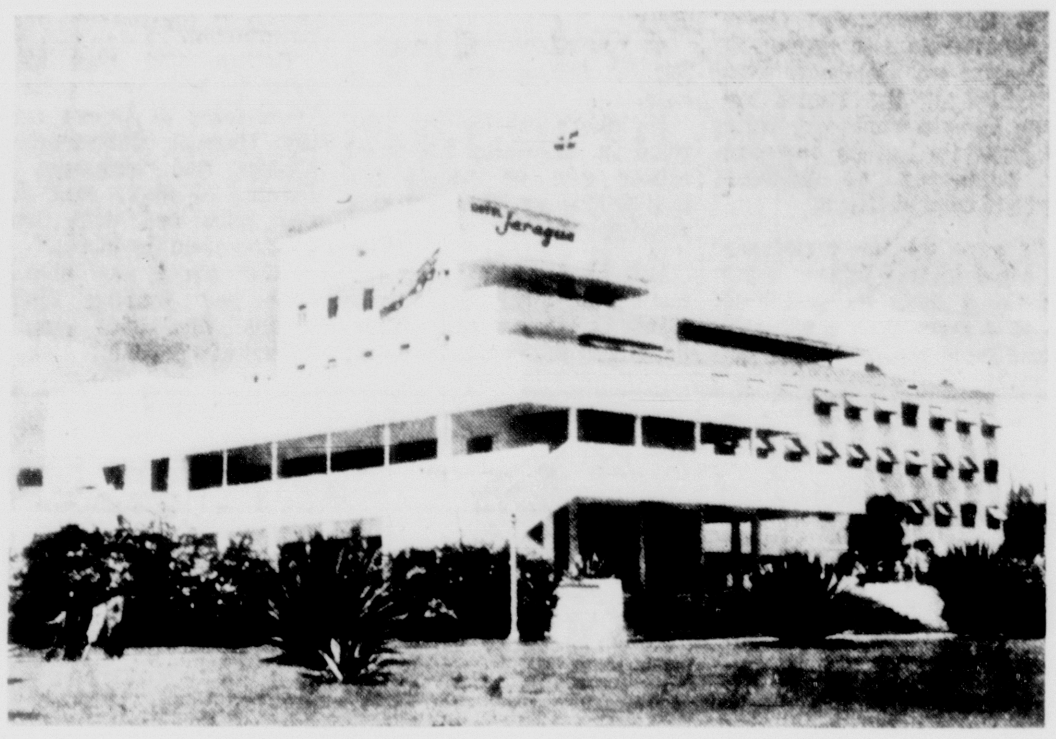
Miami Herald Publishing Co



Deposed Dictator Fulgencio Batista Lives Here
. . . finds haven in the plush Hotel Jaragua at Ciudad Trujillo

CIUDAD TRUJILLO, Dominican Republic — Fulgencio Batista in exile is restless and embittered. He has not taken defeat easily.

He is a rich man financially, but his satisfaction has come from political power rather than monetary gains.

Now he gropes for a new and active life that will consume the burning energy that made him Cuba's Strong Man for more than 20 years.

On the surface, Batista is his same charming and confident self. I've interviewed the former Cuban leader five times in the 10 years I have known him.

He is unchanged in appearance and manners. A dynamic personality still rides his hard-set frame.

For reasons of health, Batista and the more than 50 Cuban leaders who fled with him New Year's eve, rarely leave the Hotel Jaragua's third floor — which has become exile headquarters.

It is obvious they are getting on each other's nerves. The weather is hot. Tempers flare easily. Their bungling of the recent crisis still bothers them.

Batista is not the type of man who can accept confinement, so he keeps a schedule much the same as in Havana's Presidential Palace — from noon until 3 or 4 a.m.

Two secretaries bustle about arranging conferences. His Cuban companions beat a steady path to his door.

Batista long has been a canasta enthusiast. A card table, with a cover specially designed for the game, holds a prominent spot in the living room.

This provides one of his few diversions. He has taken several rides about Cuidad Trujillo and occasionally walks in the far reaches of the hotel grounds — away from eyes of the other guests.

The Hotel Jaragua has taken a back seat to the new El Embajador, but it still ranks as one of the finer resort hotels in the Caribbean.

It is a rambling, four-story affair with its choicest rooms looking over a swimming pool, a spacious lawn and across a malecon drive to the pounding surf of the Atlantic against a rocky seawall.

Day or night, there is no evidence on the grounds or in the lobby, dining room or gambling casino, that the hotel is now headquarters for the man Fidel Castro has placed as No. 1 on his obit parade.

The arrival of the Batista party on New Year's Eve came as a complete surprise to the city. There were 47 on the plane. Other political refugees have arrived here since.

Dominicans generally would like to see them go, as they would Juan Peron of Argentina, also. They don't like the unfavorable publicity which the asylum of two dictators brings.

Not unhappy are the operators of the Jaragua and the Paz (Peron's headquarters). The tourist business has not been good and the exiles are making up for it.

Although the Cubans are restless, none have applied for visas to go elsewhere. They arrived heavily laden with Cuban pesos, which don't give them much long-range security.

I asked Batista what his hurried departure caused him to leave behind that he cherished most.

He squinted his black eyes a moment in thought and replied: "My country and my people, of course. My friends, my home and my library."

His library is heavy with books about Abraham Lincoln, the man Batista most admires in history.

One incident Batista related may have a bearing on his plans for the future.

His son had come from school and asked: "Father, are you an old man? Some of the boys said you were."

Batista laughed heartily at the remark, but through the broad smile I could detect a note of awareness that perhaps time is running out on the only life he ever has known — dominance of his people and the fight to attain that dominance. He is 59.

Former Dictator Breaks Silence, Calls Castro Barbaric, Sadistic

and ordered him to sabotage communication lines by cutting down utility poles.

When asked by police why he did it, the man said he had to. A neighbor had refused to cut the poles and was hanged. He didn't want the same fate," Batista explained.

The heavy-set, dark-browed ex-president said he has waited until the Castro government took shape before commenting on Cuba's future. He thinks it looks extremely dark.

"The new government just doesn't make sense," Batista says.

"For instance, Castro said his main mission in life was to free Cuba of the Batista regime. But now he has placed himself in a unique superstructure over President Manuel Urrutia.

"I was called a dictator by many, yet within the government I maintained the three constitutional divisions — executive, legislative and judicial. They all functioned independently. Evidently Fidel Castro doesn't like this form of government."

Batista, who reads every newspaper he can get his hands on, is obviously shaken by stories of the war crime trials of some of his trusted aides who failed to get the signal New Year's Eve that the leading men were leaving the act.

"When I was president, the courts were composed of judges named for the most part by previous presidents, and we respected their decisions," said the onetime dictator.

"Now Castro destroys the powers provided by the constitution and has appointed men not qualified for judgeships to conduct trials throughout the island and pronounce death sentences."

He had read that the Havana "Sports City" Coliseum — which he helped construct — was being used for several major war crime trials.

"This takes us back to the days of the Roman circus," said Batista defiantly, "when men were fed to the beasts with approval of the crowd.

"How can a judge give a fair trial with 30,000 people screaming to hang the defendants? This is indeed a primitive approach Castro has introduced."

Batista seemed fully aware that should he ever be forced to return to Cuba, something larger than the sports arena would be needed for his trial.

NEXT: Batista's last hours in Cuba and his plans for the future.

convictions." No man fears he'll be pointed out as an informer or "chivato" merely through the spite of a neighbor.

The new government and new Army are demanding proof to go with the accusations.

The new freedoms are most evident in Old Havana, and especially on The Prado, which stretches its tree-lined magnificence from Central Park to the sea.

There, where this reporter once could count no more than six people hurrying along the marble walks at night, now there are hundreds promenading until all hours of the morning.

Arm-in-arm with their girls, young men walk and stop and talk and you hear laughter that only a month ago was like a foreign language here.

Is prosperity, or at least decent living, to come from the new government to a country that is financially flat on its back?

Most businessmen say "It must, we have no other direction to go!"

Big businessmen look for an influx of new capital brought on by a stabilized government. "At least," they say, "we aren't going to have talk of revolution and a change of government all the time"

Little businessmen look for the tourists and the money that will help them pay their long overdue bills as it seeps down through the economy.

And tourists, when they begin coming again, will find a different, happier atmosphere than they have seen in the country before.

A coffee vendor offers you a tiny paper cup of cafe solo in a small park near the Capitol and you ask him, "How are things for you these days?"

And he sets the thermos on a bench to pound his chest with both hands and say, "I am free!"

Cuba's face has been lifted. It shines bright with hope.

Odds High, But Pot Is Higher

Nine people came close, but nobody won last week's Sunny Fortune Puzzle, so there's a $400 pot awaiting some lucky reader.

SUNNY

He'll have to be darned lucky too, according to Puzzle Fan Norman Drysdale, who writes from Marathon:

"As I see it, the game has ceased to be one of skill and is now a lottery with the odds of picking by blind chance the correct combination more than a million to one."

The odds are high, but not that high, Mr. Drysdale. If you figure a 50-50 chance on each of 16 letters, the odds of any one entry winning work out to 65,536 to one.

With the number of entries running around 37,000 for each contest, you can see why a winner can't be expected every time. But that's what makes a puzzle puzzling and keeps the pots building up.

Other fans writing in last week agree that there was more skill involved in the old style puzzles. Phyllis Pinard of San Juan, Puerto Rico, puts it pretty well:

"Let's please go back to the old style," she writes. "It was so much more interesting to lose that way."

Old style, new style, let's turn to 12B and take a whack at this week's $400.

Amnesia Victim Shows Up

the shrill ringing of the telephone got Mrs. Weaver, her mother-in-law, out of bed.

It was the Phoenix police.

"They said they had tried to get my daughter-in-law in Titusville," said Mrs. Weaver. "They learned she had moved back to Miami.

"Then they told me James was alive and had amnesia.

"I didn't believe it at first."

When Mrs. Harrison talked to the police she didn't believe it either. "See if there's a scar on his back," she asked.

There was—just where she said.

She talked to her husband—but he was in half shock and incoherent.

"It was hard for him to believe it wasn't Oct. 8," she said. "About all he could say when he vaguely realized what happened was, 'Oh mama—mama, we've missed Christmas.'

"He couldn't understand why I wasn't in Titusville—and asked just a little about the youngsters.

"I couldn't believe he was living.

"It's a miracle—just a miracle: that's what I keep telling everyone. I can't imagine what brought him out of it. It's just God's way . . ."

Eight-year-old Jamey Harrison sat next to his mother. His eyes shone and he said excitedly: "It will be just like Christmas when Daddy gets home. The biggest Christmas present I ever got."

And seven-year-old son, Mike, seriously added:

"My daddy had magnesia . . . I'll sure be glad to see him."

Dulles Amazes Reds' Mikoyan

MOSCOW — (UPI) — Soviet Deputy Premier Anastas I. Mikoyan Saturday confessed surprise at John Foster Dulles' knowledge of the Soviet economy.

He told newsmen that at one point during their conference in Washington, the secretary of state answered a question "as precisely as I could have done."

"I congratulated him on his knowledge of Marxism," Mikoyan said.

Slow Rise in Temperature Seen For Gulf States; Tampa Records 70's

Forecasts For Today

KEYS AREA—Cloudy and windy with a few light showers followed by partial clearing late Sunday and Sunday night. Little change in temperatures. High Sunday in mid 70's, low Sunday night 68. Monday partly cloudy, slightly warmer. Small craft warnings displayed for northeast to east winds 20-30 miles per hour, slowly diminishing during Sunday and Sunday night.

INDIAN RIVER AREA—Considerable cloudiness and rather windy Sunday with little change in temperature. Partial clearing Sunday night and Monday. Warmer on Monday. High Sunday 70-74. Low Sunday night about 65. Northeast to east winds 15-25 miles per hour gradually diminishing.

FORT LAUDERDALE AND PALM BEACHES — Cloudy, some rain or drizzle this morning. Sunday, partly cloudy and not as much change in termperature.

UPPER WEST COAST AND TALLAHASSEE AREA—Partly cloudy and a little warmer. Northeast to east winds at eight to 15 m.p.h. High, 66.

UPPER EAST COAST AND GAINESVILLE AREA—Considerable cloudiness and warmer. High, 66 to 70. Northeast to east winds at 10 to 20 m.p.h.

SMALL BOAT BULLETIN — Small craft warnings are displayed for northeast to east winds at 20 to 35 m.p.h. slowly diminishing during the day. Seas will be rough and inland waters will be choppy.

MARINE — Jacksonville through the Florida Straits — Small craft warnings are displayed for Vero Beach southward for northeast to east winds at 20 to 35 m.p.h. Over the north position there will be northeast to east winds at 15 to 25 m.p.h. slowly diminishing during the day. Considerable cloudiness. A few showers in the south portion and 15 to 30 m.p.h. portion are likely.

National Summary

Disturbances moving across the northern states coupled with a continuing flow of very cold air from Canada led to snowfall in Montana and from Minnesota into New York and Pennsylvania Saturday afternoon.

Temperatures ranged from zero to a bit below at mid-day along the northern border of the Plains states and were in the teens or lower through the lakes region into New England. Miles City, Mont. registered a three inch increase in snow cover during the morning, while four of the seven inches on the ground at Green Bay, Wis. collected during the forenoon.

Elsewhere east of the continental divide a substantial warming trend pushed temperatures to the 40's in SW South Dakota compared to readings in the teens in the northeast corner of the state and 40's reached from the mid Mississippi and Ohio Valleys into Virginia and Maryland by mid-day.

High pressure preserved a predominantly sunny pattern except for some cloudiness and occasional rain in south Florida and Texas, however considerable cloudiness will accompany a slow rise in temperatures across the Gulf States through the balance of the weekend.

Motorcyclists Line Up on Lawn of West Hollywood Church Just Before Ceremony
. . . the bride arrived a half hour late in a station wagon

75 Motorcycles Roar to Wedding In W. Hollywood

By TOM VINCEGUERRA
Herald Staff Writer

WEST HOLLYWOOD — The 75 motorcycles roared down State Road 7, cut west on Hollywood Boulevard, then screeched to a halt on the lawn of the church of the Holy Sacrament on Filmore Street.

John (Woody) Lloyd, 23, Davie Grove worker and avid motorcyclist, paced nervously on the church lawn. He exchanged friendly jibes with the new arrivals and their gal companions.

"She better not say anything when I'm late for dinner," Lloyd quipped.

"If you're smart, you'll never come home for dinner," joked big Jim Palmer astride his motor. The whole group roared with laughter.

Lloyd thought his 17-year-old fiance, Sally Green, 3506 NW 32nd Ave., Miami would leave him standing at the altar, but she showed up in a station wagon — a half hour late.

Accompanied by her mother, Mrs. Edward Green, Sally was whisked through a side entrance of the church. The army of motorcycle riders, dressed in leather jackets, caps, and riding britches, filed into the pews. The organist started the wedding march.

Sally, dressed in a tight-fitting riding pants, and white satin blouse, stepped slowly down the aisle arm in arm with her father.

At the altar she joined Lloyd, who was dressed in a dark stripped shirt with no tie. Soft-spoken Father Peter Tonella joined them in matrimony.

The newlyweds moved quickly out of the church. They got into a Cadillac and the wedding party roared over to Zombie's Bar in Davie for the reception.

Johnny and Sally met at "Mom Warner's Susie-Q Drive-In on State Road 7, favorite West Hollywood hangout for the West Hollywood group.

"Mom" didn't attend the wedding but she has a surprise gift for the newlyweds.

"I'm going to let them use my island home near Sunny Isles for their honeymoon," beamed "Mom."

Johnny hopes to present his wife a wedding gift — a motorcycle. "She was my riding partner," he said with pride.

Hull Gets Automatic New Term

By CLARENCE ZAITZ
Herald Staff Writer

POMPANO BEACH — Veteran city commissioner and former Mayor G. T. Hull automatically won another two-year term when no one sought to contest his seat in the February municipal elections.

As candidate filing deadline passed Saturday, Hull remained unopposed while the scramble for a District 1 seat involves four men.

Joseph H. Finnegan, 41, 2520 SE 2nd Ct., and Howard Reed, 61, 3300 SE 7th St., qualified as District One candidates Saturday.

Other candidates from that district are Richard C. Tyrholm, 40, 2641 NE 18th St., and Dwight Miller, 34, 717 11th Ave.

City Clerk Mrs. Winifred Sharp said she doesn't ever remember a city commission seat going uncontested.

Hull, 55, is a produce broker and has served seven terms on the commission.

Finnegan is an insurance agent, Reed owns an apartment house, Tyrholm is operator of the credit bureau of Pompano Beach, and Miller is dockmaster at Hillsboro inlet.

The primary election for District 1 will be Feb. 10.

Malcolm Rites Set On Monday

HILLSBOROUGH — Herbert L. Malcolm of the Hillsborough Club died in Baltimore, Md., Friday. He was 74.

Mr. Malcolm came here in 1922 and opened a school at Lighthouse Point, which later became the famous Hillsborough Club.

He was a graduate of Yale University, a teacher at Lake Placid, N. Y., and owner of the Hillsborough Club. He was a charter member and past president of the Pompano Beach Rotary Club, a veteran of World War I and a member of the American Legion.

During his youth Mr. Malcolm set several world's mountain climbing records. From 1939 to 1955 he served the town of Hillsborough in all administrative capacities — mayor, vice-mayor and commissioner.

He is survived by his wife, Patricia, a son, Herbert L. Jr., and a daughter, Mary. Funeral will be Monday at 3 p.m. at the First Presbyterian Church of Pompano Beach, with the Rev. W. B. Sutphin officiating. Burial will be in Pompano Cemetery with Kraeer Funeral Homes in charge.

$124,000 Is Missing

'I'm Innocent,' Suspect States

By PETER LAINE
Herald Staff Writer

FORT LAUDERDALE — The prospect of momentary arrest failed to dismay embezzlement suspect Allan S. Fowler at his home here Saturday.

The smart-looking 69-year-old father of two children, nine and 10, said: "I just don't know what it's all about. Of course I'm innocent."

A warrant, issued Friday in Detroit, where Fowler managed a telephone employes' credit union for 18 years, alleged he took $2,382.47 in two months. Total shortage in the credit union accounts is $124,431.63.

The sheriff's department here is waiting for the warrant to arrive to pick Fowler up.

Fowler said he bought his well-kept $20,000 home at 4761 NE Fifth Ave. a year ago. He moved in August, after retiring.

The 12,000-member union gave him a farewell dinner and a full year's salary of $9,000 as a parting gift. A month later a complaint led to an audit of the seven-and-a-half million dollar credit union.

Treasurer John P. Lenhardt said someone had been recording deposits on account cards, then removing both the deposit and the card.

Fowler said he won't fight extradition. "I'll go voluntarily to clear it up just as soon as someone asks me," he declared. "All I've heard is from the papers.

"The credit union hasn't told me a thing," he added. "That's what makes me so mad."

Fowler's children and a dog played around the three-bedroom, two and one-half bath home as he talked. The scene was one of suburban respectability.

"I've been coming here every winter for years," Fowler said. "I'm tied up in church work and was just elected president of the Hammond Organ Society," he continued.

State Turnpike Revenues Soar

$4 Million Tolls Seen For 1959

Income Last Year Tops '57 Figure

(See Related Story P. 8B)

By DUANE JONES
Herald Staff Writer

FORT LAUDERDALE — Florida's 74 million dollar turnpike is two years old today, and if its officials had their way they'd celebrate the occasion by breaking ground for an extension to the Georgia line.

T. M. Ervin, administrative assistant, terms the 110-mile toll road "a tremendous financial success."

"We'd start on an extension immediately if we had the money. An unfavorable bond market is the only thing holding us back," he said.

Ervin and other officials believe the existing 40-year bond issue can be retired in 30.

"Revenue over the first two years has exceeded by far our expectations. And it's going to get better as the state continues to grow," he said.

Toll collections this year are expected to hit four million dollars.

Revenue totaled $3,519,000 in 1957, and $3,669,000 over the past 12 months.

Traffic, however, wasn't as heavy last year as it was in 1957.

"In 1957," Allen Hinton, public information officer, explained, "State Rd. 7 was torn up between Fort Lauderdale and Hollywood, and a lot of its normal traffic was diverted to the turnpike."

He felt the return of State Rd. 7 to its normal status resulted in the drop of traffic on the turnpike last year.

Truck traffic figures dropped from 249,563 in 1957 to 247,133 last year. The number of passenger cars for the same periods dropped from 3,519,588 to 3,256,344.

How can the revenue be up when the traffic is down?

Hinton said it is because the average length of trip per car is increasing. Tolls are scaled so that the greater the distance you drive on the pike, the greater the cost.

"Our records show that trips averaged 46 miles in 1957," Hinton said. "Now they're up to 57."

Hinton said last month's revenue, $408,414, was the second highest in the turnpike's history. The best month, he added, was last March when collections totaled $414,853.

"When you consider the cold spell we had last winter and the recession, we feel we did very well," Hinton said.

"From a financial standpoint, our turnpike ranks third in the nation. While some are losing money, we're way out in front."

Hinton said officials also are proud of traffic and safety records.

"Motorists have traveled 334 million miles and we've had only 10 fatalities. Our safety record is one of the best in the nation."

Hinton said revenue over the past eight months has increased in spite of a reduction in price of night tolls.

"Our credit card system has proved very successful, too," he added. "We have 1,700 card holders and they're spending more than $1,000 a month."

Broward Growth Challenging Dade

By MIKE MORGAN
Herald Staff Writer

Broward county continues as one of the fastest growing areas in the state with another fine year predicted during 1959.

Dr. Reinhold Wolff, University of Miami economist, reports that proportionately Broward's growth still outpaces that of Dade.

A check of the building permit records for December 1958 shows that Broward County pushed ahead of Dade that month with 1,126 dwelling units authorized compared to 1,114 in Dade.

This certainly is an isolated instance, he cautioned, but it happened before and should not be ignored as a signpost to the trend of the drift toward Broward.

Forecast of the Bureau of Business and Economic Research is for 32,000 new units for the Dade-Broward area this year.

Of this total, Dr. Wolff estimates 18,000 will be built in Dade and 14,000 in Broward. Which is a sizable proportionate increase for Broward compared to respective populations.

The 32,000 units for the combined area impressively tops the forecasts of other major population centers in the state.

Estimate for the Tampa-St. Petersburg area is 18,000 dwelling units; 7,100 for Jacksonville.

One of the more forceful signals of what is happening in Broward, emphasized the economist, is the gain recorded in residential electric customers.

Dade County residential electric customers increased 4.7 per cent in 1958 over 1957 with an annual average of 266,400 customers last year compared to 254,014 in 1957.

Broward recorded a fat 13.07 per cent increase in annual average residential electric customers for 1958 over 1957; 94,057 compared to 83,179.

Said Wolff:

"Broward has been one of the sensational growth counties in the nation. The trend toward that county continues."

Robert Weston
. . . grand larceny suspect

Burglary Suspect Is Nabbed

Herald Bureau

FORT LAUDERDALE — Police and sheriff's deputies were confident Saturday they had broken a burglary operation responsible for a series of thefts in recent months.

Friday night they raided two southwest homes, hauling away some thousands of dollars worth of allegedly stolen furniture and building supplies.

Carpenter Robert Weston, 38, was arrested at his mother's home, 1017 SW Second Ct., and helf for investigation of grand larceny.

His own home at 3637 SW 14th St., also was searched. Several truckloads of merchandise were removed from both houses.

Arrested later was Harold Valin, 2073 SW 29th Ave., who is suspected of fingering homes —including model houses—for entry.

"My mother knew nothing about it," he told police. The suspect said he has been in the building trade here for 10 years.

Weston cooperated in the removal. It included appliances, $994, doors, awnings, sofas, chairs, glassware, bedspreads, and plumbing fixtures.

"The stuff is from all over town," Boyd said. "We have names of some innocent buyers."

Broward's Traffic Deaths Take Jump

HOLLYWOOD — At the rate Broward's traffic deaths are soaring, a record 120 persons will die in automobile accidents in the county this year.

That grim prediction was made Saturday by Sgt. John Hicks of the Florida Highway Patrol following Broward's ninth and tenth traffic fatalities.

A 58-year-old Hallandale man was killed Saturday by a heavy vehicle and left lying on the side of the Federal Highway near Hallandale Beach Boulevard.

He was identified as Martin Roonoe, of 64 North Federal Highway. Police said large tire marks on Roonoe's body indicated he had been run over by either a truck or a bus.

Investigators said John A. Wyman, 84, of 6027 Filmore St., West Hollywood, walked into a jeep Friday on State Road Seven. He died three hours later at Memorial Hospital in Hollywood, the county's first pedestrian fatality for 1959.

January car road deaths already have set an all-time monthly record in Broward, Hicks said. There were six deaths for the same month last year.

The 1958 total was 71, including the death of a man who died last week of injuries he suffered in Hollywood accident Dec. 21, Hicks said.

Both Hicks and Lt. Walter Nichols, Hollywood traffic division here, listed the death as a "delayed 1958 fatality."

"At the rate we're going Broward will have 120 deaths before this year is over," said Sgt. Hicks.

Limousine Jobs Gone With Sale

FORT LAUDERDALE — A group of limousine drivers found themselves without jobs early Saturday morning, and they aren't at all happy about it.

City police said they received a report of a disturbance at 801 N. Federal Hwy., office of the Greyhound Limousine Service.

Upon arriving there police said they found about 15 disgruntled limousine drivers. They told police the owners of the business had sold the limousine service to the Red Top Cab Co. of Miami.

At 12:01 a.m. the new drivers from Red Top arrived to take over. The old drivers, members of a union, said they had no advance notice. Non-union drivers said they knew nothing about the change themselves until about 5 p.m. Friday.

The jobless drivers asked police to prevent the new drivers from operating because they had no Fort Lauderdale identification cards.

Police said they would allow the new drivers to operate on their Miami and Miami Beach cards until they can get new ones here.

Frank Spando Dies: Rites Set

FORT LAUDERDALE — A requiem mass will be held Tuesday morning at St. Clement's Church at 9:30 for 69-year-old Frank Spando, who died Friday at his residence, 1140 NE 3rd Ave.

Survivors include his wife, Emily A., and a son, Edward, both of Fort Lauderdale, two other sons, two daughters, one brother and 13 grandchildren. Fairchild Funeral Home is in charge.

Man Shot To Death

POMPANO BEACH — A Negro man was shot to death and his girl friend was wounded in a violent fight over the custody of a four-month-old baby here Saturday afternoon.

Dead is Willie C. Pickett, 23, of Collier City, who had sought to take the baby from Anne Dozier, 29.

Miss Dozier was wounded in the hip and taken to Provident Hospital where officials said she'd be released sometime Sunday.

Late Saturday Pompano Detective John Hovey and investigators from the Broward Sheriff's office were taking testimony from witnesses. They still had not determined what charges would be filed.

The shooting took place shortly after 2:30 p.m. in the Westside Apartments at 10th St. and 8th Ave. N.W. adjacent to Blache Ely High School.

Harry De Wick's Rites Scheduled

LAKE FOREST — Masonic services for Harry E. De Wick, 77, of 4200 SW 33rd Dr., who died Thursday, will be at 7 p.m. today in the Wadlington Funeral Home in Hollywood.

Regular services will be at 3:30 p.m. Monday, with burial in Dade Memorial Park. An artist, Mr. De Wick came here two years ago from Cleveland, Ohio.

Survivors include his wife, Marguerite; a son, Harry E. Jr. of Miami and a brother.

Sailor Believed Lost Trying to Swim River

Herald Bureau

FORT LAUDERDALE — Hope was abandoned Saturday for a sailor from the USS Newport News, heavy cruiser, visiting Port Everglades, who tried to swim across New River early Saturday.

S1C Alexander C. Lowry, 25, disappeared in midstream, near the SE Ninth Ave. bridge, about 1:30 a.m. despite the efforts of three buddies to save him. His body has not been recovered.

Police Sgt. Jack Cunningham said four sailors were walking to the port when they came upon the U.S. 1 detour bridge, left open for boat traffic at night. Lowry said, "I'll just swim across," and jumped in. Halfway across, he got into difficulty.

His three companions — Donald Sarkisian, William White, and David Holtzman — dived in to help him. Sarkisian and Holtzman reached Lowry, but lost him when White also called for help, Cunningham said.

The other sailors said Lowry was not a good swimmer. Police and shore patrol searched the river, and started dragging operations.

These Two Navy Officers Run Navy's OSR system
. . . Lts. A. T. Buckmaster and H. W. Albers

They Help Guide Ships To Speedier Atlantic Trips

A new aid to navigation has only been in use a few months but already it has speeded up ocean transportation and saved more than a million dollars. It's called the Optimum Ship Routing system.

The OSR system is aimed at overcoming the ancient bugaboo of the seas—changeable currents and weather conditions which often result in reduced speed and heavy ship damage.

NORFOLK, Va. —(AP)— Two lieutenants in a tiny, cluttered office at the Norfolk Naval Air Station exchanged pleased grins when the message came in:

"Fastest trip ever. Thanks."

It was just one of many similar messages sweated out by Lieutenants Albert T. Buckmaster and Hugh W. Albers. It meant the Atlantic Fleet Service Force ship Antares had crossed from Norfolk to Gibralter in record time using a route plotted daily by Buckmaster and Albers in their cubbyhole.

Since September, when they opened their office, the two lieutenants have shepherded 100 Navy and Military Sea Transportation Service ships across the Atlantic. By next July they expect to handle all Atlantic traffic for MSTS and a major portion of the Atlantic Fleet's business.

They run the Navy's Optimum Ship Routing system. Based on the research of Dr. Richard W. James of the Navy's hydrographic office, the system seeks to overcome the ancient bugaboo of the seas — changeable currents and weather conditions which often result in reduced speed and heavy ship damage.

In the few months of its operation, the OSR system has improved speed of ocean transportation and saved more than one million dollars in hard cash.

The program holds exciting implications for commercial shipping, where the cold facts of economy are vital.

During fiscal 1957, American shippers lost $2,665,441 in foundered and damaged ships, and $433,730 in cargo damage. During the period 1952-56, a total of $12,766,132 was recorded in ship losses and cargo damage was set at $952,020.

These are commercial figures. There is no available record of monetary losses to naval vessels during the same periods.

Some shipping companies reportedly have begun providing OSR service for their own operations in an effort to reduce weather damage costs and speed schedules.

Stated simply, the James-Navy concept provides willing ship masters (or naval captains) with constant and controlled guidance through the potential treachery of oceanic weather.

Armed with Dr. James' published thesis, Buckmaster and Albers labor long hours every day herding ships across the tricky Atlantic — ships they are not likely ever to see.

As explained by Buckmaster, OSR is "a matter of improved forecasting machinery, close communications and confidence . . . and a spot of luck." Perhaps a recent episode will serve better to explain the technical features of the system, and its end product.

On Sept. 15, 1957, the Military Sea Transportation Service ship USNS Buckner weighed anchor in New York harbor. Eight days later she dropped her hook at Bremerhaven, Germany. From start to finish Buckmaster and Albers called the shots.

Two days before Buckner was due to depart, the two lieutenants armed themselves with a series of five-day weather prognostications ("progs") they call them. Hunching over their charting table in Fleet Weather Facility, Norfolk, they started the project.

A set of five progs gave them a fairly clear picture of the predictable weather the Buckner would face cruising eastward. The lieutenants laid out a series of first-day course legs, selected the best from all angles and passed it on to the ship, with projected tentative headings for successive days.

Capt. K. C. Towne, skipper of the Buckner and a man with 40 years' sea-going experience, was on his way with what the lieutenants considered to be his quickest and safest routing to Bremerhaven.

But something happened on the second day to alter the script. The OSR team noted an alarming shift in weather when new progs developed. To the north a storm was moving down, and would lay a heavy hand on Buckner if she plied her original course pattern.

Buckmaster and Albers reworked their chart and decided to send the ship more to the south, giving her a heading to skirt the storm line. So painstaking and accurate was their work that on her final leg Buckner picked up a heavy following sea that booted her neatly home at high speed.

Veteran seafarer Towne was amazed. He conceded that at first he was "a bit skeptical" about the whole thing. Since that first passage the lieutenants have ushered him across five times more.

"Well, we have 60 nails up there and I guess we can drive in a few more," he said. He noted that at the time 13 ships were under surveillance and six more were preparing to depart for Europe.

Requiring only that ships give them 48 hours notice, Buckmaster says he and Albers "keep in touch with them all the way . . . and sweat them out." Every 24 hours a ship gives a position report and a summary of weather conditions.

Dr. James wrote in his thesis in 1956:

"The inevitable result of the successful accomplishment of this task will be improved maritime economy, and progress to date strongly indicates that a reasonable solution to the problem may soon be realized."

At Korean Conference Meetings

U.N. Chief Plays Propaganda Tune as Reds Burn

Miami Herald-Chicago News Wire

PANMUNJOM, Korea — A seagoing lawyer has introduced a cozy family atmosphere to the otherwise rigidly formal meetings of the U.N. Military Armistice Commission.

Smartly dressed American embassy wives peered through the open windows of the conference hall as Rear Adm. Ira H. Nunn, chief U.N. forces delegate, exchanged unpleasantries with his North Korean Communist counterpart.

Nunn wanted to know what happened to more than 2,000 U.N. prisoners including 452 Americans the Reds have not accounted for.

The Communists, in turn, demanded an accounting for 98,000 of their prisoners.

Neither side expected anything from the other except propaganda and nobody was disappointed. However, visitors, including the embassy wives, had a pleasant outing.

"I like to have women up here because they talk a lot and write letters," said Nunn, 48, softspoken Southerner and veteran of the Navy's Judge Advocate General's office.

"Since no decisions are made here — there is no judge or jury — we might as well get what propaganda we can out of these meetings."

Nunn, the 13th chief delegate since the Armistice Commission was set up five years ago, has had the Seoul Rotary Club and American teenagers attend meetings as his guests.

"The kids got a big kick out of it and I think they learned something," said Nunn, who, in the 2½ months he's been here, has called four out of six commission meetings. This reversed the usual procedure since the U.N. side generally has let the Communists have the initiative.

As a lawyer Nunn deplores the cut and dried procedure of the meetings in which one side reads a prepared statement and the other side replies in kind. He has tried to draw the Communists into give and take discussions but without success.

"It's like trying to play a cornstalk fiddle with a shoestring bow," he sighed.

The Communists haven't objected to visitors. However, they are still complaining because Nunn installed a microphone and amplifying system which carries conference proceedings to other buildings, including the press hut.

The microphone sits in the middle of the conference table, half in U.N. territory, half in Communist territory. The Reds refuse to recognize the existence of the microphone but don't dare chuck it out.

The reason is long ago the Communists agreed to let the U.N. be responsible for housekeeping chores. Nunn contends the installation of an amplifying system was only a household improvement.

"We offered to install loudspeakers in the Communist building but they refused," Nunn said. "That's their tough luck."

Younk Demo Leader Due

Nelson Lancione, president of the Young Democratic Clubs of America, will arrive in Miami this afternoon for two days of conferences with party leaders here.

His visit is to discuss plans for the April convention at the Roney Plaza Hotel, Miami Beach, of the Young Demcrats' National Executive Committee.

Lancione will meet Miami Democratic leaders at a reception this afternoon at the home of Joseph Murphy, 701 Alcazar Ave., Coral Gables. He also will be guest of honor at a dinner party tonight at the Roney Plaza.

High School Classes on Deck—for September

Free Navy Boats to Take an $8,500 Bow

By DUANE JONES
Herald Staff Writer

FORT LAUDERDALE — An estimated $8,500 will be spent on the County School Board's two Navy training boats before the vessels can be used for classroom instruction next September.

The estimate includes the cost of bringing the 78-foot boats here from Annapolis, maintenance, dockage fees and the salary of a part-time captain.

Officials had hoped to work the vessels into their spring semester curriculum, but now believe they'll have to wait until September.

Courses in marine engineering, electronics, navigation and boat handling are being planned by a committee headed by Wilbur Marshall, supervisor of junior and senior high school instruction.

William Minton, finance director, said the biggest expense to date was the $4,608 spent to get the boats here.

He said the figure included salaries for four men who delivered the vessels, insurance and repair costs en route. One of the boats developed mechanical trouble near Jacksonville and had to be serviced at a marine base there.

Harold Carter, superintendent of school maintenance, indicated that another $3,522 will be spent on the boats before September.

"Our present plan is to rent docking space from the city, and we've been told that would cost us $830 a year for both boats," he explained.

Carter said he didn't know where the vessels will be docked, but presumed it would be in New River. "For the present," he continued, "we've dropped plans to build our own docks."

He said the boats' hulls will have to be recalked twice a year, and estimated that cost would total $1,100.

Carter pointed out that Jack Wright, the man who brought the boats here, has been receiving "between $50 and $70 a week" to maintain the vessels on a part-time basis.

Asked if this expense would continue through the summer months, Carter replied, "Probably. Someone has to keep the engines in working condition."

Pointing out that an instructional program hasn't been adopted yet, Marshall said he didn't know what instructional costs would run.

Carter said the cost of repairing a propeller shaft damaged when one of the boats struck a bridge in New River probably will be paid by the insurance company.

He estimated the damage at $400, and said he understood the insurance company has agreed to pay it.

The boats were leased, free of charge, to the School Board for four years. At the end of the period, the board can keep the vessels.

The English Didn't Want to Part With 1929 Bentley
. . . Andrew Darling and daughter, Bonnie, like auto classic

Retired British Racing Great Now Rolls in Fort Lauderdale

By HENRY KINNEY
Herald Staff Writer

FORT LAUDERDALE—Back when the Stutz Bearcat was the hottest thing on American highways, one of the principal tasks assigned to it was to beat England's Bentleys in the Le Mans Road Race in France.

One of the three 1929 model Bentleys which were built for the race—but didn't win—occasionally rolls soberly through the streets of Fort Lauderdale, a great, high-wheeled roadster which now is considered a classic of the auto maker's art.

Andrew D. Darling, 1288 Seminole Dr., a winter resident from Minneapolis, brought it here from England, to the accompaniment of wails from British collectors.

"They're beginning to feel very strongly about allowing these classics to leave England," explained Darling. "There's a great movement on foot to keep them there."

The Bentley won six major English races during 1929, as evidenced by a record engraved on a tiny silver plate attached to the hood, one of them with a speed of 107.5 miles an hour and another with 98.8. Sometime later it was "retired," like a great race horse, and for years has apparently sat almost unused on an English estate.

It became available recently following the death of its owner. Darling, who had sought one for years, bought it unseen to add to his collection of classic cars, which currently numbers 10. Among them are five Rolls Royces.

The Bentley retains the green color which identified it as an official English race entry. Darling will dismantle it and completely restore it, virtually from the axles up, "until it looks like 1929 again," but the green will be kept. The restoration will take about a year.

Its engine has only four cylinders and it gets about 15 miles to the gallon—although, as Darling points out, when you go for classic automobiles you don't measure the mileage closely.

Its racing days are past forever, probably. Darling, a member of the American Classic Car Club, will show it in the club's periodic meets and rallies.

In the Darling garage, the older Bentley supports a 1948 model built expressly for the International Automobile Show in New York. Among other cars are a 1926 Rolls sedan; a huge silver 1951 Rolls sports convertible, one of only two of its kind, and a 1938 Hispano-Suiza which reportedly once belonged to King Alphonse of Spain.

Doctors to Speed Expansion

Hospital's 'Angels' Wear White

By FRAN LASLIE
Herald Staff Writer

HOLLYWOOD — The heroes behind a move to speed expansion of overcrowded Memorial Hospital are the doctors who work daily at the institution.

In an unparalleled gesture, Memorial's medical staff dug into their own pockets last week to underwrite a $15,000 guarantee so preliminary plans for new facilities could be drawn up immediately.

"If we had not advanced the money it would have been another year before the expansion program got underway," said Dr. Bernard Seltzer, chief of staff.

The doctors had decided that the 235 additional beds, a new delivery suite for the maternity wing, additional operating rooms and a larger kitchen were needed so badly a year's delay was just too much.

"For some time the staff has been aware that Memorial is in dire need of more room. No matter how willing the board of directors is to provide facilities, it would have been a three-year proposition," added Dr. Anthony Gulluccio.

Commissioners are asking the Legislature to approve a three million dollar bond issue to finance the project. It will come up for a vote here next November.

If the referendum should fail to pass, the physicians, liable for all expenses incurred up to that time, will be out $15,000.

"It's a chance worth taking," said Dr. R. R. Hippensteel, former president of the Broward County Medical Association.

In addition to saving time, the action could also save lives, hospital authorities said.

Memorial, with a 165 bed capacity, could not possibly handle a large-scale emergency.

Some doctors fear the pinched facilities may lead to dangerous repercussions despite every effort of the administration to safeguard patients.

So with a "let's buckle down and get it done" attitude, physicians met last week to work out a plan with John Ritchie, hospital consultants firm of Boston.

Within hours, the medics had snipped through cumbersome legal red tape and clinched the deal with Ritchie.

Saturday, city officials joined the man on the street in lauding Hollywood's Dr. Kildares.

"In my 21 years of hospital work this is the first time I have seen such a gesture by the staff of a public hospital," said Joseph McAloon, Memorial administrator.

Meanwhile, the doctors were searching for other ways to cut time. Said one:

"Now we'd like to make a deal with local architects to complete final plans before November."

He's Made Some Changes

Welfare Boss Wants To Keep New Job

By ART ROBINSON
Herald Staff Writer

FORT LAUDERDALE—William E. Hogan is a mild man who earns $400 a month while administering a half-million-dollar a year welfare program.

He has no complaint. In his 50 years, he says, he has never had more fun.

But one thing disturbs him—the controversy over whether he's fitted to run the county's Welfare Department. He's convinced he is. He has the backing of the County Commission.

Members of the County Health and Welfare Advisory Committee, made up mostly of professional people concerned with the welfare program, say he isn't. But they concede he has made a good start.

As welfare director, they want someone trained in welfare work. However, Dr. Curtis Benton Jr., chairman, says Hogan has made badly needed reforms and is handling applications quickly.

* * *

SINCE HOGAN took over the much-criticized department Dec. 4, he has been on the spot. He shook up the department and added nine employes, including five more social workers and an investigator.

Employes say destitute persons formerly had to wait all day for a handout sometimes.

* * *

IN ADDITION to providing speedy service, Hogan lists these other accomplishments:

—Cutting down the monthly cash outlay for emergency assistance nearly $1,200 through more careful checking of applications.

—Reduction of each social worker's case load from 275 to 110 to 125 families.

—Establishment of charge accounts with the bus stations and a travel agency under which they issue tickets home to persons who have not lived here long enough to qualify for welfare assistance. The tickets help insure that they go home. Previously applicants received checks, which could have been cashed and used for other purposes.

—Closer cooperation with employment agencies. This has enabled 70 persons to go to work "in recent weeks" and leave the welfare rolls. Hogan says he also has arranged with all county departments to inform him whenever they can use part-time help.

—Destitute persons seeking medical or surgical treatment are investigated and certified for treatment by the following day.

—Case records, criticized severely by Dr. Robert Lansdale of Florida State University as incomplete and confusing, now are kept up to date and complete.

—Full time branch offices have been opened in Pompano Beach and Hollywood, with two social workers assigned to each. Medical clinics are conducted at each.

* * *

THE COUNTY'S welfare program is becoming a big business. It has a $232,480 budget for family assistance. For hospitalization and medical care of indigents, $239,000 is available.

At the moment, about 1,500 families are receiving help.

The county welfare program is designed to provide only short term assistance, until an applicant has been cleared for help under any of the various state programs.

Hogan says families seldom receive assistance from the county for more than two months. To get it at all, state law requires they must have lived in the state one year and in the county six months.

Before he landed in the Welfare Department, Hogan had a variety of callings. For five years he was an agent for the Bureau of Internal Revenue in New York and New Jersey and for two years an investigator of workmen's compensation claims for U. S. Steel.

He attended an embalming school in Miami and was a representative there for national distillers. He came to Broward County in 1947 and operated four stores that cooked takeout lunches. He sold the stores and was in charge of county Democratic campaign headquarters in 1956.

After that he was an investigator in the Building Department.

The Solicitor: Man in a Spot

By ERWIN POTTS
Herald Staff Writer

FORT LAUDERDALE — For almost four years Tom Coker worked toward becoming Broward County solicitor. On Jan. 1 he made it.

But he also came face to face with the hottest legal question the county has known in years.

"My tenure has been something less than uneventful," admits Coker.

"But I'm a perpetual optimist — always have been — and always look on the brighter side of things.

"If I just keep plugging away, I'm sure things will start looking up."

The controversy which greeted the 33-year-old solicitor's first days in office was over magistrate hearings for criminal suspects.

The problem, simply stated, is that Broward County doesn't have them despite a Florida statute requiring them.

Legal opinions from laymen and jurists alike have clouded the air with confusion.

Some say the law is being clearly violated. Others claim that the county's policy of "filing an information" (listing charges) on a suspect satisfies the law.

Coker, the man most concerned, sat back quietly and watched the fight without comment. He is the one who calls the signals. As county solicitor, he instructs the Sheriff's Department on its procedure.

Saturday he broke his silence.

"We're going to make some changes," he said. "We'll have a smoother and quicker system.

"No, we won't have hearings. We'll file an information instead. I've talked to a lot of judges and lawyers on this thing and they agree with me.

"We've suffered growing pains in the solicitor's office. I knew it when I took over—knew changes would have to be made.

"Only I hadn't planned to make them quite so early.

"From now on we'll file an information on a suspect immediately after he's picked up. Then we'll issue a capias. No hearing is necessary."

Tests of the legality of Coker's decision should be forthcoming soon. Attorneys, incensed over the absence of the hearings, have served notice they will appeal cases on these grounds.

Meanwhile Coker has other problems in his new job.

"I need more trial help" he said. "And I'd like to add more personnel to the office, if we can get the money.

"I've inherited a lot of problems. At times it's been extremely difficult. But I'm looking to the brighter side."

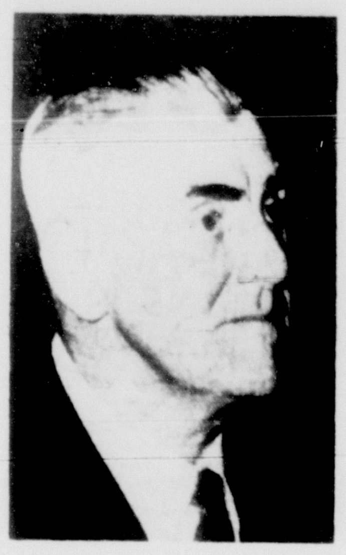
Businessmen Sponsor Jack Wyrtzen Rally

FORT LAUDERDALE — One of the nation's leading evangelists — a man hailed as one who has won the hearts and souls of thousands of teenagers — will open a three-day rally at the National Guard Armory Thursday.



Norman Clayton
. . . Wyrtzen organist

His name is Jack Wyrtzen and persons who have heard his dynamic preaching compare him with Evangelists Billy Sunday and Billy Graham.

Wyrtzen's appearance here is being sponsored by the Christian Business Men's Committee of Fort Lauderdale, a group of merchants who have banded together with the hope of influencing others toward Christianity.

A layman and father of five children, the 43-year-old evangelist is heard by more than eight million persons every Saturday night. His youth rallies usually emanate from the Gospel Tabernacle in New York, and are carried by 265 radio stations.

Ken Nanfelt
. . . rally tenor

Wyrtzen's "sawdust trail" type of preaching was featured in a Coronet magazine article two years ago.

"Wyrtzen's persuasive voice is one of the most powerful in the chorus of 'fundamental Christians' who take the Bible literally and preach a real heaven and hell," the author wrote.

The former band leader has conducted rallies in Madison Square Garden, Yankee Stadium, and in most metropolitan areas of this country.

He operates three youth camps in New York, and supports missionaries of various Protestant denominations in 20 foreign countries. He concentrates on social services as well as religion.

Officials Favor TV for Schools

FORT LAUDERDALE — Educational television may be just around the corner for Broward County school children.

While school officials aren't interested in going into an elaborate or costly program, they think schools should take advantage of educational programs originating from Miami.

MAXWELL

School Superintendent Raymond Maxwell believes each classroom should have a TV set.

"It would be worth the money just to get programs offered by Channel 2, the educational channel," commented School Board member Don Moore.

School Planner Charles Lowery pointed out that all new schools are being equipped with electrical outlets suitable for TV.

Taxpayers Group Elects Bartley

POMPANO BEACH — Charles W. Bartley has been elected head of the 450-member Pompano Beach Taxpayers Associatoin.

Executive Secretary Paul V. Sundberg, in announcing the election results at the annual meeting, said 61 per cent of the membership had voted.

The organization was formed five years ago with 39 members.

Vice presidents elected were S. E. Northway, First District; E. M. Showlater, second District; G. B. Hogan Jr., Third District. Paul Norton was named treasurer.

On the board of directors: John Olah, first district; James McNab, Second District; C. E. Smith, Third Disrtict; and directors at large, Paul Holden and Eleanor Parkinson.

TREAT TAPWATER

Chlorine in tap water may cause house plants to die. Remove the chlorine by boiling the water, then cooling it before watering plants.

CAP Unit To Survey Traffic

FORT LAUDERDALE — Some 52 members of the Fort Lauderdale Civil Air Patrol Squadron will make a survey of air traffic over this area starting at noon Thursday and ending at noon Feb. 1.

The purpose is to supply the Federal Aviation Agency with information which can help it devise long range air traffic control plans.

Similar surveys will be undertaken at 250 other airports throughout the country.

The CAP members, under direction of Maj. Malcolm L. Rinker, will interview pilots of all private, non-scheduled airline and transient military aircraft landing at the field to find out where they've been or where they're going.

A second survey will be made next summer. The purpose is to obtain data at the peak periods of the year for airplane traffic.

Clinic Bands To Play

By HENRY KINNEY
Herald Staff Writer

FORT LAUDERDALE—Two 100-piece all-star scholastic bands will play a free concert at War Memorial Auditorium Friday at the conclusion of the third annual All-Broward County Band Clinic.

One unit will be made up of the best junior high musicians in the county and the other the outstanding high school band members. The first will open the concert at 7:20 p.m. and the second will perform the latter part of the program, beginning about 8:30.

All the musicians will spend the day at the clinic at Stranahan High School, working under Col. Harold B. Bachman, University of Florida bandmaster.

The clinic was instituted three years ago as a method of bringing the county's scholastic bands closer, explained William H. Bennett, Fort Lauderdale High bandmaster. David Sheppard of South Broward High is this year's chairman.

Each of the school bandmasters will conduct a number at the auditorium concert and Col. Bachman also will conduct.

Need a Senior? 'Work Day' Pay For Scholarship

FORT LAUDERDALE—Stranahan High School will have its first "Work Day" Feb. 10 to raise money for a scholarship fund.

Four hundred senior class members are job hunting now. They hope to earn enough money for the day's work to provide four $500 scholarships.

The scholarships will be open to any senior. They will be awarded on the basis of leadership, character, service to the school, scholarship and financial need.

Anyone who can give a job to a senior Feb. 10 is asked to call the guidance office at Stranahan High School. Minimum work day is six hours.

Gardeners To Attend UM Course

FORT LAUDERDALE — Highlight of the week for members of the Federated Garden Clubs of Fort Lauderdale will be the third annual garden club short course at the University of Miami Wednesday, Thursday and Friday.

Acacia Garden Club has scheduled its meeting for 10 a.m. Friday at the home of Mrs. Leigh Robinson, 2700 NE 29th St. Mrs. W. R. Crossett will give the horticulture lesson on heliconia. Mrs. Rex Van Alstyne will give a travel talk on Spain.

Marshall Approves Speed-Up

By DUANE JONES
Herald Staff Writer

FORT LAUDERDALE — A proposed accelerated learning program for "exceptionally bright students" has received support from Dr. Thord Marshall, head of the county school system's department of instruction.

"Several local schools have advanced programs but we aren't meeting the need on a countywide basis," Dr. Marshall said.

School Attorney Ted David proposed Wednesday that the state appropriate funds to finance special courses for children who rank in the top five per cent of their class.

Dr. Marshall said advanced courses being offered now are limited mainly to junior and senior high school students. Two elementary schools, however, Lauderdale Manors and Riverland, have accelerated programs.

"Davis was referring to geniuses and near geniuses," Dr. Marshall added. "We have nothing for those youngsters, but we should."

He pointed out, however, that only a few youngsters here would qualify. Between 4,000 and 5,000 youngsters are participating in the existing program.

David's proposed program would start with third-grade youngsters and continue through high school. The stepped-up program, he said, would enable participants to be graduated a year earlier.

The attorney, a former House of Representatives speaker, was to submit his proposal at a meeting with county legislators Thursday.

Davis said he did not know what the program would cost, but thought it could be started with $100,000.

Public Job For Salvino?

By RICK TUTTLE

Hollywood Bureau Chief

FORMER COUNTY COMMISSIONER Tony Salvino appears destined to wind up back on the public payroll.

If it hadn't been for a squawk by taxpayers at last week's City Commission meeting he would be coordinator on the Sheridan St. Bridge project today.

If it hadn't been for the howl that arose when he was recommended for the county road directorship, he would probably have that today.

Salvino might still get the Hollywood job—especially if Mayor Ed McMorrough can coax his colleagues back into the neat line they formed at the pre-meeting conference Tuesday.

The only commissioner out of step was William Zinkil and he kept his dissension quiet until the next day. He walked out of the regular meeting to avoid voting on the issue.

* * *

Salary Recommendation Questioned

MAYOR McMORROUGH was hurt by the desertion of his fellow commissioners. He had discussed it privately with them before the conference.

SALVINO

However, the commission did decide that a coordinator (good politician) was needed to build a fire under the maze of governmental agencies which must approve the project.

Salvino is an able politician, despite his defeat last fall in the Democratic primary, and no one is challenging the soundness of his Tallahassee connections.

But the bad taste doesn't spring from doubt of Salvino's power in the state capital.

It arises from the recommendation that the city hire him for some salary to be set later if he produces results.

The commission presumably would judge the results.

Salvino perhaps has the skill after a dozen years as a hard-working county commissioner to do a splendid job for the city, but the issue might well boil down to whether taxpayer pressure would make his appointment politically unsound.

Posts held by Zinkil, Jerry Tardiff and Dr. Thomas S. Adams are on the election block this spring. Tardiff and Zinkil have already said they would run again.

Crash Adds Years . . . in Seconds

CHARLES WILSON of Ontario, Canada, looked much older than his 57 years Thursday after his car had been crushed by 20 tons of cement truck.

Doctors were still working on his 13-year-old grandniece as he sat in a waiting room at Memorial Hospital, receiving congratulations on still being alive.

His thin gray hair was mussed and his place face troubled. The muffled cries of little blonde Diane distracted him and he stared at the floor.

Tears filled his eyes but he wiped them away quickly.

He looked much older than his 57 years that afternoon.

Mens Club to Sponsor Preview of 'Debutante'

HOLLYWOOD — Preview performance of "The Reluctant Debutante" will be shown at the Hollywood Little Theater Feb. 2.

It will be sponsored by the Mens Club of Temple Sinai.

Director is Anna Marie Hernandez, assisted by Kitty Kelly.

The comedy is about a mother's attempts to cast her daughter in a social role against the will of her daughter's husband.

Every Hoosier's Behind a Badge

THOSE PEOPLE from Indiana are having another potluck supper Monday, and they've asked me to attend.

Mrs. Harry Bobbe, the club's secretary, invited me.

It's not a speaking engagement. I'm just to sit there, eat, mingle and watch Sheriff J. A. Lloyd's new movie explaining how an arrest is made.

I like food and I've gained quite a reputation as a talker. I don't say much, but I can talk for hours.

This movie, however, bothers me. I think I'll skip out when they start to show it. I think I'll run over town and catch one of those Brigitte Bardot flickers.

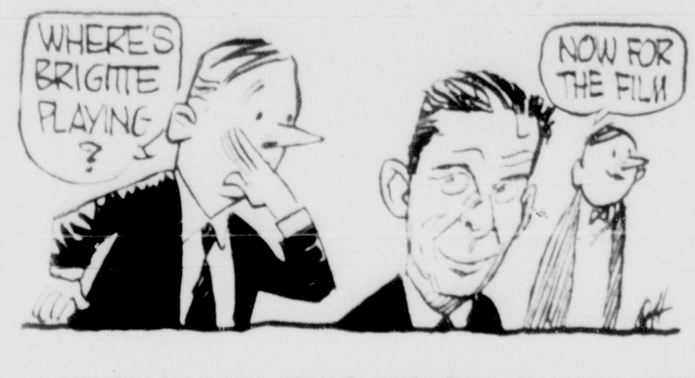
* * *

Carrying Coals to Newcastle?

I DON'T KNOW what the club's entertainment chairman was thinking about when he decided on that movie.

Showing Hoosiers a film on how arrests are made is like explaining a proper batting stance to Ted Williams.

The Hoosiers I know don't need to be told about law enforcement procedures. They've either been arrested a half dozen times, or they're closely related to a sheriff or a constable.



All Hoosiers are related, and they all carry active or honorary sheriff badges. I've never seen anything like it.

I used to work on a newspaper in Indiana and we had a second-rate copy boy whose name was Lamoine Drabenstot. We called him Draby.

Draby was no powerhouse in the brains department, but he was loyal, and when the publisher broke down and bought a camera, Draby became the paper's one-man photographic staff.

He was a lousy photographer, but was available 24 hours a day. At night he rode around with the sheriff and the two apparently became fast friends.

* * *

Sheriff Left Camera Behind

WE WENT HOME last summer on vacation, and soon after crossing the county line I was startled to see a huge billboard featuring a picture of Draby and announcing that he was a candidate for sheriff.

Later I learned that the incumbent sheriff, a man in his late 70s, was retiring, and had thrown his support to Draby.

I also learned that Draby wasn't in the picture-taking business any more — that he had served as the sheriff's chief deputy for the last six years.

My mother didn't know Draby, and I was quite surprised to receive a glowing letter from her in November telling of his overwhelming victory.

As I said, mother didn't know Draby. But he ran on the Democratic ticket and that's all that matters to mother.

HENRY KINNEY

Annexation? Answer Question . . . on Merits

THE QUESTION of whether the areas west of Fort Lauderdale should be annexed to the city could be decided on its merits in the proposed April 14 election. Chances are, nevertheless, that it won't.

KINNEY

If the pre-election campaigning follows the usual paths, it will boil bown to a matter of emotions.

Moreover, the people in the unincorporated areas need not fear that all Fort Lauderdale residents will join solidly in an effort to take them. There are many in the city who feel that it's big enough and nothing would be accomplished by enlarging it. There are others who feel that the western areas would only be a tax drain.

It can be rather safely predicted that the city will be pictured by some opponents of annexation out there as a giant determined to swallow up a group of helpless smaller communities. City commissioners will be belittled for even suggesting annexation. The debates will be fiery, perhaps even bitter.

Within the city, supporters on annexation who live outside it will be pictured as people who just want something for nothing, the something being better police and fire protection, better roadways, more street lights, free garbage collection, and such, and the nothing being tiny tax bills.

It will be claimed that the character of Fort Lauderdale as a beautiful resort city would be "destroyed" by the addition of the conglomeration of subdivision stretching to State Rd. 7.

In the sound and the smoke, most of the really pertinent facts will be lost to sight.

* * *

How Much Will It Cost?

THERE MAY BE a way to avoid this, to a degree.

Perhaps city officials and representatives of the western areas could agree on some basic facts — for example, how much annexation would cost the home owner now living outside the municipality.

The figures on this are available. They were compiled by the City Planning Department some time ago. The presentation of them to all the voters might be approached in this way:

Let the people of the unincorporated areas choose some representatives through their neighborhood associations. Let these representatives sit down with city officials and review the figures. If the two groups can agree that the calculations are correct, then let them be distributed with the endorsement of both sides.

That could keep the air clear on the most important point, the financial advantages and disadvantages to the property owner.

* * *

What About Protection?

IF THE CITY were to decide in advance what to do about taking over the volunteer fire departments in the western areas and lay some plan for improving this protection, it would helpful to the voters. If it were to lay out a plan for police protection at the beginning of the election campaign, that would also help. If it were to make some sort of a survey of the condition of the streets in the unincorporated areas and at least prepare a basic outline of what it hoped to do in the way of repairs, the decision might be made easier.

The commissioners could safely promise, for that matter, that for at least the first year, all of the tax money collected in the annexation area would be spent there. It would be a fair promise and not difficult to carry out.

The Planning Department can make a pretty good guess right now as to what the income would be, and that amount could simply be set aside in the next fiscal year's budget.

In brief, all of the voters will be best served if they are given some specific plans, not vague notions and promises. The commissioners, if they hope to have annexation approved, should make certain decisions regarding the new area before the election instead of waiting until after.

If they do, the merits of the question might be made to stand out through the haze of campaign oratory.

Wilton Council Chief Receives His Answer

The Hon. Robert Schmidt
Council President,
Wilton Manors, Fla.

Dear Bob:

I appreciated your fairness in offering me the opportunity to reply to the accusations flying at last week's council meeting.

It looked to me, though, as if some people were spoiling for a slinging match, and I think City Hall has seen enough of them.

As you later agreed, "no comment" is sometimes the best answer. We got to hear it a lot in our business. It's fun to use it for a change.

I thought it was fair of you, too, to let George McAfee speak about the freedom of the press.

I may be wrong, but I suspect you were a little embarrassed about what happened later. Politics, they say, makes strange bedfellows.

* * *

I'M SORRY you feel the council is no longer respected. I suppose that's one of the hazards of politics all over.

When you mentioned "half truths," I couldn't think for a moment, where I heard that before. I remember now.

It had to do with that zoning change the council passed on two readings last year at a special meeting. The one that was kicked out by a Circuit Court Judge.

Seems to me the same accusation was made at the time the council passed that change. Well, I suppose that's one of the hazards of journalism all over.

It would be a dull world if we all agreed on everything. But differences of opinion don't always spring from personal axe-grinding.

We enjoyed the opportunity of meeting with you, Mr. Burnell, the Board of Adjustment representative and the city clerk on Thursday. Too bad the other councilmen couldn't come. I'm sure they were invited, weren't they?

* * *

Wilton Manors

ONE OF THE peachiest thing that ever happened to me was that nice letter the city clerk sent us two years or so ago.

That was before you were on the council, I believe. It was even before I'd reported any council meeting. But I appreciated it, anyway.

Times, ideas and bedfellows change. I suppose that's one of the hazards of life all over.

Wilton Manors is changing, too. As you say, it needs some fresh blood. I agree with you.

Come to think of it, I don't recall too many things we haven't agreed on. But I reserve the right to honest disagreement.

NORTH BROWARD

The Right To Know

By CLARENCE ZAITZ

North Broward Bureau

POMPANO BEACH — Two different city commissions should be lauded for the action they took in recent weeks in defending the public's right to know the public's business.

At Lighthouse Point on Jan. 13 Commissioner Edward Steadman proposed that "we clear the room and go into executive session" to discuss the matter of appointing the police chief. This came in the midst of a regular City Commission meeting.

Fortunately (for the public) Steadman was overruled, and the matter was discussed in public.

At Deerfield Beach Wednesday morning, at an organization meeting of the new City Commission, former Mayor B. E. (Barney) Chalker asked for a motion to adjourn to the back conference room for the organizational meeting.

Again, and fortunately (for the public) the rest of the commissioners decided that what was to be done should be done in public.

We all assume every City Commission has "executive" or private sessions. But that doesn't look nearly as bad as declaring a secret meeting in the midst of a public meeting.

* * *

Buying Business? Notify Police

BUSINESSMEN in Pompano who sell their establishments, and new owners who assume those businesses without notifying the Police Department of the change, certainly cause a lot of annoyance.

You see, whenever a patrolman finds an unlocked door at a business establishment, the owner is notified.

So what happens when police don't know who the owner is?

They have a difficult time, that's what.

Recently Desk Sergeant Donald Goodballet had reason to locate a store owner. He called the man who used to own it, and even he didn't know the full name of the new owner, or where he lives.

It doesn't cost anything, nor take much time for a new businessman to call police and say "I'm Mr. So-and-So, and I just bought such-and-such a business, and here's my telephone number if you ever need me in an emergency."

* * *

Pains Without Proper Remedy

THERE HAVE BEEN no recent local cases, but here are a couple of instances of how insult can be added to injury in large quantities:

A man has a brand-new car, and while driving down the rain-slick highway, loses control, wrecks the car, and lands in the hospital. In addition to the loss he's already suffered, when he gets out, he gets a summons for "reckless driving" or "failure to have vehicle under control."

And then, there's the guy who is fined several hundred dollars in court and has his driver's license revoked for drunken driving. So he goes to drive his car home — and gets arrested for driving without a license!

* * *

Sewer Report Due in February

AN INTERIM REPORT on Pompano's proposed sanitary sewer program has been received at City Hall, but no one wants to disclose what information it contains.

They're waiting for the final report, due early in February, which will be presented to the commission. That's when we'll all know the figures and facts connected with the program.

But preliminary information indicates that the proposed rates will be even lower than in some other Broward municipalities.

Broward Voice

Services Pay Off, Not Cost

EDITOR: It was with a great deal of confused consternation that I, and I would venture many, many other realtors, read your editorial in The Broward Herald of Sunday, January 17, 1959.

We as realtors cannot but re-emphasize your headline and initial remarks. The home buyer of today certainly needs the protection you mention but, above and beyond that, the benefits of the experience, professional know-how and an adherence to a code of ethics which can be found in the realtors of this or any other area.

Your proposal of a signed statement could lead to naught but chaos. Imagine the complete disruption in public offices while employes spend full time searching for and explaining the intricate answers pertaining to titles, surveys, mortgages, liens, ad infinitum. All this circuitous route to save a professional fee and still not obtain all the necessary data and information. Fees that are a very small part indeed of the total investment involved.

Would you propose that we buy our beef "on the hoof" and all butcher in our own backyard? It would save the cost of the services of an experienced, qualified butcher operating under sanitary conditions. True, it would create quite a smelly atmosphere but we'd save a couple bucks. Or that we print our own news and advertising as we like and distribute it the best way we know how? Certainly not! For the butcher and the newspaper man have not only the experience and know-how but the tools and methods of distribution.

Any competent attorney is well able, and should be engaged to represent the legal interests of one investing in real estate. Our many completely equipped title companies are most adequately prepared to certify as to the condition of the title and their abstracting service should be used. These are but two of the myriad of considerations when buying real estate. What of drainage, zoning, age and condition of the building, type of construction, mortgage availability, probable improvements or deteriorating factors impending, comparable sale information, land use regulations and the firm price and terms, to name but a few? These services are best obtained from a realtor.

The services of a realtor do not cost — they pay. Realtors are not only licensed real estate brokers bound by the Florida license law, but in addition as members of their local board realtors, subscribe to and act according to a code of ethics as adopted by their local, state and national associations. They are not as you state "afraid to misrepresent" but rather act under the guidance of the Golden Rule, "Do Unto Others as You Would Have Others Do Unto You."

Benjamin Franklin put it aptly when he said, "Penny wise and pound foolish." The professional services of a realtor will prove a small but worthy investment when making the largest investment of a lifetime — your home.

Deal with a REALTOR — It pays.

Sincerely,
Barney Crowley
Past President Hollywood-South Broward Board of Realtors

Mail Handler Job Now Open

FORT LAUDERDALE—Applications for an examination for appointment to the position of substitute mail handler in Fort Lauderdale will be accepted until Feb. 3 at the main post office in Miami, 300 NE First Ave., the U.S. Civil Service Commission announced.

GREEK BEAUTY Zozo (means life, vitality) will headline the show at the Thursday opening of the new Black Steer Restaurant in Hallandale. Zozo recently appeared in New York where she sang and danced in night clubs. The Black Steer, gutted by fire last year, has had a $50,000 facelifting.

BROADWAY IN BROWARD

Music to Dance to—By L. Herman

By PATRICIA BROWN
Herald Columnist

THE LENNY HERMAN crew, Joe Cunningham's new attraction at the Marie Antoinette, is billed as the "mightiest little band in the land." It could also be labeled the dancin'est.

This is a real pro outfit delivering what one smooth stepper described as "no-problem" music. She was right—anybody with two feet (and a partner) should be able to turn in a creditable performance backed by Herman's creamy beat.

Band is strictly a dance unit, laced with some expert vocalizing by Lenny, Alan Shurr and "Gumpy" Comfort; Charlie Shaw and Stan Scott integrate for a total of five doubling on nine instruments.

Gents, appearing in Florida for the first time are well known around New York's Hotel Astor where they occupied the stand for 10 consecutive years ending in 1948; were also on view at the hotels Roosevelt and New Yorker. They're down from a long run at the Warwick in Philadelphia.

Lenny tells us his band was the first to record on stereo tape; session took place in 1951 at the Roosevelt for C. E. Smiley of Livingston Electronics Corp. Smiley, who markets the Janus and Livingston labels, flew down from New York for Lenny's opening. Another aficionado is Joe Cunningham himself. Joe hired the upper echelon band once before—when he was manager at the Warwick.

From its description, Miss Hayes and her madmen would make Olsen and Johnson's "Hellzapoppin" look like a Baptist choir rehearsal.

Flashy blonde heads an explosive act which opens Feb. 2 with a roster of eight, including one midget. Look forward to seeing such phenomena as a dragon playing drums, a hairy ape on bass, maybe even a three-headed piano player. Debra herself is scheduled to open the show by popping through the roof of a toy doll house. With this zany crew anything can happen. And it probably will.

* * *

DELAYED HIP ACTION: Bud Meyer's Country House introduced Lisa Mara, exotic dancer, too late for review this week. The hot terper was a day behind schedule. Snowbound.

* * *

OTHER SPOTS with openers include the Lorelei Room which booked Eleanor Carline for singing chores. The good-looking lassie does a neat job on ballads and pops, is especially capable when it comes to the blues.

Eleanor, a streamlined brunette, complements Jackie Jay, topnotch comic, and Earl Hulme who minds a versatile keyboard.

The threesome occasionally face some competition — bossman Jim O'Hare is apt to bust in with his fine Irish tenor; Mrs. O'Hare has just ordered a whole mess of maracas for the use of bar patrons. Pretty soon everybody can get in the act.

NEWEST OASIS in town, and one of the best, is Poor Herbert's Bar which now occupies the west end of Heilman's Restaurant.

Spot, a separate unit with its own entrance, is cleverly and attractively furnished — high spot of the decor unquestionably the long bar mural which depicts an old New Orleans street scene.

But things have changed down by the levee. Closer examination turns up some mighty fancy and well-known names in unexpected places. Gags, yes — but in good taste. We predict a lot of localites will be dropping around, if only to see who's on first.

Johnny Aladdin is ensconced back of the handsome piano bar. Johnny, besides being one of the nicest guys around, also makes with nice music. He's back in the area from a stint at Palm Beach Towers.

SAM HARRIS' new Imperial House in Pompano is due for an unveiling shortly. Sam and General Manager Bill Wong just returned from a buying trip up North for the big restaurant, which will house two cocktail lounges as well as Polynesian and American dining quarters with separate kitchens.

Polynesian kitchen will sport a radar range; American chef will feature charcoal broils.

Downstairs cocktail lounge will show one mirrored wall and five ceiling-high tikis; upstairs pub will be landscaped. Second floor also gets a large room for private parties.

Sam is reported to have plans for eventually converting the below-street level into a sukiyaki parlor. He may even provide a take-out service.

HERE AND THERE: Southern Colonels at the Lauderdale Beach Hotel have a new recruit, Frank Galvin. Frank's more agile than ever, having shed a good 25 pounds since he fronted a jumpy unit at the Four O'Clock Club a year ago. He joins Al Raymond and Ray Wood for instrumentals and vocals during cocktail and after-dinner hours.

Carole Ponders Creation of a Mood

. . . she got "director's bug" in Italy

Water Ballet Performer Hoping For Splash With Own Troupe

By DICK MEYER

Herald Staff Writer

FORT LAUDERDALE — A lively auburn-haired Fort Lauderdale miss who studied Italian cinema direction methods will put her new knowledge to use in directing water shows featuring local aquatic talent.

Twenty-year-old Carole Ridings, a professional water ballet performer, already has auditioned her freshly-recruited troupe for an appearance on the Arthur Godfrey show.

Just back from taking a director-producer course in neo-realism, lighting and color at Rome's International University of Social Studies, Carole hopes her new role will provide a form of on-the-job training for an intended career of filming documentary movies.

She has teamed with her former speed-swimming coach, Tom Lamar, to form an outfit to be known as "Aqua Productions." Lamar will be show producer.

They plan to furnish aquatic entertainment for conventions, parties and other occasions.

Miss Ridings feels the deal will benefit local swimming groups, for amateurs will retain their status while show contributions will benefit their organizations.

One of the non-pros Carole will direct is kid sister Linda, 17, a former national synchronized swim solo champion.

Pro divers to appear with the group include Jack Calhoun, an ex-Olympian, Bill Jones and Ted Keller.

"We'll go all-out on costuming," Carole said. "A water show should be a spectacular."

She will appear in water ballet routines.

The preformances will promote synchronized swimming, a water ballet to music. Girls open a routine with a few dance steps on the pool deck, or on a diving board, before shedding a cape or a robe covering an individualistic swim suit and slithering into the pool.

"Over in Rome," Carole explained, "the lecturers told us to concentrate first on directing the sort of story we know from first-hand experience. To me, that's swimming and water shows, and there's no better locale for aquatic acts than right here at home."

A Tribute For Donn

JIMMY DONN is both appreciative and deserving of a dinner the Hollywood sports clan will throw in his honor Saturday, Scot's Day in the South Broward city.

The Gulfstream Park president is to be honored for his civic, fraternal and humanitarian activities in general, and for his aid to area sports projects in particular.

Somebody should have arranged such a testimonial affair long ago. It's being done now to tie in with a sports and social wingding marking dedication of bowling on the green courts at David Park. Lawn bowling facilities there long have been advocated by Donn and other Scots.

Donn will fly from California for the occasion.

His latest contribution to the sports scene in the south end of the county is addition of a turf course at Gulfstream. Track is planned for the opening day's program.

Horse to Try Luck at Bowling

THERE ARE FANS who accuse some promoters, especially those in baseball, of failure to add dashes of color to their product. Bowling centers are trying to conform to dictates of diversion seekers after "something different," and this effort is stimulted this afternoon (at 2) as the wonder horse Cloudy "bowls" at the Johnson St. Lanes in West Hollywood. The free exhibition will find Cloudy using a special ramp over a lane, and directing balls by pulling on a string with his teeth.

Marlins Wooing Broward Area

MIAMI'S MARLINS, to be skippered by ex-Lauderdale Lion Manager Pepper Mrtin, will warrant more Broward support this spring.

General Manager Joe Ryan is lining up quite a few "teaser" spring training games in Wilton Manors, Hollywood and Pompano Beach, to be the respective camp sites of the Memphis Chicks, Indianapolis Indians and Dallas Rangers . . . Joe reiterates that Fort Lauderdale will have "no trouble at all" getting a major league team each spring, once Lockhart Stadium is built.

Martin has numerous friends here, and sends along best wishes. The old wild hoss looks younger than he did in '53, when his Lions made a runaway of the F-I pennant "race." This may be because he took to wearing his teeth in his mouth instead of a hip pocket when he went back to the majors as a coach for the Cubs. Pepper is still as frisky as a teenager, which if you believe the calendar he is — having been born Feb. 29 (1904) and thus observing a birthday only every fourth year!

More Golf Courses on the Way

LOOK FOR OFFICIAL word that the golf-rich Fort Lauerdale area is to have new links facilities. An 18-hole course is planned between Sunrise Blvd. and Ocean Blvd . . . The Women's International Four-Ball Tourney, starting Thursday at Orange Brook, comes on the heels of the Doherty at Coral Ridge, again accenting the point that the county is a golfer's mecca . . . Courses at Davie (Cooper Colony) and just south of Pompano (Cypress Creek) are under construction, and there's additional talk of others being presented in various parts of Broward, and in the south end of Palm Beach County.

Here's the Way To Join Aquacade

FORT LAUDERDALE — Persons wanting to take part in an aquacade marking the opening of Safe Boating Week next Sunday can obtain applications at one of eight marine stores.

The event is being sponsored by the Fort Lauderdale, Pompano Beach and Hollywood Power Squadrons, Flotilla Two, U.S. Coast Guard Auxiliary, and the Downtown Kiwanis Club.

Outboard owners will meet at 1:30 p.m. on Lake Sylvia, and sport fishermen at the Port Everglades turning basin, west end, at 2 p.m. Those in the cruiser division will meet at the turning basin at 2:30 p.m.

The parade route will be north in the Intracoastal Waterway to Sunrise Blvd. Judging will be at Bahia Mar.

Judging will be based on originality, effort expended, general appearance and seamanship.

Application forms may be obtained at Herold Boat Co., Starn-Grover, Beach Bait and Tackle Shop, Anchorage Marine Hardware, Vogel's Marine Supply, Stearns' Outboard Marine, Bollinger Marine Service and Pier 66 Marina.

Boca to Play Oak Brook

BOCA RATON—Oak Brook will receive a two-goal handicap today in a 3 p.m. polo game with Boca Raton. The Boca riders have a 25-goal aggretate rating.

Lineups:

Boca Raton		Oak Brook
D. Beveridge	1	Butler
Oliver	2	Harrington
Barry	3	Smith
B. Beveridge	4	Dalmar

Midgets, Gals To Wrestle

FORT LAUDERDALE — Midgets and gals will team to inspire laughs at War Memorial Auditorium Thursday night.

Heading Al Ritchie's wrestling show will be a tag team match pitting Irish Jackie and Mae Weston against Farmer McGregor and Kitty Adams.

Opening matches send Jerry Graham against Tito Gomez and Eddie Graham against Dick Steinborn.

Women's League Sets 2 Games

FORT LAUDERDALE—Second night of play in the city Women's Basketball League Monday calls for two games in the Stranahan High gym.

Goody's Shoes will oppose Pal's, and Smith's Radio and TV will meet Pete's Hot Point Appliances, with both games beginning at 7 o'clock.

FISHING IN BROWARD

Only Angler Can See Red

By GEORGE H. CROWLEY
Herald Staff Writer

MOST FISHERMEN accept the fact that fish can tell one color from another, and a few of us even think fish prefer one color to another.

Naturally, when we have a good day with a particular lure, it's only human to suppose that the color of the lure had something to do with our luck. (Our skill is something else again of course.)

Every angler has a particular lure he favors and it's always the first one to receive a workout on any fishing trip. Ours happens to be a South Bend Babe Oreno, red head and white body, an old-timer from way back.

The first bass we ever caught (years ago on Meyers Lake in Canton Ohio) hit three pounds on the nose and it fell for a Babe Oreno. Our first experience at salt water plugging and using this lure netted a six-pound snook (Vanderbilt Estate on Hypoluxo Island in 1938). Our tackle box contains a flock of all kinds of lures, but the first one to get a dunking on any trip, fresh or salt water, is always our first love.

When fishing close to the surface, color doubtless has a lot to do with the way fish respond to our offerings. But, when we fish deeper, color becomes less and less important. Colors lose their identity as the lure sinks.

Ironically enough, the old-time favorite color, red, naturally is the first to go. Red darkens rapidly as it goes down, and at around 15 feet, in all but crystal clear water, can't be distinguished from black.

The reason for this is simple: Red, like the other colors, reflects light rays of one particular wave length. The rays that reflect red have the least ability to penetrate water. Orange holds its color much longer and does not black out noticeably until about 50 feet. Yellow lasts even longer and can still be distinguished at about 100 feet.

A recent check with tackle dealers throughout the county revealed the fact that today's best-selling lures are yellow, white, silver flash and green. The lure may be predominantly yellow and have red dots or stripes; or white trimmed with red or yellow, and silver to give it flash.

Regardless of what lure you use, it's still up to you to work that lure properly to impart the action that tantalizes the fish to strike.

Rod and Gun Club Hunts Members

JACK McLEIEER, president of the Broward Rod and Gun Club, said a membership contest now under way continues through March 3. John Du Bois, club secretary, has been named chairman. Prizes will be awarded the member turning in the most applications.

McLeieer also said a fishing contest that runs through March 3 has six divisions: sailfish, kingfish, bluefish, snapper, specks and black bass. Weighing stations are at the Basin Tackle Shop, Lighthouse Yacht Basin, Hillsboro Inlet docks and Fish N' Stuff Tackle Shop, all in Pompano Beach, and the Sunrise Tackle Shop in Fort Lauderdale.

The next club meeting will be Feb. 3, at the Chamber of Commerce building in Pompano.

Deerfield Tourney Adds Divisions

THE DEERFIELD BEACH Rod and Reel Club's fishing tournament listed two new leaders and four new divisions opened recently, according to club prexy Capt. Bob Litchfield.

A Hillsboro resident, G. Knobloch, copped the lead in the sailfish division when he decked a 48-pounder on a trip of the Broadbill. The second change on the board occurred in the cobia division with J. Sweedyk, Deerfield Beach, entering a 16-pound lemonfish caught angling from the Sandee K.

New divisions opened for completion are: Amberjack 17 pounds, D. Cunningham, Ann Arbor, Mich., boat Sandee K.; Wahoo, 31 pounds, C. Hayes Jr., Deerfield Beach, boat Broadbill; Mackerel, 8 pounds, M. Bailey, Fort Lauderdale, caught at the Ocean Pier, and snapper, 8 pounds, William O'Hara, Pompano Beach, boat Broadbill.

Ocean Pier Manager Dusty Dustin said bluefish and mackerel, averaging 2½ pounds, are being caught, mostly in late afternoons. The largest kingfish caught at the pier last week hit 17½ pounds.

81 Sails Caught in Pompano Tourney

HIGHLIGHTS OF RECENT activity in the annual Pompano Beach Fishing Tournament include 81 sailfish caught, with 40 of the catch being released. Other catches include amberjack, cobia, bonito, barracuda, sharks and kings.

Local resident Walter J. Worth won a sure spot on the tourney display board with his catch of a hefty 54-pound, five foot, one inch kingfish. The catch was made from the Anytime.

Broward Business College in Step with Commercial Needs

"Before opening our first term of the 1958-59 season," said S. J. Drake, president of Broward Business College, "we devoted considerable time to a discussion of plans for adding new personnel to our splendid faculty.

"Many business firms contact us first when vacancies occur in office personnel. When asking us to send suitable applicants for interviews, the qualifications which were outlined to us invariably followed a regular pattern in basic requirements; poise, a pleasing personality and a working knowledge of modern office machines and equipment.

"It was the considered opinion of the executive staff that we should further broaden the scope of two courses, that of personality training and self development, and greater emphasis on the use of advanced bookkeeping and calculating machines in modern office practice. We accomplished this by making two additions to our faculty.

"Mrs. Gloria E. Speller, graduate of Smith College, Northampton, Mass., and of the widely-known John Robert Powers modeling school in New York, was named principal instructor in the Nancy Taylor personality school. This definitely is not a course in modeling but one devoted to the development of personal charm, conduct and personal appearance.

"Miss Dorothy Snyder was chosen to direct the training of students in office management and the use of modern business machines. Miss Snyder is a graduate of George Washington University, Washington, D.C., where she received her M.A. degree, and the University of Minnesota where she did post-graduate work for her Ph.D.

"In making these two important additions to our faculty, Broward Business College has followed the pattern of industry in selecting poise, pleasing personalities and skill in the work to be done. That our decisions were wise ones has been proven conclusively. Students taking the courses given by Mrs. Speller and Miss Snyder have been delighted with the training they have received and warm in the praise of their mentors.

"Our staff is composed of trained and experienced teachers, employing the most modern methods of instruction and using college-level text books in all of the regular courses. The general catalog, which will be mailed upon request, outlines in detail all courses offered, together with a description of the subjects covered."

Mrs. Norma Thompson, Broward College registrar, stated that the winter term will start February 2, and registrations will be accepted until January 31. Those interested in business training, either for themselves or as parents, are invited to visit the college and inspect its facilities. If this is not possible, a staff member will visit the prospective student's home by appointment.

Broward Business College is located in the Lang building, 370 SE Second St., directly across the street from Fort Lauderdale High School. The telephone number is JAckson 2-0411.

Entertainment at Old Heidelberg Stars Fast-Moving, Hilarious Trio

Rating a well-deserved spotlight on the entertainment bill of fare at the Old Heidelberg Restaurant are the Three Bragazzi. This three-brother Italian team made entertainment headlines on their first appearance in New York, Reno, Las Vegas and the Pacific coast a year ago.

Last summer Frank Foerch, owner and host of Old Heidelberg saw them in Munich, Germany, and arranged for their present engagement at his world-famous restaurant. It took special visas from the State Department to bring them on this trip to the United States.

Their experiences through the years of both World Wars, hairbreadth escapes from their enemies, concealment by day and flight by night from one hide-out to another, have all the qualities of suspense of a top-notch cloak and dagger thriller.

Their talents are many. They are singers, comedians, acrobats and musicians combined in a rapid-fire act which has brought them enthusiastic notices from many lands. From Lettland in the far north to Australia, Africa and Latin American countries, their performances have been lavishly praised. There is never a dull moment when they are on stage.

To complete the musical menu, lyric soprano Erica Foerch stars in the leading roles in excerpts from "The Merry Widow", "Student Prince of Heidelberg" and "Die Fledermaus." In these operettas Erica is supported by "Barney" Rothberg, silver-voiced tenor, an excellent chorus and orchestra. Barry Hill is the colorful and highly popular master of ceremonies.

Frank Foerch, owner and ever-genial host of Old Heidelberg, is one of the major participants in the floor shows. He sings, dances and occasionally leads the orchestra and plays in it. He is exceedingly popular with everyone he meets and rarely forgets the name of a guest.

To satisfy the most discriminating diner, a selected group of Old Heidelberg "specials" of authentic German origin are featured on the menu. These are extremely popular and the recipes for the preparation of these splendid dinners are time-honored traditions. All prices include the entire meal.

Seafood dinners and entrees from the grill, as well as a la carte selections, are available. Every item used in the preparation of a dinner is of the finest quality obtainable. All dinner rolls, several varieties of bread, as well as pastries, are baked on the premises. The long list of imported and domestic beverages is imposing.

The floor show is presented twice each evening, seven nights a week, at 7 and 9 o'clock. The restaurant is open at 4 p.m. Special arrangements may be made for parties and banquets and details may be arranged by telephone. The numbers to call are WAbash 2-1331 and WAbash 2-8455.

Old Heidelberg Restaurant is located on Federal Hwy. (U.S. Hwy. No. 1) in Hallandale, next to the Hollywood Kennel Club. It is one-half mile north of Gulfstream racetrack, or one mile south of Hollywood Circle.

Hillsboro Club's 'New Look' Blends Modern, Venerable Structures in Quiet Site

Hillsboro Club to Put on New Face Without Taking Off Park-Like Look

By DICK MEYER
Herald Staff Writer

HILLSBORO BEACH—New owners of the 16-acre Hillsboro Club tract intend giving the historic setting a "new face" without altering its park-like atmosphere.

Owner-Builders Wilbur L. Kroetz and G. Chris Keagy Saturday announced a "five-year plan" for transforming the oceanfront strip just north of the Hillsboro lighthouse into a locale of modern residential apartments and club rooms.

The quiet site near where the storied "barefoot mailman" met his death will experience a construction boom.

Kroetz-Keagy Inc. will add about six million dollars to the land and property cost (in excess of two million dollars) to develop the place. Their problem is how to do this without detracting from the traditions and venerableness of the club, for 34 years an East Coast landmark.

Herbert L. Malcolm, who founded the club in 1924 and served as its president through the years, will work closely with the development firm in planning the change.

Four Seven-Story Apartments Planned

THE KROETZ-KEAGY name usually is associated with development of cooperative apartments, but 104 residential apartments to be added to the club setup won't be co-ops, but rather are being offered on long-term leases.

Ground will be broken in May on the first of four seven-story apartment buildings. Preliminary architectural planning for the 26-unit structures was by George Storrs.

Of modern architectural design, in contrast to existing club accommodations, the new buildings will have similar floor arrangements, calling for 24 apartments and two penthouses.

The club's 120-member staff of employes will be expanded, for next summer 30 rooms are to be added to the club. In 1960, some 60 additional rooms will replace a portion of the main clubhouse, bringing the room total to 130.

Dining room space will be enlarged so 300 persons can be seated.

Resort Idea to Be Continued

SERVICE FACILITIES for club members and guests will be provided in quarters at the northwest corner of the property. Barber and beauty shops are included.

Kroetz said that the resort idea will continue to be stressed, for 10 acres are dedicated to "leisure and recreation," including a 1,000-foot beach running north from the lighthouse.

Concessions to modern thinking embrace proposed additions of all informal dining area for bathers, an outdoor dance floor, TV rooms, barbecue pits and a swimming pool.

Air-conditioning equipment will be installed.

"The Hillsboro Club has been built on its reputation for distinguished decor, comfort and seclusion," Kroetz said. "We are trying to retain the feeling of seclusion while adding new luster to a shining past."

Hour-Glass Pylon Dominates Castro Showroom Exterior

Castro Showroom Uses Yacht in Floor Plan

FORT LAUDERDALE — The manufacturer of Castro convertible furniture decided to follow through on his space-saver idea in presenting a showroom building at 2860 N. Federal Hwy.

The contemporary - designed structure has 10,000 square feet of sales space, but seems to have more area.

Architectural ingenuity is underscored by including a 30-foot cross section of a yacht in the floor plan. Appropriately, the craft, part of the sales space, will be christened "Space Conqueror" at a preview party Wednesday.

Owner Bernard Castro worked closely with Architect Charles F. McKirahan in furnishing ideas for the compact structure, which will open Friday.

Castro has a chain of showrooms in 12 states, but as Fort Lauderdale is his home city he told McKirahan and the general contractor, Richardson Construction Co., that the one here should be "special."

The finished product places the structure among the most unusual showrooms in the nation.

Topping the two-story concrete and steel building, an hourglass pylon rises 50 feet from the ground.

An illusion of additional area is heightened by a sense that the outdoors are brought inside. The boat, a fountain, terraces and the use of 5,000 square feet of glass add to this effect.

Seven - foot doors appear taller, being complemented by formica paneling extending to a height of 18 feet.

A landscaped plaza fronts the building, which is set back 50 feet from the highway.

Intent behind the boat and individual sectors of the showroom is to display Castro convertible and standard furniture in natural settings. In addition to the yacht, there is a simulated stateroom, executive suites (also used for showroom), and Polynesian and colonial rooms, all done in the proper decor.

The suggested furniture placings are arranged individually by area, along with imported antiques and home and boat appointments shipped from Castro's native Italy and other countries.

These objects d'art serve a twofold purpose in keeping with the space-saver thinking. Beside helping to provide the precise atmosphere for a given area, the firm will offer them for sale.

Castro's office, with its adjacent roof terrace and electric kitchen, offers considerable auxiliary showroom space, having furniture in keeping with its official use. The office, paneled in black walnut, is in the empire style.

Some entertaining of important visitors is planned, and the kitchen and roof terrace are laid out for such an eventuality as Wednesday's preview cocktail party.

Italian marble and Japanese - styled gold fretwork cabinet doors are kitchen features of particular attractiveness. Between the kitchen and the terrace, a hooded charcoal grill fireplace has a fruit design of hand-painted Italian tile rather than the customary hearthstone.

A 24 by 37-foot tile fountain wtih three carved dolphins is an eye-catching feature of the terrace.

Other executive offices are those of Mrs. Castro, a vice president of the firm who explains the history of antiques, and Bernadette Castro, their daughter, a part-time consultant to teenagers wishing to select furniture for their rooms.

Flameless Heater Works Outdoors

NEW YORK —(UPI)— A new flameless gas heating system introduced in a garden restaurant here is expected to make such establishments and semi-enclosed home patios and porches comfortable for year-round use.

The heaters, a refinement of those used in drive-in theaters in cold weather, are suspended from the ceiling of a plastic-sided canvas tent.

They operate on either natural or propane gas, and eventually may be used to warm building lobby entrances, enclosed swimming pools and the interior of trucks where food products must be kept warm while on the road.

Weber Realty Selling 'Lakes'

FORT LAUDERDALE — One of the largest of Florida's new subdivisions, Leisure Lakes in Highlands County, will be represented in Broward County by Weber Realty, 3347 Oakland Park Blvd., a sales agent.

Announcement of the agreement was made by Mitchel P. Miller, president of the Leisure Lakes development firm. He is carving his 3,000-acre ranch into 9,000 homesites in the rolling hills around Lake June-in-Winter, near the town of Lake Placid.

Prospective clients may see the community by going on one of the weekly bus trips from the Weber office.

Home Show Booming

By RICK TUTTLE
Hollywood Bureau Chief

HOLLYWOOD — That booming of cannon today at Dowdy Field will be part of the Hollywood Home Show which opened Saturday and will continue in the National Guard Armory through Wednesday.

The 3 p.m. demonstration will be presented by a Miami Marine howitzer battalion under the command of Maj. Walter Lavigne.

The howitzers will fire blanks and small charges of the targets will be set off to simulate exploding shells.

Show Director Al Stern said 60 exhibitors would participate in the fourth annual show. A record crowd of 25,000 saw last year's exhibition.

The booths, rented by the Pilot Club to support its major project — dental care for indigent children — will include such displays as:

Garden supplies, home appliances, furniture for all rooms in the house, paints and wallpaper, home construction materials, sound systems, books, air-conditioning units, and do-it-yourself kits for boats, carports.

The show is open 2 to 10 p.m. daily.

The Rev. Billy Osceola of the Dania Seminole Reservation arrived by helicopter Saturday at 1:30 p.m. to open the affair. He brought along an alligator.

Band and organ concerts will be held nightly and a barbershop quartet will sing Tuesday at 8 p.m. The Choraleers from South Broward High School will appear Wednesday at 7:30 and 8:15 p.m.

The Pilot Club chairman is Mrs. E. B. Wellons.

Developer Can 'Plug' Site Appeal

PEMBROKE — A mobile home with particular appeal for the fisherman is taking shape here.

Developer DeSoto McCabe calls the 136-acre tract DeSoto Lakes. Four lakes will be stocked with bass, bream and catfish, making "waterfront living" more appealing.

First section of the trailer community is under development on the west bank of Lake Judine.

Sewer lines are being completed, and electrical and water outlets will be provided.

McCabe offers a "package deal" for those buying a mobile home. Furnished two-bedroom, one-bath mobile dwellings with patio and six-year land leases are available from $5,395.

Business Briefs

How to Move Firm to Florida, Employes and All

THERE'S a house on NE Center Ave. in Fort Lauderdale that's been dubbed "Richardson Manor" and a small neighborhood in the Coral Heights subdivision which is being called unofficially "Richardsonville."

These are family jokes within the organization of Robert L. Richardson, a hustling distributor of heavy equipment who within the last two months has moved almost the whole of his business, lock, stock and filing cabinets, to Fort Lauderdale from West Virginia.

His methods are interesting for the lessons they may offer in how to bring a going business to Florida with "comparatively little interruption of its operation."

Richardson operated Allis-Chalmers distributorship in Charleston, W. Va., and a branch in Clarksburg, W. Va. He has moved both to Florida, setting up the main headquarters here and branches in Jacksonville and Tampa.

To date he has brought 14 families of key employes to Fort Lauderdale and settled them with the help of Real Estate Man John Fuhrer of Jack Higginbotham Inc. Each one has bought a home, some with down payments loaned by Richardson. About a half dozen chose houses close together in Coral Heights and thus created "Richardsonville."

Richardson, an avid fisherman who contends that he made the whole move because "he couldn't afford to commute" between Charleston and the Gulf Stream, acquired a home on Delmar Pl. General Manager E. A. Defrehn bought in Coral Ridge and Vice President Dell Savage in Sunrise.

Richardson also purchased the luxury home on Center Ave. and made it a temporary "hotel" where employes' families reside while finding homes. This is "Richardson Manor." As rapidly as one family moved out, another goes in. And when a family finds a permanent home, it may take in some other employe as a temporary "boarder" until he or she can find quarters.

Richardson emphasizes that, aside from key personnel he will hire local people, and has already begun, but those he has brought in are executives and specialists in whom he has a heavy investment in training and experience.

When the move has been completed, he will have bought about 28 families to Florida. At full strength, each of his three stations will employ about 40 people, and he expects to open two more branches in the state within a year.

Although the move was made on short notice, Richardson had been plotting it for about six years. The opportunity came last November and he seized it.

The firm, the Richardson Tractor Co., is in temporary quarters on Prospect Rd. west of Seaboard Railroad. A 15,000-square-foot building for it is being erected behind the present shops by Kroetz-Keagy Inc.

Richardson is putting up his own building in Tampa, on a 4½-acre tract. The Jacksonville office is in temporary location, but quarters will be built there also. In all, he will have $350,000 invested in plants in the state.

FHA May Lift Curbs On House Swapping

TRADING HOUSES may be made easier this year, through FHA legislation to be put before Congress, said John Thompson, the immediate past president of the Mortgage Bankers Association.

If it comes about, a big pent-up backlog of potential trades may be released in Broward County and shoot real estate activity away up.

Present FHA regulations make trading difficult, Thompson said in a talk to real estate people at a Coral Ridge Properties breakfast. For one thing, they require double closing costs. However FHA has been trying for several years to create an effective trade-in program, and some of the legislation now proposed may achieve it.

Trading has been tried here in a few instances, with only moderate success. Louis Bossert, the developer of Bossert Isles, attempted it, and so did the sales organization of the Cliff Lake Cooperative Apartments, at one point.

Though it was not caught on previously, probably because of a variety of reasons, the county seems to be ripe for it.

In certain sections of Fort Lauderdale where the current housing boom originated soon after the war, and in parts of the county where small homes began to blossom in the early 1950s, live thousands of families who are potential trade-in customers.

It's easy to imagine, for example, that a father who invested in an $8,000 or $10,000 home west of the town a few years back would be interested in moving up to a $14,000 place in one of Fort Lauderdale's postwar subdivisions, in search of a little better neighborhood and a more convenient location. That would, in turn, make the owner of the $14,000 house a prospect for a better home somewhere either in the city or in one of the medium-priced subdivisions which have grown up out in the county.

HOPE I CAN TRADE THIS IN ON A BETTER HOME!

It has been freely predicted from time to time that trade-ins would soon become nearly as common in the housing field as in the automobile industry. It may be that this will be the year for a spectacular break-through in that direction, and it couldn't help but have a marked effect on real estate here.

Bankers Declare War

THE COUNTY Mortgage Bankers Association, now headed by Carl Jackson, vice president of the First National Bank, is aiming this year at even more curbs on the unethical "mortgage broker" who has placed the industry somewhat in ill repute with his shenanigans.

It hopes also to convince the borrowing public in a greater degree of the difference between a mortgage banker (who represents a lending institution, such as an insurance company or a bank) and the broker (who represents no one but simply undertakes to bring a borrower and a lender together).

It was certain brokers who besmirched the financing industry in this county a few years back with sneak mortgages and big balloon payments which they put over on ignorant owners of slum properties. In some cases it was discovered that the first lender sold the mortgage before the ink was dry, and other dodgers were used to cover up the trail of responsibility.

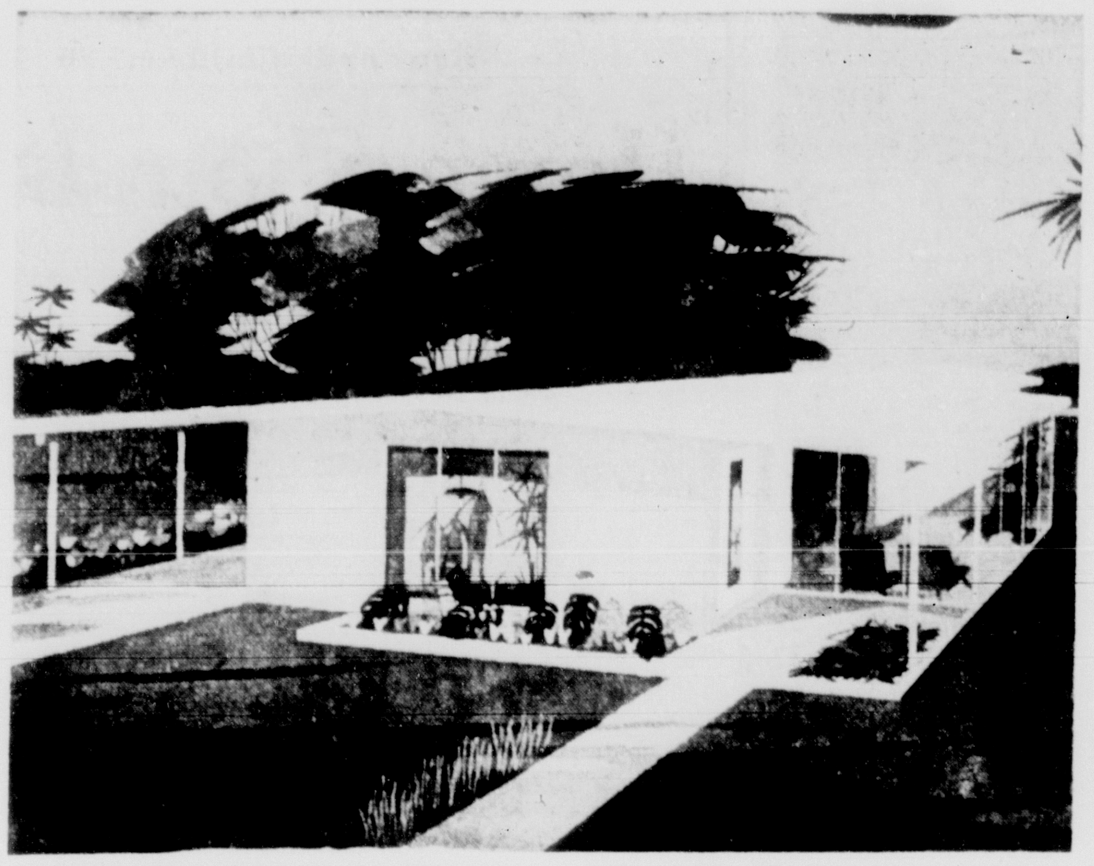
Sunrise Key Showplace

THE FIRST HOUSE to go up on Sunrise Key promises to be one of the showplaces of the city. It's a $100,000 home being built for Lester Brooker, one of the principals in Eastern Properties, the development company.

It will have 5,000 square feet of living area, three bedrooms, five baths and a screened patio as large as a medium-priced home—1,600 square feet. The lot fronts 180 feet on Middle River.

John O'Neill was the architect and Warren Hower the builder. Markland and Streith are doing the interior, in French provincial.



PRAIRIE BEACH style at Pompano Beach Highlands carries a $11,200 price tag, with $350 down and monthly payments of $71. The home has two bedrooms, one bath, a screened porch and a carport.

50-Unit Shoppers Haven Readied for May Opening

POMPANO BEACH—Shoppers Haven, a 23-acre shopping center with three blocks of Federal Hwy. frontage, will open in May with about 50 rental units, the owner-builders announced Saturday.

Albert and David Yorra said that on full development the regional shopping tract will represent a three million dollar investment.

One building has been completed in the center. A structure with 18,000 square feet of shopping area, it is in use as a Kwik-Chek supermart.

Largest building under construction is a two-story edifice to house 36 professional offices. Architect William T. Vaughn designed it to have a foundation capable of supporting an additional two levels, to be added later.

The professional building will be the only Shoppers Haven building of more than a single story.

Work will begin sometime after the formal opening of a 100,000 square foot department store to be located in the center of the property. This store will in effect connect two sections of stores which currently are being erected.

The Yorra brothers said leases are signed with these firms:

Liggett Drug Co., W. T. Grant Co., Diana Women's Apparel Shop, Kinney Shoe Co., Neisner's Variety Store, St. Clair's Cafeteria, Associates Loan Co., Kent Cleaners, Beauty Fair, the Photo Mart, and a liquor package store group.

Vaughn, who designed all the buildings, said the center will have a modernistic appearance.

The St. Clair's Cafeteria, a member of the Waldorf chain, will connect with the Professional Building. The cafeteria is being built just south of Sample Rd., at the north end of the center.

A hexagonal-shaped building, the 10,000 square foot cafeteria is to seat 350. Redwood vertical louvers and ornamental block will enhance its appearance.

The cafeteria will open in May along with the rest of the center.

Parking will be provided for 1,600 automobiles. The Yorras claim the center will be the largest regional shopping area between Fort Lauderdale and West Palm Beach.

The property, which extends a thousand feet west from the highway, is at the northeast corner of Cresthaven, a 1,700-homesite community being developed by the Yorras.

The shopping strip will have extensive landscaping and canopied walkways and continuous music will help make it appealing to shoppers.

Coral Ridge Properties To Open Sales Clinic

FORT LAUDERDALE — A roster of speakers which include the assistant vice president of the Southern Bell Telephone and Telegraph Co. and the southern division manager of the Food Fair supermarket chain will address the second annual Coral Ridge Sales Clinic opening Friday.

Primarily for real estate people, the clinic will consist of 50-minute sessions at Galt Ocean Mile Hotel each Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday through February.

Richard B. Roberts, vice president in charge of economic research for Florida Power and Light Co., will address the opening session on the topic "Let's Take Another Look at Florida."

Ex-Sen. Harry P. Cain of Washington and Donald U. Bathrick of Fort Lauderdale, former general sales manager of the Pontiac Division of General Motors, will be among the month's speakers, as well as John P. Evans of Southern Bell and Abe Maloff of Food Fair.

Some 400 to 500 persons are expected for each session, said Jack R. Hanson, sales manager for Coral Ridge Properties. Registrations will be accepted through Wednesday.

Business firms which desire to send representatives to the clinic may do so, Hanson said. No fees are being charged. Sessions will begin at 8:30 a.m.

Other speakers will be Charles H. Weber, president of the Fort Lauderdale Board of Realtors; Frank H. Martens and Robert A. Stenson, realtors; Postmaster Dale Dunifon, Accountant Joel Hoch, Attorney William P. Owen and Philip N. Cheaney, vice president of the Broward County Title Co.

Sessions will be devoted to real Estate appraisals, abstracts, legal points, tax aspects and other subjects as well as to sales techniques.

Dr. Dan Steinhoff, dean of the adult education division of the University of Miami, will be coordinator. James S. Hunt, president of Coral Ridge Properties, will be honorary chairman, and Executive Vice President J. P. Taravella will be chairman.

Realtors To Hear Fred Smith

FORT LAUDERDALE — Fred Smith of the Keyes Co. sales staff will speak Monday on "Tremendous Trifles in Selling Real Estate" at the monthly meeting of the Fort Lauderdale Board of Realtors.

The confab will begin at 8 p.m. at the Governors' Club Hotel.

Manuel Oliver has been named to the FLBR's multiple listing service committee, replacing John G. Whitbeck, who resigned to devote more time to his new post as board director.

Another director, Harry J. Vordermeier, has been named chairman of the Florida Association of Realtors' convention committee.

Weir Promotes J. S. MacLaren

POMPANO BEACH — J. S. MacLaren, who joined the M. N. Weir and Sons realty organization in 1954, has been named vice president of the firm.

President Milton N. Weir Jr. made the announcement Saturday.

For several years before joining the Weir firm, MacLaren sold real estate for other Broward County companies. Before moving to Florida, he was a member of the Royal Purple Salesmaster Club of General Motors' Buick Division.

$25 Million? It's Not Enough

HOLLYWOOD — (UPI) — Several big syndicates have been quietly bidding for the purchase of Catalina Island but the latest bid of $25 million has been turned down by the William Wrigley family as inadequate.

HALF CENTURY of banking has been chalked up by I. T. Parker, vice chairman of the Dania Bank. Parker, one of four founders of the bank, observed his golden anniversary with advice for future bankers: "Get the best possible education, study the needs of the community and find a way to serve those needs."

Subdivision Slated for Deerfield

DEERFIELD BEACH — A 60-acre triangular-shaped tract bounded by Federal Hwy., Hillsboro Blvd. and the Hills-boro River soon will be developed as the site of motels, stores, cooperative and residential apartment buildings and 76 homes.

President John Ringle of Stoner-Ringer Inc., real estate brokerage and development firm, said the property will be placed on the market Feb. 6, coincident with a formal opening.

The subdivision is unnamed.

He said 45 waterfront homesites will list at an average of $10,000 each, and that 31 "land" homesites will go at about $6,000 each.

The tract, within Deerfield Beach's corporate limits, includes 1,430 front feet on the east side of Federal Hwy. In addition to stores, three motels are to be constructed in this strip. The 200-foot motel lots run 600 feet deep to the Hillsboro River.

F. P. Stoner is vice president of the development corporation, which will take one highway-fronting lot for location of its principal office.

The firm will do its own engineering work and will handle its own lot sales.

Tentative plans entail construction of the two apartment developments — including the cooperative — along Hillsboro Blvd. Three-story buildings are proposed, with the aggregate units to hit 300.

Residential lots along the water will average 90 feet by 110 feet. Those not on water will be about 80 by 110.

Homes will be screened from the highway and the boulevard by thick plantings of shrubs, trees and foliage.

Of particular interest to the boat owner is the development facet calling for a 250-foot wide sheltered bay to be 650 feet in length. Contributing canals cut from Hillsboro River will help feed the lake to a sufficient depth for the free movement of pleasure craft.

The residential area, to have a private entrance off the boulevard, will be developed first. Homes will fall into the $25,000 and up category, exclusive of land cost.

Losing Assessing Role Means Gaining Money

By TOM VINCIGUERRA

"There's no question that they would save money," said Broward Tax Assessor L. O Hansen.

Hansen was talking about Broward cities that do their own assessing. Hallandale, Pompano Beach, and Deerfield Beach are among the cities in question.

Fort Lauderdale, Hollywood, Dania, Lauderdale-By The-Sea and a few of the new smaller towns let the county handle the tax rolls.

Entire costs for maintaining tax assessors offices is eliminated for those cities. They pay hte county one half of one per cent of the total tax roll.

The 10-year-old law that authorized consolidation of the services made it voluntary on the part of municipalities.

* * *

THE FORT LAUDERDALE City Commission a few years ago took back its tax rolls. The people later voted to let the county do the job. Big issue was saving tax dollars by eliminating duplication.

The Hollywood City Commission still has authority to yank its rolls from the county. Under the present setup the city fathers each year must deny or approve continuation of the consolidation agreement.

Hansen gives a couple reasons why all cities have not consolidated:

1. Some can assess higher than the county to reduce millage and tax more of the smaller homes.

2. Controlling tax assessing makes cities more independent.

The county assesses buildings at about 55 per cent of "full, fair cash value."

Tax structure difference between an "independent" city and a "consolidated" is quite interesting as shown in the comparison of Hallandale and Dania, nearly equal in size.

A Dania property owner, assessed at the county rate of 55 per cent, pays $10 for each $1,000 of property value, based on the city's 10-mill levy.

* * *

Assuming that property valuations are equal in both cities, the owner of a $10,000 Hallandale home would pay $24 on $3,000 remaining after $5,000 exempted by homestead.

Owner of a $10,000 home in Dania, however, would get a $5 tax bill, since he pays on only $500 after $5,000 homestead is exempted.

Action Delayed On Beach Access At Hollywood

HOLLYWOOD — City commissioners have postponed indefinitely a showdown on the controversial beach access issue.

It had been touched off two weeks ago when they voted to pave Greenbrier Ter. from State Road A1A to the Boardwalk.

They had been petitioned to do the work by Max Levy, a beach property owner.

The fight would have been over ownership of the streets south of Hollywood Beach Hotel and the street ends, 80-foot strips of right-of-way between Surf Dr. and the Boardwalk on the beach.

Some property owners have built shuffleboard courts on the streets ends. A federal court decision has upheld their claim of ownership on both street and street ends.

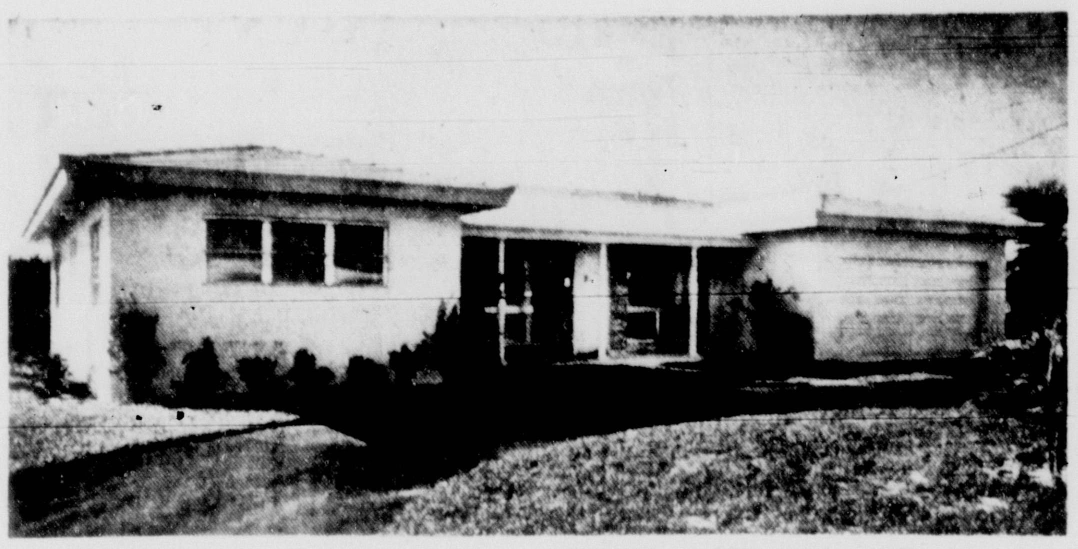
The city, however, particularly Commissioners B. L. David and Dr. Thomas S. Adams, wants the streets and street ends established as public property.

When Levy found out the city planned to pave the entire street — tearing out the shuffleboard courts if necessary — he withdrew his petition.

Last Tuesday, the board voted 3-2 to rescind the paving authorization.

City Attorney August Paoli had told the commissioners there would probably be a law suit if they wanted to press the issue and Levy promised them one.

Today the beach access question is no closer to solution than before, except for the property owners who feel there never was a question of title after the federal court decision.



CUSTOM-BUILT home in The Cove subdivision at Deerfield Beach was purchased for $32,500 by Mr. and Mrs. W. F. Ranard. The waterfront residence, of a Colonial architectural motif, was constructed by Dermody and Webb, Deerfield Beach contracting firm. The three-bedroom, two-bath dwelling is at 1514 SE 11th St.

Battler for Flood Control Close to Partial Victory

By DUANE JONES
Herald Staff Writer

FORT LAUDERDALE — A Broward County woman who has spent years fighting for better flood control protection here is about to win her battle.

Mrs. Rose May, 1341 NW Third Ave., has accused the Central and Southern Flood Control District of "ignoring Broward County residents who have been paying drainage taxes and getting no relief over the last 50 years."

Lloyd Baldwin, district engineer, said Broward County "hasn't been shortchanged."

He listed six Broward County canals that have been deepened and widened, and said work on another — one in which Mrs. May is particularly interested — is to be under way this summer.

It's Cypress Creek, and passes through 55 acres Mrs. May and her husband own in South Pompano, between Old Dixie Hwy. and the Seaboard Railroad.

"Sure, we have a personal interest in this," Mrs. May admitted. "But we're also concerned about the health and safety of others."

In addition to charging district officials with failing to meet obligations in Broward County, Mrs. May claims they buy more right-of-way than needed and "sell the surplus at tremendously high prices, preventing the taxpayer from whom the land was bought from making a just profit."

Baldwin said the district doesn't buy more land than it needs. "We buy just enough to widen canals and have room for maintenance equipment," he said.

"They'll do all right," he said of the Mays. "They'll have adequate drainage and will be able to develop their land in waterfront properties."

But he said Mrs. May will be disappointed if she expects the district to build canals on which luxury yachts and cruisers can move about.

Irish Conductor Michael Bowles Likes Sports
. . . 'but they're too specialized in this country'

Bowles Couldn't Find Textbook On Conducting—He Wrote One

By MARGARET WALKER
Herald Staff Writer

FORT LAUDERDALE — When he couldn't find a single textbook which covered completely the subject he was teaching, Michael Bowles wrote a book about it.

"The Art of Conducting," to be published in the spring, contains the great wealth of experience which the newly-arrived guest conductor of the Fort Lauderdale Symphony Orchestra hands on to beginners.

Hearing the ruddy-faced Irishman, witty and erudite, discourse on conducting — or any subject — is inspiring. His conversation is down to earth reflecting both his serious musicianship and his sense of humor. The maestro has a way of getting to the heart of matters with a bit of Irish wit, a succinct phrase.

What advice does he give beginners who are leaders of glee clubs, choral groups or amateur orchestras?

"Don't be choosy. Take anything you can get. The only way to learn to conduct is to conduct."

His book deals primarily with the problems confronting conductors of nonprofessional orchestras, but basically, he says, their problems are the same as those of a professional, on a different level.

Bowles taught his students at Indiana University the basic elements of gestures and their relation to various instruments. He urged young people not to wish, not to refuse any opportunity "because it's all experience. Gaining it is the first problem."

Dealing with a group of people presents a problem, he said. "You might be too easy going or too tough. It's a matter of balance."

Despite the common belief that all great conductors are temperamental, Bowles describes them as "reasonable men who sometimes lose their temper for a purpose. Conducting is a great nervous strain. A conductor can't take it if he loses his temper to relieve his own feelings."

From 1940 to 1949 Bowles was director of music programs and principal conductor of the Irish National Broadcasting Service in Dublin. He directed the New Zealand National Symphony Orchestra from 1950 to 1953. Until last year he was visiting professor of music and visiting conductor of the university symphony band at Indiana University, where he wrote his book. "It took a year to write," he said. "I use a two-finger system of typing."

In building up an orchestra, Bowles does not believe in stressing too much of a conductor's own strong ideas —"Wait and improve it," he said. In New Zealand he traveled thousands of miles taking music of many types to many kinds of people.

"An audience needs a repertory as well as an orchestra, you know. So you develop an audience's repertory too."

In his book, Bowles advises would-be maestros not to talk about aesthetics to an orchestra. "Concentrate first on the technical parts," he said. "Talk in technical terms instead of talking about beauty and that certain feeling you wish to impart to particular passages."

An artist in the world of music, Bowles is also an enthusiastic sportsman, with quite a different attitude toward sailing than toward symphonies.

"Apart from professions, it's well to do everything badly and shamelessly" he commented with a grin. "In school I was a bad football player, but I played a game every Saturday just the same."

The maestro believes sports in this country are too specialized, too competitive. Youngsters are made to feel inferior here when they don't excel in sports, he said. As an example, he cited his young nephew, Martin Fitzgerald, who came over from Ireland with his sister, Elizabeth, to live with Mr. and Mrs. Bowles.

"He gave up sports at first because they were too much like school — drills, blackboard lessons and all the rest."

An ardent sailor, Bowles used to own a converted fishing boat which he enjoyed sailing around the coast of Ireland.

"It's not important to be an expert," he said. "All a yachtsman really has to know is not to spit to windward and not to drop cigaret butts in the cockpit grating."

As for music, "It's better to play it than to talk about it," he said with a smile.

Bowles will conduct a youth concert of the Fort Lauderdale Symphony Orchestra at 9:30 a.m. Tuesday at War Memorial Auditorium. His first subscription concert will be presented Feb. 17 at the auditorium.

Lauderdale Art Center Earning Fame in Spain

By MARGARET WALKER
Herald Staff Writer

FORT LAUDERDALE—News gets abroad. Even in its infancy, the Fort Lauderdale Art Center is becoming known in Europe, particularly among a group of Spain's outstanding young painters.

Their work may be exhibited here next season under the auspices of the State Department, thanks to a chance encounter with Mr. and Mrs. Stephen Bowen.

When Mr. Bowen, the art center's board chairman, and Mrs. Bowen were traveling in Spain last fall, they stopped in Barcelona to look up a woman painter whose first name had been given them by a friend.

"Unfortunately, the first name happened to be that of a patron saint of Barcelona, and every other woman there bore that name," said Mr. Bowen.

However, in the course of their search the Bowens were in touch with an art club, the Real Circulo Artistico, comprising some of Spain's finest painters. Particularly helpful to them was Santi Suros, the club's secretary, and one of Spain's noted painters who is famous throughout Europe.

* * *

"WE NEVER SUCCEEDED in finding the woman we sought, but through Mr. Suros we met a group of very wonderful talented painters who work in and around Barcelona."

Mr. Bowen, who has directed the world-famous Paul Rosenberg Gallery in New York and the Marie Harriman Gallery, the well-known art collection of Mrs. Averell Harriman, discribes the Spaniards' work as "some of the finest I encountered in my travels throughout Europe."

He and Mrs. Bowen spent six months on the continent last summer and fall. Both are connoisseurs of art.

Mrs. Bowen is the daughter of the late Felix Wildenstein of the Wildenstein Galleries, a leading figure in the art world for more than 50 years.

Interest such as theirs and of other genuine art-lovers is helping to bring the best in art to the Junior Service League-sponsored center at 625 E. Las Olas Blvd.

NEXT EXHIBITION opens to the public Wednesday with a collection from the Norton Gallery in Palm Beach. It includes the work of leading French impressionist painters, Andre Derain, Marc Chagall and Signac.

John Marin, considered the greatest American water color painter, will be represented; also Marsden Hartley, Max Weber and Walt Kuhn.

Jack Amoroso, one of the outstanding young painters in Florida, will show some of his best work, which will be sent on the Norton Gallery.

The great Philadelphia sculptor, Henry Mitchell, will be here to show a collection of his finest sculpture and drawings, said Shubert E. Jonas, director.

A cocktail preview of the show will be held for members and their guests Tuesday from 8 to 10 p.m.

TEACHING SEA LORE TO YOUNG

Mother of 2 Sails In

By TOM VINCIGUERRA
Herald Staff Writer

HOLLYWOOD — "Come on, your sail's luffing, pull it in —Fade off."

The order echoed over the lake as a tiny fleet of penguin boats, piloted by boys and girls, raced for the finish line under the watchful gaze of their instructor, Barbara Hofacker, attractive 27-year-old housewife.

The youngsters were competing in the fall racing series, one of many sailing events scheduled by the City Recreation Department.

The teacher and students meet Saturdays at the City Yacht Basin, do a man-size job of launching their 12-foot penguins and race the whole afternoon.

Their practice is directed toward March when Mrs. Hofacker will select the best of her charges to compete in the annual Irish Fair Regatta, also sponsored by the Recreation Department.

* * *

A NATIVE of Nyack, N.Y., Mrs. Hofacker learned her sailing on the Hudson River when she was 13.

"I came from a boat town, so it was natural for us to learn early."

Her boys, Richard, 7, and Stephen, 9, find sailing natural, too. They have a nine-foot Optimist pram each, and sail often.

Until recently, Mrs. Hofacker shared a moth sailboat with her husband.

"He tipped while sailing at the Miami Yacht Club and gave it all to me," she mused. The Hofackers live at 7020 SW 29th St.

* * *

SINCE she took over the sailing classes four years ago, Mrs. Hofacker has tried to make the sport more popular in Hollywood. It's been an uphill fight.

An adult boating club Mrs. Hofacker helped launch recently sank unceremoniously when the membership fell apart.

"They couldn't use the kids' penguins and didn't want to buy their own boats as we had planned, so they stopped coming out," Mrs. Hofacker said.

The boaitng club still has $100 in the bank. Mrs. Hofacker is trying to get the money for the youngsters, who "need new equipment."

Their penguins, aged boats that were donated by individuals and organizations, limp into dock frequently during races for repairs.

The pretty boating teacher's dream for a launching site on the bank of a vacant city-owned tract in the swank residential lake section was punctured when property owners protested. The city won the court case that resulted, but shelved the plans anyway.

Like most teachers, Mrs. Hofacker has her eye on accomplishing a personal triumph. This year she hopes to compete in the Adams Cup Regatta in St. Petersburg.

Splendor Reigned at Opera Ball

FORT LAUDERDALE — The throne room of a ducal palace in 16th century Italy was recreated in medieval splendor Saturday in the ballroom of the Governors' Club Hotel, where more than 400 patrons, sponsors and donors of the Opera Guild attended the annual Opera Ball.

Most magnificent in the guild's 10-year-old history, the ball presented a sumptuous scene as guests entered the loggia between stately columns topped with ferns. A courtroom was created by tall topiary trees interspersed with statues. Here guests were received by Opera Guild president H. Charles Kersten, Mrs. Kersten, vice presidents Raymond F. Gier and J. L. B. Weber, Mrs. Gier and Mrs. Weber.

Mrs. Kersten, who was decorations' chairman, was beautiful in pale pink peau de soie handsomely appliqued with beaded flowers. She wore a corsage of pink cymbidium orchids. Mrs. Gier's silver-haired, dark-eyed beauty was accentuated by red peau de soie fashioned with full length, full skirt.

Mrs. Weber wore a handsome angel blue gown with flowing chiffon skirt and lace-trimmed bodice.

In the ballroom, grandeur was achieved by sweeping, colorful silk swags draped from the ceiling, where 16th century chandeliers held myriad candles. Intricately-designed stained glass windows placed at intervals around the walls were interspersed with topiary trees, statues and handsome flower arrangements.

Breathtaking in its effect was the tremendous replica of a stained glass window through which a garden could be seen. Depth and distance were lent by diffused lighting and the lower level on which the flower garden was created.

In front of the window was the throne of the romantic duke of "Rigoletto," the opera to be presented by the Guild Feb. 2 and theme of the ball. His purple velvet, ermine-trimmed robe lay on the throne, his crown on a velvet pillow. Gold shields flanked the throne, one bearing the name of the court jester, Rigoletto, at whose expense the duke played out his frivolous existence in the opera.

Hostesses were headed by Mrs. S. J. Wilson and Mrs. Russell Carson, chairman of the social committee. Pretty teenagers, Mary Sue Wilson and Karen Stevens, gave favors to the ladies, who received jeweled perfume bottles in gold satin, drawstring bags.

At the table with the Kerstens, the Giers and Mr. and Mrs. Weber were other prominent leaders of the Opera Guild, Mr. and Mrs. A. V. Moninger, Mr. and Mrs. Harry P. Greep, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur H. Ogle, Mr. and Mrs. John D. Ritchey, Mrs. Fred B. Greve, Miss Faustine Lasseter, Dr. and Mrs. L. U. Lumpkin, and the Kerstens' daughter, Gay Kersten Donnahoe, with Frank Page.

Other large parties included that of Pompano Beachites Mr. and Mrs. Ray Qualmann, with Mr. and Mrs. William E. Schlusemeyer, Mr. and Mrs. E. G. Steadman, Mr. and Mrs. Davis Weir, the Duncan Strawbridges, the R. J. Kraeers and Mr. and Mrs. James Hughes. In the Horace P. Robinson party were the L. F. Robinsons, the Harold Grays, the A. J. Kirbys, the John Trumbulls and the Robert Davises.

Other hosts included Mr. and Mrs. R. O. Angle, Mr. and Mrs. N. Ritchey Johnson, Mr. and Mrs. Paris Singer, Mr. and Mrs. Truman Clapp, Mr. and Mrs. William Braisted, Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Russell, Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Devor, Dr. and Mrs. Keith Wold, Mr. and Mrs. Alwen Neuharth and Mr. and Mrs. Carl Lehmann.

Mothers Polio March Scheduled Thursday

FORT LAUDERDALE — The March of Dimes-sponsored Mothers' March is set for Thursday from 7 to 8 p.m.

Held one night each year for an hour, the drive's purpose is to help fight such crippling diseases as polio, birth defects and arthritis.

Mrs. James Cheatwood is chairman of the Mothers' March and still needs workers in the Coral Ridge area, Sea Island sections and the beach area.

Anyone wishing to work may contact her at March of Dimes headquarters.

Captains include Mrs. Rita de La Vergne, Mrs. Harry C. Croft, Mrs. Rose Johnson, Mrs. Phyllis Maxwell, Mrs. Dale Haitt, Mrs. Janet Moroney, Mrs. James Stroud, Mrs. H. A. Schumm, Mrs. M. H. Witters, Mrs. Leah Von Klock, Mrs. James Swaine, Mrs. Pauline Lewton, Mrs. Joe Farrell, Mrs. I. William Greenwald, Mrs. Sarah Tyler, Mrs. William Wolfe.

Also, Mrs. W. R. Green, Mrs. Elizabeth S. Peters, Mrs. Richard Parker, Mrs. Ruth Blackmore, Mrs. R. L. Talbot, Mrs. Jackie Rowell, Mrs. Raymond Close, Mrs. S. J. Wilson and Mrs. Coley Judd.

Club Federation To Hear Leader

FORT LAUDERDALE — Mrs. C. L. Menser, president of the Florida Federation of Women's Clubs, will be speaker at the January meeting of the Broward County Federation of Women's Clubs Friday at the Italian-American Civic League in Hollywood.

Hostess group will be the Miramar Woman's Club.

Mrs. Menser of Vero Beach is a native New Yorker who first became interested in club work in Boston in 1928.

She has served as representative of the YWCA and along with her club work at one time narrated a woman's program which was broadcast over a Lake Worth radio station.

Mrs. Clayton R. Leaver, president of the Broward County Federation, will preside over the meeting which will follow luncheon.

Reports will be read by Mrs. George H. Robinson, president of the Country Club Estates Woman's Club and chairman of the nominating committee; Mrs. Carl King, [illegible] of the Katherine

Borneo Book to Be Reviewed

FORT LAUDERDALE — Borneo People" by Malcolm MacDonald, formerly Governor General of Malaya and Borneo, will be discussed Tuesday by Pauline Marin Watkins in the second of a series of book reviews given for Bookfellows at the Marie Antoinette Hotel.

The review follows 12:30 luncheon.

Mrs. T. M. Bryan, president, announces further dates for the series as follows: Feb. 10, 24 and March 10.

The author of "Borneo People" is the second son of one of England's former prime ministers and served with Winston Churchill as minister of health.

Mrs. L. H. Maxwell is in charge of luncheon arrangements.

Mariners To Present Program

FORT LAUDERDALE — The Power Squardon Auxiliary will meet Monday at the home of Mrs. A. A. Korte, 2029 NE 31st Ave.

Assisting the hostess will be Mrs. T. F. Cashin, Mrs. Arden Hamman and Mrs. M. H. Sturtevant.

The program will be presented by the auxiliary-sponsored Mariners, who will highlight their work as a troop.

The girls, who recently passed the course on safety at the Waterfront and Afloat, will be awarded certificated and Mariner pins by auxiliary president Mrs. Richard Coons.

Mrs. Marshall Fishburn, Mrs. Peter Martell, Mrs. D. H. Thibaut and Mrs. Gail Fitch are in charge of refreshments.

Contemporary Art Greats Included In Center Show

By GRIFF PRESTON
Herald Staff Writer

FORT LAUDERDALE—The third exhibition of the Fort Lauderdale Art Center, to be officially presented Tuesday at an invitation showing to art center members and their guests, will include some of the most famous names in the world of contemporary art.

HENRY MITCHELL

On view will be an Epstein, a Picasso and a Paul Klee, among others.

The American sculptor, Henry Mitchell, and Painter Jack Amoroso, the two featured artists of the current show, will be honor guests at the center Tuesday evening.

To celebrate all this fine viewing of the visual arts, there are a dozen or so dinner parties being planned before the show.

Mr. and Mrs. Jack Coulton will entertain Artist Henry Mitchell and Miss Alice Goudy, hostess to Mr. Mitchell during his stay here. The Aris Nyads, Mrs. Alfred Du Pont, the Robert Oares and the Stephen Bowens will also be among the Coultons' dinner guests.

The Menese Gardners' party at their Coral Ridge home will include the Richard Strubles, the Milton Links and the Bill Youngs.

JACK AMOROSO

Among the cocktail and dinner guests of the William Gilroys Jr. will be their house guests, the Robert MacWhinneys, here from Plainfield, N.J.

Dinner guests of the Randolph Fishers at their home in Coral Ridge will be Mr. and Mrs. Myles Johns, Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Boos and the Walter Wendles.

An "after the show" party will be given by the Warner P. Mallisons, with their honor guests being Mrs. Mallinson's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Philip Bradley, who are currently visiting in Delray from their home in Paeonian Springs, Va.

Lifetime Friend Missed Wedding

THE MARRIAGE of Miss Jean Brady, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harley C. Brady, to Philip Drake (which was Saturday at the charming home of Mrs. M. Roessler) was one of the prettiest weddings of the season.

The bride, in an ivory satin empire gown, was wearing the wedding dress of her lifetime friend, Susan Roessler (now Mrs. Alvin Balent). This was as near to the wedding as Mrs. B. (nee Roessler) could get, since the Pentagon has whisked her off to Johnson Air Base, Tokyo, with her flight surgeon husband, Dr. Balent.

The young couple, now on a wedding trip to the West Coast will live in Gainesville, at 715 SW Ninth st., while Mr. Drake completes his law studies at the University of Florida.

For Old Friends and Classmate

THE HAMILTON LOVE cocktail party Friday at the Lauderdale Yacht Club was for some Florida winter visitors and long-time friends of the Loves, Mr. and Mrs. William H. Wallace of Hartford, Conn., and Mr. and Mrs. Robert J. Prentiss, here from Atlanta.

Also on the guest list for the party was Rear Adm. Lewis Parks of the USS Newport News. The admiral was an Annapolis classmate of Hamilton Love.

From Venice to 'Venice of U.S.'

GUESTS OF THE Warren Hendersons, up around Hillsboro Mile way right now, are their son and daughter-in-law, the junior Warren Hendersons over from Venice. With their family of two, Feb. 6 the senior Hendersons will be sailing out of Port Everglades for a halcyon 20 days of pleasure cruising aboard the Ocean Monarch.

LIVING IN GEORGIA

Valdosta Girl Bride Of Lt. Lee Lennhardt

FORT LAUDERDALE — Lt. and Mrs. Lee J. Lennhardt are making their home in Valdosta, Ga., following their marriage of Jan. 17 in the Messiah Lutheran Church.

The Rev. Victor Constien read the marriage ceremony.

Mrs. Lennhardt is the former Miss Kathleen Meeks of Valdosta, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Meeks Jr., 1201 SE Seventh St. Lt. Lennhardt's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Roy Lennhardt of Elizabeth, Colo.

Lt. Carl Vail was best man and maid of honor was Miss Marjorie Noell of Valdosta.

Elizabeth Vogt
. . . UM senior's fiancee

Elizabeth Vogt Betrothed to James B. Allen

FORT LAUDERDALE — Mr. and Mrs. Henry Ludwig Vogt, 2608 Barcelona Dr., announce the engagement of their daughter, Elizabeth Katherine, to James Bernard Allen, son of Mr. and Mrs. A. E. Allen of Oxford, N. Y.

Miss Vogt, formerly of Reading, Pa., attended Knox School in Cooperstown, N. Y., and was graduated from Penn Hall Preparatory School in Chambersburg, Pa. She has attended Weber College in Babson Park, Fla.

Mr. Allen, a graduate of Daytona Beach High School, has served with the Army and is a senior at the University of Miami, where his fraternity is Kappa Sigma.

Tourist Club Meets Monday

FORT LAUDERDALE — The Tourist Club will meet at 7:30 p.m. Monday at the Woman's Club. A program of entertainment will follow.

Next on the group's agenda is a cruise Saturday aboard the Abeona. Another cruise is scheduled Feb. 5 on the Abeona, which will take members to Pier 66 for luncheon.

Listeners Of Opera To Meet

FORT LAUDERDALE — The second informal meeting of the Listeners, a group devoted solely to the enjoyment of listening to opera, will be held at 3:30 p.m. today at the home of Bob Freund. Stereophonic records are played.

This is not a membership organization, nor are there any rules or dues.

Today's program will include Offenbach's "La Perichole" and Beethoven's "Videlio." Mr. Freund encourages interested persons to contact him for future recording listenings at Ludlow 3-3051.

Style Show Of AAUW To Hike Fund

FORT LAUDERDALE — Members of the American Association of University Women and their guests will meet at 1 p.m. in the Continental Room of the Galt Ocean Mile Hotel Saturday for a dessert fashion show which will benefit the AAUW scholarship fund.

Miss Mary Rose Heilman is in charge of the annual event and is being assisted by Mrs. C. L. White, Dr. Nell Enlows, Mrs. T. H. D. Griffiths, Miss Violet Austin, Miss Marion Cleveland and Mrs. A. T. Van Duren.

Mrs. Harold Doubleday is taking reservations.

Leftover Sprouts Not a Problem

Heat 1 can cream of chicken soup thinned with ¼ cup milk. Toss with 3 cups cooked Brussels sprouts and ½ cup grated American or cheddar cheese. Turn into lightly greased 1-quart casserole. Top with 1 cup buttered bread cubes and bake 20 minutes or until crumbs are brown in preheated 375-degree oven.

Washington Club to Meet

FORT LAUDERDALE — The Washington, D.C., Club will meet for dinner at 6:30 p.m. Thursday at the Reef. Mrs. Charles Jacobsen is in charge of reservations.

Chicken Chili

NEW YORK — (UPI) — Chicken chili is a sure-fire hit for the supper crowd. Melt 2 tablespoons butter in heavy skillet over low heat. Add 1 cup chopped onion, 1 diced green pepper, and ¼ clove garlic, minced. Cook slowly until onion softens and yellows. Add 2 cups cooked chicken, 1 (1-pound) can tomatoes, 1 (1-pound) can kidney beans, 2 teaspoons each of salt and chili powder and 1 teaspoon monosodium glutamate. Simmer, covered, about 1 hour. Serves 6.

FSU Official To Coordinate PTA Workshop

FORT LAUDERDALE — Dr. Douglass Brown of Florida State University will be coordinator for the home and family workshop, the first to be held in Broward County, Feb. 23-25.

The three-day meeting is being sponsored by the Broward County Council of Parent-Teacher Associations with Mrs. Jack Price as chairman.

Other out-of-town staff members will be Dr. Lewis Diana of FSU; Mrs. C. D. Johnson of Qunicy, home and family life education chairman for the Florida Congress of Parents and Teachers; Mrs. Thelma Ivey, general extension division of the University of Florida; Mrs. W. L. Mussett of Miami, immediate past president of the FCPT, and Mrs. Robert Tauber of Miami, program chairman of the FCPT.

Also working as resource persons on the staff are representatives from the school administration, the ministerial association, the Mental Hygiene Clinic, the County Welfare, County Health Department, Juvenile Court, and the guidance and homemaking departments of Broward County high schools.

Two participants from each local PTA have been invited to take part in the workshop, which will be held at First Presbyterian Church.

B'nai B'rith To Hear Review

FORT LAUDERDALE — Mrs. A. L. Brown will review the book "Remember Me to God" by Myron S. Kaufman at the 8 p.m. Tuesday meeting of the B'nai B'rith at Todd Kaufman Auditorium.

Hostesses are Mrs. Harry Miller, Mrs. Joseph Tarnove, Mrs. Simon Ruden and Mrs. Louis Tauber.

The Man's Hobby Is Never Done; Mom's? Not Begun

By ALICE FOSTER
Herald Staff Writer

HOLLYWOOD—South Broward business and professional men relax by indulging in an assortment of hobbies. No longer does an overstuffed chair, a book and a box of candy fill the bill.

ALICE FOSTER

Florist Clarke Washburn, we discovered, unwinds by painting. "I can relax for hours with a paint brush in my hand," he said while showing us a number of his fine canvasses.

Dale Anstine grows orchids for his change of pace. The physician also like animals. Horses, dogs, swans and other pets roam around his lovely sprawling home.

Bill Hunter, attorney, says his boat is the answer to the pressure plague. He spends hours painting and varnishing his yacht. On weekends the Hunters take friends and search for new waters to ply for relaxation.

Hollywood Chamber Manager Les Burch is one of those Saturday golfers who feels 18 holes will take the kinks out of mind.

How does Mom relax? Well, the six-year-old boy uttered the tragic truth when he spilled his umpteenth glass of milk at the breakfast table:

"Quick, mom, take another nerve pill."

Mrs. Bates Had Birthday Party

BILLEE (MRS. THOMAS) RODENBERG was luncheon and bridge party hostess at her home last Friday. The occasion was the birthday of Lucy (Mrs. Jim) Bates.

Billee's mother, Mrs. Arthur J. Block, arrives from Buffalo Saturday. A party in her honor is set for Feb. 3.

Faces Familiar—Hair-Dos Not

SAW FAMILIAR FACES in unfamiliar hair-dos in technicolor last Thursday night at a social gathering of the Hollywood Pilot Club.

Attractive Helen Chezney looked like an ice-cream soda with her locks in persian pink. Striking Wilma Martin sported a royal blue coiffure. Dot (Mrs. George) Ekengren was platinum blonde and beautician Lois (Mrs. George) Neale had a soft, powder-blue tint on her tresses.

The gals modeled hair styles and shades dreamed up by the Elegante Salon for the Pilots at the home of Mrs. Edythe McGee.

PEOPLE IN OUR TOWN

HIS FRIENDS smiled when he sat down at the drums, but Dr. Louis J. Novak showed them he can really beat the skins, man.

The versatile physician is an accomplished drummer, and plays violin equally well. He got his first drum at five, studied violin at six, played professionally at 11 and was an orchestra leader at 12.

Later he was a member of the Boston School Symphony, the Latin School Orchestra, String Quartet and Band and Drum Corps.

Dr. Novak made music with the greats, including Meyer Davis' society orchestra, Vaughn Monroe and Eddie Duchin.

The physician performed at the White House during Roosevelt's administration and at the weddings of two of FDR's sons.

"Music served as a means to an end," explained the musical doctor. The end, of course, was medicine, but it did not mean the end of music.

"I still play drums," said Dr. Novak. He is a member of the Hollywood Oriental Shrine Band.

A lover of travel, Dr. Novak has been to Europe, South America and many other foreign lands. He practices internal medicine and cardiology and is president of the Heart Association of Broward County.

AT PILOT DINNER

20 Coiffures to Tempt Milady at Show

FORT LAUDERDALE — Twenty fall and winter hair styles, fantasy and sensible, will be shown at the Pilot Club dinner and variety show Tuesday at the Governors' Club Hotel.

These will be by the Broward County Coiffures and Cosmetologists Guild.

The affair, which begins at 7 p.m., also will feature a sketch by the Little Theater, a monologue, tap dancing by Dede de Costa, vocals by Dick Blomgren, a bongo dance by Sam Patterson and guitar numbers by Penny Norman.

Riva Arden will emcee the program.

Miss Anita Jean Brady Bride of Phillip Drake

Mrs. Phillip Drake
. . . former Orlando teacher

FORT LAUDERDALE — Miss Anita Jean Brady became the bride of Phillip Drake at 4 p.m. Saturday in a ceremony performed by the Rev. Richard Blanchard of the First Methodist Church at the home of Mrs. Madeline Roessler, 408 SE 17th Ave., for the immediate families.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. H. C. Brady, 319 SE Fourth St., and the bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. C. O. Drake, 345 N. Atlantic Blvd.

The bridge wore a floor length gown of white silk shantung, which featured a sweetheart neckline. Her veil of illusion was caught to a seed pearl crown and she carried white orchids.

Mrs. Charles Conkling of Miami was matron of honor for her sorority sister. Her gown of light blue taffeta was accented by her bouquet of white orchids.

Best man was Robert Drake, brother of the bridegroom.

Following a wedding trip to the West Coast, Mr. and Mrs. Drake will make their home at 715 SW Ninth St. in Gainesville, where Mr. Drake is entering law school at the University of Florida.

A member of Phi Delta Theta fraternity, he is a member of the Blue Key men's honorary and the Hall of Fame. Mr. Drake is the former world record holder of the 220-yard butterfly stroke and for the last two years has been captain of the UF swim team.

Mrs. Drake, a graduate of the University of Florida, has taught in Orlando schools. She is a member of Delta Delta Delta sorority.

Flat Note Footnote On Flats

DENVER — (UPI) — Modern shoe styles can lead to foot troubles, especially for teen-age girls, says an orthopedic surgeon.

To keep flats on their feet, teen-age girls wear shoes too short, Dr. Irvin Hendryson said.

The result — bunions that in some cases need surgery, he added.

The father of five children, Dr. Hendryson said he has as many misgivings about cowboy boots for boys. But he found a solution.

"When the kids watched TV and then demanded cowboy boots, I bought them, all right — and I made them wear them till their feet hurt so much that they were glad to get rid of them.

"I bought them a little bit short, by the way."

If a child's feet are a little flat, but he suffers no pain, let him alone, said the surgeon.

Parents worry more about flat feet than do doctors who saw 50,000 pairs of feet in their Army days and realize that most feet are flat by old standards, Dr. Hendryson said.

Pears Plentiful, Washington Reports

SEATTLE, Wash. — (UPI) — Supplies of winter pears — Anjou, bosc and comice — are expected to be plentiful and high in quality this year, says the Oregon - Washington-California Pear Bureau.

The green-skinned, fine-grained Anjou pears will be available into spring, as far as May. The russet-colored bosc variety with a delicately spicy flavor and the round, buttery smooth comice last only through February, the bureau reported.

Two heads are still better than one . . . even at this stage of the game . . . 'n' when one belongs to Velma Messick and the other goes everywhere that Ann Marler goes you've got a real deal . . . these two damsels dispense decorating do's and don'ts for ELLIOT'S, 1630 N. Federal Highway . . . where prices are not sky-high even though you might expect them to be . . . one reason for many of the within-reason price tags is that Elliot's have their own work shop and upholstery men . . . which adds up to speedier service and such . . . as for the decorating or redecorating as the case may be . . . that's dispensed with a wide smile plus much ability . . . these gals are good! . . . bring all your home furnishing headaches and see if it isn't so . . . remember now, their suggestion sessions are held at Elliot's . . .

In a quandry? . . . cut it short by calling on CHARLES COOPER . . . he's the man who really knows . . . and at that he should be just as capable as he is what with dozens of years of experience in the field of sound . . . not just-everyday, I-can-stand-it sound either . . . this is superb sound via stereophonic and hi-fi sets . . . sure you'll have to part with your pennies plus wads of bills besides . . . but then aren't you clamoring for the best? . . . well, as you've been advised before, you'll find it at 713 E. Las Olas Boulevard where Charles Cooper holds court each day . . . so here's your invitation to call and confer about components and their kissin' kin in the field of sounds symphonic and otherwise . . .

Don'tcha dare don those blinders . . . leave 'em off and be bedazzled by all those fiery Far East hues at SAKS FIFTH AVENUE . . . inspired by Japan's kabuki theatre . . . hence the exotic kabuki label for the bright blues, strong, sharp pinks and vivid purples so much in evidence in the current collection . . . casual wear predominates and you'll be astounded how these wild, wild colors won't make you one of those wild, wild women . . . instead all this kabuki business is but a passport to the latest look for the lass who likes to look lovely, lovely, lovely . . . with the always able assistance of Saks . . .

* * *

Listen to that swish . . . and look at that subtle sheen . . . that's silk chum . . . pure pure silk prettied up with posies of a modest size . . . the final result . . . easy-to-wear silk dresses plus matching jacket and FLORENCE COOLEY is the concern with this quality collection . . . but then this is but the beginning . . . even more sumptuous are the silk linen ensembles with that highly prized heavy textured look . . . stressing the new shorter jackets except for an occasional full length coat treatment . . . pure white and beige and cafe au lait predominate in this particular grouping . . . and quite frankly each outfit is for the particular person . . . such elegance!! Fashions by Florence Cooley in the Terrace Patio.

Let's make that a low, low bow . . . to STRATFORD-ON-AVON . . . newest shop to join the Potpourri parade . . . for those of a slightly unobservant nature this clothing concern takes up considerable space at the junction of E. Las Olas Boulevard and the beach . . . and as expected they're concerned with casual clothing . . . with interest equally divided between damsels and their dates . . . the list's long too . . . footwear, shorts, shirts, blouses, dresses, swim suits plus the necessary accessories and more besides . . . but just don't stand on the outside looking in . . . see for yourself that prices are of a most modest nature . . . sorta surprising for so much style and smartness, isn't it? . . . but then remember this is the Stratford Shop . . .

* * *

Sure they sell shades . . . for lamps, that is, but LAMP SHADES GALORE does even more than that . . . they're jam-packed with all sorts of stuff to improve lamps in general . . . f'instance the adapters for converting candlesticks and candelabra to electrical units . . . there's a do-it-yourself deal too . . . simple way to make a beautiful bottle or what you will into a lamp . . . besides this Lamp Shades Galore, 205 E. Broward Blvd. stocks scads of finials, harps, sockets, risers, prisms, bobeches and husks . . . all for a better lighting lookout . . . and they'll tell you how to go about getting marble, brass or teak base to raise a lamp to greater heights . . . in fact, anything . . . and everything about lamps is the concern of this concern . . . Lamp Shades Galore . . .

* * *

DAGMAR FASHIONS does it again . . . another fashion show, that is . . . this time it's all being handled by Dolly Ermatinger of Dagmar Fashions and is sponsored by the DAR February 4 at the Galt Ocean Mile Hotel . . . 'n' you better be there, y'hear? . . . but then who'd want to miss the luscious luncheon and the latest fashions for 'round-the-clock wear . . . besides top notch professional models there'll be six members of the DAR to help show off the styles . . . since Dolly herself is a DAR member and her interest is understandably intense the forthcoming fashion show will undoubtedly be a dandy . . . with Dagmar Fashions throughout!

* * *

Fond of your furs? . . . then treat 'em right . . . don't cram them 'neath a plastic bag . . . they'll oxidize . . . don't blunt the hairs on plastic seats . . . in fact, don't do anything but wear them with pride and let AMARTIN'S FT. LAUDERDALE FUR AND MINK SALON, 1117 E. Las Olas Blvd. manage the rest . . . they're tops in this field of cleaning, glazing and storing with years of experience . . . they've got the machinery, the personnel and the floor space plus the ability to do the job right . . . so why go to just anybody with your furry pride and joy when Amartin's, Broward County's oldest and largest quality furrier awaits . . . Try tomorrow for the trek, hmmm?

The Modern Sewing Machine Reviving Old-Fashioned Art of Quilting by Design

By DOROTHY ROE

Associated Press Women's Editor

An old-fashioned art is enjoying a revival, as women find they can make heirloom quilts in original designs on their sewing machines.

One popular idea is an enchanting Noah's Ark quilt for a baby. This would be a perfect new-baby gift for a first grandchild. It's made from inexpensive cotton feed bags.

To get the fabric for the quilt, rip the stitching from the bags, soak to remove printing, wash and iron flat. Two large bags are used for the main part of the quilt. A variety of smaller ones in different colors and patterns may be used for the designs. Cotton batting is used for the stuffing.

Local sewing center experts advise you to sketch your design first on a piece of brown wrapping paper. Then cut the various pieces apart and trace the trees on green cloth, the animals on different colors of cloth. Cut out, leaving a one-inch margin. Base pieces in place on background. With automatic sewing machine set for a fine zigzag stitch, work around outlines of appliques. Trim away excess fabric close to line of stitching.

FORT LAUDERDALE — Ten religious leaders who have traveled extensively throughout the world will lead services of the Florida Chain of Missionary Assemblies here Feb. 1-3.

They'll speak at Park Temple Methodist Church, First Methodist Church, First Presbyterian, First Christian, First Baptist; Fort Lauderdale, Stranahan and Dillard high schools, and before Kiwanians and two Rotary clubs.

Mrs. W. W. Thrasher, 10 SW 12th St., is chairman of local activities.

The series of meetings started in Jacksonville last weekend, and will end at the University of Miami in March.

Speakers to appear her include:

DR. JOHN ELDER, secretary of the Presbyterian Mission in Iran.

DR. PAUL GREEN, executive vice president of Baylor University, and formerly with the Foreign Service in Syria, Jordan and Egypt.

THE REV. P. GORDON GOULD, native Alaskan minister who's now in charge of Methodist work in that state.

DR. B. FRANK HALL, minister of Pearsall Memorial Presbyterian Church in Wilmington, N.C., and an authority on the Middle East, having made a study tour there.

DR. HARRY S. KOMURO, superintendent of the Methodist Mission in Hawaii.

ELIZABETH M. LEE, promotional secretary of Methodist Committee for Overseas Relief.

DR. PAUL NILSON, a former high school teacher in Eastern Turkey near the Russian frontier.

DR. ALFONSO RODRIGUES, president of the Evangelical Theological Seminary in Matanzas, Cuba.

MRS. JAMES D. WYKER, minister-at-large, Disciples of Christ, leader of a united church women's good will tour around the world.

DR. GLORIA WYSNER, secretary of International Missionary Council, and for many years a missionary in Algeria.

Healing Mission To Begin

FORT LAUDERDALE—The Rev. C. Bertram Runnalls, canon of the Cathedral Church of St. Luke, Orlando, will conduct a healing mission at All Saints Episcopal Church beginning today.

He will address the 9 a.m. congregation, give the sermon at the 11 a.m. service and an evening service at 7:30.

There will be 10 a.m. and 7:30 p.m. sessions Monday and Tuesday, and a holy communion service at 10 a.m. Wednesday followed by the laying on of hands in spiritual healing.

B'nai B'rith Lodge Elects

Other new officers include Arthur Laufman, treasurer; Max Eichner, financial secretary; and Paul Koenig, recording secretary. Greenman will be program chairman and corresponding secretary.

Bank Promotes 4 In Hollywood

HOLLYWOOD — William A. Hofman, former vice president and cashier of First National Bank of Hollywood, has been named executive vice president of the institution.

Other promotions include Roy L. Thompson from assistant vice president to vice president and cashier; Mrs. Lois Frattini from assistant vice president to vice president, and Mrs. Caroline M. Thompson from comptroller to vice president and comptroller.

Beta Theta Pis Schedule Dinner

FORT LAUDERDALE — The annual dinner meeting of the Beta Theta Pi chapter will be at 5 p.m. Monday at the Reef restaurant.

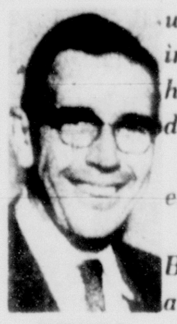
Batista: That Fidel's a Barbaric Dictator

EXCLUSIVE



BEEBE

A stream of newspaper wire service reporters has been flowing into Ciudad Trujillo for three weeks, seeking the first full length interview with Fulgencio Batista since he was forced from the Cuban presidency by Fidel Castro's rebels.

He talked briefly to two reporters, refused admittance to all others.

CIUDAD TRUJILLO, Dominican Republic — Fulgencio Batista, Cuba's fallen dictator, broke his silence here Saturday to call current activities in Cuba the work of a "barbaric and sadistic" upstart—Fidel Castro.

Angered and bitter after reading news accounts of trials and executions masterminded by Castro, Batista leveled a blast at the new Cuban man of the hour.

"Castro said he wanted to be nothing in the new Cuban government. His only title is delegate of the president to the armed forces. What does this mean?

"He is not chief of the army, the navy and air force. He is neither prime minister nor president.

"Yet he dictates all policies, says who should be executed—but has no official position.

"Is this democracy? Or is it dictatorship and tyranny?"

Despite his bitterness over activities of the Castro regime, Batista wants the world to know he has no intention of organizing an invasion force to combat Castro.

"I gave up the presidency to avoid further killing of my people. I have no desire to build a force that could only mean more bloodshed and unhappiness to my country," he said from his Hotel Jaragua apartment where he has taken temporary asylum.

Batista said that if some of his followers have moved into Castro's old stronghold in the Sierra Maestra mountains, it is without his knowledge.

As you might well imagine, Batista thinks Castro is a bum.

He didn't exactly use that word in describing the Rebel Rouser who so rudely unseated him as his term was running out.

But he did pull out a collection of such unflattering words as "tyrant, sadist, murderer and liar" in condemning the tactics of Cuba's bearded hero of the hour.

He implied he could have used the word "ingrate."

"I saved Fidel Castro from death back in 1953 when he killed six soldiers during a July 26 uprising in Santiago. Now he is ordering the execution of the leaders of my government."

Batista said that Castro must be held responsible for "weakening of Cuba's economy through destruction of bridges and highways, the burning of sugar cane fields and mills and with driving tourists from the island."

How about the atrocities that are being charged against him—with published pictures to prove it?

Batista bristled. "I have seen some of these pictures and I think they are the work of Castro, and not my men. If they did take place, it was without my sanction.

"I gave the order to suppress the rebel activity. Both sides have played rough these last two years."

Obviously smarting under condemnation of the American press, Batista was quick to pull out what he termed a "typical example of Castro terrorism."

He said that high-ranking aides had reported to him how Castro's men took a father of four children near Bayamo

'Like a Young Girl'

Cuban People Laugh Again

Where does Castro go from here? 1H

Herald Staff Writer James Buchanan, who lived with the rebels during Cuba's rugged mountain campaign, returned to Havana to cover their victory celebration and war crimes trials. He found a new and different city. This is his portrait of Havana today.

By JAMES BUCHANAN
Herald Staff Writer

BUCHANAN

HAVANA — Cuba's face has been lifted.

She looks and acts like a young girl today, and not the haggard, fearful thing of less than a month ago.

Change is apparent everywhere in the island and in every walk of life. There's happiness, and gaiety and most of all — hope.

"I walk looking up," a shopkeeper says. "The sun is on my face, not here," and he pats the back of his neck.

The rejuvenation lies in the revolution.

How long will it last?

The young rebel government says, "Forever."

The seasoned businessman shrugs his shoulders and answers, "Who knows?"

But like the others, the businessmen of Cuba have hope.

Ask an insurance company executive whether he believes the Urrutia administration's pledge of "clean and honest government" and he'll say:

"We'll have to see if they keep their promises any more than the others. Human nature, you understand? Maybe Cuban human nature.

"For awhile, maybe three, maybe five years, I believe things will be good. Then will come the test of goodness and honesty when the officials are solidly in."

On every street corner, in every cantina, at every coffee counter, Cubans are telling each other what they think the government should do.

For years they have been afraid to say more than "Good Morning" to even a fellow Cuban. And to voice a complaint against the government, the army or the national police could result in imprisonment.

Today,, it takes more than a word to bring about "instant

Castro To Push 2 Trials

HAVANA — (AP) — Havana's revolutionary tribunal, with thousands of Cubans looking on, is going ahead with plans to resume action in the city's big Sports Stadium Monday despite worldwide criticism of the carnival-like proceedings.

The tribunal will then call to trial Capt. Pedro Morejon on charges of assassination, homicide and robbery.

A five-man appeal court was expected to rule soon on the death sentence of Maj. Jesus Sosa Blanco, the first man to be tried in the arena.

One Havana newspaper said Sosa Blanco's execution by firing squad was expected momentarily.

After Morejon, Lt. Col. Ricardo Luis Grao is to face the court, but his trial is expected to be the last in public in Havana. About 1,000 other prisoners accused of war crimes by the revolutionary regime are expected to go before tribunals in La Cabana fortress or elsewhere.

Reports persisted that Fidel Castro, the revolutionary army chieftain who is now in Caracas to celebrate the anniversary of the overthrow of the Venezuelan dictatorship of Marcos Perez Jimenez, had suggested that radio and television broadcasts of the trials be banned henceforth.

However, the commandant at La Cabana, where the accused are held, said he had not received any such instruction.

Roof Collapses; 3 Killed, 8 Hurt

HUNTSVILLE, Ont. —(AP)— Three persons—a married couple and a 13-year-old boy—were killed Saturday when the roof of a curling rink at nearby Britannia Lodge collapsed. Eight other persons were injured.

Eleven persons were in the building about noon when the roof caved in under the weight of snow and a heavy wind.

Authorities identified the dead as Mr. and Mrs. Eric Chudleigh of Dixie, near Toronto, and John Canfield of Woodstock, Ont.

Flooded Sections Guarded

2 States Still Being Battered

COLUMBUS, Ohio — (UPI) — Mid-winter floods still battered several Ohio and Pennsylvania towns Saturday night, and officials took drastic action to protect homes and property from water destruction and looters.

A "cordon of guards" sealed off a flood-ravaged area of downtown Fremont, Ohio, where the ice-filled Sandusky River rolled over its banks and reached a crest of 17 feet.

At Meadville, Pa., dynamite was delivered by helicopter to authorities who hoped to relieve pressure on the water-soaked community by blasting an ice jam on French Creek.

Some streams and rivers were receding. But at Chillicothe, Ohio, a third of the city was inundated and still closed by the floodwaters of the Scioto River. A danger of street cave-ins posted a new threat as water drained out of the area.

At Lafayette, Ind., a bridge over the Wabash River was threatened by ice jams, and authorities prepared to evacuate patients from a sanitarium if the river continued to rise.

Still other towns faced additional dangers from the rampaging streams in Ohio and Pennsylvania, where flood waters forced at least 25,000 persons from their homes and caused damage well above 100-million dollars.

Red Cross headquarters in Washington said preliminary reports indicated at least 3,500 homes were destroyed or damaged by floods from Indiana to New York.

At least 115 deaths were attributed to floods, traffic, exhaustion, exposure and tornadoes.

In Pennsylvania the Shenango River was receding, easing the pressure on both Sharon and New Castle. But an ice blanket covered the business district of Sharon, where damage might total four million dollars.

Other U.S. Leaders Drop

Herald Gain in Ads Is Gain for You, Too

The Miami Herald is the only newspaper among America's top 10 in total advertising that showed a gain in 1958, Media Records reported Saturday.

For the second straight year The Herald is in second place.

While some of the national leaders were recording losses exceeding four million lines, The Herald gained 574,903 lines of advertising.

Such progress means a better paper for readers.

In addition to giving you a wider shopping choice, more advertising makes possible more news space to keep you abreast of what's going on in this busy world.

The continued growth in advertising and circulation of The Herald reflects the exciting expansion all along Florida's famed Gold Coast. More than 70,000 families are moving into this area each year.

Calls Again for Berlin Talks

Americans Are Ripe For Peace—Mikoyan

40 Planes Stacked Up In Overcast

By CHARLES TAYLOR
Herald Staff Writer

More than 40 airplanes were circling at once in "hold" areas around the city during the rush hours late Saturday afternoon.

Some planes had to wait up to an hour for landing instructions, the control tower at the airport reported. There was no delay in outgoing planes.

But the Miami Weather Bureau said a break in the cloudy, drizzly weather should come Sunday afternoon.

Forecaster Gil Clark said gray skies should start breaking up when stiff northeast winds that roughed up fishing waters Saturday shift to the east and southeast.

But he said the change to sunny weather will be "gradual."

Brightest spot in the weather outlook was that no more cold is in sight, Clark said. Temperatures in the mid-70s were predicted for South Florida Sunday. Sunday night should be warm, too, the Weather Bureau added.

At Miami International Airport, landing delays were not as long as delays Friday, when planes waited up to two and a half hours to be guided through leaden skies by instruments to the landing strip.

An airplane was circling at every 1,000 feet above the 6,000-foot level at some 10 or 12 "holding" areas around Miami.

No planes were diverted to other airports, however. During Friday's long wait to land, several planes ran low on fuel and had to land at Tampa, West Palm Beach or Nassau.

Fairy Tale About to Come True

Bourke Previews a Preview, 6F

"Sleeping Beauty," Walt Disney's biggest, richest film, will open here Feb. 10 in a Lend-a-Hand premiere that will be a fairy tale come true for 600 underprivileged kids.

Proceeds of the Hollywood-style opening of the six-million-dollar full-length cartoon feature will go toward sending 600 Dade boys and girls to The Herald's Lend-a-Hand summer camp.

Twenty years in the planning, six years in the making, "Sleeping Beauty" will have an exclusive, unlimited engagement at Miami Beach's Sheridan Theater.

'Murdered' Man's on Way Home to Family in Miami

By MIKE MORGAN
Herald Staff Writer

A 32-year-old Miamian, for the last three months believed murdered, was on his way home to his overjoyed family late Saturday.

James E. Harrison, allegedly an amnesia victim, said he recovered his memory while walking the streets of Phoenix, Ariz., Friday night, unaware police were looking for his body in Jacksonville.

He said he was unaware what had happened to him since Oct. 7. He thought it was Oct. 8, 1958 when he found himself in Phoenix, his wife said Saturday.

Harrison's wife and two children are staying with her mother-in-law, Mrs. Norman J. Weaver of 283 NW 53rd St.

The Harrisons own a home here at 1022 SW 34th St. But the slender, attractive Mrs. Harrison had sold the furniture and rented the house.

Until a week ago his wife, Jeanne, still hoped her husband still lived. But she became convinced of his death when a convict "confessed" to murdering him in Jacksonville just a week ago.

The convict, Roy V. Olson, recited details which brought her to the reluctant conclusion her husband was murdered by the hitchiker-robber.

Olson, serving a murder sentence at Vacaville, Calif., typed out a confession that he and James E. Leach, 21, hitchhiked a ride with Harrison the day Harrison disappeared from Titusville.

Harrison had moved there from Miami and established a window manufacturing company at Cocoa.

Olson said he robbed Harrison of $500 and stabbed him to death.

Olson also implicated Leach, who was arrested Saturday by the FBI in Knoxville. Leach denied he ever killed anyone but told Duval County officers he could show them where a body is buried.

Harrison said he stopped his car for a traffic light in Cocoa Beach and a man entered and forced him to drive to Jacksonville.

The last thing he remembered, he said, was the man telling him to pull into a parking lot at Jacksonville. He was slugged — next thing he remembered was walking the streets of Phoenix.

Now authorities are wondering if someone else first robbed and slugged Harrison — someone who was carrying Harrison's identification papers and later was murdered by Olson.

The bizarre puzzle has police in several states working to solve it.

Saturday Mrs. Harrison told The Herald she had hoped and prayed her husband was alive.

But she virtually abandoned hope when told about the murder "confession" a week ago—a confession bolstered with apparently irrefutable details.

Her family, she said, was even readying arrangements for a funeral service.

But at 1:50 a.m. Saturday

No. 2 Red Reports At Home

MOSCOW —(UPI)— Soviet Deputy Premier Anastas I. Mikoyan, reporting that he found the American people ripe for a cold war settlement, Saturday called again for East-West talks to head off a Berlin impasse May 30.

The Armenian-born Russian trade chief repeated previous Soviet statements that the Kremlin might suspend its May 30 deadline for turning over its occupation powers in Berlin to the East Germans provided the U.S., Britian and France agreed to negotiate the Berlin question before that time.

"The main thing is not the deadline but to have talks," he said.

He discussed his 17-day, coast-to-coast American tour at a news conference in which he touched on a wide range of topics. He said he found anti-Russian "prejudice" in the U.S. but also an increasing American conviction — not shared by Washington — that the time had come to end the cold war.

The mustached Mikoyan said he was impressed by the "cordial" reception accorded him by President Eisenhower and other officials as well as by such capitalists as Henry Ford and ordinary American citizens.

He said any top American leaders who wanted to visit Russia would receive an equally warm welcome. But he did not say whether any planned to come.

His "general impression" of Americans, he said, was this:

"There is a growing conviction that despite the evidence of the cold war and the existence of many prejudices in the U.S.A. against the U.S.S.R. and its attitude, the atmosphere generally is now favorable for steps toward peace."

He pointed out that in his meetings with American "capitalists" the businessmen had shown great interest in prospects of closer economic ties with Russia.

They "frankly stated that we must normalize our relations," said the Communist leader who dined on Wall Street.

He reported that his meeting with American labor leaders, unlike those with businessmen, was "sharp to the end."

He and Walter Reuther tangled verbally over Berlin and Hungary, he said.

"Reuther thought he crushed me, but I gave him back plenty," Mikoyan said through his interpreter, Oleg Troyanovsky.

"But the talks ended in a friendly manner and he (Reuther) said that the talks were considered useful."

Russia Blocks Agreement On A-Tests, U.S. Charges

Inspection Veto Called Obstacle

WASHINGTON —(AP)— The U.S. accused Russia Saturday of blocking an East-West agreement to end nuclear weapons tests by demanding a veto over any inspection system.

At the same time, the State Department vigorously denied Russia's claim that the U.S. is seeking an excuse to torpedo negotiations now under way in Geneva for a test ban.

"This is not so," the State Department said. "The fact that the Soviet Union has chosen this moment, when the negotiations are under way at Geneva on central issues of effective controls, to make such unfounded charges, raises questions as to their (Soviet) intentions."

American negotiators, the department said, will persevere in their efforts to write a satisfactory agreement for halting all further nuclear weapons explosions.

"Success in the negotiations in Geneva is squarely up to the Soviet Union," the department added. "If the Soviet Union is willing to agree to a control organization and can operate effectively it will be possible to achieve agreement on the cessation of nuclear testing."

The department said these three major issues remain in the way of East-West agreements:

1. — Will the Soviet Union be able to veto and obstruct every action of the control commission as it now demands, or will it be possible for the control organization to act without this obstacle?

The U.S. believes that any control system which could be frustrated in its day-to-day operations by the veto power in the hands of a single party would be worse than useless.

2 — Will the control post be manned by an international staff? Or as the Soviets demand, will it be manned by nationals of the government on whose territory the control posts are located, with only one or two outside "observers?"

The Soviet position would amount to self-inspection and as such cannot be the basis for an agreement in which all parties can have confidence, the department said.

3—Will international inspection groups be organized and ready to move quickly to the site of an event which could be suspected of being an explosion? Or will sending of such a group be subject to weeks of debate and a veto?

The Soviet approach would entangle this key provision in miles of red tape, the department said.

Restless Batista Rankled by Exile; Tempers Flare Easily in Hotel Haven

By GEORGE BEEBE
Herald Managing Editor

Miami Herald Publishing Co.

CIUDAD TRUJILLO, Dominican Republic — Fulgencio Batista in exile is restless and embittered. He has not taken defeat easily.

He is a rich man financially, but his satisfaction has come from political power rather than monetary gains.

Now he gropes for a new and active life that will consume the burning energy that made him Cuba's Strong Man for more than 20 years.

On the surface, Batista is his same charming and confident self. I've interviewed the former Cuban leader five times in the 10 years I have known him.

He is unchanged in appearance and manners. A dynamic personality still rides his hard-set frame.

For reasons of health, Batista and the more than 50 Cuban leaders who fled with him New Year's eve, rarely leave the Hotel Jaragua's third floor — which has become exile headquarters.

It is obvious they are getting on each other's nerves. The weather is hot. Tempers flare easily. Their bungling of the recent crisis still bothers them.

Batista is not the type of man who can accept confinement, so he keeps a schedule much the same as in Havana's Presidential Palace — from noon until 3 or 4 a.m.

Two secretaries bustle about arranging conferences. His Cuban companions beat a steady path to his door.

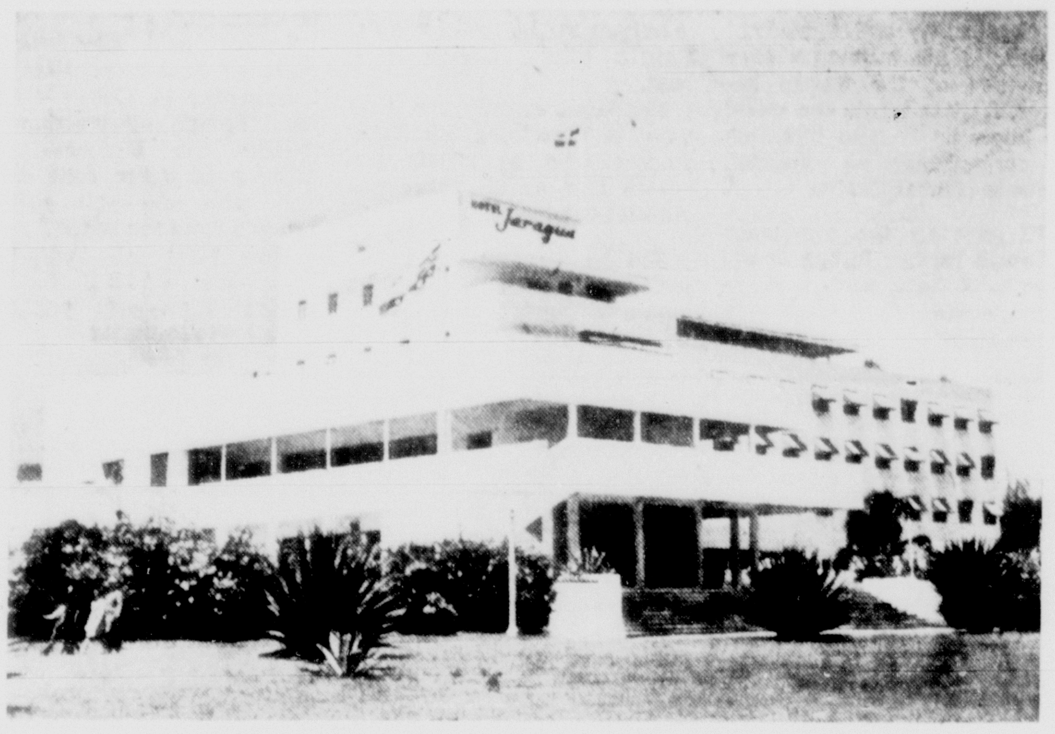
Batista long has been a canasta enthusiast. A card table, with a cover specially designed for the game, holds a prominent spot in the living room.

This provides one of his few diversions. He has taken several rides about Cuidad Trujillo and occasionally walks in the far reaches of the hotel grounds — away from eyes of the other guests.

The Hotel Jaragua has taken a back seat to the new El Embajador, but it still ranks as one of the finer resort hotels in the Caribbean.

It is a rambling, four-story affair with its choicest rooms looking over a swimming pool, a spacious lawn and across a malecon drive to the pounding surf of the Atlantic against a rocky seawall.

Day or night, there is no evidence on the grounds or in the lobby, dining room or gambling casino, that the hotel is now headquarters for the man Fidel Castro has placed as No. 1 on his obit parade.



Deposed Dictator Fulgencio Batista Lives Here
. . . finds haven in the plush Hotel Jaragua at Ciudad Trujillo

The arrival of the Batista party on New Year's Eve came as a complete surprise to the city. There were 47 on the plane. Other political refugees have arrived here since.

Dominicans generally would like to see them go, as they would Juan Peron of Argentina, also. They don't like the unfavorable publicity which the asylum of two dictators brings.

Not unhappy are the operators of the Jaragua and the Paz (Peron's headquarters). The tourist business has not been good and the exiles are making up for it.

Although the Cubans are restless, none have applied for visas to go elsewhere. They arrived heavily laden with Cuban pesos, which don't give them much long-range security.

I asked Batista what his hurried departure caused him to leave behind that he cherished most.

He squinted his black eyes a moment in thought and replied: "My country and my people, of course. My friends, my home and my library."

His library is heavy with books about Abraham Lincoln, the man Batista most admires in history.

One incident Batista related may have a bearing on his plans for the future.

His son had come from school and asked: "Father, are you an old man? Some of the boys said you were."

Batista laughed heartily at the remark, but through the broad smile I could detect a note of awareness that perhaps time is running out on the only life he ever has known — dominance of his people and the fight to attain that dominance. He is 59.

When asked by police why he did it, the man said he had to. A neighbor had refused to cut the poles and was hanged. He didn't want the same fate," Batista explained.

The heavy-set, dark-browed ex-president said he has waited until the Castro government took shape before commenting on Cuba's future. He thinks it looks extremely dark.

"The new government just doesn't make sense," Batista says.

"For instance, Castro said his main mission in life was to free Cuba of the Batista regime. But now he has placed himself in a unique superstructure over President Manuel Urrutia.

"I was called a dictator by many, yet within the government I maintained the three constitutional divisions — executive, legislative and judicial. They all functioned independently. Evidently Fidel Castro doesn't like this form of government."

Batista, who reads every newspaper he can get his hands on, is obviously shaken by stories of the war crime trials of some of his trusted aides who failed to get the signal New Year's Eve that the leading men were leaving the act.

"When I was president, the courts were composed of judges named for the most part by previous presidents, and we respected their decisions," said the onetime dictator.

"Now Castro destroys the powers provided by the constitution and has appointed men not qualified for judgeships to conduct trials throughout the island and pronounce death sentences."

He had read that the Havana "Sports City" Coliseum — which he helped construct — was being used for several major war crime trials.

"This takes us back to the days of the Roman circus," said Batista defiantly, "when men were fed to the beasts with approval of the crowd.

"How can a judge give a fair trial with 30,000 people screaming to hang the defendants? This is indeed a primitive approach Castro has introduced."

Batista seemed fully aware that should he ever be forced to return to Cuba, something larger than the sports arena would be needed for his trial.

NEXT: Batista's last hours in Cuba and his plans for the future.

Laughter Is Heard In Cuba

convictions." No man fears he'll be pointed out as an informer or "chivato" merely through the spite of a neighbor.

The new government and new Army are demanding proof to go with the accusations.

The new freedoms are most evident in Old Havana, and especially on The Prado, which stretches its tree-lined magnificence from Central Park to the sea.

There, where this reporter once could count no more than six people hurrying along the marble walks at night, now there are hundreds promenading until all hours of the morning.

Arm-in-arm with their girls, young men walk and stop and talk and you hear laughter that only a month ago was like a foreign language here.

Is prosperity, or at least decent living, to come from the new government to a country that is financially flat on its back?

Most businessmen say "It must, we have no other direction to go!"

Big businessmen look for an influx of new capital brought on by a stabilized government. "At least," they say, "we aren't going to have talk of revolution and a change of government all the time"

Little businessmen look for the tourists and the money that will help them pay their long overdue bills as it seeps down through the economy.

And tourists, when they begin coming again, will find a different, happier atmosphere than they have seen in the country before.

A coffee vendor offers you a tiny paper cup of cafe solo in a small park near the Capitol and you ask him, "How are things for you these days?"

And he sets the thermos on a bench to pound his chest with both hands and say, "I am free!"

Cuba's face has been lifted. It shines bright with hope.

Odds High, But Pot Is Higher

By SUNNY FORTUNE
Herald Puzzle Editor

Nine people came close, but nobody won last week's Sunny Fortune Puzzle, so there's a $400 pot awaiting some lucky reader.

SUNNY

He'll have to be darned lucky too, according to Puzzle Fan Norman Drysdale, who writes from Marathon:

"As I see it, the game has ceased to be one of skill and is now a lottery with the odds of picking by blind chance the correct combination more than a million to one."

The odds are high, but not that high, Mr. Drysdale. If you figure a 50-50 chance on each of 16 letters, the odds of any one entry winning work out to 65,536 to one.

With the number of entries running around 37,000 for each contest, you can see why a winner can't be expected every time. But that's what makes a puzzle puzzling and keeps the pots building up.

Other fans writing in last week agree that there was more skill involved in the old style puzzles. Phyllis Pinard of San Juan, Puerto Rico, puts it pretty well:

"Let's please go back to the old style," she writes. "It was so much more interesting to lose that way."

Old style, new style, let's turn to 12B and take a whack at this week's $400.

the shrill ringing of the telephone got Mrs. Weaver, her mother-in-law, out of bed.

It was the Phoenix police.

"They said they had tried to get my daughter-in-law in Titusville," said Mrs. Weaver. "They learned she had moved back to Miami.

"Then they told me James was alive and had amnesia.

"I didn't believe it at first."

When Mrs. Harrison talked to the police she didn't believe it either. "See if there's a scar on his back," she asked.

There was—just where she said.

She talked to her husband—but he was in half shock and incoherent.

"It was hard for him to believe it wasn't Oct. 8," she said. "About all he could say when he vaguely realized what happened was, 'Oh mama—mama, we've missed Christmas.'

"He couldn't understand why I wasn't in Titusville—and asked just a little about the youngsters.

"I couldn't believe he was living.

"It's a miracle—just a miracle; that's what I keep telling everyone. I can't imagine what brought him out of it. It's just God's way . . ."

Eight-year-old Jamey Harrison sat next to his mother. His eyes shone and he said excitedly: "It will be just like Christmas when Daddy gets home. The biggest Christmas present I ever got."

And seven-year-old son, Mike, seriously added:

"My daddy had magnesia . . . I'll sure be glad to see him."

Over the north position there will be northeast to east winds at 15 to 25 m.p.h. slowly diminishing during the day. Considerable cloudiness. A few showers in the south portion and 15 to 30 m.p.h. portion are likely.

National Summary

Disturbances moving across the northern states coupled with a continuing flow of very cold air from Canada led to snowfall in Montana and from Minnesota into New York and Pennsylvania Saturday afternoon.

Temperatures ranged from zero to a bit below at mid-day along the northern border of the Plains states and were in the teens or lower through the lakes region into New England. Miles City, Mont. registered a three inch increase in snow cover during the morning, while four of the seven inches on the ground at Green Bay, Wis. collected during the forenoon.

Elsewhere east of the continental divide a substantial warming trend pushed temperatures to the 40's in SW South Dakota compared to readings in the teens in the northeast corner of the state and 40's reached from the mid Mississippi and Ohio Valleys into Virginia and Maryland by mid-day.

High pressure preserved a predominantly sunny pattern except for some cloudiness and occasional rain in south Florida and Texas, however considerable cloudiness will accompany a slow rise in temperatures across the Gulf States through the balance of the weekend.

Bethseda Hospital Dedicated

Door For Healing

Dedication of the new Bethesda Memorial Hospital took place Saturday afternoon in Boynton Beach. Dr. Graham W. King, left, chief of staff of the new hospital, and Kenneth Foster, extreme right, Palm Beach county commissioner, hold the doors open while Emory Barrow, left, hospital board chairman, and William Koch, right, escort Mrs. David Haines Ball inside. Mrs. Ball is the winner of a contest to name the hospital and suggested Bethesda Memorial. Koch is president of the Bethesda Memorial Hospital Asocisation. At right an aerial view, which will not be seen by the patients, shows dramatic lines of the new hospital. The facility will serve the citizens of Boca Raton, Delray Beach and Boynton Beach in south Palm Beach County.

Former Deputy Tells of Lying To Grand Jury

King Trial Hears Admitted Perjurer

BARTOW —(UPI)— A former deputy sheriff repudiated his earlier Grand Jury testimony Saturday and denied he was a part of an alleged plan by former State Sen. Harry King to trap former State Rep. Boone Tillett Jr. in a $10,000 extortion attempt.

The testimony came from an admitted perjurer, James Busbee, on the fifth day of King's second trial on charges he planned a perjury scheme to prevent being indicted for paying Tillett $10,000 not to run against him for the state Senate in 1956.

King's earlier conviction was thrown out on technicalities.

Following Busbee's testimony the jury adjourned until 9 a.m. Monday.

Busbee had testified to the grand jury that he and former deputy Rollie Arnold were assigned by former sheriff Pat Gordon to work with King to catch Tillett. But he and Arnold both pleaded guilty last week and are now under a presentence investigation.

Busbee testified Saturday he never even heard of the payoff until he heard news reports of it.

He testified that it was Feb. 28, 1956, before Gordon called him in and he agreed to go along with the plan and release a statement to a Lake Wales newspaper describing the fictitious case.

Early the next day, Feb. 29, he said, he, Arnold and King went to the scene of the payoff made Feb. 4 in a lemon grove near Babson Park.

There, he said, King told them details of the payoff so they would know what to tell the grand jury. Busbee said later that afternoon he gave his testimony to W. T. Hopkins of Tallahassee, then a special state attorney and now a special prosecutor in the King trial.

Sewer, Ad, Phone Bill Story Due

Herald Bureau

WEST PALM BEACH — Two important reports will be ready for the West Palm Beach city commission meeting Monday.

The board will be advised that a survey on essential street work resulting from sanitary sewer construction, as requested Nov. 3, has been completed by the Public Works Department.

It will also hear a progress report by City Manager James J. Mott on the city advertising commission which has come in for considerable recent discussion regarding its methods of operation.

There was no definite indication whether a report will be made to the commission about municipal employes charging their private home phone bills to the city.

The Herald disclosed last week that Mott had completed an investigation of the phone situation and would provide a list of the employes who charged their phone bills to the city.

At least one member of the city commission said a public report would be made about the phones and that the matter might come up at the Monday meeting.

The commission has an array of ordinances and resolutions up for adoption.

Band Parents Meet

OKEECHOBEE — Fred Humphreys, Band Director of the Okeechobee High School Band, has announced that there will be a general meeting of the band parents on Monday, Jan. 26 at 7:30 p.m. in the band room at the school.

Politics Are Not Buried

OFFHAND, YOU'D get the impression that politics in West Palm Beach and Lake Worth are practically dormant, but appearances in this case are deceiving.

West Palm Beach is scheduled to elect two members of the city commission March 31. As of now, not a single candidate has been prominently mentioned to oppose commissioners Horace S. Miller and L. W. Kelloway.

But those who keep a finger on the undercurrent political pulse claim the Good Government League is busy in the background.

It's a safe bet they aren't precisely happy with either Miller or Kelloway. Before the Feb. 16 filing date rolls around the Good Governments are expected to have a couple of hand picked candidates ready for the wars.

Lake Worth Fix

Lake worth currently is without a mayor.

When Robert T. O'Connor stepped out of the picture because of ill health — three months before his term would have expired — he posed a problem for his colleagues. The charter makes it mandatory they name a successor to fill out the unexpired term — either somebody new, or one of the board.

Lynn F. Myer Jr. as vice-mayor, would seem a logical candidate. So would Phil Lobsinger. But both still have a year of their terms to serve. If they resigned to accept the mayoralty, they would cut short their terms by a year.

Commissioner Zell Altman, a former city attorney, doesn't want the job. So that leaves only James Stafford, a former mayor, whose term expires in April, anyway.

There isn't any agreement on Stafford, however, so the boys may get together over the coffee cups Monday or Tuesday to try and reconcile their views.

All The Time

Nobody has ever been so naive as to believe that gambling has ceased to exist in Palm Beach County.

Bolita goes on all the time.

Those recent gambling disclosures on the west coast, in the Keys and in Dade County, have prompted the idea here that there might be something more than the customary bolita.

A first glance indicates that the downtown area isn't entirely without a game that's not too hard to find.

In fact the finger was pointed at it in a prominent location when a well-known young man about the boulevards dropped $5,000 in a few hours and threatened reprisals because he thinks he was duped into a "come-on" game.

Maxie, Herb Score 'Race' Down Street --Polio Fighters Win

SCORE

Herald Bureau

WEST PALM BEACH — "Slapsie" Maxie Rosenbloom who did pretty well as both a fighter and a comedian, and Herb Score, Cleveland Indian pitcher, "raced" down Clematis St. here Saturday and the March of Dimes won.

In their "foot a quarter" contest in two sports cars, the athletes raised $161.62 for the warfare against polio.

The event was sponsored and staged entirely by the Thomas Alva Edison Post, DeMolay, with the cooperation, of course, of Rosenbloom and Score and the many contributors.

For each quarter kicked into the fund, either Max or Herb moved his car one foot. Max won the first heat down the block but Herb tied him in the back stretch.

The money they raised will go into the March of Dimes campaign with $87 put into cannisters during the contest.

17 to Get Pin From Red Cross

Cap and pin ceremonies for 17 volunteer Red Cross aides will be held at the chapel at Palm Beach Air Force Base at 3 p.m. today with Col. George W. Peterson, commander, delivering the address.

Certificates and caps will be presented to the 17 aides by Mrs. Gustave Maas, chairman of Red Cross volunteers.

Maj. Doris L. Bailey, chief of nursing service at the AFB hospital, will award the familiar Red Cross Volunteer pins to each member of the graduating class.

Receiving their caps and pins will be the mesdames Claudia D. Coffey, Evelyn Warren, Beatrice A. Green, Margaret K. Christie, June A. Stewart, Dorothy Prince, Phyllis R. Hicks, Annette Cox, Davina Ingram, Helen Melchiori, Patricia Clericic, Dorothy Culpepper, Jean J. Thomas, Renee D. Springs, Virtue Lakes, Venus J. Kincannon and Dorothya T. Canady.

"Hash marks" for each year of service will be awarded to other aids.

Mrs. Long, Widow of Diplomat

Herald Staff Writer

PALM BEACH — Mrs. Christine Long, 71, of 147 Seabreeze Ave., widow of the late Breckinridge Long who served two presidents, died in a West Palm Beach hospital Saturday after a short illness. She had been a resident here 12 years.

Her late husband was Assistant Secretary of Sate in the Woodrow Wilson cabinet and was ambassador to Italy during the Roosevelt administration and was a delegate to the Dumbarton Oaks conference.

She is survived by one daughter, Mrs. Arnold Wilcox, of Chevy Chase, Md.

The Northwood Funeral Home said services will be held in Washington, D.C.

Claybourne Leaves PB For Siam

Nevin Claybourne
. . . going to Bangkok

Herald Bureau

WEST PALM BEACH — Nevin E. Claybourne, chief of the local Federal Aviation Agency here, left West Palm Beach this weekend on the first leg of a mission that will take him to Bangkok, Siam.

He has been in charge of air traffic management at Palm Beach International Airport since 1948. He will be on loan to the State Department and assigned to a technical assistance mission.

As a prelude to going overseas he will attend the Foreign Services Institute for his indoctrination in Washington, D.C. before leaving for Thailand in February.

Claybourne has designated Clarence J. Fox as acting chief here until the FAA makes an interim appointment.

Mrs. Molinari

LAKE WORTH — Mrs. Daisy Molinari, 69, of 505 North E St. died Saturday in a local hospital after a long illness.

A member of Sacred Heart Catholic Church, she is survived by her husband, Angelo, and two sons, Emil, Lake Worth, and Anthony, of Long Island, N.Y.

INDIANTOWN — Residents here recently played host to what is believed to be the first troops to take the filed in this area along the banks of the St. Lucie River since Zachary Taylor's forces in the Seminole War.

The troops consisted of personnel of Company F, 211th Infantry, Florida National Guard, from West Palm Beach.

Granted permission to use the land owned by the Indiantown Co. which is developing the area by General Manager Earl Johnson, himself an ex-infantryman, the Guardsmen moved into the section last Sunday for combat exercises.

Squads of battle-dressed infantrymen moved through the dense oak woods and open fields down to the banks of the river and historic Bowers Grove, and cross land where a new Indiantown Marina will be located.

First Lt. Joe Price, of West Palm Beach, training officer for the company, called the field problem a great success.

He said the high and dry land around Indiantown lends itself to guard maneuvers.

The 51st Infantry Division, of which the West Palm Beach units are a part, is reported to be slated for conversion to the new pentomic structure for atomic warfare during the coming year.

Oh, Your Manager's Mustache!

It Schizos As It Grows

By ROSE ALLEGATO

..IT TICKLES THE GIRLS TOO!
CROSS

WEST PALM BEACH — City Manager James Mott Jr. has a schizophrenic mustache.

"It curls on one side and sags on the other," he complained. "It's a pretty sorry specimen."

Sorry or not, the mustache is always with him.

"I think it hearkens back to my younger days when I thought it gave me a Clark Gable effect," he said.

Mott is trying for a handle-bar effect now. That's how he discovered "I have a schizophrenic mustache."

Why the handle-bar?

It goes better with a beard. And, of course, he's sprouting the beard for the Seminole Sun Dance, which will mark Palm Beach County's Golden Anniversary.

He started out with a whole beard. "It was delightful," he said. "I didn't have to shave at all."

Then he decided to turn it into a goatee. "I was afraid they'd start calling me Castro so I trimmed it down," the city manager said. "I don't want Castro's reputation."

Now, though, he has to shave some, and it takes him twice as long each morning.

When did he start the beard—er, the goatee?

"It's doing so poorly, I'd say the goatee is a little over a week old.

"It's a little bit awkward," Mott says. The main reason is the morning shave, which is so painstaking. Also, he quips, "it tickles the girls."

Beards are not entirely new to ex-Marine Mott.

"I had one in the Pacific. I'd go a week or so at a time on Okinawa without shaving."

He plans to shave off his current reddish-brown crop after the Sun Dance in late April.

But the mustache, schizophrenic or not, he'll keep.

Stambaugh Re-elected

Herald Bureau

WEST PALM BEACH — Gleason N. Stambaugh, veteran member of the Florida Inland Navigation District, has been reelected as chairman of the board, it was announced Saturday. Stambaugh is also vice-chairman of the Port of Palm Beach commission.

The annual reorganization meeting was held Friday at Jacksonville. Other officers named were James Barnes of Fort Pierce, vice-chairman; UCLA Cunningham of Daytona Beach, secretary, and O. F. Alford, of Bunnell, treasurer.

Drizzle on First Day? Fair-Goers Used to It

Herald Bureau

WEST PALM BEACH — Palm Beach County's annual fair — this one in commemoration of the county's Golden Anniversary — went through a varied second day program Saturday despite rainy weather.

The fair has been plagued by rain on its opening days for the last three years, but the varied exhibits and entertaining events have drawn a good attendance.

Saturday's cloudy skies and infrequent drizzles failed to dampen the enthusiasm of the crowd and a new drainage system kept the grounds dry.

The program for the day included bike races for the children, a 4-H judging of cattle and other stock, two horse shows of the combined Western and English style, a Guernsey cattle exhibit and micro-midget auto races as a highlight event.

Sunday the fair will open at its 150-acre site off State Road at 1 p.m. to display four large buildings and nearly two dozen tents filled with interesting exhibits. NASCAR races and another horse show are on the schedule.

These Two Navy Officers Run Navy's OSR system
. . . Lts. A. T. Buckmaster and H. W. Albers

They Help Guide Ships To Speedier Atlantic Trips

A new aid to navigation has only been in use a few months but already it has speeded up ocean transportation and saved more than a million dollars. It's called the Optimum Ship Routing system.

The OSR system is aimed at overcoming the ancient bugaboo of the seas—changeable currents and weather conditions which often result in reduced speed and heavy ship damage.

NORFOLK, Va. —(AP)— Two lieutenants in a tiny, cluttered office at the Norfolk Naval Air Station exchanged pleased grins when the message came in:

"Fastest trip ever. Thanks."

It was just one of many similar messages sweated out by Lieutenants Albert T. Buckmaster and Hugh W. Albers. It meant the Atlantic Fleet Service Force ship Antares had crossed from Norfolk to Gibraltar in record time using a route plotted daily by Buckmaster and Albers in their cubbyhole.

Since September, when they opened their office, the two lieutenants have shepherded 100 Navy and Military Sea Transportation Service ships across the Atlantic. By next July they expect to handle all Atlantic traffic for MSTS and a major portion of the Atlantic Fleet's business.

They run the Navy's Optimum Ship Routing system. Based on the research of Dr. Richard W. James of the Navy's hydrographic office, the system seeks to overcome the ancient bugaboo of the seas — changeable currents and weather conditions which often result in reduced speed and heavy ship damage.

In the few months of its operation, the OSR system has improved speed of ocean transportation and saved more than one million dollars in hard cash.

The program holds exciting implications for commercial shipping, where the cold facts of economy are vital.

During fiscal 1957, American shippers lost $2,665,441 in foundered and damaged ships, and $433,730 in cargo damage. During the period 1952-56, a total of $12,766,132 was recorded in ship losses and cargo damage was set at $952,020.

These are commercial figures. There is no available record of monetary losses to naval vessels during the same periods.

Some shipping companies reportedly have begun providing OSR service for their own operations in an effort to reduce weather damage costs and speed schedules.

Stated simply, the James-Navy concept provides willing ship masters (or naval captains) with constant and controlled guidance through the potential treachery of oceanic weather.

Armed with Dr. James' published thesis, Buckmaster and Albers labor long hours every day herding ships across the tricky Atlantic — ships they are not likely ever to see.

As explained by Buckmaster, OSR is "a matter of improved forecasting machinery, close communications and confidence . . . and a spot of luck." Perhaps a recent episode will serve better to explain the technical features of the system, and its end product.

On Sept. 15, 1957, the Military Sea Transportation Service ship USNS Buckner weighed anchor in New York harbor. Eight days later she dropped her hook at Bremerhaven, Germany. From start to finish Buckmaster and Albers called the shots.

Two days before Buckner was due to depart, the two lieutenants armed themselves with a series of five-day weather prognostications ("progs") they call them. Hunching over their charting table in Fleet Weather Facility, Norfolk, they started the project.

A set of five progs gave them a fairly clear picture of the predictable weather the Buckner would face cruising eastward. The lieutenants laid out a series of first-day course legs, selected the best from all angles and passed it on to the ship, with projected tentative headings for successive days.

Capt. K. C. Towne, skipper of the Buckner and a man with 40 years' sea-going experience, was on his way with what the lieutenants considered to be his quickest and safest routing to Bremerhaven.

But something happened on the second day to alter the script. The OSR team noted an alarming shift in weather when new progs developed. To the north a storm was moving down, and would lay a heavy hand on Buckner if she plied her original course pattern.

Buckmaster and Albers reworked their chart and decided to send the ship more to the south, giving her a heading to skirt the storm line. So painstaking and accurate was their work that on her final leg Buckner picked up a heavy following sea that booted her neatly home at high speed.

Veteran seafarer Towne was amazed. He conceded that at first he was "a bit skeptical" about the whole thing. Since that first passage the lieutenants have ushered him across five times more.

"Well, we have 60 nails up there and I guess we can drive in a few more," he said. He noted that at the time 13 ships were under surveillance and six more were preparing to depart for Europe.

Requiring only that ships give them 48 hours notice, Buckmaster says he and Albers "keep in touch with them all the way . . . and sweat them out." Every 24 hours a ship gives a position report and a summary of weather conditions.

Dr. James wrote in his thesis in 1956:

"The inevitable result of the successful accomplishment of this task will be improved maritime economy, and progress to date strongly indicates that a reasonable solution to the problem may soon be realized."

At Korean Conference Meetings

U.N. Chief Plays Propaganda Tune as Reds Burn

Miami Herald-Chicago News Wire

PANMUNJOM, Korea — A seagoing lawyer has introduced a cozy family atmosphere to the otherwise rigidly formal meetings of the U.N. Military Armistice Commission.

Smartly dressed American embassy wives peered through the open windows of the conference hall as Rear Adm. Ira H. Nunn, chief U.N. forces delegate, exchanged unpleasantries with his North Korean Communist counterpart.

Nunn wanted to know what happened to more than 2,000 U.N. prisoners including 452 Americans the Reds have not accounted for.

The Communists, in turn, demanded an accounting for 98,000 of their prisoners.

Neither side expected anything from the other except propaganda and nobody was disappointed. However, visitors, including the embassy wives, had a pleasant outing.

"I like to have women up here because they talk a lot and write letters," said Nunn, 48, softspoken Southerner and veteran of the Navy's Judge Advocate General's office.

"Since no decisions are made here — there is no judge or jury — we might as well get what propaganda we can out of these meetings."

Nunn, the 13th chief delegate since the Armistice Commission was set up five years ago, has had the Seoul Rotary Club and American teenagers attend meetings as his guests.

"The kids got a big kick out of it and I think they learned something," said Nunn, who, in the 2½ months he's been here, has called four out of six commission meetings. This reversed the usual procedure since the U.N. side generally has let the Communists have the initiative.

As a lawyer Nunn deplores the cut and dried procedure of the meetings in which one side reads a prepared statement and the other side replies in kind. He has tried to draw the Communists into give and take discussions but without success.

The Communists haven't objected to visitors. However, they are still complaining because Nunn installed a microphone and amplifying system which carries conference proceedings to other buildings, including the press hut.

The microphone sits in the middle of the conference table, half in U.N. territory, half in Communist territory. The Reds refuse to recognize the existence of the microphone but don't dare chuck it out.

The reason is long ago the Communists agreed to let the U.N. be responsible for housekeeping chores. Nunn contends the installation of an amplifying system was only a household improvement.

"We offered to install loudspeakers in the Communist building but they refused," Nunn said. "That's their tough luck."

Younk Demo Leader Due

Nelson Lancione, president of the Young Democratic Clubs of America, will arrive in Miami this afternoon for two days of conferences with party leaders here.

His visit is to discuss plans for the April convention at the Roney Plaza Hotel, Miami Beach, of the Young Democrats' National Executive Committee.

Lancione will meet Miami Democratic leaders at a reception this afternoon at the home of Joseph Murphy, 701 Alcazar Ave., Coral Gables. He also will be guest of honor at a dinner party tonight at the Roney Plaza.
